Tardo Wants Sidewalks HP Accessible

Republican state representative Denis Tardo has expressed his concern for lack of handicap accessible sidewalks, especially in Quincy Sq.

Tardo noted, "It is shameful to see wheelchair confined citizens of this city trying to navigate over curbside. I hope the 40 sidewalks slated for repair include handicap accessibility. Imagine, 1988 and Quincy Sq has curbside barriers."

Tardo spoke in reference to the proposal that some 45 city streets and sidewalks will undergo repair beginning in the fall of this year. Wheelchair ramps at sidewalk crossings would make it possible for wheelchair users to from one block to another.

Tardo said, "It would serve the city equally well to limit the odd numbered side of Hancock Street (from Grant St. to School St.) to handicap and veteran parking only. This city does not need additional parking. It needs services to citizens."

Gilleran Would Repeal Law On Unused Campaign Funds

MA. STATE REPRESENTATIVE Denis Tardo, D-Quincy, said he will work to repeal a law which makes it possible for congressmen elected before 1981 to keep unused campaign funds upon leaving office. He said he would work to repeal the law which allows a congressman to keep unused campaign funds upon leaving office.

The bill, which Gilleran calls the "Campaign Fund Law," was passed by the House of Representatives in 1981. It allows a congressman to keep unused campaign funds upon leaving office. Gilleran said he would work to repeal the law.

'Sexuality And Mental Illness' Workshop Sept. 26

Family Support Services, for families of the mentally ill, will sponsor a free workshop entitled "Sexuality and Mental Illness" Monday, Sept. 26 at 7:30 p.m.

The meeting will be held at the South Shore Mental Health Center cafeteria, 460 Quincy Ave., Quincy. Speaker will be Don discussion will be the effects of mental illness on relationships, dependency, separation and intimacy.

Fall Schedule At Faith Lutheran Church

The fall schedule will start at Faith Lutheran Church

Sept. 11. Sunday School will start at 9 a.m. with sign-up for classes. Morning worship service will begin at 10 a.m. Services will be held at the church, 201 Granite St., from then on. All are welcome.

For more information, call the church office at 472-1247.

Delorey In Energy Research Program

Thomas F. Delorey, of North Quincy was one of 100 students at the University of Lowell to take part in the U.S. Department of Energy's Student Research Participation program this summer.

Delorey, a graduate nuclear engineering major, conducted his research at Oak Ridge National Laboratory, Oak Ridge, Tenn. During his 10-week appointment in the Energy Technology Division, Delorey worked with an advanced neutron source.

Delorey and the other students conducted ongoing research and development relating to energy production, use, conservation, and social implications in those areas.

Squantum First Church Returns To Fall Schedule

The Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin of the First Church of Squantum preached Sunday morning on "The Promised Return of the Lord."

Accompanying the congregation in hymns were Mary Ruth Scott on the organ and Janet Williamson on the piano.

Harry Holmes and Tore Wallin were the ushers. Pat Hurd hosted the Fellowship Hour after the service.

The next Church Council meeting will be Sept. 28 at 7 p.m. All church officers and heads of church boards or committees are asked to attend. The meeting is also open to interested church members.

The Women's Evening Fellowship will meet Tuesday, Sept. 13, at 7:30 p.m. Dates of their meetings for the rest of the year are Oct. 4, Nov. 1, Dec. 6, Jan. 3, Feb. 7, March 7, and April 4.

The Chancel Choir will begin its rehearsals Thursday, Sept. 8, at 7:30 p.m. The Junior Choir will start on the following Thursday, Sept. 15, at 3 p.m. The Youth Choir will have its first meeting on Sunday, Sept. 18, at 11:45 p.m.

Lori Ogilvie and Marc Hurd are the two representatives of the church to the Youth Leader Core this year. The two girls, their advocates, their parents, and the pastor met Sunday afternoon with Richard Cederholm of the Youth Leader Core to begin their year of leadership training in the church.

This Sunday the morning worship service will begin at 10:30 a.m. This marks the return to a fall schedule. A nursery is provided during the service. Visitors are always welcome.

Red Cross Blood Drives Scheduled

The American Red Cross has scheduled two September blood drives in Quincy.

Saturday, Sept. 10, the blood drive will continue from 8:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the Masonic Temple, 1170

Hancock St.

On Monday, Sept. 26, from 1 to 7 p.m., there will be a blood drive at Quincy Point Congregational Church, 444 Washington St.

Persons 17 years and older, in general good health, weighing at least 110 pounds, who has never had hepatitis and has not given blood in the past eight weeks, may donate. Seventeen-year-olds need written parental consent.

Quincy Educators Aid Haiti School

A group of educators from Cambridge and Quincy have formed an alliance with educators from the city of Les Cayes, Haiti for the purpose of assisting the St. Famille elementary school there, which currently serves over 500 children in grades K-7.

The Les Cayes Children's Foundation has been established to provide material and financial assistance to the school. Among the goals are to provide materials such as pens, pencils, notebooks, crayons and uniforms to the children, and chalk, pens and teaching materials to the teachers. The foundation will also provide financial assistance to the school to help with the annual $60 tuition payments, assist in constructing a play area for the children and in painting the classroom and lunchroom areas.

Another eventual goal of the foundation is to start a child to child correspondence project between the Haitian children and children in the USA.

The educators from Quincy are Diane Darien, who is coordinating the event, and Carol Swanson.

The educators from Cambridge are Judy Richards, Josiane Barnes, Claudia Jean-Baptist, Jeanne Galloway, Sylvio Hyppolite, Pat Berklay, and Alice Walden.

Inquiries and offers of assistance should be directed to Diane Darren, 8 Naples Rd., Brookline, MA 02146.

McDuff Seeks Pro-life Support

Speaking before a recent South Shore Chapter of Massachusetts Citizens for Life meeting in Hanover, John H. McDuff, Republican candidate for state representative in the Third Norfolk district called for all Pro-Lifers in the area to rally to his cause.

McDuff termed abortion the "most abhorrent and unforgivable crime being committed in our nation today."

He said: "The robberies, assaults, rapes and burglaries we read of every day are offenses to be punished, and punished harshly. Make no mistake about it. I am a law and order candidate, unlike the liberal Democrats who care more about furloughs for prisoners than they do about the suffering of the victims," McDuff said.

"But as bad as those crimes may be, the legalized murder of over one million innocent, unborn babies every year, that is over 15 million since the Roe versus Wade decision in 1973, make all of our nation's wars seem humane by comparison. The lives we have snuffed out, generally for nothing more than the convenience of thoughtless people, and the millions of dollars gathered in by greedy physicians and owners of abortion chambers, should have us on our knees as a nation, repenting that we ever permitted such atrocities to take place."

"I am proud to be Pro-Life. I have been a member of several Pro-Life organizations for half of my adult life. I would have no choice, since to be silent on this issue would be to give tacit approval to this wholesale slaughter of the unborn."

"I have been advised by well-meaning friends to say nothing about this sensitive issue, in order not to cost myself votes. But the cost of lost votes is small when weighed in the balance against the millions of hearts that will never know love, the millions of little voices which will never be heard. There can be no middle ground. Those who are not Pro-Life are not Pro-Choice, for they give the baby no choice. They are in fact Pro-Death. Their brutality can only be compared to atrocities at Buchenwald and Auschwitz," he said.

"I am proud to say that when it comes to the killing of babies I am perfectly willing to stand and be counted among those who say it must be stopped. Therefore I pledge that I will work for and support all legislation aimed at putting an end to this carnage, and making America once again a nation with a conscience."

- Appropriation of $152,934 to regional libraries for personal services, and contractual and current expenses.

- Appropriation of $102,200 to Sewer-Water-Drain Department for various trucks such as crew cab utility vehicles, pickups and a station wagon.

- Appropriation of $105,000 to Parking Facilities for new toll booths and gates, and current expenses.

- Accepting gifts from Jean L. Souther and Georgette Johnson in memory of Doris Johnson to the Quincy Animal Shelter.

IRS Has Refunds For 8 Quincy Residents

The Internal Revenue Service has $165,084.73 to refund to Massachusetts residents.

The money represents Federal tax refund checks mailed in 1988 and returned to the IRS as undeliverable.

residents' names are on the list:

Steve and Bonnie M. Arky; Robert Mitchell; Edward and Grace Cooper; Gorki A. Gallardo; Lisa C. Grillo and Nicole Demers.

Taxpayers whose names appear on the list are advised to call the IRS toll-free number, 1-800-424-1040. IRS personnel can then assist them in applying for re-issuance of their refund check. Taxpayers should be prepared to provide the IRS with their name, address and Social Security number.

Quincy Has Running Backs To Go With Noble

By TOM SULLIVAN

Quincy's football team was winless last fall, but a tie with a favored North Quincy ended the season on a positive note.

Coach Jack Raymer feels the Presidents will do much better this fall with quarterback Chris Noble, whose passing was virtually the entire offense a year ago, getting much more support from his ball carriers.

"Our running game was virtually non-existent last year," Raymer admitted. "As a result our passing game was our big offensive weapon. This year we have some fine running backs and I think we will have a much more balanced attack and not have to depend so much on Noble."

Noble, one of Quincy's best passers in some time, had an outstanding 1987 season. He completed 99 of 190 passes for 1415 yards and 11 touchdowns.

"Chris did a remarkable job, but he was under a lot of pressure as the other teams knew we were going to pass," said Raymer. "As a result he was sacked a number of times and had to pass many times while being badly rushed. With a better running game this year the situation has so much improved."

Noble's 1987 year again he backed up by Scott Campbell, who also will be used as a wide receiver.

Raymer has a more experienced backfield with several veterans: Scott O'Brien and Jim Dennett, who saw a lot of action last year; sophomore Mark Bogan (son of former Quincy star and assistant coach John Bogan); Joe Zabrowski and Lou Pagnani will be the fullbacks and Dave Nourse, Todd Kimmell and Peter Oliver, all of whom saw considerable service a year ago, will be the fullbacks.

Noble's favorite receiver, Sean Munroe, who had 50 receptions for 10 touchdowns in 1987, is gone, but Quincy has a fine array of wide receivers in veteran Scott Grant, Mark Miele, Mike Falco, Chris Fay and Bobby Cingregano, out for the first year and looking good in practice.

Ken Caldwell, Jim Munroe, Sean's brother, and Kimmell are the leading tight ends.

Quincy will have a fine group of tackles, including veterans Dan Hanley (190), Brian Norris (225) and Fran Ienello (220). Tony Madden (260) and a fine looking sophomore Graham Thayer.

At guard veterans Tom Morrell (195) and Joe Baker are joined by Phil Daley as the top prospects.

Center Don Hamilton, who started the last three games last season, is being pushed by sophomore Mike Tempesta.

"We have some fast backs and some quick receivers," said Raymer. "The offensive line is stronger and I feel we will be able to move the ball on the ground as well as through the air."

Most of the Presidents will be playing both ways and the top defensive ends are Morrell, Hanley and Bob Austin.

The tackles will be Madden, Ienello, Baker, Daley and Tempesta and linebackers will be Norris, Kimmell, Nourse, Alan Spaur and Munroe.

Corner backs will be O'Brien, Innio Eleuteri, Bogan, Dennis Plante and Zabrowski. Defensive backs will include Miele, Grant, Campbell and Dennett.

"We have a lot of other boys who will see a lot of action. I'll know more about them after our scrimmages," said Raymer. "We have more experience on defense, good size and I look for much improvement on defense."

Raymer was pleased with the team's showing in scrimmages against Milton and Don Bosco and Quincy has one remaining scrimmage with Marshfield Saturday.

Quincy will open Saturday, Sept. 17, at Cambridge Rindge and Latin at 1:30, also the Suburban League opener. The Presidents will be at Waltham Friday night, Sept. 23, at 7 p.m.

Spring Disagrees On Having Just One Legion Baseball Team

Ed Spring, coach of the Quincy legion baseball team, takes issue with Ray Cattaneo's stand that Quincy will never have a state or regional champion until there is only one Legion team in the city.

Cattaneo, longtime Morrisette coach and present manager, and advisor, made the statement at the recent Morrisette baseball banquet.

"We are probably the only city in the country to have three Legion teams and Quincy is too small a city for three teams," Cattaneo said.

"Many much larger cities, including Cincinnati, which won this year's World Series, have only one team."

"I have nothing but the utmost respect for Ray both as a coach and a person," said Spring. "He has done more for Legion baseball in this area than any person I know and his record over the past 20 years will attest to that."

"First of all, the purpose of Legion baseball is to provide a place for anyone up to the age of 18 to play baseball. If we had only one team in Quincy we would have only 18 openings instead of 54, leaving 36 kids without a place to play."

"There is no doubt that by fielding one team in Quincy we probably would be a force year in and year out in Legion competition, but I feel the price is too high. It isn't necessary to have a championship caliber team for these kids to feel they have had a successful season. The competition within the designated zone is enough to handle and to finish on or near the top is an accomplishment in itself. We all would like to field a team that would take us to the World Series, but there isn't any guarantee we would even get past our own zone playoffs with a one-team format."

"As far as a lack of available talent to supply three teams in Quincy, I have not seen a problem. We have twelve Babe Ruth teams in Quincy to supply about 12 to 18 openings a year. Naturally, we, the coaches of the Legion teams, would love to draw the top players coming out of Babe Ruth, but that just is not going to happen. Even without this happening, the three Legion teams in Zone 1 this year did an outstanding job."

"Morrisette and Quincy made the playoffs and Wollaston missed by only one game. People will always say, 'There was just one team, either Legion or high school. Quincy would be a powerhouse.' This is of little consolation to the kids who did not have the opportunity to compete."

"Finally, I believe the solution to all of this is for people, and I don't mean just the parents of the players involved, to actively support the existing programs at all levels in all sports. Each time we eliminate a program, we lessen the value of the purpose these programs were instituted for in the first place. That being the opportunity just to play ball."

Quincy Hospital Softball Marathon Set For Sept. 17

The annual Quincy City Hospital softball marathon fundraiser will be held Saturday, Sept. 17, from 8 a.m. to midnight at McCoy Field, across from Veterans Memorial Stadium.

This year's marathon will benefit 12-year-old Jamie Boire, who remains hospitalized with injuries sustained in an automobile accident which took the lives of his parents.

In addition to the QCH squad, teams representing the Quincy Police Dept., MBTA and Bay State Ambulance will participate in the marathon.

Marathon coordinators for QCH are Sherry Robertson, ICU, ext. 3082, and Pat Rinella, maintenance, extension 4088.

Raiders Lack Experience, Depth

As the North Quincy football team prepares for its Sept. 16 opener against Milton, the Raiders' problems are lack of experience and depth.

"We have some line players at the skilled positions, but we have an inexperienced line both ways and we definitely lack depth," said coach Ken McPhee. "Injuries to any key players could hurt us tremendously."

On offense North has Kevin MacDougall, Jim Baker and Dan Hoban, all of who saw some action last fall. Derek Goodman, who will see service at several positions, and Wayne McUlley at wide receiver. Billy MacDougall, the team's top receiver the past two years, has moved to quarterback where he is expected to start.

At tight end McPhee has Mike Ainsley, an outstanding two-way player last year; Sean McDonough, Evan Kiley and Jim Ferrara.

The offensive tackles are inexperienced. Alex Malasi (210), Brian Healey (215), Scott Leonard, Kevin Heffernan and Dennis Lee.

The guards are led by veteran Dave Joyce (255) and include Mike Iacobucci, Steve Kohler (205), Brian Mahoney and John Ballarino.

Sean Glennon and Matt Swierk are the top centers and Kohler also may see action there.

Billy MacDougall is expected to start at quarterback but he is being pushed by Jim Bryant and Dave Hutchins.

At halfback Keith Gott, who had a fine season as a sophomore last year, leads the pack and is backed up by Jeff Sullivan, Danny Gilmartin, Quan Le and Jim Rayner.

North has one of the top fullbacks in Eastern Mass. in Ryan Craig (215), who had an outstanding year in 1987 and should be even better this fall. Backing him up is Bill Earley and Sullivan and Kiley may also play fullback.

Most of the players will be playing both ways and the defensive ends are Sean Glennon, Brian Tobin, McDonough and Mahoney.

The tackles are Joyce, Malasi, Kohler, Heffernan, Leonard and Healey.

The nose guards are Sullivan, Earley, Mike Oliver and Swierk and the linebackers are Ainsley, Craig, Iacobucci, Tobin and Jason Doyle.

At corner back are Kevin MacDougall, Baker, Le and Kiley, and the safeties are Billy MacDougall, Gott, Hoban, Goodman, Hutchins and Jerome Sweatt.

"We have several players with minor injuries, but they should be back," said

McPhee. "This is a fine group of kids and if we can just stay away from injuries, we should do well as the season goes along. It all depends upon how our inexperienced players progress."

"We will have a few sophomores in our lineup and a couple of freshmen will probably play on our special teams."

McPhee lost two assistant coaches, Ted Sadowski and Kevin Cobban. Kevin Kelly was added to the staff and Mark Mulvaney, former assistant, is back after a two-year absence, much to McPhee's delight. "It is good to have Mark back, we were hurting for assistants until Kevin and Mark were added," the seven-year coach said.

North, which had a 5-4-1 record last year, opens against Milton Friday night, Sept. 16, at 7 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium and will host Newton North in the Suburban League opener Friday night, Sept. 23, at 7 p.m.

Babe Ruth

American All Stars Wallop Nationals, 10-1

The American League wallop the National League, 10-1, in the recent Quincy Babe Ruth 13-15-year-old all-star game at Adams Field.

The six teams from each division sent three players to make up the 18-player rosters.

The Nationals scored their only run in the first inning on a single by Rich MacDonald, a stolen base and a ground out.

The Americans came back with two in their half when Mike Baylis and Chad McMahon singled, each stole a base and scored on ground outs. From that point on the American League pitchers took control and allowed only one hit and struck out 11 for the next eight innings. Meanwhile, the Americans added two runs in the second, three in the fifth and single runs in the sixth, eighth and ninth.

McMahon was the starting pitcher and gave up two hits, one run and struck out three. Billy Warren pitched the next two innings, didn't allow a hit or run and struck out three. He was followed by Rich Burns, who worked an inning and struck out all three batters he faced. Joe Crespi pitched the sixth, struck out one and walked one and got out of the inning on a double play. Steve Waas gave up a single and a walk but got out of trouble when McMahon made an outstanding play and turned it into a double play.

Mike Baylis finished up, striking out all six batters he faced in two innings. Matt Smith pitched well for the Nationals, retiring six straight batters, including three strikeouts in a row.

MacDonald, Fred Regan and Bill Fahey had the three hits for the Nationals. For the Americans McMahon and Baylis, each had a single, stolen base, walk and an RBI. Waas had two singles and three RBI. Billy Campbell had a base-clearing double to break the game open in the fifth. Sal Manganaro, playing shortstop for the first time in his career, made an outstanding over-the-shoulder catch to end the game.

Oil Painting Demonstration For Quincy Art Assn. Sept. 13

At the Quincy Art Association's first meeting of the season Sept. 13 at 7:30 p.m., Quincy City Hall Conference Room, Helen Van Wyk will present an oil painting demonstration.

A nationally known artist, teacher, lecturer and author, now living in Rockport, Van Wyk will demonstrate the techniques and procedures that have made her books popular among professionals as well as people just learning to paint.

Van Wyk was instrumental in the creation of "Welcome To My Studio," a 13-week series of half-hour television painting instruction shown around the country. She has also produced a video cassette, along with a one-hour tape, "Painting Flowers Alla Prima." She is the author of five books on painting.

More information on the meeting and program in Quincy may be obtained by calling Marilyn Reisinger at 479-6181 or 773-7213.

Classes for the Quincy Art Association will begin the week of Sept. 26. An open house for the fall courses will be held Sunday, Sept. 11, from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Quincy Art Association Building, 26 High School Ave.

Quincy Choral Society Rehearsals Begin Sept. 12

The Quincy Choral Society will begin its eighth season with rehearsals starting Sept. 12 at 8 p.m. at East Congregational Church, East Milton.

All singers are welcome. Sopranos and tenors are especially needed.

This year's Christmas program will include Vivaldi's "Gloria," Pinkham's "Christmas Cantata," Robert Shaw's "Many Moods of Christmas, Suite Four," and other holiday selections.

The 60-member community group will be accompanied by Carla Errichiello under the direction of new conductor John B. Nichols. Nichols is on the music teaching staff at Curry College, Milton. He is former assistant director of Chorus Pro Musica, Boston and is currently music director for a Danvers production of "Man of La Mancha."

Nichols has a master's degree in conducting from Indiana University where he studied under Julius Herford.

and Robert Shaw. He earned a music education degree in piano and composition from Ithaca College and has worked under Nadia Boulanger at Ecole d'Art Americain, Fountainbleau, France.

Representative Candidates Forum Live On Ch. 3

With one week to go before the state primaries, Quincy voters will get a close look at the five candidates running for state representative when they square off during a 90-minute Candidates Forum to be broadcast live tonight (Thursday) on Continental Cablevision Channel 3 beginning at 7:30 p.m.
The five candidates, three Democrats and two Republicans, will answer questions from media panelists and themselves.

Issues to be discussed include affordable housing, budgets (state and local), campaign endorsements, contributions, crime and drugs, as well as day care, the environment, education, hazardous waste, transportation and salary raises for state representatives.
Candidates seeking the vacant Second Norfolk District seat are Democrats Stephen Durkin, Arthur "Stephen" Tobin and Patricia Toland and Republicans Richard Harris and Denis Tardo. The seat became vacant when former Representative Robert Brownell stepped down to become an associate justice at Plymouth

District Court.
The state primary is Thursday, Sept. 15.
Moderating the forum will be Steve Farquhar, the new general manager of Continental Cablevision of Quincy.

Panelists will be from The Quincy Sun, WJDA and The Patriot Ledger.
Producing the televised forum is Marie Diaz Hulbert, public affairs producer for Quincy Community Television.

WEEK OF: September 8

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Intellectually oriented, your thinking is along practical rather than emotional lines. You are meticulous, and some find you over-lytical. Your ability to analyze situations can be put to effective use as you contemplate new directions. Rocky relationship should stabilize by early '89.

AQUARIUS - January 21 - February 19

Expect a surge of energy this week - and watch everyone try to keep up to your pace. Delicate tasks require your careful touch. Visitors may stay longer than you realized.

PISCES - February 20 - March 20

Week may find you negotiating more than one complex situation. As a result, your own self confidence should soar. Business ventures demand refinement and investigation.

ARIES - March 21 - April 20

Shaky relationship becomes steadier, thanks to a more realistic approach from both parties. Financial project may be temporarily stalled. Offbeat ideas have more merit than expected.

TAURUS - April 21 - May 22

You may be interpreting messages incorrectly, it's best to give others the benefit of the doubt. Yet another trip may be on tap for the week. Friend appreciates moral support.

GEMINI - May 23 - June 21

Added responsibilities figure into the week's program, along with overdue recognition of your talents. Willpower is strong. Be extra careful if recruiting helpers at this time.

CANCER - June 22 - July 22

Be cautious of someone trying to draw out confidences. This week, it pays to be picky and demand perfection. Family situation sees you assuming a leadership role.

LEO - July 23 - August 22

Older relative is more willing to hear your point of view and act on your suggestions. Week is generally favorable for launching a pet project. Partner appears more realistic.

VIRGO - August 23 - September 22

New light is shed on a family situation, and your next move is much easier to make. Proper transactions demand careful review. Career bonus may arrive by Wednesday.

LIBRA - September 23 - October 22

Your optimistic approach spills over and brightens the mood of a new friend. Be aware of a tendency to take on assignments that don't match your current interests.

SCORPIO - October 23 - November 21

Career-related announcement may omit some key points. Family ties tighten, thanks to the effort of a distant relative. Good week to launch a fitness regime.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22 - December 22

At last you have a forum willing to hear - and act upon - your pet peeves. Week may include some spontaneous travel. Good week for outlining long term goals.

CAPRICORN - December 23 - January 20

Cultural events pepper the week. Invitation arrives from your prize source, don't be too hasty to decline it. Weekend includes chance to visit people you've been wanting to see.

Business News

John McKay:

Big In Business And In Heart

Quincy native and longtime resident John McKay is 27 years old.

For each year of life, he probably has wished he had an extra two hours in the day just to juggle his career, community sports, and volunteer work for young cancer victims.

Yet, he still manages to find the time, however, and says he enjoys every second of his busy week—whether he's helping his partners direct a growing communications company or dribbling a basketball with a terminally ill child.

McKay recently was named vice president and partner of Cohn-Thompson Effective Communications of Waltham, a 10-year-old marketing and communications firm. He will be responsible for much of the growth of the company over the coming years, as well as the introduction of a sports marketing program and a new magazine division.

McKay says he is excited about this new venture, but would not have considered leaving his four-year management post at a South Shore publishing company if it weren't for his new partners, Marty Cohn and Mel Thompson. McKay is the former editor and director of publications of the Computech Publishing Business Magazine Network in Randolph, a consortium of 11 business-to-business magazines.

"Marty and Mel started from nothing and have built a solid growing company," McKay said. "They are two very talented people and they have tremendous reputations in the field. They are two outstanding people and that, above anything else, was the difference for me."

An avid sports fan and athlete, McKay keeps active pitching in the Quincy Men's Softball League and is a frequent golfer, hockey and basketball player. McKay is also involved with several charitable organizations, serving on the executive committees for Easter Seals,

JOHN MCKAY

March of Dimes, Catholic Charities, the WEEL 590 Fund, and the State Police Junior Olympic Program.

He is a frequent visitor of the Ronald McDonald House in Brookline—a facility for children stricken with cancer.

"He's religious about it—he's always thinking about the place," commented his best friend and roommate, Chris Mahoney. "Once in a while, he'd hear that one of the kids he has been with died and he'll be down for a while, but he tries not to let it get to him."

This past spring, McKay bought a basketball and had it autographed by the entire Boston Celtics team. McKay presented the ball to a young boy named Travis Grover, who had been suffering from a recurring brain tumor for more than 10 years. He'll spend many hours talking, walking, joking, and playing basketball with the children—anything to get a smile.

"He gets a lot of letters from people and parents thanking him for spending time with their kids," Mahoney said. "He's usually pretty heartbroken when he gets home."

A student at Northeastern University, McKay began his career as a member of the editorial staff for The Patriot Ledger, working in the news, business and sports departments. McKay's success at the paper, culminating with his extensive coverage of Doug Flutie and the Boston College football team en route to their 1984 Cotton Bowl appearance, led him to land a management job at Computech.

A high mark in his Computech career was the magazine's exclusive interview with Barry Ackerley, the billboard advertising giant. McKay visited the company's Seattle headquarters after months of meetings with the regional Ackerley people and the company's agency, which turned out to be Cohn-Thompson.

"Barry Ackerley did not grant interviews," McKay said. "But he wanted to tell his story. I think he wanted to make certain he knew who he was dealing with and that he was going to get a fair deal."

Marty Cohn and Mel Thompson were quite familiar with McKay's work and both liked the Computech magazines. It took months of work, but Ackerley appeared on the cover of all 11 magazines as an exclusive interview last fall.

Within a year, McKay and Cohn-Thompson were talking partnership.

"I think you've got a very talented group of business people here. The company was on the forefront of the desktop publishing revolution before most people knew what it was and what it could do for business. On the marketing and communications side, the fact that they've never lost a client speaks for itself. And, they've really been able to turn some companies around," McKay said.

As a business owner, McKay will find himself in the position of putting in those long entrepreneurial hours, but he says he'll still make time for all his other commitments, particularly the Ronald McDonald House.

"Just because you're striving to be successful," McKay said, "doesn't mean you shouldn't strive to be a good person, too."

Dr. Johnson Elected Chairman South Shore Visiting Nurses Assn.

Dr. O. Clayton Johnson, president of Quincy Junior College, was recently elected chairman of the Visiting Nurses Association of the South Shore.

Dr. Johnson was also elected to a new three-year term on the board. Areas of the South Shore VNA that he serves on include the foundation and the board of directors of the VNA management services.

Asked about the direction he would take on the board, Dr. Johnson replied, "Our work will hopefully make life better for the many who may not be able to totally care for themselves, especially the elderly. The integral arrangement that we have with the South Shore Hospital is a future oriented idea that will expand our concern and work."

He also indicated his pleasure of being elected chairman saying, "Given the changing services of health care it is a valuable and exciting opportunity to serve the people of the South Shore in this capacity."

He lives in Hanover with his wife Sharon and their two children.

Deware Accepted As N.E. Funeral-Multibank Master Trust Member

Deware Funeral Home, 576 Hancock St., Wollaston, has been accepted as a member of the New England Funeral Trust-Multibank Master Trust, announced Multibank Financial Corp., Dedham, and the Massachusetts Funeral Directors Association.

The New England Funeral Trust-Multibank Master Trust Program through South Shore Bank will assist funeral directors in making detailed funeral and financial arrangements on a "preneed" basis.

"Unlike some other prearranged funeral services presently being sold in the South Shore area, the prearranged funeral program of Deware Funeral Home will place 100 percent of the funds received under the New England Funeral Trust, which is available locally through South Shore Bank, a Multibank Financial Corp. member bank," said D. Scott Deware of the Deware Funeral Home.

"The New England Funeral Trust-Multibank Master Trust was designed in complete conformance with the regulations established for prepaid funeral arrangements by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Board of Registration of Funeral Directing and Embalming," he said.

The trust enables funeral directors to conveniently invest their clients' prepayments at the Multibank affiliate bank in their local area. Further, the fact that prepayments are invested in a legal trust arrangement protects pre-arrangement clients and assures them that their funeral arrangements will be carried out as planned.

The funeral home and Multibank keep detailed records of each pre-arrangement client's investment, and produces all necessary tax forms so participating funeral homes may comply with legal reporting requirements.

"Our firm's participation in the New England Funeral Trust-Multibank Master Trust program not only confirms our continued commitment to the South Shore families we serve, but also our belief that individuals paying money in advance for prearranged funeral services deserve the peace of mind that a legal trust arrangement creates," Deware said.

TO ST. JUDE

O Holy St. Jude, Apostle and Martyr. Great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsmen of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need to you I have recourse from the depths of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power, to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition. In return I promise to make your name known and cause to be invoked. Say 3 Our Fathers and 3 Hail Marys and 3 Glorias. Publication must be promised. St. Jude pray for us, and all who invoke your aid. AMEN. This prayer has never been known to fail. This prayer is to be said on 9 consecutive days. Publication promised.

PRAYER OF APPLICATION

TO THE HOLY SPIRIT Holy Spirit, you who solve all problems, who light all roads so that I can attain my goal, who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget all evil against me and who in all instances of my life are with me, I want in this short prayer to thank you for all things and to confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you and even in spite of all material illusion, I wish to be with you in eternal glory. Thank you for your mercy towards me and mine. Repeat this prayer 3 consecutive days. After 3 days the favor will be granted even though it may appear difficult. This prayer must be published immediately after favor is granted without mentioning the favor.

THANK YOU ST. JUDE For Favors Granted

Under 20% Voter Turnout Seen For Primaries

State Rep, Commissioner Top Races

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

Less than 20 percent of Quincy's electorate is expected to vote in today's (Thursday) State Primaries with most of the local action in Second Norfolk State Representative and Norfolk County Commission races.

City Clerk John Gillis predicted turnout is for a 15 percent city-wide turnout and 35 percent in the areas comprising the Second Norfolk District.

There are Democratic and Republican primaries in the Second Norfolk District where most of the action and interest is.

School Committeeman Stephen J. Durkin, 125 Colonial Dr., political newcomer Arthur Stephen Tobin, 33 Virginia Rd., and City Council President Patricia M. Toland, 82 Cedar St. seek the Democratic nomination.

Tobin is the son of former Mayor and present Quincy District Court magistrate Arthur Tobin.

Richard A. Harris, 22 Oakland Ave. and Denis F. Tardo, 141 Sea St. hope to nail down the Republican nomination.

The two winners will square off in the November final election.

The Second Norfolk district is comprised of Ward 1 and Ward 3, Precinct 2, Ward 4 Precincts 1, 2, 4 and 5 and Ward 5 Precincts 1 and 3.

For Norfolk County Commission race, despite three candidates running, it's really a two-candidate race because state law prohibits more than one person from the same city or town holding the office.

The two Quincy candidates are incumbent George B. McDonald, 133 Grove St., and Mary P. Collins, 116 Lansdowne St., vice chairwoman of the Quincy School Committee.

The other candidate is incumbent James J. Collins of Milton.

Since there are no Republican candidates for county commissioner, James Collins and the winner of the McDonald-Mary Collins race will be the commissioners.

A third contest has U.S. Congressman Brian J. Donnelly challenged by David J. Peterson, 53 Curtis St., Quincy, for the Democratic nomination.

Polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

Gillis said results should be known by 10 p.m.

Thursday's primary will be historical not only in Quincy but in the rest of the state. Because of the Rosh Hashanah Jewish holiday, it is believed to be the first time state primaries are held on a Thursday.

The last state representative primary in Quincy was in 1980 and it also featured the Second Norfolk district. Eight years ago, incumbent Thomas Brownell tallied 3,838 votes to defeat Stephen McGrath who had 2,302. Twenty-six percent of Quincy's voters turned out.

Brownell, who stepped down as state representative to become an associate justice at Plymouth District Court, created the vacancy.

eligible voters in Quincy, an increase of 2,003 since March.

Of that total, 29,472 are Democrats, 10,273 are Independents while 6,602 are Republicans.

Also, women still outnumber men by more than 6,000. The latest figures show 26,346 female registered voters compared to 19,997 male registered voters.

During the most recent voter registration drive held July 26 to Aug. 18, 848 residents registered. Of that figure, 444 are independent, 312 are Democrats while 92 are Republican.

Also, 440 women and 408 men registered during the three-week period.

Gillis said any trends in voter registration would be more clearly defined after the primary when Independents choose either a Democratic or Republican ballot.

He also said voters who registered after Aug. 18 are not eligible to vote in Thursday's primaries. By law, the voter registration deadline is 20 days before an election. Gillis said between 200 and 300 residents registered after the Aug. 18 deadline.

Most political observers agree that the Democratic state representative race is very close. Gillis said the interest in the state representative race prompted some residents to register and the numbers seem to show that.

Public Hearing Sept. 19 On Purchase Bid

Quincy residents will have an opportunity to voice their support for an employee purchase bid at the former General Dynamics Fore River shipyard in Quincy at a public hearing Monday, Sept. 19 at 6:30 p.m. in the Council Chambers at City Hall.

The hearing is being sponsored by Landbank, the state finance group that may provide $3 million to help the former shipbuilders purchase equipment at the yard, said Senator Paul D. Harold (D-Quincy).

"The hearing is being held to get public input and to show support for the employee purchase bid," Harold said.

"This is the first physical step of an agreement being reached. We are now on a time frame to bring about an employee purchase of the yard," he said.

"Large citizens to attend the hearing to show support for the return of shipbuilding at Fore River," Harold said.

A similar public hearing will be held in Braintree on Sept. 26. Both hearings are required under state law, Harold said.

After the two hearings, the Landbank will vote on whether to award the $3 million to the employee group. The vote should occur the first week of October, he said.

According to Harold, the money would be used to purchase shipbuilding equipment such as cranes and sheet metal fabrication machinery.

If the money is approved, the next step would be to reach an agreement with the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority, who owns the shipyard land. Since acquiring the property, the MWR and shipbuilders have been negotiating "in good faith," Harold said.

The group, comprised of trustees and officers of the Local 5 Shipbuilding Union, is trying to negotiate a purchase of 75 acres: 50 acres comprising the "core" of the yard and 25 acres to provide access to storage shops and piers, Harold said. If all negotiations are finalized and agreements are reached, the shipyard would employ 600 initially and as many as 1,000 "once it gets going," Harold said.

Downtown Chinese Restaurant Rejected

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

There will be no "take-out" Chinese restaurant on Hancock St. in Quincy Sq., the License Board ruled on Tuesday.

Ming Poy Chin and Huo Lai Chu Chin, her husband, were allowed to withdraw their request without prejudice, however, and it was suggested they seek legal assistance.

They were requesting a common victualers license to operate Hong Kong Plaza Restaurant at 1486 Hancock St., former site of Tass Furniture Store.

"We have refused other restaurants in that location. Therefore I could not vote for it," said John Gillis, chairman. "I have to be consistent. It's a problem of location."

Public safety and traffic were cited by the board members. Opposition was recorded by other food vendors in the area.

Furnace Brook Parkway Bridge Work To Start

Work will begin shortly on the Furnace Brook Parkway bridge over I-93.

The work will include removal of existing top materials and the cleaning and painting of structural steel and the replacement of concrete slabs on the existing deck according to Sen. Paul Harold.

Harold said that Modern Continental Construction Company, Inc. of Cambridge, was awarded a $696,600 contract to do the work, which is slated for completion by Oct. 28.

Other works will include modification of the general area of the bridge. The sidewalk and safety walk will also be replaced.

"General maintenance and upkeep will enhance the quality of our roadways and highways which will in turn provide a greater degree of safety for our motorists," said Harold.

ANTHONY REESE, one of the crew leaders for the City Year, an "urban Peace Corp.," participates in an effort to beautify some land adjacent to the Adams National Historic Site at the intersection of Newport Ave. and Furnace Brook Pkwy. City Year is working with the Metropolitan District Commission and the National Park Service on this two-week project.

Public Hearing On Hazardous Waste Sept. 22

A public hearing to discuss the issues of Clean Harbors and hazardous waste will be held Thursday, Sept. 22 at 7 p.m. at the Fore River Clubhouse, Nevada Rd.,

Quincy Point.

The meeting is intended to make residents more aware of potential problems that could arise if Clean Harbors is allowed to construct a hazardous waste incinerator in Braintree.

There will be a short slide presentation.

Interested residents are urged to attend.

State Representative Candidates Raise Over $78,000

A total of $78,743 has been raised by the five candidates running for the vacant state representative seat in the Second Norfolk District, with an overwhelming portion collected by the three Democratic contenders.

According to recently released reports filed with the state, Democrat Arthur Stephen Tobin raised the most money, a total of $33,863.

Tobin was followed by fellow Democrats Patricia Toland who raised $26,256 and Stephen Durkin who collected $16,364.

The total for the three Democratic candidates is $76,483.

The two Republicans raised much less money.

Denis Tardo raised $1,555 while his opponent, Richard Harris collected $705 for a total of $2,260.

License Board Briefs

The License Board took the following actions at Tuesday's meeting at city hall.

- Granted a request from Dollar Saver of Quincy, 321 Quincy Shore Dr., for the transfer of the Ret-AA license held by South Shore Wine Company. The 1800-foot package store is owned by and will be managed by Gerson Levine and Frances Levine.

- Granted a request from Quincy Youth Football League, represented by Frank P. Brillo, to conduct its annual tag days Friday, Sept. 23; Saturday, Sept. 24, with rain days, Sept. 30 and Oct. 1.

- Granted a request from Thomas Bellotti, doing business as Nina's Pizza and Italian Deli at 524 Sea St., for a common victualer's license. The business will be open from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m.

- Continued for two weeks until Sept. 27 a hearing on the request from Spee Dee Lub, 610 Hancock St., for storage of 2,000 gallons of motor oil; waste oil; transmission fluid, stored in tanks, and 100 gallons of gas in tanks or cars. Peter Nizwantowski spoke for John J. Fontana, owner. Because of traffic problems, they were advised to talk with their Ward Councilor and get in touch with the building inspector.

- Granted a request from Mrs. Linda Rendle representing North Quincy High School, for canning collection dates of Friday, Sept. 30, Oct. 1 and Oct. 2.

- Granted a request from James R. Fitzroy, C.G.C.S. for a one-day alcohol license for Friday, Sept. 30, from 7 p.m. to midnight at Rosie's for a retirement party for Mrs. Thelma Downes.

- Granted a request from Daniel J. Quirk for a Motor I license, Hyundai Dealership, for two parcels of land on Brackett St.-McGrath Highway, formerly owned by Woodward Spring Co., subject to approval of the building inspector, Health Commissioner and Fire Dept.

- Granted a request from Roman Gardens at 653 Southern Artery, run by John A. Findley, for Sunday liquor privileges. Ward Councilor Theodore DeCristofaro spoke in favor of this. The business is now serving a Sunday brunch at which a champagne drink and Bloody Mary's will be available.

- Chief Francis Finn, a License Board member, announced that in the interest of public safety, the Quincy Police will conduct a test on all taxicabs on Oct. 13.

The board agreed that since Quincy Bay Inn no longer has a "spillover" of customers' parking on Densmore St., the police officer stationed there will be removed. This is subject to a trial period, and will be at the discretion of Sgt. Richard Laracy, Quincy Police Liquor Inspector.

- Sgt. Richard Laracy announced that at the Sept. 27 meeting of the License Board, he will have with him two of several minors who were served liquor at Stooze's on School St.

Permits Issued For Over $1 Million In Wiring

The city's Department of Wire Inspection issued 174 permits during August for an estimated wiring cost of $1,015,390, reports Wire Inspector Thomas E. Purpura.

A total of $10,018.25 was collected in fees last month. There were 68 certificates of approval to the Massachusetts Electric Company.

The department made 310 inspections and noted 32 defects.

There were 18 reinspections and two fire calls.

Major projects for which permits were issued during August were:

- An office building at 1200 Crown Colony Drive.

- An office-warehouse at 190 Willard St.

- A two-family dwelling at 39-41 Nilsen Ave.

- A Club House (The Falls Project) at 200-D Falls Blvd.

School Crossing Signs To Be Installed At Wollaston, Montclair

Funding has been approved by the Massachusetts Department of Public Works for the installation of school zone crossing signs at the Wollaston and Montclair elementary schools, announces Rep. Michael Morrissey (D-Quincy).

These schools are the last of Quincy's five elementary schools to receive this funding in the last year.

The school zone crossing signs are intended to remind motorists that they are approaching a school zone and to decrease their speed. The signs will flash a 20 m.p.h. speed limit while students are at school; in the morning, lunch time and in the afternoon.

"I've been contacted by a number of anxious parents who are concerned about the safety of their children going to and from school. I am pleased that the state has been able to provide this additional form of protection for the children," Morrissey said.

Now that state funding has been approved, the city will advertise for contract bids to install the signs.

Installation of signs at the Parker, Atherton Hough and Snug Harbor elementary schools was delayed due to lack of response from interested contractors.

"I hope the city finds a contractor as soon as possible so the signs can be installed quickly now that the kids are back in school," Morrissey said.

Commends Registry For Fraudulent ID's Crackdown

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

A letter commending the Quincy office of the Registry of Motor Vehicles for their "fine job" in discouraging young people from obtaining fraudulent liquor I.D.'s and duplicate licenses, was approved by the Quincy License Board.

The letter suggested by Sgt. Richard Laracy, Quincy

Police Liquor Inspector, compliments particularly Deputy Registrar Robert Capasso, Supervisor George Jameson and Inspectors Robert Rowe and Wayne Cameron.

"The word is out among young people not to bother to go to the Quincy Registry with fraudulent information as they check it out thoroughly and if you are found trying to obtain a liquor I.D. card or duplicate license with someone else's information you are arrested and prosecuted," the letter says.

The Quincy Registry's vigilance was called a start in the right direction, especially driver's licenses that require duplicate pictures and a fingerprint of the thumb or index finger.

Permits Issued For $8.5 Million In Construction During August

The city of Quincy building report for August includes an estimated cost of $8,518,143 in construction with 63 dwelling units added through new construction.

A total of 172 permits were issued.

Included are two multi-family dwellings, one 18-unit and one 43-unit dwelling for a total of $3,333,307.

One mercantile building, at $2,724,000; 2 garages for $10,300; 107 residential alterations totaling $706,911; 21 other alterations, $1,015,800.

There were two removals, $15,200; 10 signs, $18,890; and 25 miscellaneous permits, for $554,895.

The total compares with a total of 152 permits in August, 1987, totalling $6,542,055.

Receipts for August, 1988 were $184,414, with $517 received as public safety inspection fees.

RISK MANAGEMENT WITH INSURANCE PLANNING

Everyday life is full of risks. When you purchase insurance, you pay the company to protect you from whatever risk is covered by your policy. Governments, businesses, nonprofit organizations and individuals all rely on insurance to protect them from financial loss.

Whatever your insurance needs, you should sit down and discuss them with a professional. There are health and major medical policies to help pay doctor and hospital bills should you become ill, property insurance to protect your home and automobile, liability insurance to cover you if someone is injured due to your negligence, disability insurance to provide income if you cannot work because of illness or accident, and life insurance. Your agent will be glad to explain the various options available to you and help you work out a comprehensive plan to protect your family against many of life's risks.

At Riley & Rielly Insurance Agency, Inc. our insurance professionals are happy to discuss the many protection options available today. Please give us a call at 471-6200 or stop by our office at 1050 Hancock Street in Quincy.

The Way He Sees It

Thomas Gilmartin, former city councillor who now prefers to study political races instead of running in them, has his crystal ball dusted off for today's (Thursday) state primaries.

Gilmartin has zeroed in on the Democratic race for state representative in the Second Norfolk District.

He says after a three-week study of voters in that district, he is picking 'em close like this: Arthur Stephen Tobin, 1,375 votes. Patricia Toland, 1,300. Stephen Durkin, 995. Blanks, 30.

He sees 21 percent of registered Democrats turning out to vote, two percent of the Republicans and only one of the Independents.

Gilmartin in past city and state elections has called some of the races right — and some wrong. Most of them right, he says.

Anyway, he is willing to again put his "political analyst" reputation on the line.

But remember, these are Gilmartin's predictions and not The Quincy Sun's.

We tossed a coin but we aren't saying who won the flip.

THE HIGH ESTEEM in which Baron Hugo is held by fellow musicians was quite evident at his recent Quincy Centennial Concert at the Ruth Gordon Amphitheatre.

Playing clarinet was one of the best of them all, Dick Johnson, who now leads the Artie Shaw band. Shaw handpicked Johnson to succeed him. Johnson was home for a couple of days from a road trip with the Shaw band and made it a point to go over and join the Baron for the concert.

Baron, incidentally, will receive a Distinguished Service Award from the South Shore Mental Health Center Sunday, Sept. 25 at noon at Kemper Insurance, 150 Newport Ave.

FAMILY AFFAIR: Quincy Fire Lt. Louis Malvesti retired the other day, closing out a 40-year career.

He and four brothers who retired before him, gave some 170 years of service in Quincy public safety careers. The other four:

Fire Lt. Nick Malvesti, 30 years; Fire Lt. Joseph Malvesti, 31 years, Police Sgt. John Malvesti, 34 years and Fire Lt. Tony Malvesti, 35 years.

Nick retired in 1972, Joe in 1975, John in 1976 and Tony in 1981.

But the family tradition is still being carried on. Nick's son, Tom, is a Quincy police sergeant.

JAMES D'OLIMPIO, recently retired superintendent of Maintenance for the Quincy Housing Authority will be honored tonight (Thursday) at a dinner at the Wollaston Golf Club, 999 Randolph Ave., Milton.

A social hour will start at 6 p.m., followed by dinner at 7 p.m.

Don't know if there are any tickets left. But if you're looking for one, check with Barbara Stewart at 847-4376.

Incidentally, if the meal is as good as the ones Jim's wife, Marie, whips up at home, you're in for a tasty delight.

LOOK ALIKES? Willard Scott, the jovial NBC Today show weatherman and Fr. William McCarthy, pastor of St. John's Parish?

Scott thinks so. John Noonan, editor of St. John's News, recently sent a T-shirt (extra large) imprinted with pictures of St. John's Church and "Fr. Bill".

The T-shirts were designed as a surprise to Fr. McCarthy for St. John's Parish 125th anniversary.

Each week day, Scott acknowledges special anniversaries on his TV program.

And, one day recently, there he was holding up the T-shirt for his national audience to see and noting that "Fr. Bill" was his kind of guy. He said they were both good looking, look alike and "we both are a little thin on the top side."

It was a nice plug for St. John's anniversary.

And, speaking of that anniversary, a special nostalgic 64-page issue of St. John's News will appear in next week's Quincy Sun. We're sure you'll like it whether you are a present or former parishioner at St. John's and even if you aren't.

operating out of the District Attorney's office, will speak and answer questions.

The program is free. Future programs include

31 To Be Sworn In To Women's Commission

Thirty-one members of the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women will be sworn in on Monday, Sept. 19 at 7 p.m. by City Clerk John Gillis, announces Mayor Francis X. McCauley.

The ceremony will take place in the mayor's office at City Hall.

Seven new members, as well as 24 returning members, will be sworn in. After the ceremony, members will sign the official register.

Established in 1974, the commission has been active in the city addressing needs of women, particularly in encouraging women to participate in city activities.

During the last 14 years, members have sponsored seminars on topics such as women's health issues, consumer protection, self defense, real estate, financial opportunities and investments and street management.

This year should be exciting for the commission with several major projects already scheduled.

The seven new members are:

Eileen Cohen, Marie Frazier, Christine Hayden, Joan Henshaw, Carmen Karassic, Lisa McBirnie and Louisa Steele.

The 24 members to be reappointed are:

War Time Voyage For Six Residents

Six Quincy residents, returning from summer vacations in Scotland, described their two-week voyage across the Atlantic on the British steamer Cameronia, on the alert for German submarines.

The ship followed a zig zag course, said Mrs. Charles Tainsh, with portholes blacked out and each passenger keeping a life jacket at hand in case of emergency.

Once, she said, they heard an SOS from a sinking vessel but Capt. B.G. Kelley refused to acknowledge it, suspecting a German trick. They were relieved when an American ship answered the distress call.

The passengers were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tainsh, 86 Lawn Ave., Quincy Point; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gilchrist, 97 Goddard St., South Quincy; Mrs. John Broadford, 81 Germain Ave., Quincy Point; and Mae Ellen, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Allen, 69 Faxon Rd., Atlantic.

The Cameronia sailed from Glasgow on Sept. 1, the day the German army invaded Poland to start World War II.

COUNCIL ASKS RENT PROBE

The City Council summoned City Engineer Gerhard F. Schafer, who was also the local WPA coordinator to explain a $6,500 increase in the yearly rent the city was paying for Hitchcock's Quarry.

The quarry, owned by the Quincy Quarries Co., was used by a WPA granite project.

"Members of the City Council should not be so glibly as to accept this," said Councillor Aldo Della Chiesa. "The Mayor should put his foot down and we should move if the rent is not reduced."

Green Olive Cream Pasta

At our large family reunion held over the Labor Day weekend (the good day), each person brought a main dish while others brought desserts. Of course, my brother John went overboard and brought lamb stew, sausage cacciatore and today's recipe for green olive cream sauce to toss over pasta. The only part of this dish that takes time is the marinating of the olives for at least two days. But it is well worth it.

JOHN'S GREEN OLIVE CREAM PASTA

- 1 jar green olives (pitted)
- (at least two cups)
- 1 pint heavy cream
- 2 cups olive oil
- 5 cloves of garlic

Drain the olives and in place of their liquid, add the olive oil and the garlic cloves. Let stand covered on the counter for two days. On the third day, saute the whole jar of olives, oil and garlic and then add the cream. The cream blends very well with this. Stir until blended. Toss over linguine or thin spaghetti and serve with grated cheese. It's certainly a different, easy and tasty way to serve pasta as you will note.

Marie D'Olimpio is the author of "Simply Italian-And Then Some," a collection of her own recipes. Copies of the book are available at That's Italian, Franklin St., South Quincy; Previte's Market, Sumner St., Quincy Point; Samoset Pharmacy, Samoset Ave., Merrymount and Winfield Gift Emporium, Hancock St., Quincy Center.

Simon Peter Sermon Topic At Covenant Congregational

At the 10:45 a.m. worship service Sunday at Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts., Rev. Fred Lawson will continue his series on the 12 disciples.

He will preach about Simon Peter.

Sunday school will meet at 9:30 a.m. There are classes for all ages, nursery through adult.

The choir, directed and accompanied on the organ by Richard Smith, minister of music, will sing "Gloria" by Mozart. "You'll Never Walk Alone" by Rodgers will be sung by Luisa Dano, soprano soloist. Mr. Smith will play "Prelude and Fugue in E Minor" by Bach and Vivaldi's "Andante" as offertory.

A nursery is available for children age five and under. The attendant will be Sarah Nelson.

Coming events include the Primary Election Bake Sale on Thursday, Sept. 15 and a Diaconate meeting at the church at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 16.

On Tuesday, Sept. 20 the Covenant Seniors will travel to Cromwell, Ct. for Hilltop Day. Conference offices, the Children's Home and retirement village may be visited.

Information about two special weekends at Pilgrim Pines in West Swaney, N.H. is available for those interested. One is a Fall Foliage Festival Oct. 11-13, the other the Thanksgiving Holiday Nov. 23-25.

For details about any of the church's activities, please call the church office at 479-5728.

'Source Of Wisdom' Wollaston Congregational Topic

Rev. Elden D.J. Zuern will preach a sermon titled "The Source Of Wisdom" Sunday at 10 a.m. at Wollaston Congregational Church.

Lay scripture leader will be Mary Gifford and acolyte Jason Towle. Greeters will be Hester Johnson and June Miller and the ushers Steven and Bernadette Stentford.

Nursery care for infants and toddlers is provided by competent and trained personnel. Church school for grades 1-12 is held from 10 to 11 a.m.

A fellowship hour follows the service to which all are invited. Come and enjoy the sociability and refreshments.

Today is the last opportunity to register for the third annual church retreat to be held at the Framingham Conference Center. Beginning at 6 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 23 the conference will end following supper on Saturday evening. The speaker, Kathleen Ennis-Durston, is a graduate of Harvard Divinity School and is now an associate minister at Rollston Congregational Church in Fitchburg. For the past two years she has served as the part time Peace and Justice Coordinator in Central Area for the Massachusetts Conference.

A cake sale will be held Sept. 18 at the Fellowship Hour to assist in retreat scholarships.

The Youth Fellowship will hold its first dance of the 1988-1989 season on Saturday, Sept. 17 at 7 p.m. in the social hall.

'Challenge Of A Liberal Faith' At United First Parish

Rob Schepps, 22-year-old tenor and soprano saxophonist, will bring his jazz group to United First Parish Church, Quincy, Sunday, Sept. 18, at 3 p.m.

Schepps has been playing professionally since 1977. The sextet were finalists in the 1986 Playboy jazz festival competition. Schepps has performed in jazz clubs in Boston and New York as well as with Buddy Rich on the Merv Griffin Show and Lionel Hampton at Carnegie Hall.

Schepps won two down beat awards while at the New England Conservatory of Music, where he graduated with honors in jazz studies, 1986.

The Sept. 18 concert will include original compositions, as well as works by other composers.

United First Parish

Church, also known as the Church of the Presidents, is directly across from the Quincy Center I station (Red Line) and city hall in Quincy Center.

A reception for the artist will take place in the parish hall following the concert. The public is invited to attend. Tickets are $5 each, $4 for students and seniors. They may be reserved in advance by calling the church office, 774-1290.

'The Straight Story'

First Squantum Church Topic

Before the First Church of Squantum observed the Lord's Supper Sunday, Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, preached on the subject, "The Straight Story About Being Saved."

Deacons seated with the pastor at the Lord's table were Kate MacRitchie, Andy Ogilvie, Barbara Anderson, Dana Olson, and Luther Swenson.

The Chancel Choir, which included a number of new members, sang "Alleluia" by John Coates, Jr. The congregation, accompanied by Mary Ruth Scott on the organ and Janet Williamson on the piano, sang "Glorious Things of Thee Are Spoken," "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," and "Be Still, My Soul."

Harry Holmes and Tore Wallin were the ushers. Drucilla Warnes and Helen Miller hosted the Fellowship Hour after the service.

The Board of Christian education met Sunday after church. The Board of Trustees met on Wednesday, Sept. 14, at 7:30 p.m. The Board of Deacons will meet on Monday, Sept. 19, at 7:30 p.m.

The next Church Council meeting will be held on Sept. 28 at 7 p.m. All church officers and heads of church boards or committees are asked to attend. The meeting is also open to interested church members.

The Chancel Choir rehearses on Thursdays at 7:30 p.m. The Junior Choir will organize for the fall on Thursday, Sept. 15, at 3 p.m. The Youth Choir will have its first meeting on Sunday, Sept. 18, at 11:45 a.m.

The service this Sunday will begin at 10:30 a.m. Sunday School and a nursery are provided during the service.

'Celebration Of The Children' At Bethany Congregational

The reopening of the church school will be celebrated Sunday, Sept. 18 at the 10 a.m. service at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center.

The children will be welcomed and will participate in the celebration, the theme of which is "Sunshine Sunday." Church School Supt. Gerard Capobianchi will greet the pupils, teachers and parents and offer brief remarks.

The Bethany Folkingers, led by guitarists Tora Huntington and Margaret Fernald, along with the Family Camp Chorus, will sing a Rathi composition "Rise and Shine" and "Weave Me the Sunshine" by Peter Yarrow.

The Family Camp Chorus, composed of 30 children and parents, was formed and practiced as part of last weekend's Bethany Family Camp held at Camp Deann in Sagamore.

The Chancel Choir under the direction of Charles Blue, Bethany's new organist, will sing as the offertory an arrangement of the Gospel song, "Heavenly Sunshine."

The two ministers, Rev. Joel E. Huntington and Rev. J. William Arnold, will both share in scripture readings along with interpretations on sun and light as found in the Bible. Pastor Arnold will also have a story for the children.

Various art forms will decorate the chancel and balloons will be distributed near the close of the service.

Registration for the church school will take place Sunday, beginning at 9 a.m. both for returning and new students. Regular classes will begin the following Sunday, Sept. 25, at 10 a.m.

A fellowship hour with light refreshments will be held in the Allen Parlor this Sunday, beginning at 11 a.m. following the worship.

A lawn picnic for members and friends will be held at the home of Joel and Tora Huntington, 28 Huntley Rd., Braintree, beginning from 12:30 through the afternoon.

For additional information concerning the programs and ministries of Bethany Church, call the church office at 479-7300.

Heritage School Opens Office At Point Congregational

The Heritage School has opened their new office at the Quincy Point Congregational Church, 444 Washington St., Quincy.

Heritage School has offered half and full day programs for children ages two years, nine months and up, as well as a school age program since it began in Braintree in 1975.

Heritage School strives to help children develop independence and a readiness for school through educational activities in art, music, dance and community living. The school has some openings.

Richard J. Koch Memorial To Be Dedicated Sunday

The dedication ceremony of the Richard J. Koch Memorial will be held Sunday at 10:30 a.m.

The memorial is located within the Richard J. Koch Family Park and Recreation Complex at 100 Southern Artery in Merrymount Park, Quincy.

The late Richard J. Koch was Executive Director of the Park, Forestry and Cemetery

Departments in Quincy and worked with then Congressman James Burke and Congressman Brian Donnelly in the 1970's to reclaim a portion of Merrymount Park from the Federal Government.

The Federal Government had taken this parcel for a Nike site. The Park, Forestry and Recreation Departments are now located at this site.

Mr. Koch was also founder and executive director of the Koch Club of Quincy marking its 40th year of service to the community this year and was active in many local charitable and community affairs.

The ceremony will consist of a flag raising, a brief speaking program and the unveiling of the memorial. The public is invited to attend.

New Window Hours At Quincy Post Office

Window service at the Quincy Post Office is now open Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., and Saturday, 8 a.m. to 1 p.m., announces manager H.S. Guilfooy.

In February, post offices nationwide reduced window hours because of federally mandated budget cuts. However, Postmaster General Anthony M. Frank made convenient window service a top priority of his administration and ordered savings in other areas so that window hours would be increased this fall.

"The goal of the new hours is to meet the needs of our customers," Guilfooy said. The new window schedules are based on consumer surveys conducted last month, he said.

Customers unable to travel to the post office can order stamps by phone or mail. Customers can obtain a Stamps by Mail order form from their letter carrier or local post office, or dial a toll-free 1-800-STAMPS 24 and use Visa or Mastercard for payment.

When ordered by phone, a $12.50 minimum purchase is required and there is a $2 service charge per order.

Other recipients not pictured are Julie Healy and Jeanne Kiley.

Programs At Library For Pre-Schoolers

Quincy pre-schoolers are invited to attend a variety of programs at the Thomas Crane Public Library this autumn.

The programs which begin in October are designed to introduce young children to the library and its resources. Registration is now being accepted.

Toddler Time is geared to two and three year olds accompanied by a parent and is held at the Adams Shore Branch Library at 519 Sea St. The group enjoys single stories and fingerplays before parents and toddlers share books and toys. Contact children's librarian, Lori Seagraber, at 984-1966 to register.

Film programs for three, four and five year olds are held at the Quincy Center Library (984-1950) under the direction of Nancy Breef-Pilz and at the North Quincy Branch Library (984-1957) under the direction of Mary Raux. The films, produced especially for pre-schoolers, are interspersed with stories, book talks, or fingerplays.

Four and five year olds can participate in picture book story hours at the Quincy Square Library with Nancy Breef-Pilz or with Marian Ciccarilli at the Wollaston branch library (984-1960). This story hour introduces both traditional and contemporary tales and uses a variety of methods and media to do so.

Parents who register their children for these programs are also urged to register for a library card so they may borrow materials introduced at the programs.

Council Supports Park Department Overtime For Clean-Up Work

Councillor Stephen J. McGrath, chairman of the council's Finance Committee, has written a letter to Mayor Francis McCauley saying there is support in the City Council for an appropriation for overtime for Park Department employees to participate in general cleaning up of Quincy's parks.

In his letter, McGrath said the Council stands behind Director Raymond Cattaneo in his efforts in keeping the parks well-maintained.

"The Council fully supports Mr. Cattaneo and the fine efforts of the Park Department," he said.

"However, now that the summer is over, it may be wise to have a final cleanup of the park areas; and in that regard, it was the general consensus of the Council to support any request for an overtime appropriation that Mr. Cattaneo and you may send to the Council," McGrath said.

MWRA Job Fair Sept. 24

The Massachusetts Water Resources Authority will sponsor a Job Fair on Saturday, Sept. 24 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Quincy Vocational Technical School, announce Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney and Ward 2 Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro.

Councillors Cheney and DeCristofaro encourage all interested Quincy residents to attend.

According to the councillors, the MWRA has estimated they will hire more than 200 people now through June of 1989. Positions available will include some at professional levels as well as skilled and unskilled labor such as civil engineers, diesel operators, computer operators and other laborers.

"The residents of the city of Quincy deserve prime consideration when it comes to employment by the MWRA. We have suffered with the results of harbor pollution and we should, indeed, reap some benefits from the cleanup of Quincy Bay and Boston Harbor," Cheney said.

DeCristofaro said the MWRA will utilize the General Dynamics shipyard as a staging area for the construction of the Deer Island sewerage treatment plant. He encourages the MWRA to hire as many Quincy residents as possible so that some economic benefits will be realized as the result of the construction of the sewerage treatment plant.

The councillors said hiring local labor would reduce the traffic impact throughout Quincy which would result from non-residents commuting to and from work.

The MWRA informed the councillors that a training period will be offered in conjunction with some of the available positions.

Friday 'POW-MIA Recognition' Day

Friday, Sept. 16 has been proclaimed "POW-MIA Recognition Day" in Quincy by Mayor Francis X. McCauley as part of a nationwide observance.

"Veterans Administration facilities across the country are sponsoring special observances on Sept. 16 to recognize American veterans who are former prisoners of war, those servicemen who remain missing in action, and their families," McCauley said.

"At some facilities, ceremonies will include the awarding of the special POW service medal, which was established recently by Congress and is authorized by the individual military services.

"Individuals who were taken prisoner during an armed conflict after April 5, 1917, qualify for the medal," he said.

"The medal is an expression of this nation's appreciation for the sacrifices and hardships endured by those who are former POWs," McCauley added.

The mayor urges all residents to appropriately observe this day.

Religious Education
 Registration At Sacred Heart

Sacred Heart Parish, North Quincy, will hold its Religious Education Program registration on Sunday, Sept. 18, following a 10:30 a.m. opening liturgy.

Parents of first grade students and new family members of the parish are requested to register their child or children for classes at this time. No child will be accepted into Grade 2 unless he attended classes in Grade 1.

To receive the sacraments of Penance and Eucharist, a child must have a two-year preparation program.

A copy of a baptismal record is required when registering new students who were not baptized at Sacred Heart Parish.

Further information may be secured by telephoning the office at 328-0014, Monday through Thursday, from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Program Schedule Changes At Quincy Hospital

Quincy City Hospital has announced two schedule changes for public programs.

Community health screenings will now take place each Wednesday from 1:30 to 3 p.m. in the Ambulatory Care Department. No appointment is necessary. Patients should register for the testing at the outpatient registration area in the Admitting Department. A $10 fee for the screening is due at that time.

Screening includes a comprehensive blood chemistry analysis, with evaluation of blood glucose, cholesterol, BUN, creatinine, calcium, hemoglobin and several other parameters. A urine specimen is also taken for analysis. A registered nurse will review test results with the patient.

Those interested may call the hospital's Ambulatory Care Department at 773-6100 between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. weekdays.

The "Diabetes and Health" program is now scheduled for Thursday, Sept. 15, and Thursday, Sept. 22, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the hospital.

The Sept. 15 topic will be "What is Diabetes?" and "Living with Diabetes." Topics for Sept. 22 are "Medication" and "Eating for Health."

A fee is charged for the two-part program and pre-registration is required. More information may be obtained by calling Arlene Ferretti, R.N., at 773-6100, ext. 3029.

Scripture Class At Religious Science Church

A class focused on the Scriptures will begin Tuesday, Sept. 27 at the South Shore Church of Religious Science, 1073 Hancock St. (Suite 101), Quincy.

Classes will meet Tuesday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. through November. As a step to better understanding of the earth's spiritual history, the class will examine the various levels of meaning contained within the Scriptures: literary, historical, mythological, poetic, personal and spiritual.

Much attention will be given to the Scriptures of the Hebrew and Christian Bibles, with comparison to Hindu, Buddhist, Taoist, Islamic and Zoroastrian Scriptures.

This class is intended to help people lay a strong foundation for spiritual growth.

Special Anniversary Issue Sept. 28

We're Celebrating Our 20th Year!

The Quincy Sun will be 20 years old in September and we are celebrating with a special anniversary issue Sept. 28.

The top Quincy news stories and photos of the past two decades will be highlighted in this nostalgic special issue.

Come back to 1968 when some of your favorite political figures sported crewcuts, the MBTA's Red Line was coming to Quincy, James McIntyre was mayor and senator, the average family income was $11,000, there were 8,000 workers at the General Dynamics Shipyard and the future was looking mighty bright. And you could still buy a pretty good house for $25,000.

Quincy Sun Car Care Guide

Protect your car against the hidden enemy, rust

You may not be aware that today's new cars still need rust protection. You can't always see the enemy because the enemy attacks from the inside out.

Although manufacturers have made many design changes and improvements in factory corrosion processes, rust quickly will find a vehicle's weak spots and start there first.

Overlapping seams are most vulnerable to rust and so are dissimilar metals, spot welds, severe bends and areas that are exposed to moisture and the elements.

A car may, on its outer metal surfaces, show no visible signs of rust for the first three years of use. But rust already is beginning its ugly task of destruction from the inside out, and these interior, hidden areas of the automobile are not protected by the manufacturers' corrosion warranties.

To make matters worse, we can look forward to over 11 million tons of salt being dumped on the roads in the United States and Canada this winter, according to a report by the Salt Institute.

Besides being one of the most abundant and cheapest chemicals in the world, road salt is also one of the most corrosive. Even when winter snows are long gone, dormant deposits of road salt on a vehicle again become corrosive when spring rains and road splash wet them.

In addition, another salt even more powerful in promoting corrosion—calcium chloride—is used extensively to control dust on dirt roads across the country.

Also contributing to the problem is an increasingly severe environment, from salt-laden mist and high humidity year-round in coastal regions, to corrosive acid rain in industrialized areas.

What can consumers do to preserve and protect their hard-earned vehicles from the ravages of rust?

Aftermarket rust protection can be the answer, but there is a hitch. Consumers need to know what to look for.

1. Engineered processing specifications on microfiche for your particular make and model of car—domestic or import.

TO ENSURE THAT ALL CRITICAL INTERIOR AREAS are rust protected, Ziebart uses engineering specifications on microfiche for every make and model of car.

2. A direct-access, engineered application system of rust protection that provides long-term assurance against corrosion damage.

3. Certified technicians who use high-pressure direct spray tools and special state-of-the-art sealant to penetrate all interior rust-prone areas.

4. A lifetime full-repair warranty with yearly maintenance that covers the entire car.

Ziebart offers its exclusive rust protection for new cars which are a major consumer investment. For used cars, Ziebart has Rust Protection Systems I to IV, featuring a specially-designed sealant—Formula Xtra—that incorporates the latest corrosion technology.

Also available is Rust Eliminator for used cars, which extends the life of a car by protecting it from rust, even if corrosion has started already.

Ziebart—the rust protection experts for nearly three decades—is international in size, with more than 600 locations in 35 countries.

Ziebart Service Centers are known as The Car Improvement Specialists, offering a wide range of products, services and accessories for cars, trucks, vans that enhance their looks, extend their life and increase their value.

hot, a lean mixture will result, causing power loss, excessive emissions and or severe engine damage.

This fresh air intake tube also often is found damaged or missing, according to reports to the Council from vehicle inspection lanes. Both of these ducts should be examined periodically and replaced when necessary.

caused by a damaged or missing "heat riser" tube. This is a flexible metal duct that directs heat from the hot exhaust manifold to the air cleaner intake.

In a similar way, the fresh air duct to the carburetor is designed to provide cool air to the system in hot weather, when under-hood temperatures may exceed 200°F. If the air in the fuel-air mix is too

Does your car have the "blahs?"

With each gallon of gas your car burns, it consumes 14 gallons of air. For ideal combustion, that air should be at a temperature of between 70°F and 90°F. When it's too cold, the car will run poorly, stall, get poor gas mileage and generally be sluggish in performance.

This common winter driving symptom, says Car Care Council, is often

Comer Steps Down As American Legion National Commander Dukakis Picks Up Yardage At Convention

By JOHN WALSH
(Special to The Quincy Sun)

Governor Michael Dukakis picked up some political yardage at the American Legion National Convention while Vice President George Bush lost a good sized chunk.

Bush fumbled twice badly. First when he had trouble remembering the date of Pearl Harbor Day, even though he is a decorated veteran of World War II and the most valid veteran on either ticket.

And, second, when he vowed his administration would give the Veterans Administration cabinet status, apparently forgetting or not realizing that Senator Dan Quayle, his running mate was one of 11 senators who had voted against such a move.

The two gaffes caused a stir throughout the convention hall and left many Legionnaires wondering how Bush could mistake "today, Sept. 7" as Pearl Harbor Day and why he apparently didn't know about Quayle's vote on the Veterans Administration.

But, if the election were today, it would still be close among the 6,000 Legionnaires attending last week's National Convention in Louisville, Ky.

President Ronald Reagan had the convention virtually in the palm of his hand the night before Bush's appearance.

But instead of keeping that momentum going in high gear, Bush allowed it to sputter and still let Dukakis gain his ground.

The 70th annual convention marked the end to the reign of Quincy's John P. (Jake) Comer as national commander of the American Legion. He was succeeded by H.F. "Sparky" Gierke of North Dakota.

Quincy was well represented with members from local Legion posts.

In his speech, Dukakis questioned Bush's priorities in having proposed tax reductions that would mostly benefit the rich while having voted to reduce veterans benefits.

"What kind of priorities are those," said Dukakis. "A tax cut for those who have made it, a cut in income for those who lost a leg at Normandy or were blinded at Inchon or had an arm torn off at the Khe Sanh."

His remarks seemed to address the needs of veterans much more than did those of the President or Vice President, who spoke almost exclusively on foreign policy issues.

Dukakis spoke of cabinet level status for the VA, health care for veterans medical and housing programs and the federal government's reduction of support for veterans.

Reagan, in one of his toughest speeches of the campaign to keep the Republicans in the White House, claimed that a democratic administration would return the nation to a "Disneyland defense policy" that would weaken military strength.

Reagan a member of American Legion Post in California, began by thanking the Legion's support of his efforts to increase aid to the Nicaraguan rebels and other defense policies.

He talked about the progress his administration has made since 1980, when he said a disaster had befallen the military.

"In eight years we have not given up one square inch of land to Communism. In fact, we have taken some ground back for freedom," said Reagan. "And yet, today relations between the United States and the Soviet Union are the best they have been in decades."

His tough talk, which was warmly received by the Legionnaires, was keyed to set the stage for Bush's appearance, a day, as it turned out, Bush probably would like to forget.

When Bush did speak, he spelled out his differences with Dukakis on national security issues, the economy, crime and capital punishment.

"The issue is how best to deter war, to keep the peace, to fulfill our country's special responsibility as the leader of the free world," he said. "We have a special mission in this world. We are the flagship of freedom. We have a mission and a responsibility to lead."

Bush's string of promises were nearly identical to campaign promises by Dukakis. He promised to strengthen veterans preference in federal hiring, to do everything to determine the fate of servicemen missing in action, to improve medical care for veterans and to make the veterans administration a cabinet level agency.

Although there was no clear front runner after the convention, one thing was made clear to the nominees: The concerns of the nation's war time veterans are not to be taken lightly.

Comer, 55, headed the nation's largest veterans organization the past year. He was elected at the 69th annual national convention Aug. 27, 1987.

A U.S. Air Force veteran of the Korean War, Comer served as a communications sergeant in West Germany until 1955. He joined the American Legion in 1963 with the Thomas J. Roberts Post in West Roxbury.

He served as post commander in 1966-67 and went on to become state commander in 1975-76.

He has been involved in community committees for aging, human rights, alcoholism and youth.

Comer was recently awarded the Distinguished Service Award of the South Shore Mental Health Center of Massachusetts.

Along with Comer, Quincy was represented by Morrisette Post Commander Paul D. Eldridge and Aide to the Commander, Charles Brooks. Included as delegates were past commanders Paul A.M. Hunt, Paul O'Neill, Mario Ghilardi, Henry Bradley, Phillip Perkins Rev Daniel Hunt, Charles Ward and Auxiliary President Irene C. Eldridge also attended.

The Robert I. Nickerson Post was represented by Commander John J. Walsh and Past Commander Dick Hendry. The Houghs Neck Post delegation was comprised of Alice Scribner and Mary Timcoe. Lawrence Connors of Wollaston also attended representing the Braintree Legion Post.

Raiders Host Old Rival Milton Friday

By TOM SULLIVAN

Last season the North Quincy football team opened the season happily as it defeated oldtime rival Milton for the first time in seven years.

But the season ended unhappily as the Raiders, after three wins in a row, were held to a tie by winless Quincy on Thanksgiving.

Friday night at Veterans Memorial Stadium North will again open with Milton in a 76 p.m. game and seventh-year coach Ken McPhee hopes for another happy beginning.

The Raiders topped Milton, coached by former North assistant coach Jack Bowes, 16-7, and went on to a 5-4-1 season. It was McPhee's only win over Milton.

The Wildcats suffered through a 1-9 season but Bowes has 12 starters and three other lettermen back this year as he looks for vast improvement.

"I understand Jack has a small but quick team," McPhee said. "He is a fine coach and Milton will always give a good account of itself. I expect a real tough opener."

North's line is not too experienced, either on offense or defense, but McPhee was pleased with the progress shown in scrimmages with Braintree, Xaverian and Weymouth North and he feels the line will improve each week.

"We are building around five outstanding players, Ryan Craig, Mike Ainsley, Dave Joyce, Billy MacDougall and Keith Gott," McPhee said. Craig, one of the finest running backs in the area, gained nearly 1000 yards last year and is also a terrific linebacker. Ainsley is a fine offensive end and linebacker, while MacDougall, our best receiver the past two years, has made the shift from wide receiver to quarterback with little trouble. Gott was a standout runner last year as a sophomore and should do well this fall. Joyce is an outstanding two-way lineman.

McPhee will start on offense with Ainsley and either Tim Baker of Kevin MacDougall at end, Brian Healey (215) and Alex Malasi (210) at tackle, Joyce (255) and Brian Mahoney at guard and Sean Glennon at center.

Bill MacDougall will start at quarterback with Gott and Danny Gilmartin or Jeff Sullivan at halfback and Craig at fullback.

Also seeing action on offense will be Sean McDonough, Derek Goodson and Dan Hoban at end, Scott Leonard at tackle, Mike Iacobacci and Steve Kohler (205) at guard, Matt Swierk at center, Jim Bryan and Dave Hutchins at quarterback, Quan Le, Bill Earley and Jim Rayne at halfback and Dave Kiley at fullback.

North lacks depth and most players will be going both ways.

On defense McDonough and Glennon will start at end. Malasi and Joyce at tackle. Sullivan at nose guard. Ainsley and Craig at linebacker and Kevin and Bill MacDougall, Hutchins, Baker, Gott and Goodson defensive backs.

"I consider Ainsley and Craig to be two of the most outstanding linebackers I have seen," McPhee said. "They really hit hard."

"We moved the ball well against Braintree, Xaverian and Weymouth North and MacDougall did an excellent job at quarterback. He has made the move from wide receiver to quarterback without any trouble. Craig ran extremely well and the line did a good job. This is an excellent group of kids and, if we can escape serious injuries, we should be all right. We have little depth and key injuries could kill us."

Fallon Cup Tourney Reset For Sept. 27

The 49th annual Fallon Cup Member-Guest Tournament at Wollaston Golf Club in Milton, postponed from Aug. 24 through Aug. 28, is now scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 27 through Sunday, Oct. 2.

Qualifying rounds for 96 match play spots will be played on Tuesday, Sept. 27 and Wednesday, Sept. 28. Match play in the championship and five other flights of 16 teams each opens Thursday, Sept. 29 and continues through Sunday, Oct. 2.

Semifinals in all flights and consolation flights will be played Saturday, Oct. 1 with finals in all flights and consolation flights being played on Sunday, Oct. 2.

Fallon Cup chairman John J. Davis and his committee had much to contend with as general course conditions forced the postponement of the 49th annual classic.

However, with hard work and cooperation a large field of well over 100 teams are expected to play qualifying rounds.

Wollaston professional David Gianferante and greens superintendent John Coffey point out that although the golf course will not be the lush layout Wollaston is noted for, it will be much more conducive to Fallon Cup Tournament play than on Aug. 24.

For over 48 years the Fallon Cup Member-Guest Tournament has become rich in history, steeped in tradition and recognized as one of the most prestigious tournaments in New England. Entries received to date indicate an outstanding field will once again compete and vie for honors in the 1988 Fallon Cup.

Anyone desiring any additional information should call Ken Fallon at 479-3560.

Manets Defeat Panthers In Opener

The Houghs Neck Manets defeated the Quincy Point Panthers, 12-6, in the opening game of the Quincy Youth Football League last Saturday night at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The Manets took a 6-0 lead in the second quarter but the Panthers tied it in the third quarter on a 30-yard run by Ally Sleiman.

The Panthers' Marc Lomanno played an outstanding defensive game for the Panthers.

The Panthers will play the Elks at 6 p.m. Saturday night and the North Quincy Apaches will meet the Sailors at 7:30 at the stadium.

QHS, Vo-Tech Pride Room Dedicated

More than 100 students, parents, teachers and friends attended the dedication of the Quincy High School - Vo-Tech School Presidents' Pride Room last Sunday.

The refurbished room dedicated to the students, faculty, and friends of Quincy High and Vo-Tech, consists of several championship trophies, jerseys worn by past stars, photos, newspaper clippings and pictures and other memorabilia.

Quincy boys basketball coach John Franceschini welcomed the many in attendance and thanked them for being there on a beautiful Sunday afternoon.

"It is good to see so many of you here and it is a good indication of the revived interest in Quincy sports," he said. "We are very proud of our new Presidents' Pride Room and we thank all of the alumni who contributed articles for the room."

Quincy principal Lloyd Hill, Vo-Tech director Joseph Mazarella, athletic coordinator Marty Finnegan, football coach Jack Raymer, school committee man Frank Santoro and City Councilor Ted DeCristofaro all spoke briefly. Also present were Councilor Tim Cahill and school committee men Christopher Kennedy and Peggy Nigro.

the Water St. lobby entrance to the pool.

The fall schedule is in effect now through Nov. 25, and may change occasionally for holidays or high school swim meets. All swims are supervised by Recreation Department staff that are certified according to American Red Cross standards.

For additional information, call the Quincy Recreation Department at 773-1380, ext. 204.

Maver's Team To Face Randolph

Former Quincy coach Bill Maver, now football coach at Acton-Boxboro High School, will bring his team to the South Shore on Saturday, Nov. 12, when it faces Randolph at Randolph Memorial Field.

Maver was an all-scholastic end at Quincy and went on to star for the University of Connecticut. He was assistant football coach at Quincy and was head coach for one year.

Along with several other teachers and coaches, he lost his job due to Prop. 2½. He later went to Acton-Boxboro as assistant football coach and baseball coach.

Cronin Hockey Key At Holy Cross

Quincy's Denis Cronin, co-captain of the Holy Cross College hockey team and playing his fourth year of varsity hockey, will be one of the Crusaders' key performers this season.

An All-East candidate, Cronin is the team's most versatile player. He has played both offense and defense but this season will primarily skate on the forward line.

Last season he was Holy Cross' top defenseman with eight goals and 26 assists along with four powerplay goals.

His sophomore season Cronin was second in scoring with 38 points (14 goals and 24 assists).

In his freshman year he had three goals and 12 assists with two powerplay goals.

Cronin was a three-sport athlete at Thayer Academy, was captain and MVP of the hockey and baseball teams, was a private school team selection for Hockey Night in Boston and was all-scholastic in hockey.

Holy Cross will open its season Nov. 4 and 5 in the RIT Tournament and will play at Brown on Nov. 7.

Park-Recreation Board Praises Granite Co-op As Tennis Tourney Sponsor

reached and has been renewed each year for the past 10 years.

"By sponsoring this annual event the Granite Co-operative Bank has provided Quincy residents with a positive outlet for recreational activities. Hundreds of residents have benefited by their opportunity to participate and compete for the title of city champion. Equally important is the fact that the Granite Co-operative Bank has provided funding for T-shirts, advertising, and awards each year, but has remained in the background and made no demands on the actual running of the tournament.

"We are fortunate to have such a community-minded sponsor who is interested in the positive traditional programs for all ages. The Granite Co-operative Bank has for the past 10 years helped make our community a better place to live," Welch concluded.

The tournament is now under way at the Quincy Vocational-Technical tennis courts with matches weekday evenings, weekends day and evening. Spectators are invited.

Free Karate Lesson Sept. 27 At YMCA

A free karate lesson for those interested in studying the martial art will be given at the South Shore Y.M.C.A., Tuesday, Sept. 27 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

This is an on-going class for either beginner or advanced students.

The style is Hapkido, an eclectic Korean art of self-defense. It uses explosive kicks, hand strikes, joint locks and throws.

Since Hapkido techniques are unique and versatile, the options against an attacker are virtually unlimited.

As well as physical conditioning, a martial art attempts to teach personal development in the very individual context of self-improvement through patience, perseverance and commitment.

The course, which has been taught for many years in Quincy, will be instructed by Jack Brady. Brady is a local black belt with many years of experience in all areas of the martial arts.

HN Meat-O-Rama Sept. 16

The Houghs Neck Legion's Auxiliary Unit will hold a meat-o-rama Friday, Sept. 16 starting at 8 p.m. at the Post

Looking For Better Start Presidents Open At Cambridge Latin Saturday

Last year the Quincy football team's season started inauspiciously when the Presidents kicked off to open the season against Cambridge Rindge and Latin and the opening kickoff was returned 80 yards for a touchdown.

Cambridge went on to win that game, 24-16, and Quincy never recovered, going winless with only the Thanksgiving tie with North Quincy bringing any smiles to the Presidents and their followers.

Saturday Jack Raymer begins his fifth season as Quincy coach when the Presidents go to Russell Field in Cambridge for a 1:30 meeting with Cambridge and he hopes for a better beginning.

"I didn't even get a chance to get my headset on when the Cambridge player (Mike Hartnett) raced by me on his way to a touchdown," Raymer said. "Their special teams killed us in that game and we must stop their speedy backs this season. As always, they have some speedsters and we can't let their special teams do what they did to us last year."

That win was the only one for Cambridge, which finished 1-9 and things don't look much better as coach Wadie Geraigery lost 27 seniors, including 16 starters.

"We'll definitely be airing the ball, something we haven't done in my three years," Geraigery said. "We're at a time where we have to throw the ball."

If the Cambridge coach does fill the air with passes, Saturday's game should feature quite an air show with Quincy boasting one of the finest passers in the area, Chris Noble.

"Chris is one of the best, no doubt about it, and he will do his share of passing, but this season we should have a much better running game to ease the pressure on him," said Raymer. "Last year we had no running attack and Noble was under severe pressure in every game. He had an outstanding season, but the pressure resulted in several interceptions and sacks."

The Presidents' coach was pleased with his team's showing in scrimmages with Milton, Don Bosco and Marshfield. Noble passed well in each and the running attack was much improved.

Raymer will open offensively with Scott Grant or Mark Miele and Ken Caldwell or Todd Kimmel at end, Brian Norris (220) and Dan Hanley (190) or Frank Iannello (220) at tackle, Tom Morrell (195) and Joe Baker at guard and Dan Hamilton at center.

Noble will be at quarterback with sophomore Mark Bogan or Scott O'Brien and Jim Dennett at halfback and Dave Nourse at fullback.

Scott Campbell, also the backup to Noble, and Bobby Cinquigrano, playing football for the first time, will see action at end, Bob Zupkofska at guard and Pete Oliveri at fullback.

"Noble passed mainly to Sean Munroe (now at BU) last year, but he has some fine receivers in Grant, Campbell and Miele," Raymer said.

On defense Morrell, Hanly and Bob Austin will be at end, Iannello, Tony Madden (260) and Baker at tackle, Norris, Alan Spaur, Kimmel and Nourse will be the linebackers, O'Brien, Ennio Eleuteri, Bogan and Dennis Plante cornerbacks and Campbell, Grant, Miele, Dennett and Joe Zabrowski safeties.

"I think our defense will be much stronger this year," said Raymer. "They hit hard in our scrimmages and are playing with confidence. The secondary is working hard and should be tested at Cambridge."

Following Saturday's opener Quincy will play at Waltham Friday night, Sept. 23, at 7 p.m. and the first home game will be against Weymouth South Saturday night, Oct. 1, at 7 at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Goalies Dominate Youth Soccer Opening

By BRUCE WOOD

The Quincy Youth Soccer League opened its fall schedule last weekend with the goalies, as usual, dominating play.

This season the under-8 age groups are totally instructional and no scores are being kept.

Last weekend's results:

Boys under 10: Wickens & Troupe and Wood Building Maintenance tied, 1-1. Rich Garcia scored for W&T. Brian Degan assisted and goalie David Sirrico and Scott Sardo played well. Eric Wood scored for Wood. Matt Lebo assisted and Eric Sullivan, Keith McLeod and Eric Goodrich played strong games.

Commercial Ceiling blanked Commonwealth Builders, 4-0, with Brad Smith scoring twice and Nick Williams and Russ Corner once each. Smith had two assists and Russ Corner one, and Kevin Cellucci, Mike Cosseboom and Chris Wilkie had fine games. Goalie John Keegan, John Galvin, Sean Donovan and Joey Linsky played well for Commonwealth.

American Legion Post 95 edged Quincy Savings, 3-2, on two goals by Carmen Lorenzano and one by Mike Johnston. Kevin Moore and Tim Kensonson had assists and Steve Wilson and Charles Doherty played well. Michael Powers and Colin Shea scored for Savings. Chris Moody had an assist and Nicholas Brungilio and Billy Armstrong had good games.

Quincy Police edged Balducci's, 4-3, with Chris Currie scoring two goals and Teddy McGillicuddy and Brad Croall one each. Ariel Sommer, Billy Walker and Mike Sullivan had fine games. Jared Downey scored all three Balducci goals, Richie Diesle and Danny Nichols had assists and Judson Rose played well in goal.

Roman Gardens rolled over Century 21, 7-0, as Jeff Verlicchio scored five goals. Peter Godfrey had the other two and Fernando Cieira, Craig Bigham and Mark Stanton had fine games. Charlie Feeley, Corey Awed and Mike Fournier played well for Century 21.

McCauley Proclaims 'Youth 2000 Week'

This week has been proclaimed "Youth 2000 Week" by Mayor Francis McCauley.

The proclamation reads:

Whereas, Youth 2000 is a national campaign between now and the Year 2000 to motivate youth to make the most of their potential, to believe in themselves, and to become more productive, and responsible and esteemed members of society; and

Whereas, the nation has an extraordinary opportunity to address the longstanding problems of disadvantaged young people entering the work force and society, and

Whereas, because of the number of new jobs expected to be created in the next 10 or 15 years will exceed the number of new entrants into the labor force, the problem of youth unemployment can largely be solved by the turn of the century; and

Whereas, if we want to remain a humane and just society; and if we want to preserve our ability to compete in the world economy, we have to face the problem we have with a very large number of our young people; and

Whereas, since the youth unemployment problem will not cure itself, and we have a very short period of time to do some very important work, it will take more than business as usual and incrementalism, it will take a commitment of innovative and creative policy solutions; and

Whereas, today's young people are tomorrow's parents, and the children born today will be teenagers by the Year 2000, what happens to them in the next 12 years is crucial."

McCauley urged all residents to participate fittingly in its observance.

Over 200 Youngsters Participate In Unity Day

More than 200 youngsters along with many parents and 20 Quincy Police officers recently participated in a very successful Unity Day in Germantown.

"It was a very successful day for everyone. The kids and all the police officers who attended really enjoyed it," said Bob Hanna, Quincy's crime prevention officer.

Hanna, along with Bob Clark, the city's new safety officer, coordinated the fun-filled activity day. Hanna said the Unity Day is special and successful since it fosters cooperation between youths and police officers.

A similar Unity Day was held in June at Merrymount Park. The event drew a crowd of more than 500 youngsters from throughout the city, Hanna said.

Also on hand for the Germantown Unity Day were four members of the Boston Police Athletic Club, who donated their sports gear and other equipment for the day.

One of the highlights was a softball game between the Germantown All-Stars and Police All-Stars, won by Germantown, 20-8.

The two teams also enjoyed playing volleyball.

Other activities included street hockey, assorted races and face painting.

McGruff the Crime Dog also made a special appearance, handing out child finger printing kits to parents.

Hot dogs, hamburgers and refreshments were served during the all-day event.

A Tribute To The Great One

One of the most awaited TV events takes place on CBS on September 17. Five top comic actors—John Candy, Art Carney, Jane Curtin ("Kate & Allie"), Teri Garr and "Night Court's" John Larroquette will host a tribute called, "Jackie Gleason: The Great One." Some of the stars who will share their memories of Gleason are: Burt Reynolds, Red Buttons, Dick and Pat Van Patten, Frankie Avalon, three of the "Alices"—Audrey Meadows, Sue Ann Langdon, and Sheila MacRae (the original Alice was Pert Kelton)—and the two "Trixies"—Jane Kean and Joyce Randolph.

the stage." In 1965, he was asked to join E.G. Marshall and Jack Klugman in a "Defenders" segment on Hollywood blacklisting. He then got his first film in years, appearing with Rock Hudson in the ironically named "Seconds," about a man give another chance at life.

CLOSE-UP: John Randolph (no relation to Joyce) is one of the stars of Mary Tyler Moore's new CBS series. He plays Mary's staunchly conservative father-in-law, Eileen Heckart plays her liberal mother. "Obviously, we don't share the same views," Randolph said of the characters, "and this provides some very funny moments, especially when I make it clear that I think she's a knee-jerk liberal, and she makes it clear that she considers me a reactionary dinosaur."

Ironically, in real life, Randolph was one of over 150 TV and movie actors who were blacklisted for years in the 1950s and part of the '60s largely because some people didn't like their politics. "Suddenly," he said, "it became 'unAmerican' to exercise that most wonderful of American freedoms, the right to think and speak for yourself."

He was barred from TV, films, radio and commercials from 1951 to 1965. (Many actors, writers and directors found work in Europe at that time.) "I could, however, work on

Phyllis Newman, star of CBS' "Coming of Age" (which is expected to return to the tube later this season), has written a wonderful autobiography, "Just in Time" (Simon & Schuster), in which she talks about her life as a child performer, her triumphs on Broadway, her role as a shady lady named Renee Divine (no less!) on the soap, "One Life to Live," her long and happy marriage to playwright/lyricist, Adolph Green, her real life role as a mother, and her courageous battle to survive breast cancer.

Tuesday Cultural Programs Oct. 11 At Beechwood Center

A series of seven Tuesday afternoon cultural performances by New England artists, part of a Cultural Enrichment Program for Youth (CEPY), starts Oct. 11 at Beechwood Community Life Center, 225 Fenno St., Quincy.

All performances are at 1:30 p.m. with admission of $2 for the public; $1 for Beechwood students. A wide array of professional arts groups will be performing to make cultural experiences available to young people in the Quincy area. This includes the Music School, After School Program and Day Care Program at Beechwood.

Oct. 11 - The Art of Black Dance and Music. This is an arts education program based on African and African-rooted traditions, using authentic percussion instruments, rhythms and dance.

Oct. 25 - Andanzas: Songs of South America. A trio including Alan del Castillo, Cynthia Price-Glynn, and Miguel Jimenez combine to present traditional Latin American rhythms on harp, wood and clay flutes, guitars and voices.

Nov. 22 - The New England Brass Quintet. This ensemble will present brass chamber music in an entertaining program for all.

Nov. 29 - Poobley Greegy Puppet Theater. A variety of puppets, including big colorful ones, are featured in a biology-history puppet drama. "Gong, Gong Gone Whaling."

Dec. 6 - Studebaker Movement Theater Co. Original works rely on images rather than languages to create dreamlike stories with offbeat humor and charm.

Dance 20 - Dance Collective. Dance Collective's four choreographers and stage artists will bring diversity to their production. They specialize in concerts, festivals, gallery events and educational programs.

Dec. 27 - Wilderwalks: Stories and Songs of Nature. Diane Edgecomb and Kevin Skorupa will entertain with songs and stories from many cultures. The folklore includes the British Isles, Scandinavia, and New England tradition.

Centennial Cultural Evening Sept. 30

A Centennial Cultural Evening is being planned for Friday, Sept. 30, from 7:30 p.m. at the Woodward School.

Plans call for a musical program to be presented by the Scarborough Chamber Music group.

The Quincy Art Association will have an exhibit of paintings arranged by Annette Pagliani, and portraits of Quincy Mayors Charles H. Porter (1888) and Francis X. McCauley (1988) will be presented.

There will also be a presentation by the Frances Osborne School of Dance.

This program arranged by Eugene Creedon, cochairman with Joyce Baker of the Quincy Centennial Committee, will be funded by the Quincy Arts Lottery.

The public is invited.

Two Residents In Folklife Festival

Two Quincy residents will participate in the Festival of Massachusetts Folklife Sept. 20 through Oct. 2 at Holyoke Heritage State Park.

Ed Williams, bass player, will perform with Silas

Hubbard Jr. and The Hot Ribs, a band that plays blues and jazz.

Donato DiBona will demonstrate his clockmaking skills learned at the Chelsea Clock Company.

The festival is co-sponsored by the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities, and the Massachusetts Office of Travel and Tourism. It is the restaging of the Massachusetts component of the Smithsonian's Festival of American Folklife

Registration For Women's Exercise Programs

Thursday Classes At Fenno House

Thursday classes for Senior Citizens are being held at Fenno House, 540 Hancock St., Wollaston.

From 10 a.m. to 12 noon, knitting, crewel and embroidery classes will be taught.

Starting Sept. 22, from 11 a.m. to noon, there will be line dance classes.

Senior citizens of Quincy who are not residents of Fenno House are welcome to attend all classes. A minimal charge is made for each class.

Those interested may call the Fenno House office at 773-5483 to register with Phyllis M. Bogosian.

The Quincy Recreation Department announces that registration is now being held for two women's exercise programs.

The programs, under the supervision of Nancy Joyce, will be held Monday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings at either 8:30-9:15 a.m. or 9:30-10:15 a.m. at the Fore River Clubhouse.

Each program includes low-impact aerobic exercises to improve and strengthen flexibility, endurance and overall fitness. Adaptations to the exercises allow each participant to work-out at their own pace.

The cost of the program is $20 for 30 classes. Registration is on a first come first serve basis at the Quincy Recreation Office, 100 Southern Artery from 8:30 - 4:30 weekdays. The first class will be held on Monday, Sept. 19.

For additional information, call 773-1380, ext. 204.

Beechwood Center Walk-a-thon Sept. 24

The second annual Elder Action Walk-a-thon will be sponsored by Beechwood Community Life Center, 225 Fenno St., Saturday, Sept. 24, at 9 a.m.

Proceeds will go to the new Elder Activities program at the center.

Following the walk, at 11 a.m., the new Elder Action Room will be dedicated and refreshments will be served. People of all ages are welcome to walk, or may come and enjoy the activity.

Pledge sheets may be obtained from Betty Campbell or Cheryl Verney at 471-5712, who will also provide further information.

Rob Scheps Jazz Group At First Parish Church Sunday

This Sunday, Dr. Sheldon W. Bennett, minister, will deliver the sermon "The Challenge of a Liberal Faith," at United First Parish Church (Unitarian), "Church of the Presidents."

Dr. Bennett will consider the challenge and the responsibility that freedom of thought and rights of conscience place on the individual.

There will be a brief ceremony of remembrance during the service for C. Henry Johnson, a member of the church, who died Aug. 20. Norman Corey, music director, will play organ works by Mendelssohn, Greene and Buxtehude. There will also be a guest soloist.

The service begins at 10:30 a.m. and visitors are welcome to attend the Social Hour following the services. Church school and child care will be provided.

At 3 p.m. on Sunday the church is sponsoring a jazz concert. The Rob Scheps Group will perform with saxophone, piano, trumpet, bass and drums. Donations of $5 ($4 for senior citizens) are requested.

The church is located on Hancock St., Quincy Sq., opposite city hall. Call 773-1290 for further information.

ORDER NO 20
ORDRRED January 19, 1988

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Quincy, that the Revised Ordinances of the City of Quincy, 1976, are further amended in Chapter 13 Offenses Miscellaneous, by adding the following new section

Section 54 - Residency for City Supported Construction Projects

1. On any construction project funded in whole or in part by City funds or funds which in accordance with a federal grant or otherwise, or City-approved PLD or City-approved MHA Applications, the sale of City property or projects the City Administrator the construction contract or grants or special conditions, residents of Quincy, who are qualified to perform the work to which the employment relates shall be given preference in hiring on a 2 to 1 ratio, after the employer's foreman or supervisor and two key employees have been employed for a one week payroll period

2. Companies receiving public assistance through these financing agencies should be in concurrence with the prevailing wages in the area, including wages in the Davis-Bacon Act. No revenue bond applications are to be approved unless the applicant agrees to all of the aforementioned conditions

3. Prior to entering into a construction agreement involving more than $10,000.00, the owner, developer or contractor shall place a reasonable size advertisement, at least 3x 5" in size, at least twice in at least one newspaper having a local distribution, on a craft by craft basis, indicating that bids are being sought and the qualified residents of Quincy shall be given preference consideration in hiring on a 2 to 1 ratio

4. Minorities and women shall additionally be accorded preference for their hiring, as provided for in the federal, state or municipal laws, shall either be included, or the same will be deemed included in all such construction agreements

5. The Quincy Equal Opportunity Administrator will be furnished copies of names and home addresses of employees, upon request, and will be furnished such other proof compliance as said Director may request, upon written request for the same, within seven days of such request

6. In the event of violation of this Ordinance, upon three days written notice to the violator and opportunity to be heard by the City Council, the following action may be taken by the City Council

(a) Deduction from the contractor's contract of the sum of $500.00 for every violation and adjustment of the contract price accordingly

(b) Assessment of a fine of $500.00 each day of violation against the owner or developer who violates this Ordinance to be paid within thirty days of such assessment

(c) Violation of this Ordinance shall also be a violation of Chapter 1-6 of the Revised Ordinances of 1976, and as amended in the future

(d) Debaring of violating Contractor, Owner or Developer from bidding on any future project, for three years after the date of the decision of the City Council that a second violation has occurred by the same firm

7. In the event that any section of this Ordinance is deemed illegal, unenforceable or unconstitutional, then the remaining sections shall remain in full force and effect

ORDER NO 236
ORDRRED May 16, 1988

Be it ordered that Chapter 24 of the Zoning Ordinances of the City of Quincy as amended be further amended, in Article VIII, by adding a new Section 87: BLASTING

1. Pre-blast Survey

a. For all permits issued for blasting (rock excavation) in the City of Quincy, a pre-blast survey must be made by the contractor or by an approved firm in this kind of work and satisfactory to the contractor's insurance company

b. The pre-blast survey will include a survey of the interior and exterior of existing building and stone walls adjacent to the project as specified herein, before any excavation or blasting is done. Written approval must be secured from the Fire Chief, City Engineer and Building Inspector serving as the Committee on Blasting

c. The survey shall record all visible structural defects such as cracks, settlement and lines out of plumb

d. The survey data shall be recorded in a permanent manner in approved hardbound notebooks. The survey data shall include, polaroid photographs showing the building constructions surveyed referenced to the notebook pages. Also a tape recording of all data pertinent to the survey shall be made. The scope and format of the record survey data shall be satisfactory to the Committee on Blasting. Before commencing any blasting or ledge excavation, copies of the survey must be on file at the offices of the Quincy city engineer, and Quincy City Clerk, city hall, Quincy, Massachusetts

e. The adjacent area requiring the pre-blasting survey is specified as all buildings and stone walls within a radius of three hundred fifty feet (350) from said blast

1. Provided, however, that no pre-blasting survey shall be required if blasting is within the following limits: the total charge weight per blast does not exceed five (5) pounds and the maximum weight per delay does not exceed two pounds per delay

g. If blasting is designed to excavate more than a ten (10) cubic yard area, the contractor must post a bond with the City of Quincy. The amount of said bond shall be determined by the Committee on Blasting. The Committee on Blasting will not release the bond until it is convinced that all judgements and claims have been reasonably dealt with by the contractor

h. All blasting is to be supervised on site by an authorized member of the Fire Department assigned by the Chief, and the cost of said supervision shall be the sole responsibility of the contractor

i. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this Ordinance, as determined by the Blasting Committee or who fails to comply therewith, shall severally, for each and every violation and non-compliance respectively, be liable to a penalty of two hundred dollars ($200.00) for each offense

ORDRRED June 20, 1988

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Quincy that the Revised Ordinances of the City of Quincy, 1976, are amended in Chapter 24, The Zoning Ordinances as follows

In Article 1, Administration, Section 15 Special Permits, add the following

5. For the purpose of this paragraph, the special permit granting authority shall be a committee composed of the Health Commissioner, Building Inspector and Planning Director. Any parcel of land which, because of its prior use, is considered a "disposal site" or "site" as those terms are defined by the provisions of M.G.L. Chapter 211, Section 2, shall, as a condition precedent to any change, extension, or modification of use, obtain a finding by the special permit granting authority, that such change, extension or modification of use is in harmony with the general purpose and intent of this zoning ordinance and that such prior use as a "disposal site" or "site" will not adversely affect the health and well being of those persons who will use said site as a result of the proposed use. Such special permit may impose conditions, safeguards and limitations to insure that the prior use of the land will not endanger the health and well being of the general public. The rules established by the special permit granting authority shall provide that any application for a special permit shall include the results of any engineering or other studies which the special permit granting authority may require. The special permit granting authority may from time to time designate experts to assist them in developing studies to be required by applicants. All applicant shall be required to compensate the special permit granting authority's experts for services rendered with respect to that applicant's proposal

YOUTH AQUATICS

YMCA SKIPPERS PROGRAM

This national program is designed for children 6 months to 6 years of age. Children are divided by levels according to their developmental age, which does not necessarily correspond to chronological age.

YMCA PROGRESSIVE SWIMMING

This national seven-level program is designed for grade one and above. Each level involves five basic components: Personal Safety, Stroke Development, Water Sports and Games, and Rescue. The teaching methods we use in this program are student centered. They are designed to help develop each participant's human potential, to encourage his or her awareness of safety in all aspects of the program, and to perfect skills to the best of his or her ability. At the end of each session each child will receive a personalized progress report.

Tobin Easy Winner, Harris Edges Tardo

By ROBERT BOSWORTH
Democrat Arthur Stephen Tobin and Republican Richard Harris will face one another in the November final election for the vacant Second Norfolk District state representative seat.

Tobin, a first-time candidate, scored a stunning victory over challengers Patricia Toland and Stephen Durkin to win the Democratic nomination in last week's primary.

Tobin topped the ballot with 2,826 votes or 52 per cent. Toland, City Council president, had 1,489 (28 per cent) and Durkin, a member of the Quincy School Committee, finished third with 1,019 (19 per cent).

In the GOP race, Harris, a Quincy school teacher, edged

Denis Tardo, president of the Quincy Tenants Union, by 61 votes. The final tally showed Harris with 307 votes to 246 for Tardo.

In the primary's other contested race, Mary Collins of Quincy defeated incumbent George McDonald, also of Quincy, to win a seat on the Norfolk County Commission.

Unofficial results Monday showed Collins, a member of the Quincy School Committee, with 19,984 votes. McDonald, a 20-year member of the commission, received 17,283 votes.

James J. Collins, another incumbent, was re-elected by totaling 18,190 votes.

The race for commission was between Mary Collins and McDonald because of a state law prohibiting two people from the same locality sitting on the board. Both are Quincy residents while James Collins lives in Milton.

In Quincy, Mary Collins received 5,071 votes while McDonald collected 4,493 and James Collins received 2,883. Mary Collins and James Collins are not related.

Both Collins are assured a seat on the three-member board since there are no Republican candidates in the fall.

City Clerk John Gillis said 10,832 voters or 23 per cent of the city's electorate went to the polls. He said turnout was 40 per cent in the Second Norfolk District.

In his election debut, Tobin scored an impressive victory by winning 10 of the district's 12 precincts.

Toland won only Ward 5 Precinct 1, her home precinct. The tally was: Toland 191, Tobin 165 and Durkin 136.

Durkin finished first in only his home precinct, Ward 3 Precinct 2. The vote was Durkin 143, Tobin 112 and Toland 106.

On the GOP side, Tardo finished first in Ward 1, receiving 127 votes to Harris's 100. Harris won the remaining precincts.

It was the first attempt for public office by both Harris and Tardo.

Senator Paul D. Harold topped the ballot in Quincy receiving 7,325 votes. Harold, who ran unopposed to secure his Democratic nomination, has no Republican challenger this fall.

Other primary ballot totals:
U.S. Senator
Edward M. Kennedy (D), 6,287

Strong Support For Shipyard Purchase, Redevelopment Plan

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

A redevelopment plan that would return shipbuilding to the former General Dynamics Shipyard in Quincy was given a big supporting boost by former shipyard workers as well as state and local officials during a public hearing Monday night in city hall.

More than 60 people, many former shipyard workers, were recorded in support of the proposal. No one spoke or were recorded in opposition.

The redevelopment plan is part of a purchase bid by the Massachusetts Shipbuilders Corporation to acquire about 50 acres at the former GD yard for shipbuilding purposes.

MSC is comprised of former shipyard workers, officials and trustees.

The public hearing was sponsored by Land Bank, the financial group that will vote in the near future whether to award MSC $3 million for necessary equipment and inventory at the yard.

"This project probably could not go forward without the initial package by Land Bank," said Senator Paul Harold, a firm supporter of the plan.

According to Harold, the purchase bid is the largest in the country by an employee group.

The hearing was held to get public input and support for the employee purchase bid. A similar hearing will be held Monday, Sept. 26 at 6:15 at Braintree Town Hall.

If a deal is approved by Land Bank, the next step would be to work out an agreement with the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority, who owns the 182-acre land.

The 50 acres sought by the former shipyard workers would be sub-leased to the MSC. The group would be responsible for any rental payments to the MWRA. The MWRA would not collect any rent for the first three years of operation, Harold said.

In return, the Land Bank would work with State Street Capital Corporation to establish a working capital line of credit for MSC, using the equipment as collateral.

Harold said the MWRA and MSC have been negotiating "in good faith" towards a final agreement.

Proponents of the plan Monday night said returning shipbuilding to the yard would stimulate the city's economy and industrial base.

"I think this is a chance for the city to expand its industry. Jobs will be created where someone can raise a family in Quincy," said Ward 5 Councillor Charles Phelan.

"I see this as an opportunity. I don't see the city losing. I see the city winning for many, many years," Phelan said.

Peter Gwynn, an associate consultant to the MSC, said, "It is essential for any city to have a broader base industry. To put all your eggs in one basket would be a mistake."

Gwynn, who said he has been in contact with the U.S. Navy regarding shipbuilding contracts, said, "I think there will be a sound base for shipbuilding (at the yard)."

Under its guidelines, the redevelopment plan would:

- Eliminate blight on the site.
- Restore 300 (and eventually up to 1,500) jobs for skilled workers. During the height of production, as many as 4,500 workers were employed at the yard.
- Retain public control over the last remaining shipyard in the state that has the facilities for construction as well as repair of large ships.
- Pursue contracts in three areas: Navy ship repair, commercial ship construction and regional business opportunities such as work related to the building of the third harbor tunnel.

The entire package is estimated at $15 million, with $12 million coming from private lenders.

Land Bank's $3 million would purchase graving docks, shipbuilding basins, deep water berths and modernized steel fabrication and steel assembly buildings. The other $12 million would go towards working capital ($9.4 million), upgrade plant and equipment ($2.1 million) and transaction costs ($450,000).

It is anticipated that the Massachusetts Industrial Finance Authority (MIFA) will provide a loan guarantee of $750,000.

Ward 2 Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro, who along with Harold has coordinated the redevelopment effort, said he was concerned with the cleanup of hazardous materials at the yard. Harold said existing spills would be cleaned up by GD while future spills would be cleaned up by the MWRA.

About 70 people attended the public hearing, many former shipyard workers. The entire city council, as well as state officials including Harold and Rep. Robert Cerasoli, were also present.

Councillors and officials spoke in overwhelming support for the plan while also taking time to praise DeCristofaro and Harold for their input and leadership.

ENC Sponsoring Writing Contest In Schools

Eastern Nazarene College, in cooperation with Quincy Public Schools, is sponsoring a writing contest for students in Quincy middle schools and high schools.

Students in grades 8 to 12 at St. Ann's, Sacred Heart, St. Mary's, St. Joseph's and Woodward School for Girls are also invited to participate.

The contest will focus on the Centennial celebration of the city of Quincy, and topics for writing should relate to this general theme. Prizes will be awarded and winners will be recognized at a Centennial gala to be hosted by Eastern Nazarene College at Cove Auditorium on the campus, Oct. 28.

Winning entries will also be published in The Quincy Sun. Quincy school teachers will be responsible for selecting and submitting entries to the English Department of the College. Judges will be Dr.

Carl Winderl, Mrs. Helen Metcalfe and Norene Fiocco, all writing professors at the college.

The two categories for entries will be essay and creative writing, which may include poetry. Each entry must be no more than 500 to 700 words in length.

The college will present a Certificate of Honor for each entry that is forwarded to the college. Winning entries will be recognized in three levels in each category: Level One for middle school, Level Two for grades 9 and 10, and Level Three for grades 11 and 12. First place winners will receive a $50 savings bond and a plaque.

The person submitting the outstanding entry among all categories will receive a $100 savings bond and a $250 scholarship to Eastern Nazarene College.

KEEPING A PERSONAL PROPERTY INVENTORY

If you ever have to file a claim against your homeowners or tenants policy, a personal property inventory record can help ensure your claim will be handled quickly and fairly. Start off with a pad, pencil, camera and film. Go through your home a room at a time and make a list of the contents. Then photograph them. Include video and audio equipment, all appliances, furniture, jewelry, art work, and other important articles covered by your policy. When you get your pictures developed, it's a good idea to place these records in a secure place, such as a safe deposit box. It's also a good idea to place purchase receipts with these records. If you take this important precaution and suffer a subsequent loss, these records will provide your insurer with documentation about your belongings. It will help you establish ownership and your insurance company will be able to process your claim quicker.

For professional advice on all of your insurance needs please contact the experts at Riley & Rielly Insurance Agency, Inc. Call us at 471-6200 or stop by our office at 1050 Hancock Street in Quincy.

Frank And Frank

QUINCY SCHOOL Committee veteran Frank Anselmo, who must know where the Fountain of Youth is bubbling, was honored at a surprise 90th birthday party at Quincy Junior College Monday.

Anselmo, who could be the oldest elective office holder in the state (country?) was honored as a "friend of Quincy Junior College."

The event, sponsored by the Student Government Association, was held in the school's student lounge at Coddington Hall with about 50 students and faculty members attending.

They all joined in to sing "Happy Birthday." "As a young kid I am delighted with the surprise," Anselmo said.

City Councillor James Sheets, who is a professor in government at the school, presented Anselmo with a special commendation from the City Council.

Mayor Francis McCauley noted that he and Anselmo have had their differences down through the years but praised him for his work in behalf of the Quincy public schools and Quincy Junior College.

McCauley noted that Anselmo, who was first elected to the School Committee in 1961 has "outlasted six mayors: (Amelio Della Chiesa, James McIntyre, Walter Hannon, Joseph LaRaia, Arthur Tobin and -- apparently himself).

Hmm! McCauley, it seemed, might have been hinting that this is his last term as mayor.

Anselmo has three years left on his present term and McCauley finished his December, 1989.

"I will be working with you for at least a year and a half," McCauley told Anselmo.

Hmm! Again.

ANSELMO

YOU MIGHT SAY Ron Iacobucci has been a political bridesmaid three times but never a political bride.

Iacobucci was runner-up for city councillor at-large three times -- twice to Patricia Toland and once to Tim Cahill.

If Toland had won the Democratic nomination for state representative in the Second Norfolk District primary and gone on to win in the November final election.

Iacobucci would have walked down the City Council chamber aisle.

Iacobucci had enough votes among the present councillors to be elected to fill out Toland's council term.

Ruth Paven, Baron Hugo, Two Firms To Receive Health Center Awards

Two well-known South Shore personalities and two Quincy-based businesses will be among the recipients of community awards sponsored by the Board of Directors of South Shore Health Center, Inc., at an awards ceremony Sunday, Sept. 25 at the Kemper Insurance Building, 150 Newport Ave., Quincy.

Open to the public, the event includes a brunch at noon.

The awards presentations follow at 1 p.m.

There is no charge. A distinguished service award will be presented to Quincy attorney Ruth M. Paven, who is retiring from the South Shore Mental Health Center Board of Directors.

Mrs. Paven served as the first board president when the center was reorganized in 1979.

She has been a member of the Department of Mental Health Area board for 10 years.

A graduate of Radcliffe College in 1953, she was the first woman graduate of Georgetown University Law School.

Mrs. Paven is currently assistant deputy legal counsel for Massport where she represents the agency in design and construction matters.

"The South Shore has benefited from Ruth Paven's time, effort and expertise," said South Shore Mental Health Center president Harry Shulman. "Ruth's leadership is a major factor in the quality of services now available to area residents."

"It is an honor for us to be able to recognize her service," he said.

Also receiving a distinguished service award will be musical performer Baron Hugo. Bostonians and South Shore residents have danced to Hugo's music for five decades.

"He is more than one of the area's great musicians," said board chairman Thomas Collins, president of the event.

"Now 84 years old, Baron Hugo represents the achievement of the human spirit," Collins said.

A group of musicians will join Hugo in performing at the event. "My guess is that Baron will be singing his famous 'When I Was Eighteen,'" Collins added.

In recognition of their financial support for South Shore Mental Health center, Founders Awards will be given to Quincy Savings Bank and Pneumatic Scale Corporation of North Quincy.

Reservations for the brunch and awards ceremony may be made by calling 847-1950.

South Shore Mental Health Center provides mental services to communities from Quincy to Plymouth. Executive offices are located at 6 Fort St., Quincy.

Quincy's Yesterdays

Prohibition 'Profound Success'

Dr. Gifford Gordon of Melbourne, Australia, told a Quincy Kiwanis Club luncheon that an 18-month investigation, during which he covered 35,000 miles, convinced him that Prohibition in the United States is a "profound success."

He entitled his talk: "Hold Fast America!"

"When you believe that Prohibition is responsible for crime waves, you simply play right into the hands of the 'wets,' for they started this lying propaganda," he said.

Meanwhile, Police Chief Goodhue warned that if the city didn't stop storing confiscated liquor and other contraband at Police Headquarters pretty soon there would be no room for prisoners.

SCHOOL CROWDED

The School Committee named a subcommittee consisting of Dr. Nathaniel S. Hunting, Robert E. Foy and Col. Warren E. Sweetser to survey overcrowding in the Quincy schools, where enrollment was reported up 9 percent.

One school, the Atherton Hough in Houghs Neck, was said to be 20 percent over capacity with 65 pupils in one class, 52 in another and 51 in a third. The maximum was considered to be 35.

License Board Briefs

The Quincy License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall:

- Granted a request from Donald McCarthy for the Most Blessed Sacrament Rectory for a one-day all-alcoholic license for a dinner dance to be held Saturday, Oct. 1 from 7 p.m. to midnight. Proceeds will benefit the rectory and the board waived the fee for the license.

- Granted a request from Richard Barrett of Marina Bay Catering for a one-day all-alcoholic license to serve a private party of 35 people aboard the yacht named "Market's Closed" Wednesday, Sept. 21 from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m.

- Granted a request from George K. Bezanon to hold a craft fair and flea market at the Quincy Masonic Temple, 1170 Hancock St., Saturday, Oct. 29 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., including a snack bar and coffee hour from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. The board stipulated that a lay-out plan for the tables must be submitted.

- Granted a request from Donald S. Moscone for Crown Condominium Development Corp., c/o Moscone, Inc., 1150 Hancock St., to hold 360 gallons of gasoline in the tanks of 18 cars at Crown Colony Place, 300 Congress St., Quincy. The cars will be sheltered under a fully open (all sides) covered carport at 101 8. These 18 parking spaces will be reserved for executives and will be detached from the building at the site

- Withdrew without prejudice a request from Richard Kelcourse and Robert Dalrymple of Quincy Yacht Club, 1310 Sea St., to extend the liquor license to include the entire building and the covered porch. The board stipulated that the site plans for the area of extension must be submitted before the license can be granted.

Quick Eggplant Mix With A Little Basil

Some of the things we planted this year in our garden didn't quite develop as nicely as others.

One of the plants that flourished, however, was the basil. There are so many uses for basil leaves, especially in a salad or in tomato sauce. This, particular time, though, I used it while making a quick eggplant mixture. I served it as a side dish with leftover hot roast beef sandwiches, but there were no eggplant leftovers. Here is the quick easy recipe.

QUICK EGGPLANT MIX

1 medium sized eggplant
1 stalk of celery
1 medium sized onion
2 Tbsps crushed basil
1 medium green pepper
1 cup tomato sauce
(or fresh tomatoes from the garden) salt and pepper to taste
Grated romano cheese
Water to cook with

(in lieu of oil)

Wash and cut the eggplant in about one inch squares. Slice the pepper and chop the onion and dice the celery. Crush the basil. In about a half cup of water, put the onions in a frying pan and let cook for about a minute or so. Add all other ingredients except the tomato sauce. Cover, then stir until half cooked. Then add the tomato sauce and at this point a little more water if needed. Cook until done, (eggplant is tender). Serve hot with grated cheese.

Copies of the book are available at That's Italian, Franklin St., South Quincy; Previte's Market, Sumner St., Quincy Point; Samoset Pharmacy, Samoset Ave., Merrymount and Winfield Gift Emporium, Hancock St., Quincy Center.

Residents Urged To Attend Clean Harbors' Forum

Quincy residents are urged to attend an open forum on Clean Harbors' proposed commercial waste incinerator to be held Friday Sept. 23 at 7:30 p.m. at the former McCulloch School on Green St., North Weymouth.

At the forum sponsored by the North Weymouth Civic Association, David Jenkins, James Lucid, Paul Shanahan and Brian McDonald of the Weymouth Local Assessment Committee will discuss and answer questions on the types of hazardous waste which will be burned in the incinerator.

The firm has already been granted a permit to build a fire suppression system under a roofed area which will greatly enlarge the potential storage area for hazardous waste products.

The proposed facility, adjacent to Fore River Shipyard in Quincy, will burn 90 million pounds of toxic and hazardous waste over a year with 24-hour, 365-day continuous operation.

All residents of Quincy, Braintree and Weymouth will be affected by changes in the environment and ecology, which it is believed may pose long range health problems, including cancer, skin ailments, respiratory problems and birth defects.

There is potential damage to the town's water supply, the Civic Association contends, as well as increased traffic with the possibility of disastrous chemical carrying vehicle accidents along Routes 18 and 53 in Weymouth. Also, the firm has applied for a permit to dump waste water into the Fore River.

Residents of Quincy, Braintree and Weymouth are all urged to attend the meeting to learn more on the problems they face.

$60,000 Needed To Complete Father Bill's Place

At least $60,000 is needed to complete Father Bill's Place on Broad St., the renovated former Registry of Motor Vehicles building.

To aid the Quincy Interfaith Sheltering Coalition finish and furnish the permanent shelter for the homeless, the South Shore Board of Realtors will sponsor a Tuesday, Oct. 25 benefit at the nearby George F. Bryan Post, at 24 Broad St.

There will be "An Evening with Ann Warren," a local pantomime, from 7 to 10 p.m. She will impersonate, among others, Phyllis Diller, Victor Burge, and the Pointer Sisters. Music will be provided by Jimmy Jay, disc jockey. Tickets will be $10 each.

Marilyn Hannabury is chairperson for the event, with Alden Shores, finance chairperson. Both are from Shea Realty. Mary Jo DiBona, case manager, will represent the Interfaith Sheltering Coalition.

The Quincy Interfaith Sheltering Coalition was organized in March, 1984, and is comprised of 57 churches and synagogues, many social agencies and individual members, all dedicated to serving the homeless population. Its present headquarters is at 25 Foster St.

The coalition now offers a safe warm and clean environment for overnight rest in two churches, but expects to have available 34 beds for men and ten for women when the Father Bill's Place opens in October.

The coalition will provide also three well balanced nutritious meals to combat the malnutrition suffered by many of the homeless. Showers, personal items, emergency clothing and haircuts will also be offered.

A full time nurse is available for health assessments and referrals for medical treatment. There is also a full range of social services including counseling, goal setting, employment counseling, housing assistance, advocacy, referrals, budgeting, alcohol counseling and community networking.

The Quincy Interfaith Sheltering Coalition serves the homeless from Quincy, Braintree, Weymouth and the South Shore area.

Quincy Action Center To Receive Project Bread Funds

The Quincy Community Action Center is among 210 Boston-area agencies to benefit from $2.1 million for local hunger relief.

The funds will be distributed by Project Bread at a ceremony at Boston City Hall Sept 29.

The money was raised during the 1988 Walk for Hunger in which over 30,000 people participated in a 20-mile anti-hunger walk through Boston, Brookline and Newton.

Mary Brelsford, director of Quincy Community Action Center, said that "We see working families come through our doors every day who are struggling to make ends meet, but who just cannot. The Project Bread Walk for Hunger grant enables us to help these individuals by providing food during their difficult times."

St. John's 125th Anniversary Triduum Starts Sept. 26

St. John the Baptist Church will hold its 125th anniversary Triduum Monday through Wednesday, Sept. 26, 27 and 28, at 7 p.m. each night.

The three nights of prayer celebrated by the worship community will be presided over by three priests who have shared in the parish history.

The three evenings will focus around the words of St. John the Baptist: "Repent and Believe the Good News," and their significance in the past, present and future spiritual life.

Monday evening there will be a penitential service, centering on repenting for sins of the past. This will not be a penance service.

Tuesday, evening prayer will have a theme on belief sustaining worshippers in the present.

The Triduum will conclude with a mass celebrating the church's future through the Good News.

'The Salt Of Christ' Sermon Topic At Bethany

This Sunday there will be two services of worship at Bethany Congregational Church, United Church of Christ, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center.

The chapel service will be held at 9 a.m. and the sanctuary service at 10 a.m.

The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will preach at both services on the topic of "The Salt Of Christ." The sermon and the worship will focus on the need to follow in the 'spicy' way of Christ in the modern world. The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will be the liturgist at both services. Jean C. Smart will be the lay Scripture reader in the chapel and Pamela J. Shaw will read in the sanctuary.

Charles Blue, Bethany's new organist and choir director, will be at the organ console. He will direct the chancel choir in singing J.S. Bach's "My Heart Ever Faithful, Sing Praises" and Roberta Bitgood's "Give Me A Faith."

A special treat this morning will be the baptism of Laura Anne Capobianchi during the 10 a.m. worship. Laura, born June 1, is the daughter of Richard and Carol (Caulfield) Capobianchi. Beverly Capobianchi and James Caulfield will be the godparents.

The Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for children of pre-school through eighth grade. Nursery care for babies is also provided as well as a toddler class for young children. Our early childhood coordinator, Pamela Curran, will be present to supervise the care of infants through first graders.

The worship service will be broadcast over WJDA, 1300 kc, at 10 a.m. In addition a cassette tape of the service can be obtained for $2 by contacting the church office.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor. During this time a farewell reception will be held in honor of Lloyd Herring who has served Bethany faithfully for 22 years tending the boilers and all other heating concerns.

Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship, learning, and fellowship of Bethany Church. For more information about Bethany's ministries and activities call the church office at 479-7300.

'Christian Education Sunday' At Point Congregational

At the 10 a.m. worship service at the Quincy Point Congregational Church, Washington St. and Southern Artery, the sermon Sunday will be entitled "The Educational Mission of the Local Church."

The pastors are Revs. Fred and Carol Atwood-Lyon.

This Sunday marks the annual "Christian Education Sunday." Special recognition will be given to those who participate in the ministries of Christian education. Members of the Christian Education Board, the church school superintendent, the church school teaching staff and youth leaders will participate in a brief service of recognition.

The pastors will also administer the sacrament of Christian baptism during the service. Receiving the sacrament will be Timothy D. DeCristofaro, son of Donald and Karen DeCristofaro of Pembroke, and Allison E. Zopatti, daughter of Mark and Ann Zopatti of Braintree.

Church organist and choir director, Dr. Herman Weiss, will play "Prelude and Fugue in E-Flat" by Bach and "Blest Be The Tie That Binds" by Lenel.

The Chancel Choir will sing "O Lord, Give Thy Holy Spirit" by Tallis. The offertory solo will be sung by Mr. Jeff Sposato, the bass section leader and soloist.

Church school is now in session for children of all ages and a nursery and child care is provided during the service.

'Living The Good Life' First Parish Sermon Topic

Dr. Sheldon W. Bennett, minister, will deliver the sermon "Living The Good Life" at the 10:30 a.m. worship service at United First Parish Church (Unitarian), 1306 Hancock

St., Quincy Center.

The church choir, under the direction of Norman Corey, will sing "Ave Verum Corpus" by Mozart and "Thanks Be To Thee" by Handel. Mr. Corey will also play organ works by Bach, Walcha, and Buxtehude.

There will be a social hour immediately following the service.

Church school is at 10:30 a.m. and child care is provided during the service.

'Seeing God' Sermon Topic At Wollaston Congregational

At the 10 a.m. worship service to be held at the Wollaston Congregational Church, corner of Lincoln and Winthrop Ave., Rev. Elden D.J. Zuern will preach a sermon entitled "Seeing God."

Lay scripture reader will be Barbara Frazer and acolyte Erik Oster. Greeters will be Mr. and Mrs. Henry McDaniel and ushers John and Alice Zinkus.

Nursery care is available for infants and toddlers and church school for grades 1-12 will meet at 10 a.m.

A fellowship hour with light refreshments will be held in the social hall at 11 a.m. following the service.

The Youth Fellowship will meet in the social hall at 7:30 p.m. each Sunday evening.

The choir, under the direction of Mr. Donald A. Reade, organist and choir director, will meet each Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

The third annual church retreat will be held at the Framingham Conference Center on Friday, Sept. 23 at 6 p.m. and ending on Saturday evening following supper.

'Philip' Sermon Topic At Covenant Congregational

At the 10:45 a.m. worship service Sunday at Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts., Rev. Fred Lawson will continue his series of sermons on the 12 apostles.

This week's sermon will be entitled "Philip: God Needs Your Common Sense."

Sunday School, with classes for all ages, nursery through adult, will begin at 9:30 a.m.

During the service nursery care will be provided for children age five and under.

The attendant will be Gitta Dano. The greeters will be Virginia and Richard Carlisle.

The choir, directed and accompanied on the organ by Richard Smith, minister of music, will sing "Swells the Full Chorus" by Handel.

Soprano soloist, Luisa Dano will sing "God's Peace is Peace Eternal" by Gneg. Mr. Smith will play "Air" by Purcell, "Andante" by Vivaldi, as well as the postlude.

Quincy Centennial Cultural Evening Set For Sept. 30

Quincy artists, musicians and dancers will be featured in the Quincy Centennial Cultural Evening on Friday, Sept. 30, at Woodward School for Girls, 1102 Hancock St., starting at 7:30 p.m.

Music by the Scarborough Chamber Players will include selections by Anna Soranno, soprano; Virginia Sindelar, flutist and William Buonocore, guitarist. Included in their program will be the music of Coste, De Falla, Ibert, Debussy and Tower, in addition to traditional American folk songs.

Fourteen dancers from the Frances Osborne School of Dancing will be performing, along with Frances Osborne.

They are: Sandra Ames, Lisa Connelly, Cheri Cooper, Colleen Cooper, Kara Fletcher, Jaime Gallery, Jennifer Harper, Francine Jancaterino, Deborah Jolliemore, Rebecca McCosh, Kathleen McMann, Mary Nee, Laurie O'Connell and Nicole Paone.

There will be an art exhibition and demonstration by artists and teachers of the Quincy Art Association, Marilyn Reisberg, president. Elva Proctor, chairman of the exhibit committee, is assisted by George Cotto and Anet Paglierani.

Highlight of the celebration will be the presentation of portraits of Quincy's first mayor in 1889, Charles Porter, and the 1988 Mayor Francis X. McCauley by the artist, Edwina Caci.

The public is invited to the event, which is sponsored by The Quincy Arts Lottery.

Eugene Creedon, co-chairman with Joyce Baker of the 20-member Quincy Centennial Committee, arranged the program. Mary-Jane Fandel is coordinator.

Rape And Assaults Topic For Women's Commission Sept. 28

Rape and assaults on women is the subject of the first program of the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women, to be held Wednesday (Sept. 28) at 7 p.m. at Quincy City Hall in the second floor conference room.

Pat Nigrelli, director of the Sexual Assault Unit in Norfolk County, will discuss changes she has seen in the past 15 years, first as Weymouth Youth Officer and then as Norfolk County Director.

The current Department of Social Service mandate to report all sexual assaults, she states, "has brought an almost sixty per cent increase in the caseloads of health and social service professionals."

Those attending may comment and ask questions. This is the first of a series of free fall programs.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

All of us at one time or another has experienced that wonderful feeling of relief. Relief when we hear a loved one who we were worried about is just fine after a serious operation. Relief when we realize that something we worried about turns out to be of little or no importance ... "I'm an old man," stated an octogenarian some time ago, "and my life has been full of troubles ... most of which never happened." The joy of relief when some terrible crisis of life is past constitutes one of the sunniest, loveliest times of our lives. We are assured by people who ought to know that most of the things we worry about never happen to us. Isn't it true that the things that really get us down usually come rather unexpectedly?

And that overwhelming and joyful sense of relief which comes over us when our worst anticipation tended to be imaginary - this is indeed one of life's most pleasant experiences ...

Reikard's Office Broken Into Again, Case Files Taken

The office of Quincy's executive secretary to the Rent Grievance Board has apparently been broken into again for the 10th time in the past seven years.

Executive Secretary Jane Reikard said Monday her office at 1120 Hancock St., Quincy, was broken into sometime during the evening of Sept. 13 and the morning of Sept. 14.

Reikard said about a dozen folders were taken from her file cabinet. Her desk was also ransacked and her drawers "were a mess from someone rummaging through them."

Reikard discovered the apparent burglary about 11 a.m. last Wednesday. She had attended a meeting in city hall during the morning.

Upon entering her office after her meeting, she found two empty soft drink cans, part of a sandwich and some discarded waxed paper in a paper bag on her typewriter table shelf.

"I knew someone had to be in my office to eat that lunch which made me suspicious as to why they were there at all," Reikard said.

After checking her files, she realized she was missing file folders of cases that had come into her office.

Some of those files missing are:

- Richard Iorman, a small landlord in Quincy whose case is pending in court
- Executive House, three folders missing. Cases on proposed condo conversion and court cases of individuals.

- 270 Quarry St.—folders on proposed condoing and individual court cases and Rent Grievance Board cases.

- Cranch School Condos—termed "very controversial" by Reikard. Copies of this filed with attorney general's office.

- President Arms Condos—first building condoed after the condo-conversion bill went into effect.

- Niles Co. Condos—Both Willard St. and 195 Burgin Parkway. Pertaining to condoing and the misapplication of the condo ordinances.

- Pollard School Condos—what Reikard calls "questionable activities" there.

In addition, a file folder on landlord Roger Lyons, a spokesman for Apartment House Owners Association, was completely emptied of all the papers and the empty file folder left there.

File on Ed Nelson, landlord, and a member of the Apartment House Owner's Association, was emptied of all papers and the empty file folder left there.

According to Reikard, most of the folders missing were very controversial. She said some of the cases had been to court, some are going to court and some are in court now.

"Those papers and folders do not belong to anyone but the city of Quincy and its people," Reikard said. "They do not belong to any one individual, nor group of individuals, nor any administration."

"They are city records of the people and belong in the files for reference purposes. The people who come into my office with their problems expect their files to be kept intact and not scattered all over the city in the hands of unsavory characters," Reikard said.

A Welcoming Smile And Then: At The Woll-Nut Shop Everything Is Inviting

OWNERS of the Woll-Nut Shop, 17½ Beale St., brothers Ken and Everett Good always greet you with a welcome smile.

By JANE ARENA
When you walk into The Woll-Nut Shop at 17½ Beale St., Wollaston, a lot of things strike you at once:

The distinctive aroma of freshly cooked nuts of every conceivable variety.

The array of imported truffles, chocolates and fudge. Colorful jars of jellybeans and candies lining the shelves along the walls.

And a welcoming smile and "hello" from the shop's proprietors, brothers Ken and Everett Good.

Everything about the tiny shop is inviting.

If you tear your eye away from the glass and brass cases of sweets and temptations, you'll notice an old-world, almost European charm to the shop's decor. The walls are hand-stenciled by a niece of the Good's, and fine ceramic tile lines the stove hood where the nuts are cooked. A ceiling fan and two stained glass hanging lights add to the old-fashioned feel.

It's hard to believe that the shop has been here for just three years. It's even harder to imagine that the site once occupied a television repair shop. Through hard work and enthusiasm, Ken and Everett Good have made the shop distinctly their own.

Everett, the eldest of the brothers, is a retired high school teacher, having taught French, English and Latin in the Boston school system. "I'm not too knowledgeable about this business," he says. "I'm a gopher."

"No, we're partners here," Ken is quick to point out.

Ken has been in a similar sort of business for over 30 years, having worked first in the now defunct Choc Full O'Nuts store on Winter St. in Boston, which also sold freshly cooked nuts and candies, and then as a manager of several Brigham's stores in Boston.

Three years ago, after purchasing the shop, the two sold their house in Plymouth, moved to Wollaston, and began the four month transformation from TV repair shop to The Woll-Nut Shop. They had a lot of help from several nieces and nephews who, they say together, "have been just wonderful to us."

A great deal of hard work and money have gone into the first three years of the shop's operation, but Ken and Everett, without being unrealistic, are enthusiastic about the future.

"It takes time for a business like this to make a profit," Everett says, "five or ten years at least."

"By the fifth year you usually know whether you'll go into the sixth," Ken adds. "About nine months out of the year are very good...all the holidays. Summers are slow, especially last summer with the heat."

No matter what the season though, The Woll-Nut Shop has a steady clientele of regular customers, many of whom are greeted by name when they enter the shop. These customers are greatly valued.

Ken recalls a time during their first year of business when Everett was out with a cold and the shop was very busy.

"I was here all alone and the shelves weren't stocked, the nuts had to be cooked. I had to close the doors for an hour to catch up. When I opened the door there were 35 people waiting to come in."

Customer loyalty, Ken explains, can also cross over from professional to personal.

"There was a time," he says, "when the shop had to be closed for some time because one of our nieces died. Word got out that someone in the family had died and there were people coming by all day to ask if the two of us were all right."

Once discovered, The Woll-Nut Shop could very easily become a favorite and much frequented shopping spot. The product line has something for everyone. Along with nuts and candies, the shop also features imported gourmet coffees and teas, novelty items such as candy dishes and ginger jars, and even a line of dietetic chocolates made without sugar.

It's during the various holidays though, that Ken and Everett do the most business and work the hardest.

"We come in earlier near the holidays," Ken says, "and we stay here later. There's a lot of preparation to do and running around. We get a lot of help from our nieces around the holidays."

Christmas is the busiest time of year for them, and the longest in preparation. Novelty items and candies for next Christmas were ordered in June.

"Christmas is jumping," Everett says, but it's evident that despite the increase in work, the holidays are also the time when they have the most fun.

"We have different promotions for every holiday," Ken explains. For example, for Valentine's Day they hand pack their own pink and red heart-shaped boxes, for Thanksgiving they feature ceramic turkeys and hand packed baskets; and, of course, for Halloween there are plastic pumpkins packed with nuts and candies and all sorts of items to spook and delight.

"We always get excited about Halloween," Ken says, "because that's really the kick-off."

For unique gift ideas or a treat for yourself, holiday or not, visit the Woll-Nut Shop. You'll probably come back for more.

Hours are 9:30 to 5:30 Monday through Saturday and 9:30 to 4:30 on Sundays.

Morrissey Requests Probe Of MWRA Office Leasing Policies

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey (D-Quincy) has requested that the House Committee on Post Audit and Oversight conduct an investigation of the Mass. Water Resources Authority's office leasing policies.

Morrissey has also asked that the total amount of office space be determined and whether the existing office space at the Quincy Shipyard would be able to accommodate the Authority's needs.

In an effort to reduce the authority's high overhead and exorbitant spending habits, Morrissey continues to advocate that executive offices of the MWRA be relocated to the Quincy shipyard.

"The actions by the MWRA over the past few months have demonstrated a lack of concern for the increasing financial burden that the Boston Harbor cleanup is imposing on the rate payers. The Quincy Shipyard remains vacant while they are paying millions of dollars in leases at the Charlestown Navy and continuing to consider other expensive locations for future office sites," Morrissey said. Morrissey has filed legislation to mandate that the MWRA move to their office space at the shipyard. However, no action has been taken on this proposal.

Wonderful Place To Shop

A Boutique With Just About Everything The Village Nook Place To Look For The Right Gift

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

If you're one of those persons who is hard pressed to find the right gift, then the Village Nook, 696 Hancock St., Wollaston, is your saving grace.

The Village Nook, a boutique specializing in a wide assortment of American-made handcrafted items, has hundreds of items to choose from.

The shop is co-owned by Sally Erickson and Betty Ellis, both of Squantum, who are eager to help customers find that special gift.

"The Village Nook is for the person who has everything and for the hard to please. Anything you could think of to buy someone is here," Sally says.

"It's a nice change from the norm. Many people come in and do all their shopping here," she says.

However, the wide range of country to contemporary items does pose a "problem" for some shoppers.

"Many customers complain there are too many choices," Betty says. "And some people can't make up their mind."

But that's no problem for Sally and Betty, who have been partners for nine years now.

"We like to give personal service," Sally points out. "We like to help people because there are so many things here and they can miss what they're looking for.

"Nowadays, it's difficult finding a store where people are willing to help their customers," Betty adds.

At first glance, it's easy to understand why some customers may need a little guidance finding what they're looking for. The walls, shelves, floor and even ceiling are decorated neatly with the many items that stock the shop's unique and distinctive selection.

Among the items are: picture frames, knitted and crocheted clothing, wedding invitations with pressed flowers, souvenirs, house decorations and gifts for all occasions.

Other popular items include: pottery and floral wreaths and collectibles such as Wee Forest Folk ceramic pieces and the Lizzie High Doll collection.

Furthermore, even if the item is nowhere in sight, Sally and Betty will come to the rescue.

Sometimes, a customer comes in looking for a particular item but it isn't what they quite had in mind because the design or color is slightly off. In that case, Betty and Sally will try to locate a craftsman who could make the customer's special request.

One of the reasons the Village Nook has prospered over the years is due to the ever-changing inventory. Sally and Betty are always updating their merchandise on a seasonal and daily basis. More than 300 craftsmen contribute to the selection.

In addition, Sally and Betty attend numerous craft shows looking for new products. Customers also inform them of gifts they would like to see up for sale.

"You have to learn what your customer wants and needs," Betty says.

Sally adds, "If you can't find it, ask. Chances are we'll be able to find it for you."

A willingness to help people is the cornerstone of their business.

"We get satisfaction by finding the right item for customers," Sally says.

"It's a challenge to try to help someone who wants to be helped and finding the right item for them," Betty adds.

Sally and Betty opened The Village Nook after attending craft shows for five years. Originally located in Milton Lower Mills, they moved to Wollaston after a year in business when space on Hancock St. became vacant.

The move proved to be a good one for Sally and Betty, whose business expectations exceeded in many ways. "Looking back, we wouldn't have done anything differently," Sally says.

Over the years, the shop's Wollaston location has had three big advantages.

First, Hancock St. provides a constant flow of motor traffic that brings potentially new customers past the store daily.

Secondly, Wollaston's walking traffic draws many shoppers and browsers.

Lastly, the Nook has a steady following and nearby Eastern Nazarene College supplies a constant stream of customers.

Other customers come from other sections of Quincy, Milton, Braintree, Weymouth, Dorchester as well as out-of-state.

People who frequent the Nook or interested newcomers should note that the store will hold an open house on Saturday, Nov. 19 and Sunday, Nov. 20. Refreshments will be served and some free gifts handed out.

And for those already thinking of Christmas, Sally and Betty advise customers who want special gifts to order early since craftsmen are unable to do every order during the busy holiday rush.

Store hours are 10 to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday and will expand to Sunday after the open house. Master Card, Visa, American Express as well as personal checks are accepted. There is also a layaway plan.

McCauley Going To N.Y. For Police Station Funds Meeting

Mayor Francis McCauley and several other city officials will go to New York City Tuesday, Sept. 27 to meet with officials of Standard and Poors and Moody's Investor Services concerning the city's request to borrow $4.2 million.

These funds, totaling $4,245,000, will be used to finance the completion of the Quincy Police Station construction and renovation project.

During his meeting with the financial service, McCauley will present a review of the city's financial condition as well as Quincy's economy and present economic development activities.

Accompanying McCauley will be Peter Kenney, the mayor's executive secretary; City Auditor Robert Foy, Planning Director Richard Meade as well as officials from Shawmut Bank Corporation, the city's bankers.

The group will return to Quincy Wednesday, Sept. 28 in the afternoon.

Raiders Host Newton N., Eye Second Win

The North Quincy football team, following what coach Ken McPhee called "the ugliest game we've ever won," will open its Suburban League season Friday night when it hosts Newton North at 7 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

McPhee's Raiders turned in an outstanding defensive performance last Friday night but the offense sputtered and they were fortunate to pull out an 8-7 win over Milton thanks to a late-game safety.

Newton North, which edged North Quincy, 17-14, on a late field goal last season, lost to Needham, 25-13, in its opener last week.

"Our defense did an excellent job, but we will have to move the ball better," said McPhee. "Actually, our defense had carried us in our scrimmages and it made the difference against Milton."

North held Milton to 47 yards on the ground, 46 yards through the air and four first downs.

The Raiders had 10 first downs, 167 yards rushing and 55 yards through the air.

Ryan Craig, North's outstanding fullback, rushed

15 times for 70 yards and junior Keith Gott had 32 yards on seven carries.

Billy MacDougall, making his first start at quarterback, rushed seven times for 60 yards and was four of 15 passing for 55 yards with one interception.

"Billy did a fine job at quarterback and will fill the spot very well," said McPhee. "The last two years he was our top wide receiver."

MacDougall was also outstanding on defense and had a pass interception, as did Tim Baker, who also had a fine game defensively.

Penalties killed the Raiders, who were hit with 155 yards as compared with just 20 for Milton. North started several promising drives only to have them killed by penalties.

Playing excellent defense were Mike Ainsley, Craig, MacDougall, Baker, Dave Joyce, Alex Malasi, Mike Iacobacci, Sean McDonough, Sean Glennon, Jeff Sullivan and Dave Hutchins.

Kevin MacDougall punted well for the Raiders.

North scored its only touchdown in the second quarter when MacDougall scored from three yards out. A pass for the two-point conversion was batted down.

One of North's many penalties set up Milton's touchdown early in the fourth quarter. Rich Brooks recovered a fumble at the North 29 and the Raiders were called for unnecessary roughness on first down.

Chuck Calcagno went around left for 12 yards and Brooks went eight yards for the touchdown. Tim Merrigan kicked the extra point to put Milton ahead, 7-6.

With less than three minutes to play and Milton back to punt from its own 19, the snap sailed over the punter's head. A Milton player kicked the ball out of the end zone to prevent a North touchdown, but the automatic safety gave the Raiders their win.

"We must have given them 200 yards in penalties and almost all of their offense was us giving it to them," McPhee said. "With our league season coming up, we can't afford penalties like this."

Apaches Sink Sailors, 20-8

By STEVE KAVANAGH

The North Quincy Apaches downed the defending champion Squantum Sailors, 20-8, Saturday night in Quincy Youth Football League action.

The Apaches join the Houghs Neck Manets in a tie for first place (1-0) while the Sailors and Quincy Point Panthers follow with 0-1 records.

Running back Kevin Mantville opened the scoring with a 33-yard touchdown jaunt in the first quarter. The Sailor defense stuffed the conversion attempt and North Quincy led, 6-0.

The Apaches increased the lead to 12-0 in the second quarter when quarterback Derek Thompson scored from two yards out. The touchdown was set up by Thompson's 24-yard pass completion to receiver Willy O'Donnell.

Adam Fitzpatrick gave the Apaches a big, 18-0, lead early in the fourth quarter on an exciting, 33-yard touchdown scamper. Mantville rushed for the two-point conversion and the Apaches held their biggest lead, 20-0.

Squantum got on the board in the fourth quarter on a well-executed halfback option pass. Quarterback Greg Burke pitched out to running back Tom Nutley who pulled up and threw to receiver Dave Reinhardt who showed great concentration while making an off-balance catch. The play covered 46 yards. Nutley rushed for the two-point conversion.

The Apaches received strong performances from Curtis Gifford, Mark

Sinclair, Tony Licciardi, Eric DeLorey and Peter Licciardi.

Squantum got fine efforts from Matt Walsh, Dan McCarthy, Billy Degan and Phil Pacino.

In junior varsity action the Apaches defeated the Sailors while the West Quincy Elks edged the Quincy Point Panthers.

The Manets face the Apaches for first place Saturday at 6 p.m. while the Sailors and Panthers tangle at 7:30 p.m. in a varsity doubleheader at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Over 100 Compete In Quincy Tennis Tournery

Under ideal weather conditions play continued this week in the 18th annual Quincy Tennis Tournament sponsored by the Quincy Recreation Department and the Granite Co-operative Bank.

Nearly 100 players have gathered at the Vo-Tech tennis courts in a tournament started 10 days ago in a quest of the title city champion in nine divisions of play.

In action so far the men's singles have been highlighted all week by the outstanding play of Tom Savoie, Oscar Jara, David Bouley, Pat Finnegan and Erik Silva. But the title still belongs to defending champion Tom Bossard, who has not lost a set in his climb to a second consecutive title.

Men's doubles finds the father and son team of Gary and John Durante the team to beat with serious challenge coming from the teams of Tom Savoie and Steve Maloney and Oscar Jara and David Bouley.

The mixed doubles final will pair defending champions Gary and Louise Durante against Oscar Jara and Lynne Maloney.

With defending champion Neil Cronin not playing this year, the men's 50 and over singles will be battled out between George Burke and Dick Hatton.

The women's singles competition will have Terry Shea, Nancy Sullivan, Sue Coleman and defending champion Lynne Maloney all battling to be number one.

The results to date:

Presidents Seek Second Win At Waltham

By TOM SULLIVAN

It was a long time coming, but the Quincy football team played an excellent two-way game to roll over Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 29-6, last Saturday at Cambridge for its first win in two years.

It was the Suburban League opener for both teams.

Friday night Jack Raymer's Presidents face a stern test when it plays at Waltham at 7 p.m. in a league game. Waltham topped Quincy, 43-14, a year ago.

Waltham dropped its opener to a powerful Leominster team, 28-7, last week but Raymer wasn't deceived by the score.

"Waltham has a fine team, but Leominster is really powerful," said Raymer. "We will be in for a real test Friday night."

The Presidents, who had virtually no running attack last year, depending almost solely on Chris Noble's passing, ran well at Cambridge, rushing for nearly 200 yards, including 113 yards on 21 carries by Jim Dennett.

He did most of the carrying but Dave Nourse carried three times for 15 yards and a touchdown. Peter Oliveri gained 17 yards on three carries and a touchdown and Joe Zabrowski had 20 yards on four carries.

Noble, not forced to pass as he was a year ago, was five for 14 for 81 yards, including a touchdown. He also scored a touchdown himself.

"Dennett was great and Nourse, Oliveri and Zabrowski all looked good running," Raymer said. "As a result, Noble didn't suffer through the pressure he did last year when his passing was virtually our entire offense. Chris did another fine job at quarterback."

"The entire defense was superb. After Cambridge scored the first touchdown of the game, our defense dominated. They had only 10 total yards in the second half. You can't leave anyone out and Tom Morrell, Dan Hanly, Bob Austin (blocked a punt for a safety), Tony Madden, Dave Zupkowska, Fran Ienello, Brian Norris, Jim Munroe, Todd Kimmell, Scott O'Brien, Scott Campbell, Mark Miele, Ennio Eleuteri, Scott Grant and Joe Baker all were outstanding. Nourse and O'Brien had pass interceptions."

Grant also had 100 yards in punt and kickoff returns. Quincy was forced to punt after receiving the opening kickoff and Cambridge went on to score its only touchdown on a five-yard run by Bob Mickle.

After that Quincy completely bottled up the Cambridge attack and it was all Presidents from that point on. Noble climaxed the first Quincy drive by scoring on a two-yard sneak and Norris kicked the first of his three extra points.

QUARTERBACK Chris Noble scored a touchdown and passed for another in Quincy's opening day victory over Cambridge Rindge and Latin.

In the second quarter Noble and Grant connected on a beautiful 46-yard touchdown pass and Norris again kicked the point.

Quincy widened its lead to 16-6 in the third quarter when Austin blocked a punt for a safety.

In the final quarter Nourse scored on an 11-yard run and Oliveri, carrying three defenders with him, scored on an eight-yard run. Norris kicked the point after Oliveri's touchdown.

North Freshmen Roll By Milton, 28-0

By PETE ZOIA

The North Quincy freshman football team, under new coach Kevin Kelly, rolled over Milton, 28-0, in its season's opener last week and Kelly admitted he was surprised when the team put two quick scores on the board in the first quarter.

"I was confident that the offense would click but, to be truthful, not so quickly," he said.

North bottled up Milton's offense early and the young Raiders put on a display of scoring with Desmond Bellot racing 49 yards for the first touchdown and Chris Murray ran 25 yards for another. Mark Cocuzo added the two-point conversion following the second score.

North was strong defensively throughout the game and Mark Kelleher had 14 tackles.

North added another score in the second quarter on an eight-yard pass from Sergi Wassilieu to Bellot. At halftime North led, 20-0.

A series of penalties and incomplete passes stymied Milton in the third quarter, enabling North to add its final touchdown. Cocuzo ran 23 yards and also rushed for the final two points of the game.

Bellot rushed for 100 yards and two scores and Cocuzo ran for 47 yards and a touchdown and a pair of two-point conversions and Murray ran for 38 yards and a score. Wassilieu played an excellent game at quarterback.

Kelly hailed the defensive play of Kelleher, Sean Moran, Chris Peck and Brendon O'Connell. Chris McAllum and Mike Kristofferson were outstanding in the offensive line.

"We were able to use every boy on the squad except one, who forgot his mouthpiece," said Kelly. "There is still a lot of work to be done for our game Friday with Newton North."

North, Quincy Girls Have Strong Teams

The North Quincy girls' volleyball team ended Quincy's domination of the Suburban League and tournament play last season and it appears both teams will be the dominating forces in the league this season.

Until last year Quincy had won the state championship three times and was in the finals five times.

Last season North, under second-year coach Jim Rendle, swept through league and tournament play undefeated to capture the state title.

North had never beaten Quincy twice but last year topped the First Ladies three times, twice in league play and once in the tournament.

This year both squads are off to flying starts with 3-0 records and neither has lost a game.

Rendle has only three starters back at North while Quincy coach Tom Henderson has a number of returnees from last year's young squad.

Next Thursday night's match between the cross-town rivals (7 p.m. at the North Quincy gym) should be a classic.

North made its record 3-0 Monday with a 2-0 (15-4, 15-0) victory over Newton South.

In their previous match the Raiders scored a rare shutout as they defeated Waltham, 2-0 (15-0, 15-0). Co-captains Debbie Panaro and Holly Rendle sparked North.

Earlier North had opened by defeating Weymouth North, 2-0 (15-1, 15-2) with Deirdre Murphy dominating at the net. Sophomore Cara Sullivan served well, producing 11 points in the two games.

Quincy improved to 3-0 Monday with a 2-0 victory over Boston Latin.

In their previous match the First Ladies topped Newton

North, 2-0 (16-14, 15-1) with Co-captains Amy Guidice and Nancy Laitinen sparking in the first game and Laitinen's serving dominating the second. Jennifer Richmond was outstanding on defense.

Earlier Quincy opened with a 2-0 (15-4, 15-4) win over Brockton with Guidice and Laitinen dominating the net. Randi Gaura supplying strong service and sophomore Christine Barrett helping with her setting.

North Quincy plays at Brockton Friday, hosts Newton North Monday, goes to Boston Latin next Wednesday and hosts Quincy next Thursday night.

Quincy hosts Weymouth South Friday, goes to Brookline Monday, is home to Cambridge Rindge and Latin next Wednesday and goes to North Quincy next Thursday night.

Record Turnout Turns North Future Bright

North Quincy boys' soccer coach Jim McGuire was greeted by a record turnout which included 24 returning players, five new upperclassmen and 24 freshmen players.

McGuire has high hopes for the future with newcomers Jake Costa, Derek Mooter, Mike Giese, Tom Johnson, Aidan O'Donoghue, Matt

Flynn, Mark Walsh, Paul Kearns, Scott Harris, Tim Kane, Mike Kane, Mike Walsh, Chris Hill, Tae Kim, Garvin Chan, Pat Devin, Jeff Jones, Jason Garte, Chris Olsen, Steve O'Brien, Adam Chansky, Vo Ngoc and Peter Laing.

Other returnees are Don Nogera, Bob Heim, Terence Palma, John Chou, Tom Kane, Steve O'Brien, John Jarnis, Jason Rowland, Chris Bauser, Mark Nitschke, Philip Chen and Ed Welby.

North won its opener, 3-2, over Medford. Juniors Matt Giese and Tufts sparked with Giese scoring two goals and Tufts recording 13 saves in his first varsity start in goal.

MacDougall scored the other goal and Halloran and Janineh had assists.

Cawthorne, Abate and Pat O'Donoghue had strong efforts against a strong Malden team but it wasn't enough as the Raiders lost, 4-0.

The North junior varsity also got off to a good start with a 7-1 victory over Malden with all seven goals being scored by freshmen.

The game MVP went to Mooter, who had a hat trick to spark the Raiders. Chan had two goals and Devin and Mike Giese one each.

North will host Peabody today (Thursday) at 3:30 at the stadium field, will be home to Cambridge Rindge and Latin Monday and will meet Quincy next Wednesday, all games at the stadium field.

• Executive League

DiMattia Blanks Adams, 7-0

Goalie Ralph DiMattia posted the first shutout of the season as DiMattia's Sailmakers blanked Adams Sports, 7-0, in Executive Hockey League action Monday night at the Youth Arena.

Ed Farren and Bob Kelly scored two goals apiece and Bill Shea, Jim Gilmore and Ed Lenihan one each. Peter Janis, Jim Conso, Dave Connell and Farren had two assists each and Lenihan and Dave Mullenone apiece.

Bob White's Place edged South Shore Bearing, 5-4, with Skip Manganaro scoring twice. Joe Flibotte, Doug McClean and Steve Lewis had a goal each. Bob Matais and Flibotte had two assists apiece and Jim Cooney, Lewis and Jerry Ionelli one each. Frankie Guest had two goals for Bearing and Jack Hurley and Chip Lindscott one each. Joe Gearin had two assists and Steve Diamond, Lindscott and Jack Aldred one each.

Mark Jago scored four goals to lead Beacon Sports to an 8-4 win over Emmott's Electric. Dennis Larkin, Dennis Bertoni, Jack Duffy and Art Boyle had the other goals. Artie Boyle and Kevin Jago had two assists apiece and Wayne Cashman, Bertoni, Bob Boyle, Charlie Watt and Duffy one each. Ralph Gibbs scored twice for Emmott's and Dick McCabe and John Emmott one each. Marty Tolson, Chet Brunstrom, Ed Dwyer and Gibbs had assists.

Reycroft Three-Time Winner At Ponkapoag

Sue Reycroft recently won three tournaments at the Ponkapoag Golf Course, the latest being the Rothera Cup which she won with a net 68.

She and Yvette Perry took top honors in the Crehan Memorial Tournament with a net 75.

Sue also won the Johnson Cup, given each year in honor of retired MDC Captain Arthur E. Johnson.

Sue's win was special to her as she is Capt. Johnson's granddaughter.

Johnson was in charge of Ponkapoag Golf Course for 16 years (1949-1965) during which time Ponkapoag was made into two 18-hole courses. He is now 87, deeply interested in golf and he was able to follow his granddaughter around the course and see her win the Johnson Cup.

Another member of the Ponkapoag Ladies' Inner Club, Anne Bell, had a hole in one on the 11th hole, using a No. 5 wood. Her witness and playing partner was Candy Heath.

An 'odd holes' on nine holes was recently played and Joan North was the winner with an 18, followed by Edna Tenney and Grace Cohen, 21; Charlotte Dickie, Hilda Appel, Renee Randozza and Sue Reycroft, 22.

Quincy Off To Fast Start

The Quincy boys' soccer team is off to a fast start with a 2-0 record, its best start in several years.

Charlie McLaughlin's Presidents edged Malden, 2-1, in their opener, their first opening day win in five years, with Oscar Jara's unassisted goal with five minutes left in regulation clinching the win.

Tai Le scored 19 seconds into the game with Peter Lespasio assisting.

Quincy received strong defense from Ray Rachon and Dan Piccini and goalie Pat O'Donnell sparked with 12 saves.

Quincy also squeezed by Medford 1-0, on Jara's goal. O'Donnell had an outstanding day in goal with 18 saves and Rachon, Piccini and Joe Derry were standouts on defense.

Quincy will play at Revere today (Thursday), will be at Brookline Monday and will meet North Quincy next Wednesday at 3:30 at the stadium field.

Three MDC Quincy Quarries Outdoor Events In October

The Metropolitan District Commission's Reservation and Historic Sites Unit is offering three free outdoor events at Quincy Quarries Site for people of all ages in October.

On Sunday, Oct. 2 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. an adventure from Quarry to Fort will be held. During the day, history of Quincy's granite industry is explored.

The tour starts at the Quincy Quarries Historic Sites with a 90-minute hike along the Quarries Footpath, visiting outstanding historical and archaeological features of the area.

Later, a bus will bring participants to Castle Island where the classic Quincy granite structure, Fort Independence, will be examined.

Participants should bring a lunch and sturdy shoes. Registration is required.

Those interested should meet at the intersection of Willard St. and Ricciuti Dr. West Quincy.

On Sunday, Oct. 9 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. MetroParks will sponsor a Quarries Greenbelt Day Hike. This day-long hike will begin at Wompatuck Rd. near St. Moritz Pond and continues along the Quarries Footpath.

Discover the site of the first commercial railway in America, numerous former granite quarries, the Granite Railway Incline, and remains of the Lyons Turning Mill.

Participants should pack a lunch and wear sturdy shoes.

Registration is required. Interested hikers should meet at Wompatuck Rd. in Quincy.

On Monday, Oct. 10, from 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., and a second program at 2 to 5:30 p.m. a Granite Railway History Day will be held.

The West Quincy Quarries were the birthplace of the commercial railroad in America. Horse-drawn carts with six-foot wheels once hauled six-ton loads of granite to the sea.

This special event will travel to various sites in and around the historic quarries.

Call the Quincy Quarries for preregistrations and meeting place.

The event is co-sponsored by the Massachusetts Bay Railroad Enthusiasts.

For preregistration or more information on Quincy Quarries Historic Site, call 727-6236 or 727-4573.

$1.5M Grant Awarded To Housing Authority

The Quincy Housing Authority has been awarded a grant of $1,550,000 for major renovations to the Riverview Family Development in Quincy, a low to middle income housing complex, announced Rep. Brian Donnelly (D-Mass).

Donnelly was able to release the funds from the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) through the Comprehensive Improvement Assistance Program.

The money is the second installment of a three-phase grant. Over the next year, the project will receive more than $3.2 million in federal money for total renovation. In the initial grant, $700,000 was used to remove asbestos insulation and lead paint from the walls.

"This grant is very substantial," Donnelly said. "The money will be put to very good use. We have to maintain quality housing in this area and this is one way that our federal dollars are helping the average working person attain the American dream of establishing roots in their communities in a clean, modern home."

Donnelly, who has been a fair housing advocate since he began public service in the Massachusetts legislature in 1972, recently authored an amendment to the Technical Corrections Bill of the Tax Reform Act extending the Mortgage Revenue Bond Program to 1990, which helps lower and moderate income persons finance their first homes.

"I want to help these people turn their houses into homes. It is satisfying to see families, who up until just recently, had little or no chance to rent or own a home that was adequate to raise a family," he said.

Other portions of the grant will go to energy conservation projects and for the installation of window screens, storm doors, parking lot improvements and hookups in each of the 180 units for clothes washers and dryers.

Property Owners Urged To Keep Areas Clean

Mayor Francis McCauley is urging all residential and commercial property owners to keep the areas surrounding their property clean as fall and winter approaches.

As in the spring, the Department of Public Works will be available to assist neighborhoods and community organizations with neighborhood and beach clean-ups within the next few weeks, the mayor said Tuesday.

McCauley also said Quincy is in the process of purchasing additional trash disposal barriers in an effort to keep the downtown areas of Quincy cleaner.

The Department of Public Works will provide trucks, loaders and trash bags to any group or organization wishing to initiate a fall cleanup project.

The mayor said he will send this information to the various directors of the City Community Centers. However, any other organization, civic group or residents interested in such a clean up should contact the Highway Division of Public Works Department at 773-1380 ext. 460 or 231 to arrange a date or for more information.

McCauley asks all citizens to watch for the date of neighborhood cleanups and to "pitch in and help out with the project in your neighborhood."

The mayor also urges business owners to take pride in Quincy and their establishments by keeping their properties free of litter and debris.

'Count Dracula' To Open Quincy Dinner Theater Season

"Count Dracula" will be the first production of The Quincy Center Dinner Theater which opens its second five-show season at the Masonic Temple, Hancock St., on Oct. 27, 28, 29, 30 and Nov. 5.

Playgoers at the Sunday (Oct. 30) Halloween Eve performance will be asked to wear suitably ghoulish costumes. Prizes will be awarded for the best female, male and couple costumes.

Ted Tiller's three-act play combines horror with macabre humor, with startling special effects.

The $22.50 ticket price includes the show and a full-course meal with a choice of three entrees.

On Dec. 3, 4, 10 and 11, the troupe will present a holiday review with humorous sketches and traditional songs. A pianist will play softly during cocktail hour and dinner.

Joseph Kesselring's comedy, "Arsenic and Old Lace" will be the offering Feb. 11, 18, 19, 24 and 25.

On March 18, 24, 25, 31 and April 1, "No Sex Please We're British," the British farce by Anthony Marriott and Alistair Foot, will be the presentation.

On April 22, 23, 28, 29 and 30, the season concludes with "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," Stephen Sondheim's Roman romp.

For the musical only, ticket prices will increase to $25.

Season tickets are also available, as well as group rates. For more information, to make reservations or to be on the mailing list, those interested should call Darling Productions at 843-5862 between 1 and 7 p.m.

Art Workshops For Children At Beechwood Center

Drop-in Art Workshops for children at Beechwood Community Life Center start Tuesday, Oct. 4.

Art classes for children grades 1-5 will continue from 1:30-3:30 p.m. on Oct. 18, Nov. 1, 8, and 15, and Dec. 13.

In a series of projects, children will create Indian masks, carve plaster slabs, design a banner, and hang mobiles in wire. Drawing and sculptural techniques will be taught by Nancy Connolly.

A holiday sampler will be created by children in grades 2-6 on Thursdays, 3:30 to 5 p.m., starting Nov. 3. Pre-registration is required.

Houghs Neck Legion Post Hosts Wheelchair Veterans

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

An old-fashioned clam bake was provided some 75 wheelchair veterans and their attendants at Houghs Neck Legion Post's annual Wheelchair Veterans' Day recently.

Veterans from West Roxbury and Brockton VA hospitals and the Chelsea Soldiers Home were entertained by Billy Tang, guitarist-singer, and Elsie Meister, pianist, during the afternoon.

Past Commander John "Bro" Hirtle, chairman, thanked donors of fish and lobsters.

Assisting his committee were members of Post Auxiliary Unit 380, Commander Lou DiMattio and members of Bryan Post VFW. Past Commander Bob LaFleur of Morrisette Post, Charles LoPrete, Veterans Service Officer who helped unload the veterans' buses and serve the meal.

Past Commander Stan Youngie and Commander Ray LaRue of Houghs Neck Post, with Post Adjutant Past Commander Bill Morrill also served on the committee.

Quincy Choral Society Receives Funding Awards

The Quincy Choral Society Ltd. and the Scarborough

Chamber Players have received Merit Aid funding awards from the Mass. Council on the Arts and Humanities, announces State Representative Michael W. Morrissey.

The two Quincy organizations have received over $2500 in awards that provide operating support for cultural organizations engaged in public programming.

"These programs enrich the lives of all who take advantage of them," said Rep. Morrissey.

Council Passes $216,845 In Appropriations

The City Council passed six appropriations totaling $216,845 at Monday night's meeting.

They were:

- $150,000 to the Highway Department for street resurfacing and repair. Public Works Deputy Commissioner David Colton said the figure represents the city's share in a $1 million street project. In all, 10 main roads and 13 side streets will be resurfaced.

- $31,654 to the Park Department for reconstruction of basketball and tennis courts at the Broad Meadows Middle School. The total cost of the project is $56,645. The additional $25,000 will come from the Quincy School Department Capital Improvement Plan.

- $16,000 to the Fire

Department to purchase a new deputy chief car. Fire Chief Thomas Gorman said the new car would replace the present car which is four years old and has been driven 100,000 miles.

According to Gorman, the deputy chief's car executes 5,200 runs a year and travels about 35,000 miles going to fires, duties and fire stations.

The appropriation will be used to purchase a new car priced at 15,200 from the Ford Motor Corporation. The car is similar to Quincy Police patrol cars. The remaining $800 will buy new equipment for the car.

The old car will be put into reserved status.

- $8,000 to the Building Department to finance the recent demolition of the brick tower at the Quincy Fire Department Headquarters, 26 Quincy Ave.

The tower was ordered removed because walls were fractured and bulging out causing a hazardous condition. If not removed, the walls could have collapsed at any time, thus creating a domino effect with the floor and walls below.

- $5,000 to the Wire Department to fund the hiring of a part-time inspector. Wire Inspector Thomas Purpura has requested that the city hire another inspector in order to help the department's workload which has increased substantially due to the large volume of commercial projects under construction.

- $6,200 to the Plumbing and Gas Department for personal services.

Support For Purchase, Shipyard Redevelopment

"It's important for the country to have (economic) diversity," said Ward 4

Councillor James Sheets. "Preservation of shipbuilding is not only significant to Quincy and its economy but it's another indication that the country is ready to meet the future," he said.

"This would be a key opportunity to revitalize the shipyard and to revitalize the industry," said Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney.

Councillor-at-large Patricia Toland said "I am very pleased this arrangement has come about. I'm sure it will be very successful."

Ward 3 Councillor Lawrence Chretien said "It's obviously a risk for some people but I believe it will work out."

Carmen D'Olympio, president of the Builders Trade, said, "This is a unique opportunity. Everything is at our fingertips."

Later at the City Council meeting, the council unanimously approved a resolve supporting the redevelopment plan of the shipyard and "encourages the swift reopening of the General Dynamics Shipyard."

The resolve was introduced by all nine city councillors, led by DeCristofaro.

PROTESTORS march along the Fore River Shipyard at the Quincy-Braintree line marking the second anniversary of their opposition against a toxic incinerator proposed by Clean Harbors, Inc., at the site. Another rally will take place this Sunday.

'Hands Across The Bridge' Toxic Incinerator Protest Sunday

Quincy residents are encouraged to join with other area residents in a "Hands Across the Fore River Bridge" rally against a proposed toxic incinerator on Sunday, Oct. 2 at 1:30 p.m.

Residents of Quincy, Weymouth and Braintree will meet at the Fore River Bridge.

The rally is being held as a demonstration against a toxic incinerator proposed by Clean Harbors, Inc. The firm has proposed to build the incinerator on the banks of the Fore River Shipyard.

The rally is being sponsored by the Ward 2 Civic Association, Adams Shore Community Association, Quincy Citizens Association, Germantown Neighborhood Council, East Braintree Civic Association and the North Weymouth Civic Association.

According to the civic groups, a toxic incinerator would cause possible long-range health risks including cancer, respiratory problems, skin ailments and birth defects.

The associations state that the incinerator would burn an estimated 90 million pounds of hazardous waste 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

The toxic substances Clean Harbors proposed to incinerate include PCBs, the groups said.

An incinerator could also contaminate the town water supply and create traffic problems along Routes 18 and 58, the groups said.

All concerned citizens are urged to attend the rally.

McCauley Recommends Total Tax Valuation Set At $3.8 Billion

Mayor Francis McCauley has recommended to the City Council a total tax valuation of $3.8 billion for fiscal year 1989, an increase of a half of a per cent over last year.

McCauley said the increase is the smallest increase over a prior year since the city adopted full fair cash (100 per cent) valuation in fiscal 1984.

"The major reason for the small increase is due to the fact that the Fore River Shipyard property purchased by the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority from General Dynamics in 1987 is no longer on the tax rolls," McCauley said.

Also contributing to the increase is the city's tax levy, which has gone up as well, he said.

According to McCauley, the tax levy, or the amount of money taxed by the city, has increased almost six per cent from last year. This year's levy is $60,424.913 compared to $57,059,787 over last year, an increase of $3,365,126 or 5.9 per cent.

During fiscal 1988, the shipyard property produced $1,894,800 in tax revenue on a value of $84,500,000. The MWRA, a state agency, is tax exempt, the mayor said.

"Since the shipyard money is no longer there, we have to shift the burden into the residential and commercial (tax) areas," McCauley said.

The total valuation recommended by McCauley for fiscal 1989 is $3,839,438,150, an increase of $20,552,400 or .54 per cent over last year's valuation of $3,818,885,750.

Of the total valuation, $2,856,462,900 or 74 per cent is residential valuation while $982,975,250 or 26 per cent is commercial, industrial and personal property (CIPP) valuation.

McCauley also recommended that CIPP be taxed at 150 per cent of full cash value and that a residential factor of 82.7937 be adopted by the council.

If McCauley's recommendations are approved, the residential tax rate for fiscal 1989 would be $13.03 per thousand dollars of valuation, an increase of 81 cents over last year's rate of $12.22.

As an example, the mayor said a single family home owner, with the average valuation of $117,380, would pay $1,529 in real property taxes. Compared to last year, this is an increase of $99 over the total taxes paid ($1,430) by a single family home owner with the same average valuation of $117,000.

If approved, the CIPP rate

Councillors Urge Alarm System For City Hall

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

Two city councillors said Tuesday they will ask Mayor Francis McCauley to appropriate money for an alarm system for city hall which was broken into early Monday morning.

Quincy and state police are investigating.

Three electric typewriters valued at $3,500 and a television of unknown value were stolen. Also, the city's computerized ballot counter was damaged, an estimated loss of $5,000.

City Clerk John Gillis said it is not known whether the machine can be repaired or if it will have to be replaced.

A fourth typewriter was taken sometime late Monday night or early Tuesday morning in a separate but perhaps related incident.

In Monday's break-in, two typewriters were taken from the City Council's second floor office and another was removed from Gillis's first floor office.

The color television was stolen from the City Council president's second floor office. The office is now occupied by Councillor Patricia Toland.

Also, a time clock was broken and some computers and a copying machine were moved slightly. "Something probably scared them off," Gillis said, referring to the burglars.

The fourth typewriter was also taken from the City Council office. It was discovered missing Tuesday morning.

Entry was gained by breaking a deadbolt at a basement window, Gillis said.

Toland said Tuesday she will ask McCauley for an appropriation while Councillor Stephen McGrath has written a letter to the mayor requesting the same.

Out on a business trip, the mayor was scheduled to return to Quincy Wednesday.

"This is the third break-in in two years and it is time to take appropriate protective measures," Toland said.

"There are very important documents and records that if lost or stolen would be irreplaceable, as well as expensive electronic office equipment and other valuable goods.

"City Hall is one of the city's finest buildings and should be protected from the potential of further damage and vandalism," Toland said.

"I know that the Council is in complete support of the idea, and I will submit a resolve at next Monday's (Oct. 3) Council meeting," she said.

In his letter to McCauley, McGrath said that inasmuch as the city hall building has been broken into three times recently and valuable office equipment and cash have been stolen, it would be in the city's best interest to pay for an alarm system wired directly to the police station in order to alert the police to break-ins.

He said he would be pleased to work with the mayor in having such an appropriation presented to the Council for its quick action.

2500 Affected By Water Main Burst

About 2,500 people in the Germantown neighborhood were left without water for about nine hours on Monday after a water main burst under Palmer St. in front of the Snug Harbor School.

Classes at the school were also cancelled on Monday.

According to Paul DiSalvio, a foreman with the Quincy Water Department, there are two mains under Palmer St. bringing water to the Germantown area, an 8-inch pipe and a 10-inch pipe.

The 8-inch pipe burst at about 3 a.m. on Monday due to increased pressure when fewer people were using water, he said.

DiSalvio said the pipe probably broke because it was weakened by age.

While Water Department crews were doing repairs on the main, Civil Defense workers distributed water to elderly residents at Snug Harbor Court and O'Brien Towers.

Water was restored to most residents by noon on Monday by rerouting the flow through the undamaged 10-inch pipe. Water was restored to the school about one hour later.

25 Area Names On Unclaimed Money List

Twenty-five Quincy residents and two Quincy businesses are on the state's unclaimed money list.

State Treasurer Robert Crane said his office is attempting to return more than $2 million to 7,000 Massachusetts residents under the state's unclaimed money law.

On the list in Quincy are: Bay State Ambulance, R. Werth, State Street Bank, John Barnett, Robert E. Beaulieu, Bessie Boothe, Helen A. Bruno, Gail C. Canale, Mary Corcoran, Dacey Brothers, Dairy St.; Martin L. or Donnelly McDonough, P. Glendye, Louise Graham, Marv D.

Grottendecks, Alice Habbey, Sabina Kavanagh, Donata Magnarelli, Margaret McLaughlin, John C. Murphy, Eleanor P. O'Connor, Joan E. Rogers, Joseph M. Rosenthal, Linnea A. Sexton, Ralph Terry, Joseph M. Zaccaro and Donna L. Zaccaro.

Crane said unclaimed money has been reported to the treasury by insurance companies doing business within the state. Included in the proceeds are, unpaid life insurance benefits, unpaid benefits on health and liability insurance policies, pension checks and customer overpayments.

Under state law, accounts which have been dormant for at least five years are deemed to be abandoned and must be reported to the treasury. The treasury department then tries to locate the rightful owner or legal heirs.

More than 3,000 accounts range between $100 and $500; 650 accounts between $500 and $1,000; 424 accounts between $1,000 and $5,000; 14 accounts between $5,000 and $10,000 and eight accounts more than $10,000. The remaining accounts are less than $100.

Persons who believe they have a valid claim should call Treasurer Crane's office at (617) 426-0060 or toll free 1-800-632-8027.

Board Rejects License For Gasoline, Oil Storage

By JANE ARENA

The City License Board Tuesday denied a request from John J. Fontana and Spee Dee Lub Inc. for a license to store 2,000 gallons of motor oil, waste oil and transmission fluid in the tanks of cars and 100 gallons of gasoline in the tanks of cars at 610 Hancock St.

Ward 5 Councillor Charles J. Phelan, Jr. told the board that a community meeting with neighboring residents had been held Sept. 22 and that he was in opposition to the license. He told the board that residents had many concerns about the proposed opening of Spee Dee Lub, including traffic, parking problems and fumes from cars. Many residents attended the meeting at city hall.

Councillor-at-large Stephen J. McGrath was also before the board in opposition to the license. He is a former Ward 5 Councillor.

Although the business would be permitted in this business zone area, the board noted that the area is in close proximity to a residential area, and that the concerns of the residents must be taken into account.

Board Chairman John Gillis said that "this may be the worst type of business" for this area and that another type of small business might be better suited. He also noted that he had visited the site and was of the opinion that the lot was not large enough for this type of business.

The board also took into account the heavy pedestrian traffic in the area, and the large population of elderly citizens there. The board said that increased motor traffic may cause problems.

'Selection Process Flawed'

Anderson To Fight Sludge Facility At Shipyard

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

Saying the selection process was flawed, Quincy's representative to the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority said Tuesday he will fight against a recommendation to build a permanent sewage sludge processing plant at the Fore River Shipyard.

"The MWRA is attempting to solve all its problems in Quincy and Wintrop. I think that's where the MWRA has fallen apart. They haven't devised a policy of including all cities and towns who contribute to the problem into the solutions," said Paul Anderson, Quincy's representative to the MWRA.

Anderson said he planned to criticize the selection process at a MWRA Board of Director's meeting scheduled for Wednesday afternoon.

Last week, the MWRA announced that the General Dynamics Shipyard was among the three sites being considered for a permanent sludge processing facility to be built as part of the Boston Harbor cleanup project. Besides Quincy, the other sites are in North Stoughton and Spectacle Island in Boston Harbor.

The final decision is expected to be announced in January.

Spectacle Island is the preferred choice of many local officials, including Anderson and Mayor Francis McCauley.

Anderson said he would continue to advocate Spectacle Island as the best suitable location.

According to Anderson, the island is now recognized as the second leading contributor to Boston Harbor pollution. The first is the combined overflow facilities located throughout Boston.

Anderson said if the MWRA did choose Spectacle Island, the authority would then be forced to clean up its waste.

"I don't think it has been studied adequately," he said, referring to the site.

According to Anderson, the selection siting process was flawed because the criteria used were not evenly applied to all sites under consideration.

For example, one site was ruled out because it was found to have hazardous waste. "We know there is hazardous waste at the shipyard," Anderson said.

Another form of criteria was whether the site was being considered for public use. Anderson said the purchase bid being made by the former shipyard workers at the shipyard should be looked upon as a potential public use.

"We need more discussion. The study is incomplete. I see the study prejudiced for the shipyard," Anderson said.

However, Anderson said the key element to the selection site process is the fact that the Fore River shipyard is the only location owned by the MWRA.

Anderson said the shipyard has been the leading site since the MWRA purchased the 185-acre property from General Dynamics in August of 1987.

"It's been that way since they bought the yard. They've been headed in that direction since they bought the yard," Anderson said.

On Monday, McCauley said he too was not surprised by the MWRA's announcement.

"No, I'm not surprised. Of all the sites being considered, the shipyard is the only site owned by the MWRA. It has to be of prime consideration," the mayor said.

"The city's position is that we still support Spectacle Island as a permanent site," he added.

The Fore River shipyard has already been chosen as the site for a temporary sludge treatment plant to open in 1991. The interim plant will operate until the new Deer Island treatment facility in Wintrop becomes operational, probably in 1995 or 1996.

MWRA Executive Director Paul Levy said placing a permanent plant in Quincy is the most logical. Levy said the site topped virtually every criteria list including environmental, technical and cost.

Quincy and the two other sites are being considered for various sludge-disposal processes, including composting, incineration or the manufacture of fertilizer pellets or "pelletizing."

With the MWRA's announcement, several sites were eliminated from consideration: two in Walpole, and one each in Lynn, Wilmington and Deer Island.

According to Levy, the Quincy shipyard has one major advantage: it is the only site being considered for a plant that would turn sludge into fertilizer pellets. This process is Levy's preferred choice for handling millions of gallons of sludge.

This process is also the one positive note regarded by local officials.

"Pelletizing eliminates the possibility of incineration at any site," Anderson said. "It was my fear that incineration was an option."

Riley & Rielly Insurance

YOUR PERSONAL INSURANCE INVENTORY

Many companies provide insurance coverage as one of the most important benefits offered to their employees.
They typically include health, life and disability packages.
If you have this type of company benefit, do you understand just what your coverage does or does not include?

It's a good idea to take a close look at your benefits package. While it may be an excellent foundation for protecting you and your family, it may need considerable fine tuning to truly meet your individual needs. After a close look, for example, you might want to supplement your company's plan with additional medical coverage, or you might decide to expand your life insurance with a plan that will give you flexibility in preparing for college tuition bills or supplementing retirement income. All too often, people wait until there is a serious illness or other emergency before they read their employer's benefit package, and that can be poor timing, especially if your coverage is more limited than you had assumed.

If you are considering protection get in touch with the insurance professionals at Riley & Rielly Insurance

Quincy In Battle For Badge

The battle for the badge between Vice President George Bush and Gov. Michael Dukakis had a bit of a Quincy flavor to it last week.

Dukakis counter-punched Bush's stinging endorsement by the Boston Police Patrolmen's Association with a quick gathering of local and national police officers -- including Ron Delord, president of the 15,000 member Combined Law Enforcement
Association of Texas -- who stood there on the State House steps in Dukakis' corner.

On those steps, backing Dukakis were also Quincynites: former Atty. General Frank Bellotti, MDC
Commissioner William Geary, Police Chief Francis Finn and Senator Paul Harold, chairman of the Criminal Justice Committee.

Another Quincy figure, Ron Kaufman was on the other side with Bush as he got his endorsement. In fact Kaufman is believed to have helped orchestrate that endorsement by the Boston Patrolmen's Association.

Kaufman, who lived in Quincy, is a graduate of Quincy Junior College and was once an aide to City Councillor James Sheets, is now Northeast regional campaign director for Bush. He was also with Bush eight years ago.

SPEAKING OF DUKAKIS, if he should be elected President and you're getting up a list of potential candidates for governor here's one you can forget Congressman Brian Donnelly.

"Not interested," he says.

And he reminds those who might be thinking of who will be the next governor that Lt. Gov. Evelyn Murphy would take over in January.

"And," he says, "she will be the governor for two years. That gives her a pretty good start for the 1990 election."

DONNELLY

FORMER QUINCY POLICE OFFICER Bill Spencer is the proud owner of a brown baseball bat with the autographs of the Hall of Fame members inscribed with gold on it.

Spencer helps his son, Ted, who is curator at the Hall of Fame, doing various jobs including driving VIP's like Ted Williams around.

Harold Talbot, president of the Hall of Fame, gave Spencer the bat as a token of appreciation.

Incidentally, when Willie Stargel of the Pirates was inducted into the Hall of Fame about 25 commemorative pins were made.

Spencer got one of them and while wearing it on his shirt while shopping in a store was offered $400 for it.
He turned it down.

By the way, what does he think of Williams?

"He has mellowed a lot," Spencer says. "He's a lot of fun to be with."

Dairy Freeze Complaints Hearing Continued For Month

By JANE ARENA
The City License Board Tuesday continued for one month a hearing concerning conditions at Dairy Freeze, 635 Adams St.

Ward 3 Councillor Lawrence F. Chretien, had written a letter to the board on complaints he has received from neighbors in the area about Dairy Freeze customers parking illegally on Adams St. and Greenview St., loitering in the neighborhood, littering the area, and about the noise created by the Dairy Freeze and the odors caused by the dumpsters.

John W. Wallace, who operates the Dairy Freeze, told the board that he is aware of the parking problems and that he has placed a sign in the window of Dairy Freeze asking customers not to park illegally. The board and Chretien noted that Wallace was not to blame for the parking problems, but that during the hot summer months, the busiest for Dairy Freeze, customers do not heed the "no parking" signs.

Wallace also said he has tried to correct the litter problem by sending people out to clean the area three times a day.

He told the board and Chretien that the Dairy Freeze has "an adequate sized dumpster" and that any odor problems would be "taken care of right away."

City Health Commissioner M. Jane Gallahue said she would like to monitor the litter and odor problems more closely.

The board suggested that Wallace get a detail police officer to aid with the parking and loitering problems on the busiest days of operation.

The hearing was continued to allow Chretien and Wallace to hold a neighborhood meeting to address the issues and to discuss possible solutions.

The Dairy Freeze will close for four and a half months at the end of October and will take the issues into account for next season.

Meeting For Flood Victims Oct. 12

A meeting for Quincy residents who suffered flood damage in the recent July storm will be held Wednesday, Oct. 12 at 7 p.m. in the City Council Chamber.

The meeting is being called by Ward 4 Councillor James Sheets and Ward 5 Councillor Charles Phelan.

It will include an update of status of the $8 million state appropriation to resolve the flooding problem at the Furnace Brook watershed, status of legislation to provide tax rebates and work on the Alrick Rd. pump station.

Councillors Sheets and Phelan said it is their intention to continue to meet with those who suffered so much damage and keep them informed of progress toward a solution and compensation for damage incurred.

Total Tax Valuation Set At $3.8 Billion

would be $23.61 per thousand dollars of valuation, an increase of $1.20 over the rate of $22.41 over last year.

The figures were compiled by the Board of Assessors. They are subject to approval by the State Department of Revenue as well as the City Council.

The council will hold a public hearing on McCauley's tax rate recommendations on Monday, Oct. 3 at 6:30 p.m. in the Council Chambers of city hall.

During the hearing, taxpayers will have opportunity to speak on the tax classification plan.

If the City Council approves the classification plan Oct. 3, tax bills will be mailed out during the third week of October, McCauley said.

Board Briefs

The city of Quincy License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall:

- Continued a hearing on the request from JAC, Inc., doing business as Meineke Discount Muffler Shop, 662 Southern Artery, for 120 gallons of gasoline in the tanks of six cars and 30 gallons of inflammable gasoline to work on automotive exhaust and brake systems.

- Continued until Oct. 25 a hearing on Conburke, Inc., doing business as Stooges, 3 School St., concerning a complaint by the Quincy Police Dept. on serving minors on July 24, 1988.

- Continued for one week a hearing concerning noise at 106 Columbia St., a car repair establishment owned by John F. Fleming, as per a letter written on Sept. 14 by neighbor, Fred A. Martin. The board continued the hearing on Mr. Fleming's request to seek legal counsel.

Firefighters Salary Hiked To $3,200

The City Council voted Quincy firefighters a $200 raise to wipe out the differential in pay between the Fire and Police Departments. The new annual wage for privates would be $3,200.

Sept. 29-

1950

38 Years Ago

William Edmonston, executive secretary of the Quincy Taxpayers Association, voiced his organization's objections to the raise.

"If the firemen get the raise of $200 then the policemen will demand a 40-hour week and all other city employees will want more liberal working conditions," he said.

"This will mean a $4 raise in taxes."

NEW WORK FOR YARD

The Bethlehem Steel Co.'s Fore River Shipyard was reported to be in line to receive contracts totalling $50 million for the construction of two ships for the Moore-McCormack Line.

The Yard issued a call for 150 carpenters and joiners, 25 pipefitters and 12 sheetmetal workers to bring the work force to 7,500 men. The wartime high was 32,000.

INDUSTRY EXPANDS

The Raytheon Manufacturing Co. announced plans to open an assembly plant in the vacant section of a building at the corner of School St. and Parkingway, the first new large industry in Quincy in a decade.

At the same time, Proctor and Gamble announced plans to build a six-story, $350,000 addition to its plant in Quincy Point and to increase its work force by 25 percent to 80 employees.

District Governor Speaks At Rotary Meeting

Quincy Rotary Club president Robert Guarnieri of Colonial Federal Savings Bank recently welcomed District Governor Joseph R. Picard as guest speaker at the regular meeting held at the Neighborhood Club in Quincy.

Picard, an active Rotarian, was president of the Woonsocket, R.I. Club in 1969-70 and has served as a member and chairman of several district committees. He has attended several Rotary International Conventions and is a Paul Harris Fellow.

Today, Picard is head of District 795 which is comprised of 65 Rotary Clubs in Rhode Island and Southeastern Massachusetts including Cape Cod and Nantucket.

In his address to Quincy Rotarians, Picard said this year's Rotary theme is "Put Life into Rotary—Your Life."

"The strength of Rotary is in the individual members and that individual effort is the key to furthering the goals and ideals of Rotary," he said.

Some of those goals and ideals are:

First, is it the truth; second, is it fair to all concerned; third, will it build good will and better friendships; and fourth, will it be beneficial to all concerned?

Picard also complemented the Quincy Rotary on the fine work that it has done in the community and on its continued support of Rotary International.

There are more than 23,000 Rotary Clubs in 161 countries throughout the world. Rotary's international goal is world peace through understanding.

Marie's Kitchen

By MARIE J. D'OLIMPIO

Kiwi, Strawberry Delight A Great Light Dessert

Here is a great light dessert that we had several times over the summer, but it is great served anytime. Our daughter Anne Marie whips this up when we need a dessert fast. It's similar to Ambrosia but she makes it just a bit different, as you will see.

KIWI, STRAWBERRY DELIGHT

2 pints heavy cream
1/2 bag miniature marshmallows
1 can crushed pineapple (drained)
1 can sliced peaches (drained)
20 strawberries (sliced)
2 Kiwi (peeled and sliced)
1 cup shredded coconut (optional)
Whip the cream till peaks form. Add the marshmallows, pineapple and peaches folding them in gently. Arrange sliced strawberries and Kiwi alternating for color around the top. Chill covered for one hour before serving.

Marie D'Olimpio is the author of "Simply Italian-And Then Some," a collection of her own recipes. Copies of the book are available at That's Italian, Franklin St., South Quincy; Previte's Market, Sumner St., Quincy Point; Samoset Pharmacy, Samoset Ave., Merrymount and Winfield Gift Emporium, Hancock St., Quincy Center.

Dialysis Treatments At Home Now An Option

People who suffer from kidney failure now have the option to stay at home for dialysis treatments rather than go to a clinic.

Dialysis At Home offers patients this highly personalized, medically accepted and nationally established alternative, the first of its kind.

Dialysis At Home's primary distinction is the one-on-one treatment the patient receives from the visiting professional in the home.

The program uses identical equipment to those in clinics. The average dialysis patient must receive three, three to four hour, treatments per week. Dialysis At Home allows the patient to receive prescribed treatments without having much interference in his or her schedule.

The treatment is approved by the patient's nephrologist where specific care is concerned.

Started in 1985 by Home Intensive Care Inc., Dialysis At Home began serving Massachusetts in January. It has gone from one to 34 patients.

For more information about Dialysis At Home, call 1-800-822-1188. For local information call 1-648-8568.

4 Residents In Cosmetology Course

Colleen Brennick, Sharon Kennedy, Marianne Colligan and Kerry Cunningham, all of Quincy, have recently enrolled in the Cosmetology course at Blaine Hair and Beauty School in Boston.

The program covers all areas of cosmetology including haircutting, perming, nail and skin care, make up, public relations and marketing.

Police Computer System Cost $200,000 - $300,000

Due to a reporting error, a story in the Sept. 22 issue of The Quincy Sun incorrectly stated the estimated cost of a computer system to be installed in the Quincy Police Department. The correct estimate is between $200,000 and $300,000.

The Sun regrets the error.

26 Residents At Bunker Hill College

There are 26 Quincy residents among the students enrolled at Bunker Hill

Community College for the fall 1988 semester.

They are: Kenneth Allen, Rachel Grinnell, Spencer Harris, Ngo Hong, Kevin Jennette, Paul Kirk, Yi-Hua Mai, Ann McDonagh, George Santis, Christine Spyridonidis, Li Sun, Joseph Taylor, Nancy Killey, Deborah Lyman, Thomas McHugh, Iran Minh, Heather Slechts, Ikeu Takeyama, Lang Iran, Shu Wu, Esther Anna, Chea Ann, Kim Bridges, Chin Dao, Theresa Lawn and Richard Lin.

'World-Wide Holy Communion' To Be Celebrated At Bethany

World-wide holy communion will be celebrated Sunday at Bethany Congregational Church, United Church of Christ, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center.

There will be two worship services, 9 a.m. in the chapel and 10 a.m. in the sanctuary. Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the communion meditation at both services on "The Mark of Love."

Lay scripture readers will be William F. Greene in the chapel and Beth Stiles in the sanctuary. The associate minister, Rev. Joel F. Huntington, will serve as liturgist at both services. During the 10 a.m. service a moment of mission concern will be given by Helene Crofts.

"Neighbors in Need" will also be observed this Sunday. This is an all-church emphasis with special offerings being received in United Church of Christ congregations throughout the nation. "Neighbors in Need" supports many outreach programs in the United States including ministries with native Americans, children in poverty, and victims of AIDS.

At the sanctuary service the Chancel Choir, under the direction of Bethany's organist Charles Blue, will sing Ralph Vaughan-Williams' arrangement of "The Old Hundredth Psalm-Tune."

The service will be broadcast "live" direct from Bethany's sanctuary at 10 a.m. over South Shore radio, WJDA, 1300 kc. The communion commentary during the broadcast will be given by Edith Arslan.

The Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for children of pre-school age through eighth grade. Nursery care for babies is also provided, as well as a toddler class for young children. Bethany's professional Early Childhood Coordinator, Pamela Ford Curran, will be present to supervise the care of infants as well as being helpful to parents.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship and in the fellowship, and to enroll children in the Sunday school.

This Sunday at noon students of the Sunday school, their friends and families, and other interested adults, will travel on two chartered buses to Doe Orchards, Harvard, for an 'apple-picking picnic.' The bus ride is free, but people need to bring their own picnic lunch and beverage, as well as money for apples and for a stop at a homemade ice cream place on the way home.

For additional information about the picnic, or any other aspect of Bethany's ministries or programs, contact the church office at 479-7300.

Worldwide Communion Sunday At Covenant Congregational

Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite St., will observe Worldwide Communion Sunday on Oct. 2 at the 10:45 a.m. worship.

The Diaconate will serve communion at this service, which is observed by Christian churches throughout the world.

Rev. Fred Lawson's sermon topic will be "The World is Watching." A special offering will be taken for the Diaconate's Emergency Fund.

A nursery for children age five and under is available during the service, with Lynne Facella as attendant. Greeters will be Frudy Acker and Robert Purpora.

The choir, directed and accompanied by organist Richard Smith will sing "Bread of the World" as introit. "Let Us Break Bread Together" and "Fierce was the Wild Willow" by Smith. Mr. Smith will play "Communion Prayer" by Mozart as prelude. "Deck Thyself by Brahms as the offertory, and "Es ist das Heil" by Bach as postlude.

During the week, choir rehearsal will be held Wednesday, Sept. 28, at 7 p.m., and the Trustee Board will meet Friday, Sept. 30, at 7:30 p.m.

Future events include the Naomi Society meeting on Monday, Oct. 17; a potluck dinner on Sunday, Oct. 16, and a fall foliage festival at Pilgrim Pines Oct. 11-13.

Those wishing more information about any of the church activities may call the church office at 479-5728.

'Of Covenants And Creeds' United First Parish Topic

Dr. Sheldon W. Bennett, minister, will deliver the sermon, "Of Covenants and Creeds" at the 10:30 a.m. worship service this Sunday, at United First Parish Church (Unitarian), 1306 Hancock St., Quincy Center.

In the sermon, Dr. Bennett will consider the fact that it is a mutual covenant which is the foundation of a liberal church and not the insistence that each person proclaim personal faith in a particular creed or statement of doctrine.

Dean Snogren, guest soloist, will play the trumpet, and Norman Corey, music director, will play organ works by Buxtehude, Harris, and Frescobaldi.

Historic First Parish Church, "Church of the Presidents," dates from 1636. Unitarian since 1750, the church continues as a leader in liberal religion. It is also the church of Presidents John Adams and John Quincy Adams, whose tombs are within the church, with those of their wives, Abigail and Louisa Catherine.

The church is located at 1306 Hancock St. in Quincy Center, opposite Quincy City Hall. Visitors are welcome and are invited to join in the social hour immediately following the service.

Church school is at 10:30 a.m. and child care is provided during the service.

Human Relationships Sermon Series At First Squantum Church

The pastor of the First Church of Squantum began a new series of sermons Sunday on the subject of human relationships.

The series is entitled "Relating to Others, Relating to God" and will extend over a period of five weeks.

The first sermon preached by the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin was entitled, "Building a Positive Relationship."

Sermons in future weeks will be, Oct. 2, "Why Relationships Fail"; Oct. 9, "Dealing with Interpersonal Conflict"; Oct. 16, "Three Things to Do If You Care"; and Oct. 23, "If You Are Broken-Hearted."

The Chancel Choir sang "Children of the Heavenly Father" as the offertory anthem. James E. Sumner was the soloist.

Mary Ruth Scott and Janet Williamson accompanied on the organ and piano.

congregation sang the hymns: "When Morning Gilds the Skies," "I Would Be True," and "Blest Be the Tie that Binds."

Rene Johnson and Doris Longmire were the greeters. Harry Holmes and Lore Wallin were the ushers. Mary Lewis and Hazel Mayne hosted the Fellowship Hour after the service.

A Bible Study Group began meeting at the church on Tuesday night. Future meetings will be held Monday, Oct. 3, Wednesday, Oct. 12; Tuesday, Oct. 24.

There will be no meeting in the first week of November because that is the week of the church fair.

Other activities to be held Ladies' Aid (chicken dinner) Wednesday, Oct. 5 at 12:30 p.m.; Evening Friendship (women's group) Oct. 11 at 7:30 p.m.; Board of Trustees, Oct. 19 at 7:30 p.m.; Board of Deacons, Oct. 24 at 7:30 p.m.

Reformation Sunday (breakfast at 9:15 a.m. and service at 10:30 a.m.); the Church Fair Saturday, Nov. 5, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.; and Covenant Sunday, Nov. 6, at 10:30 a.m.

The Board of Deacons will sponsor a "Friendship Brunch" on Oct. 16 for members and friends of the church and people new to the area. The brunch will be held right after church. There is no charge to attend. Those planning to attend are urged to make reservations in advance so that there will be enough food for all.

The Chancel Choir rehearses Thursdays at 7:30 p.m., the Junior Choir meets Thursdays at 3 p.m., and the Youth Choir meets Sundays at 11:45 p.m.

The Sunday service begins at 10:30 a.m. Sunday School and a nursery are provided during the service. The church youth group, Orange Crush, meets on Sunday night at 6:30 p.m.

Open House Sunday At Quincy Masonic Temple

A public open house at Quincy Masonic Temple, 1170 Hancock St., Quincy, will be held Sunday, Oct. 2, from 1 to 4 p.m. by the Quincy Masonic Temple Association. Representatives will be present from all the organizations meeting there, and a full schedule has been planned. There will be a complimentary buffet, worldwide entertainment, historic tours and a Lighting Show at 2 and 3 p.m.

All are welcome.

Lector Seminar At Our Lady Of Good Counsel

A Lector Seminar will be held Sunday, Oct. 16 from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church with Mrs. Frances LaShoto as leader.

Mrs. LaShoto, a professor of communications at Emerson College, is affiliated with St. John's Seminary.

Brighton, and collaborates with the Anchor People of TV Channels 4, 5 and 7.

Parishes in the South Shore area have been notified, and both new and experienced lectors are welcome to attend this seminar. Registration is $3, and pre-registration is not necessary.

Camp Massasoit's Quincy Rotary Lodge Rededication Sunday

After a year-long effort primarily by volunteer Scouters and skilled tradesmen, and a major commitment of resources, the Quincy Rotary Lodge at Camp Massasoit, the Boy Scout camp in Plymouth, will be rededicated at ceremonies at the camp on Sunday beginning at 2 p.m.

Funding for the original building, the former camp office, was provided by the Quincy Rotary Club in the late 1950's and subsequent repairs and modifications to the building to make it suitable for use by Scout troops was also provided in part by the Quincy Rotary Club in recent years.

Thanks to an $8,000 donation from local AMVET posts and the state and national organizations, the lodge is now equipped to provide access and facilities for the handicapped. In addition the Quincy Rotary Club contributed $1200 to replace the bunks in the cabin. Contributions from the King Family Fund and proceeds from the annual Good Scout Party were also used to purchase the necessary materials and furnishings to complete the renovation project.

The lodge will accommodate 24 scouts and their leaders. It has two handicapped bathrooms and a kitchen facility for meal preparation by units using the facility. The year-round facility will make it possible for handicapped groups to take advantage of the program facilities at the camp now used by approximately 3500 scouts and leaders annually.

Representing the Quincy Rotary Club at the dedication ceremonies will be Quincy Rotary President Robert Guarnieri along with officers and members of the Quincy Rotary Club.

Representing the AMVETS will be state commander John Lobin as well as officers and members from Amvet posts around the state. Also participating in the program will be scout executive Erik Nystrom of the Greater Boston Council, BSA and Glen Buscher, president of the Massasoit Campers Association. Serving as master of ceremonies will be Harold S. Crowley Jr., chairman of the Massasoit Development Committee.

Camp Massasoit, now marking its 61st year as a Boy Scout camp, was owned and operated by the Quincy Council, BSA for 40 years as their summer camp before the council was merged with the Greater Boston Council in 1965.

Scouts, scouters and former scouts and scouters who have made Camp Massasoit their home away from home from 1927 to the present are invited to visit the camp and participate in the rededication ceremonies.

Morrissey Urges Keverian To Return House To Session

Rep. Michael Morrissey (D-Quincy) has urged House Speaker George Keverian to return the House back into legislative session.

"With the primary now behind us, I see no reason for the House to continue with its summer recess," Morrissey said. "The House had recessed in late July to return in late September to work on many pending matters including the Governor's vetoes," he said.

The Senate returned to work recently and began work on Auto Insurance Reform legislation that has already passed through the House. Because the legislation requires further review by the House, Morrissey said he is hopeful the House will prepare to address the material as soon as it is available.

"It is important that the House return to work on auto insurance after the Senate acts on the matter, to resolve the difference between the branches and to make insurance reform a reality," Morrissey said.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Are you a friend? It does not take a special gift. It takes a special grace - the grace of kindness.

A good talk with a close friend can solve problems, or at least put them in perspective before they become overpowering. One of the problems we see in our hectic, moving about society is a scarcity of true friends...

Let's think about friendship... A friend is one who is kind, patient and loving enough to listen to what bothers us. A friend is one who does not look down upon us because we feel broken, discouraged or mixed up. A friend listens and hears the need we ourselves have difficulty understanding. A friend is one who, simply by letting us share - helps us hear our own words so that we gain a better perspective.

How often have we said to a friend who listened, "You have been such a real help. Thanks a lot." After reflecting, we remind ourselves that our friend has just listened, not only with the ears, but with the heart, and hardly said a word. Yet we were refreshed and encouraged...

Yes, friendship need not be a scarcity to those who truly want to be friendly.

Planning ahead can offer peace of mind...

It is only human to put things off. But proper planning for the event of one's death can spare a family the traumatic decisions and financial burdens. By pre-arranging the desires and wishes of one's funeral, burial and expenses can be specified to eliminate confusion, differences of opinion and difficult decisions on the part of family members. To ease this burden, we are making available to you FRII, a booklet with all necessary information and forms to assist and guide you. Why not visit us or write for your FRII Pre-arrangement Booklet?

Booklet covers the following subjects:

- Funeral and Interment Preferences
- Vital Statistics and Data
- Survivors Information, Social Security, Insurance, Bank Accounts, Real Estate, Automobile, Safety Deposit Box, Savings Bonds, Stocks and Bonds, Retirement Accounts and Veterans Benefits.
- Pre-Arrangement Information
- Three duplicate copies of a Funeral and Interment Pre-Arrangement Agreement.

Obituaries

Joseph Sapiez, 74 Radio Operator, Barber

A funeral Mass for Joseph Sapiez, 74, of Quincy, ham radio operator and former barber, was celebrated Sept. 23 at St. John's Church, Quincy.

Mr. Sapiez died Sept. 21 at University Hospital in Boston after a long illness.

He had served as a radio operator both in the Coast Guard and in the Navy during World War II. Part of his tour of duty was in the Pacific.

An amateur radio operator before going into the service, he continued his interest after being discharged. He operated a ham radio station from his home and installed a radio in his car.

He used the radio name W1 King Sugar Apple to fit his call sign, W1KSA.

Mr. Sapiez owned and operated Joe's Barbershop in Dorchester for 43 years, retiring in 1972.

He also operated a radio and television repair business across the street from his barbershop.

An avid hunter, he was a member of the National Rifle Association. He also enjoyed fishing.

Born in Boston, he lived in Dorchester before moving to Quincy 18 years ago.

He is survived by his wife, Frances (Loachona) Sapiez; three daughters, Domenica L. Hannaway of Westport, Conn., Josephine Vidal of Hull and Maryann Fernandez of Quincy; three brothers, Americo Sapiez of Everett, Frank Sapiez of Brockton and Theodore Sapiez of Rockland; a sister, Carmela Loachona of Las Vegas; eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Burial was in Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

Funeral arrangements were by the Wickens and Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St., Quincy.

Lillian Ruth L. Steele, 95

A graveside service for Lillian Ruth L. (Tetley) Steele, 95, of North Quincy, a native of Maynard, was held Sept. 23 at the Glenwood Cemetery in Maynard.

The service was conducted by her niece's husband, the Rev. Thomas Serpiss of the Countryside Bible Chapel, Lexington.

Mrs. Steele died Sept. 20 at the Colonial Nursing Home, Weymouth.

She lived in North Quincy

50 years.

Wife of the late Guy Eric Steele, she is survived by two nephews, Donald E. Tetley of Rhode Island and Norman Tetley of Maine; two nieces, Lillian I. Serpiss of Framingham and Barbara Gallerani of Medfield; and several grandchildren and grandnephews.

Funeral arrangements were by the Deware Funeral Home, 576 Hancock St., Wollaston.

Bellotti Featured Speaker At Democratic Committee Brunch Sunday

Former Atty. Gen. Francis X. Bellotti of Quincy will be the featured guest speaker at a brunch sponsored by the Quincy Democratic City Committee Sunday, Oct. 2 at 10 a.m. at the Sons of Italy Hall, 120 Quarry St., Quincy.

Many statewide elected officials will also be in attendance. Among those who will be present are: Congressman Brian Donnelly, Attorney General James Shannon and Secretary of State Michael Connolly.

According to Daniel Raymond, chairman of the Quincy Democratic City Committee, the purpose of the event is to unite Democrats in this pivotal election year.

"Holding an event in October seems to be the natural thing to do. We just had an exciting primary and now everyone's eyes are focused on the Presidential election," Raymond said.

"We are very fortunate to have a hometown politician of Frank Bellotti's stature as our featured speaker," he said. "The other elected officials are also great attractions."

"Hopefully, people will look at the brunch in both social and political terms," Raymond added.

Interested citizens may attend by purchasing tickets from one of the following people. Tickets will not be sold at the door.

Ward 1, Leo Kelly, 143 Spring St., 773-1534; Ward 2, Ron Mariano, 37 Lancaster St., 773-7669; Ward 3, Larry Chretien, 51 North Center Ave., 472-1400; Ward 4, Bernice Mader, 108 Connell St., 773-6881; Ward 5, Stephen McGrath, 45 Oval Rd., 471-2199; and Ward 6, Michael Morrissey, 110 Lansdowne St., 328-0900.

WEEK OF: September 29,

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You have a way with words, making your point not only with clarity but with diplomacy. You are a lover of beauty, a romantic, an idealist. On the flip side you're highly influenced by others. New acquisitions are accentuated through the year. Partnership activities are also spotlighted.

AQUARIUS — January 21 - February 19

Domestic or other chores pile up, and it may be time to recruit some assistance. Be sure to follow up on recent communications. Partner's expectations are more realistic.

PISCES — February 20 - March 20

Romantic intuition could pay off this week. Minor family disagreements should be resolved before they assume unrealistic proportions. Avoid extremes, especially in the area of diet.

ARIES — March 21 - April 20

Week's spotlight is on your leadership qualities, both at home and on the job. Review situations that require shared commitments. Partner is becoming more cooperative.

TAURUS — April 21 - May 22

Partner is suddenly more cooperative - and it's wise to make the most of the situation. Popularity level is high and you may receive an invitation to an exclusive gathering.

GEMINI — May 23 - June 21

Timing is all important this week, if you're ready to make an announcement, await the opportune moment. Take a family health survey and consider a sensible fitness plan.

CANCER — June 22 - July 22

Cooperative ventures pay off more than solo efforts. Week is favorable for catching up on correspondence and completing a potpourri of tasks. Romantic intuition appears sharp.

LEO — July 23 - August 22

Friends seem unusually argumentative while colleagues are surprisingly easy to please. You can help a relative out of a rut. Transportation/communications problems ease up.

VIRGO — August 23 - September 22

You may find yourself running into people at unlikely places and being assigned projects at inconvenient times. Good work to collect debts or ask for a favor.

LIBRA — September 23 - October 22

Week sees you spending time with friends who need encouragement. Several projects are in the planning stage. This is a key time for setting the tone that you're after.

SCORPIO — October 23 - November 21

A favorable period for embarking on a community endeavor. Politics figure in the picture; you may be backing a candidate or running for an elected position.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22 - December 22

Week may find you laying the groundwork for a task of major proportions. Friend is becoming less demanding, and relatives provide you with a much appreciated vote of confidence.

CAPRICORN — December 23 - January 20

If involved in a complex task, it's best to keep in touch with all involved. Week sees you enjoying renewed self confidence and making resolutions with determination.

North Quincy 20, Newton North 14

Raiders Host Brookline, Eye Third Win

By TOM SULLIVAN
Newton North's Joe DeNucci, son of the state auditor, was a one-man gang last Friday night and threatened to pull the Tigers from certain defeat to a tie or win over North Quincy.

However, the Raiders, with the defense digging in when it had to, halted a late threat and pulled out a 20-14 victory, their second in a row and first Suburban League win.

North Quincy, which survived 218 yards rushing and touchdown runs of 77 and 61 yards by DeNucci, will host Brookline Friday night at 7 at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Brookline, which lost to North, 36-12, last season, is 1-1 with a 27-20 win over Medford and a 28-14 loss to Welleley.

"Boy, I sweat through this one," said North coach Ken McPhee. "I even when we had a 20-7 lead I was worrying, and as it turned out, I had every reason to. DeNucci is one of the finest runners we have faced in some time but, except for his long runs, we contained them pretty well. Give our defensive coach, Mark Mulvaney, a lot of credit, he has done a fine job with them."

McPhee admitted North would have serious trouble winning without quarterback Billy MacDougall, who is also an outstanding defensive player and runs back punts and kickoffs.

MacDougall, North's best pass receiver the past two years and playing his first season at quarterback, left the game injured in the fourth quarter (not serious) but McPhee's fears didn't materialize thanks to a super job by backup quarterback Dave Jennings.

North Quincy Scoring Season

|               | TD | PAT | Pts |
|---------------|----|-----|-----|
| Craig         | 2  | 2   | 14  |
| B. MacDougall | 2  | 0   | 12  |

Hutchings was a standout defensively throughout the game and took over at quarterback when MacDougall was injured.

Newton had pulled to win in six on DeNucci's 61-yard run and was driving with five minutes left. Hutchings deflected a deep pass meant for Rich Leger, which would have gone for a long gainer and on the next play made an open-field touchdown-saving tackle on DeNucci. Then, with less than 1:30 to play and fourth-and 21 from Quincy's 30, Hutchings hit DeNucci hard, forcing a fumble and the ball popped into Dan Hobin's hands and Newton's last hopes were foiled. Jeff Sullivan's 16-yard run gave North a first down on its 39 and the Raiders ran out the clock.

Mulvaney was very pleased with the defense. "Sullivan was outstanding in the middle and Dave Joyce, Alex Malasi, Mike Ainsley, Ryan Craig, Hutchings, Sean McDonough, Sean Glennon and our secondary of Kevin and Billy MacDougall, Hutchings, Hobin and Tim Baker were outstanding as we completely shut down their passing game."

"Hutchings made the clutch plays and McDonough did a great job, stopping a play with which their junior varsity defeated us three years ago. We stopped their inside play well, but it is impossible to catch DeNucci when he breaks loose. I don't think we will face another runner like that again this year."

Incidentally, in Newton's opening day loss to Needham, DeNucci scored both touchdowns on runs of 80 and 70 yards.

"The offensive line did a great job," said McPhee. "The kids really wanted this one you have to name them all. Malasi, Joyce, Glennon, Joyce, Brian Mahoney, Brian Healy, Mike Jacobacci, Sullivan and Kevin MacDougall, who was injured but turned in a gutsy performance."

"Mike Ainsley had an outstanding two-way game."

Newton had 242 yards rushing, 218 by DeNucci, while North had 205, including 149 by Craig, who scored two of North's touchdowns.

MacDougall was 8 for 15 passing for 75 yards, including four completions to brother Kevin. He had two interceptions. Newton's David Quinn completed only one of nine passes for six yards and had one intercepted. North Quincy had 13 first downs to seven for Newton.

North received to open the game, picked up a first down but was stopped on Newton's 42. Kevin MacDougall punted and on the second play, DeNucci broke off his 77-yard touchdown run. Jason DeGeorge kicked the extra point.

After John Freitas picked off a MacDougall pass, the Tigers tried a quick kick and Bill MacDougall returned it

• Youth Football Manets Roll By Apaches, Panthers, Sailors, 0-0

By STEVE KAVANAGH

The Houghs Neck Manets established themselves as the team to beat in the Quincy Youth Football League this year with a convincing, 20-8, victory over the North Quincy Apaches.

The Manets built a three-touchdown lead before the Apaches' Willy O'Donnell scored in the fourth quarter.

In other action, the Quincy Point Panthers and Squantum Sailors battled to a 0-0 standoff in a rematch of last year's championship game.

The Sailors were paced by Matt Walsh, Tom Nutley and Bill Degan on defense. Offensively, Nutley and Phil

Pacino played well for Squantum. Walsh blocked a punt in the first half. Greg Burke and Dan McCarthy also played well.

Marc Lomanno, Noel DiBona and David Jolley played solid two-way games for the Panthers. DiBona recovered a fumble and Jolley made an interception. Steve Carterman, Andy Smith, Matt Dwyer, Jason Simon, and Walter Spadocchia also had good games.

The Manets will play the Elks in a junior varsity contest Sunday at 1 p.m. and the Panthers and Apaches tangle at 2:30 p.m. in a varsity tussle. Both games will be played at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The junior varsity teams play Saturday at 10 a.m. at Merrymount Field.

North Freshmen Edge Newton North 6-0

By PETE ZOIA

The North Quincy freshman football team defeated Newton North, 6-0, for its second win in a row under new coach Kevin Kelly.

Newton held the young Raiders in check except for a 33-yard run by Chris Murray for the game's only score.

The score came in the second quarter and the teams battled through a scoreless second half with both having good scoring chances but coming up with key defensive plays.

Kelly wasn't entirely pleased with the results and said, "We gained 288 yards on the ground and that should have produced at least another touchdown."

Desmond Bellot rushed for 148 yards, Murray had 56, Mark Cocuzo 72 and Chris Peck added 12.

Sergi Wassiliew completed two excellent passes to Brendon O'Connell.

Kelly had good words for Mike Christopherson and Chris McCallum in the offensive line and Mark Kelleher, Dave Raftery, Pack and Cocuzo on defense.

North, Quincy Girls In Volleyball Showdown

The North Quincy-Quincy girls' volleyball match tonight (Thursday) at North Quincy at 7 p.m. should be a classic matchup and the North gym should be filled for the meeting of undefeated teams.

Both teams were 5-0 going into yesterday's matches (North vs. Boston Latin and Quincy vs. Cambridge Rindge and Latin) and both were favored to go 6-0. Going into yesterday's matches neither team had lost a game.

North defeated Newton North, 2-0 (15-7, 15-10) on Monday, while Quincy defeated Brookline, 2-0.

Previously the Raiderettes had defeated Brockton, 2-0 (15-9, 15-2).

Returning starters from last year's undefeated state champions Deirdre Murphy, Debbie Panaro and Holly Rendle have continued their outstanding all-around play. Murphy has been strong at the net as well as setting from the back row. Panaro, the main setter, has been the offensive leader, while Rendle has been the defensive leader and has been hitting well from the outside.

The other three starters are veterans Karin Reister, who has become a force as a middle hitter, Julie Detwiler, whose skills at setting, passing and hitting have helped both the front and back court, and Robin Guilfoyle, who has served and passed well as North has extended its win streak to 27 matches.

Off the bench coach Jim Rendle has used experienced players Janelle Neilson and Sharon Stark and newcomers Kara Sullivan, a sophomore, and freshman Brenda Hayduk.

Meanwhile, Tom

Henderson's Quincy girls, who have won three state championships in the past five years, have rolled merrily along.

Previous to their win over Brookline Monday, the first ladies had defeated Weymouth South, 2-0 (15-7, 15-2).

Amy Guidice's serving in the first game got Quincy rolling, while she and Nancy Laitinen dominated the net and Randi Gaura and Christine Barrett played strong defense. Sophomore Melanie Sullivan also was a key contributor off the bench.

North Quincy will host Brookline Monday and play at Cambridge Rindge and Latin next Wednesday.

Quincy will play at Waltham Monday and will be home to Newton South next Wednesday.

Quincy Freshmen Rally To Defeat Waltham, 12-6

After trailing, 6-0, early in the game, the Quincy freshman football team, under new coach Earl Metzler, turned two quick scores into a 12-6 victory over Waltham.

Quarterback Gary Collins scored the first Quincy touchdown from two yards out to end a 65-yard, 12-play drive. The drive included runs of 25 and 15 yards by Capt. Jason Anderson.

Collins also scored the second touchdown with a 35-yard run.

The offensive line did a fine job led by tackles Steve Distasio and John Fink, guards Keith Norris and Ed McCabe and center Paul Eleuteri. Fullback Peter Eleuteri and ends Jason Eleuteri and Mike Malvesti made some key blocks.

The big story of the second half was the defense, which bent a bit but never broke. Anderson and Collins turned in solid efforts as did Malvesti and Paul Eleuteri. Cornerbacks Greg Warren and Ali Sleiman along with safes Jason Eleuteri made some key tackles for losses. Bob Daggart, Kevin Keane and Bryan Bellew played strong up front.

The special teams were led by Mark Zaborowski, Pat Gallagher and David Cahill. Curtis Currie, Jeff Bertoni, Mike Lehtonen, Mark Reardon and John Green did fine jobs in reserve roles and on special teams.

The young Presidents will play at Weymouth South Friday.

Jara Wins 3 Titles In Quincy Tennis Tourney

The big winner in the 18th annual city of Quincy Tennis Tournament was Oscar Jara, who captured three titles including the Lionel "Shine" Buckley cup for winning the men's singles.

He also won the men's doubles and mixed doubles.

Action concluded in the two week tournament with champions crowned in nine events. The tournament is co-sponsored by the Quincy Recreation Department and the Granite Co-operative Bank.

On the women's side Lynn Maloney won two titles including the women singles and mixed doubles. Tournament director John Franceschini saw nine different persons earn spots on the permanent trophies for past champions, while eleven persons shared the honor of finalist in this year's tournament.

In championship play in the men's 35 and over singles Joe Ryan defeated a very tough John Durante 3-6, 6-3, 6-3. The men's 50 and over singles saw defending champion Dick Hutton defeat George Burke 4-6, 6-2, 6-1 in a match highlighted by long rallies.

The men's singles championship was a masterpiece.

Almost three hours of great shots and clutch points that had Oscar Jara defeating defending champion Tom Bossard 3-6, 6-2, 7-5. Both players displayed a tremendous variety of shots for the big crowd at the Vo-Tech courts. Jara teamed up with David Bouley to defeat Tom Savio and Steve Maloney 7-6, 7-6 for the men's doubles crown. All four players put on a clinic on net play throughout the match.

The women's singles title again went to Lynne Maloney, who used a big serve and flawless ground strokes to defeat Terry Sullivan 6-1, 6-1. The sister combination of Sue and Jackie Coleman took Louise Durante and Hildy Gillis three sets before they became champions 6-4, 3-6, 6-2.

The men's "B" singles had two newcomers to the tourney battle it out for three sets before Erik Silva defeated Peter Shovak 6-3, 1-6, 7-6. The boys 16 and under singles went two sets with Christian Ciavarro defeating Joe Bevilacqua 6-2, 6-1. The matches concluded with the William F. Ryan Cup which signifies the mixed doubles champion. In two action packed sets Lynne Maloney and Oscar Jara defeated Louise Durante and Gary Durante to take the title.

Franceschini, who is in the 12th year as tournament director, was assisted by Steve Durante in running this annual event.

Semi-final action not previously reported saw in men's singles Tom Bossard defeat Dave Stephenson 6-1, 6-4 and Oscar Jara defeat Tom Savio 4-6, 6-2, 6-1.

In the men's doubles Tom Savio and Steve Maloney defeated Dick Hutton and Burce 6-1, 6-4. In the men's 35 and over John Durante defeated Harold Fain 6-0, 6-0, and Joe Ryan defeated Leonard Ciavarro 6-1, 7-5. In the men's 50 and over Dick Hutton defeated Joe Shea 6-2, 6-2, and George Burke defeated Harold Fain 6-3, 6-4. In the women's singles Lynne Maloney defeated Terry Shea 6-1, 6-1.

In the women's doubles the team of Durante-Gillis defeated the Collins-Regan team 6-0, 6-1, and the Coleman-Coleman team defeated the Egan-Egan team 6-3, 6-1. In the mixed doubles team of Jara-Maloney defeated the Bossard-Dipietro team 7-6, 6-3. In the boys under 16 Christian Ciavarro defeated John Drohan 6-7, 6-3, 6-2, and Joe Bevilacqua defeated Steven Zambruno 6-2, 6-2. In the men's "B" singles Erik Silva defeated Bill Egan 6-1, 6-3, and Peter Shovak defeated Darin Murphy 6-1, 2-6, 7-6.

North Jayvees Sporting A Win And A Tie

The North Quincy junior varsity football team has a win and a tie after its first two games and coaches Peter Chrisom and Tom Carter are pleased with what they have seen.

The Raiders played to a scoreless tie with Milton in their opener with a fine defensive showing but a sputtering offense. A North touchdown was erased by a penalty.

Monday North defeated Newton North, 26-10, with a fine offensive effort this time. Four players scored for the Raiders.

Jim Bryan passed to Jim Raines for a 45-yard touchdown and Dave Kiley went 12 yards for another as North led, 12-0, at halftime.

The Raiders received to open the second half and drove 72 yards with Bryan scoring from the one. One of the game's most exciting plays followed on the conversion try. Bryan, fading back to his left to pass, threw the ball out to the flat with a Newton cornerback intercepting and returning it 100 yards for the two points.

This is a new rule in high school and college football this year whereby the defense can run back the pass try or run back a blocked kick for two points.

Freshman Desmond Bellot showed some fine running, picking up 28 yards to Newton's 37 only to have a fumble stop the drive.

It looked as if North was on its way again when Rich Brooks intercepted on Newton's 44. Bellot went all the way to the Newton one but Newton held.

Newton's quarterback, deep in his end zone, threw a screen pass to his receiver, who outran the entire North Quincy secondary for a 99-yard score, and Newton added the two points to make the score North Quincy 18, Newton 10.

North came back immediately following the kickoff when freshman Chris Murray raced 55 yards for the final score. Brooks rushed for the final two points.

The North Jayvees will face Brookline Monday at 3:30 at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Presidents Home To Weymouth S. Saturday

The Quincy football team, following an impressive opening-day victory over Cambridge Rindge and Latin, had a woeful first half last week at Waltham.

The Presidents rebounded in the second half, scored two fourth-quarter touchdowns and had a chance to win its second game in a row.

Rather than go for an almost-automatic tie, Coach Jack Raymer went for the win but a pass for the two-point conversion failed and Quincy bowed, 14-13.

Quincy will try to return to the win column Saturday night at Veterans Memorial Stadium when it hosts former Suburban League rival Weymouth South Quincy did not play Weymouth, now a member of the Old Colony League, last year. This year the wildcats are 0-2, losing to Dedham and Marshfield.

"We could have gone for the tie at Waltham, but there wasn't a player or coach who didn't want to try to win. We had momentum going and we had the pass."

Noble connected with Scott Campbell, but he was tackled just short of the goal line. Quincy had been called for an illegal formation, so the conversation wouldn't have been good even if Campbell had scored.

"We had an awful first half and had the ball for only seven plays as Waltham controlled the ball throughout," said Raymer. "We made some adjustments in picking up their blitzing linebackers and the offensive line blocked much better for Noble in the second half. Chris was under great pressure and was Quincy was minus 42 and didn't have a first down in the first half.

The defense dug in and completely bottled up the Waltham attack in the second half. Meanwhile, Quincy scored twice in the final quarter on two Noble touchdown passes.

Noble was 6 for 12 for 78 yards and both scores and Jim Dennett, who ran for 113 yards against Cambridge, added 48 yards in the second half. He also caught three passes, one for a score.

Defensively Tom Morrell, Dan Hanly, Scott Campbell, Tony Madden, Frank Ienello, Bob Austin, Brian Norris, Lodd Kimmell and Dave Nourse were outstanding.

Raymer had good words for the four and Eric Pineda kicked the extra point.

Following a 49-yard punt by Noble, Waltham drove 59 yards for its first score early in

Later in the quarter, after another excellent Noble punt, the Hawks drove 78 yards in 13 plays and Wudi Richards scored from the two and Pineda again kicked the extra point and Waltham led at halftime, 14-0.

Noble hit Caldwell with a 12-yard pass for Quincy's first touchdown in the final quarter. Norris kicked the point.

After cornerback Ennio Eleuteri knocked down a third-down pass, Quincy drove 49 yards on nine plays with Noble passing to Dennett for 11 yards.

to his 46.

MacDougall hit Baker for 13 yards, Keith Gott picked up 11 and Hutchings added six as the quarter ended.

Gott added three and Craig raced 20 yards for the touchdown. A pass for the two points was incomplete.

That's the way the half ended.

Newton received to open the second half and was forced to punt. North was penalized back to its 13 and on the next play Craig broke through the right side, cut left and went 55 yards to the Newton 32, setting up North's second touchdown.

Sullivan rushed for 15 yards, Craig added eight and then went nine for his second score to put North ahead, 12-7. He also rushed for the two point conversion.

Craig intercepted a pass and returned it to Newton's 23 to set up another North score. Bill MacDougall hit Kevin for 15 yards following a penalty against North and Craig made a first down on Newton's 13 as the third quarter ended.

The MacDougalls connected again and Billy MacDougall capped the drive by scoring from the one. Hutchings' kick for the extra point was no good.

Just 21 seconds later DeNucci scored on his 61-yard run and DeGeorge kicked the point to move Newton within six points.

After Quincy was stopped, DeNucci's drive brought the Tigers to a first down on North's 18.

However, a poor sportsman-like conduct penalty set

Newton back and thanks to Hutchings' jarring tackle and Sullivan's first-down run, the game was North Quincy's.

Hennessey Gets North Girls Off To Good Start

After a four-year absence, Geoff Hennessey has returned as North Quincy girls' cross-country coach and hopes to return the program to championship status.

The Raiderettes got off to a good start last week with a 22-33 victory over Brockton at Brockton's D.W. Field Park course.

The girls returned to action yesterday (Wednesday) against Brookline and will host Newton North next Tuesday over the Pageant Field course.

While at UMass Boston Hennessey served as women's assistant for track and cross-country. The Lady Beacons won four NCAA Division 3 titles and were runnersup twice. Now he hopes for the same success at his alma mater.

"We have an experienced squad and an unprecedented number of candidates," he said. "We got 25 to come out for the team and we now have a solid squad of 19."

Leading the team are senior co-captains Bridget Toland and Karen Cashman. Toland was a league all-star last year, while Cashman, injured for most of the 1987-88 season, has a solid background having been a state medalist in track.

Matching up with them are veteran juniors Sherrin Quintiliani and Joanne Moriarty. Quintiliani has scored well in state competition in the past, but has been plagued by injuries throughout her high school career.

Rounding out the varsity are sophomores Rachel Marshall, Amanda Young, Adrienne Mercer, an impressive newcomer, and freshman Lindsay McGovern, a standout over the years with the Quincy Track Club.

Other members include senior exchange students Inge Ruigrok of Holland and Malin Henriksson of Sweden and Julie Spillane, sophomores Kristen Reister, Judy Young, Carol Wirtz, Patty Hosmer and Kristen Moran, and freshmen Amy Wong, Caroline Wong and Phung Luu.

"I feel our team will be competitive in the tough Suburban League and I was pleased with our performance against Brockton," said Hennessey. "Obviously we have some talented people, but we've got to keep our athletes healthy. We wanted to get at least 20 people out for the team and we did that. They're starting middle school cross-country, a first, so the future is bright. League-wise Newton North and Waltham look to be tough and hopefully we'll be ready for them."

Quintiliani was the winner in the Brockton meet, covering the 3.1-mile course in 20:34, followed by Toland (21:35). Cashman was fourth, McGovern seventh and Moriarty eighth to complete North's scoring.

"We started out slowly, but gradually climbed into the upper positions and finished strong," Hennessey said. "Lindsay McGovern's finish clinched the victory for us. ONLY a freshman, she has been with me on the Quincy Track Club since she was 10. This is an enthusiastic bunch of kids and it will be interesting to see what we can do."

Proposed Traffic Plan Gets Mixed Reviews

By ROBERT BOSWORTH
A new traffic improvement plan for downtown Quincy unveiled Monday night at city hall received some praise but also some criticism from city councillors concerned with the plan's potential effect on area parking.

The plan, part of the Traffic 2000 study, was presented at a City Council Downtown Economic and Development Committee meeting. The plan, at 75 per cent completion, has an estimated cost of $1.5 million to implement it.

The presentation began with a summary of traffic improvements in the downtown area by Traffic Commissioner David Kinnecom, Kevin Shea of the city's Planning Board, and several traffic consultants.

The plan includes 660,000 linear feet from the area of Hancock St. from Granite St. to Adams St. as well as several major intersections, such as Temple, Coddington and Washington Sts.

The traffic flow would remain in the same direction, one way north to south along Hancock St. in the vicinity of city hall, First Parish Church and Quincy Center Plaza.

Several recommendations outlined by Traffic Consultant Don Nichols were:

- Improved traffic flow at five major intersections (Hancock at Granite, Temple and Washington; Adams at Dimmock and Washington, Temple and Coddington)
- Channeling streets
- Posting new traffic signs and signals
- Enlarging and extending existing traffic isles
- Landscaping with trees and shrubs is also part of the design.

According to Nichols, the plan would provide "tighter streets," safer pedestrian walkways, more direct crosswalks and a "more pleasant city atmosphere." There would still be the same number of traffic lanes but crossings would be made narrower.

Traffic signals would also be synchronized with traffic patterns in order to eliminate "merging and weaving" of vehicles. According to the consultants, this would create safer pedestrian crossing.

City councillors acknowledged the merits of the study but voiced constructive criticism in the area of parking.

As it now stands, the plan would eliminate between 20 and 25 parking spaces in the downtown area, including 12 to 15 spaces in front of city hall.

Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney said the existing plan, if implemented, would cause problems with people trying to do business at city hall.

"It's a beautiful plan but I can't see how we can implement it without coming up with an alternative (for lost parking spaces)," Cheney said.

Cheney also requested that the Traffic Commission study the feasibility of constructing a parking garage somewhere in the downtown area, such as over the MBTA tracks.

Regarding the parking situation, Kinnecom said lost spaces could be made up by the 1,000-space garage at President's Place, located on the site of the former Bargain Center. However, it was unsure whether the public will be allowed to park at the garage once it is completed.

To help alleviate the parking problem further, Kinnecom also suggested some spaces be designated for city hall business only.

Councillor Stephen McGrath, while reiterating Cheney's remarks, was also concerned with the upkeep of any new landscaping.

"I think the city and administration should understand that they will entail a cost of keeping (the landscape) clean," McGrath said. "If we are going to be enhancing the city, we better make sure we have the personnel to do it," he added.

As for parking, McGrath also suggested the council "look at the long term," including new parking facilities.

"Even if it's only 12 less spaces in front of city hall, that is still 12 you don't have," he said.

Ward 4 Councillor James Sheets raised another parking issue noting that Quincy Junior College commuter students also need sufficient parking in the area.

"I see nothing but more and more difficulty in the area of parking near city hall. We have an obligation to provide adequate parking," Sheets said.

As for the landscape upkeep, Sheets suggested installing an automated sprinkler system for the area, including McIntyre Mall.

"If we're going to go into this type of project, we should do it all and do it right," he said.

Councillor Timothy Cahill, chairman of the council's Downtown Economic and Development Committee, said he was impressed with the proposal.

"It's very important to solve some of the major safety problems in the area

Sunrise

This is the first issue of The Quincy Sun.

As you look over this complimentary copy you will notice we also call it, "Quincy's Own Weekly Newspaper." And, that's what it is going to be: a weekly community oriented newspaper with emphasis on Quincy news.

We are not even going to try to cover the rest of the state, the nation or the world. We will leave that to other newspapers, radio and television.

We believe most Quincy residents would like to know more about what is going on right here in their own city--and why.

Our goal is to provide this information throughout news columns, special features and photographs.

We intend each week to present comprehensive coverage of Quincy's government, schools, business, industries, civic, church, fraternal, social and veterans organizations.

We invite organizations and individuals to submit news items and assure you no item will be too small to print. If it is of interest to you, it is of interest to us.

That's why we call it "Quincy's Own Weekly Newspaper."

For awhile, we will sample the city with free copies of The Quincy Sun. Then we will seek paid subscriptions. In fact, subscription forms appear in this issue for those who want to become regular subscribers immediately and receive their copy of The Quincy Sun each week from now on.

We intend to improve and expand in the weeks ahead, adding new features and more news. Any suggestions you might have along this line will be greatly appreciated. This is your newspaper, too.

And, for the record, The Quincy Sun will be politically independent.

It will be fair and impartial to all--presenting both sides of issues of interest to the community.

It will cover the local news in depth and with integrity.

It will serve the community, its people, its business and industry, with respect for Quincy's proud past and dedication to a prosperous future.

With your help and participation The Quincy Sun will shine brightly on the community.

September 26, 1968

Mr. Henry V. Bosworth, Publisher
The Quincy Sun
7 Foster Street
Quincy, Massachusetts 01909

Dear Henry:

As Mayor of the City of Quincy, may I welcome to our community The Quincy Sun and wish it every success.

It is imperative in these modern times that all people in Quincy know and understand the problems of the community. If there is no better way than to have the issues of the day presented objectively, analytically, and fairly in a newspaper, presentation. It is no less important that the people know what transpires in the community, that the government be given an opportunity to present its news and views, and that business and community organizations get adequate news space so their fellow citizens can know what the day brings, activities and the direction in which Quincy is going.

I am pleased that The Sun has chosen Quincy for its location and I am sure that the people of Quincy will be well informed.

Very truly yours,

The Quincy Sun

Turning Twenty ...

By HENRY BOSWORTH

Publisher

The Quincy Sun

1968: It was, at the very least, an eventful year. Twelve months jam-packed with enough big news events to fill an ordinary decade. Or, two.

At times it seemed like there was just too much news because most of it wasn't good news.

Tragedy grabbed center stage and dug in. Martin Luther King, Jr. was assassinated on a Memphis motel balcony in April. And just two months later, Robert Kennedy, on his way to the Democratic Presidential nomination, was gunned down in a Los Angeles walk-through pantry.

The back-to-back tragedies stunned and saddened a nation that was already emotionally hurting from a war far away in the jungles of Vietnam -- a war that was being graphically brought into our living rooms nightly by television.

And as more and more young men came home in flag draped caskets -- too many to Quincy -- more and more people here and throughout the country wondered more and more why we were over there.

The war became too much for President Lyndon Johnson. Overwrought, he announced he would not seek re-election.

There were riots at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago where Hubert Humphrey was nominated. Richard Nixon defeated him in November.

The USS Pueblo was captured by North Korea in January and its crew finally set free in December.

Jacqueline Kennedy married Aristotle Onassis.

Rowan and Martin's laugh-in made its TV debut with Tiny Tim tiptoeing through the tulips. Richard Nixon appeared on the program later to utter one of its stock funny lines: "Sock it to me." (Who would ever have suspected back then that a place called Watergate would really sock it to him later.)

The year closed on an upswing note: Apollo 8 circled the moon at Christmas time.

Yes, it was an eventful year for the nation and the world.

Here in Quincy, James R. McIntyre was mayor. The MBTA Line was under construction.

The workforce at General Dynamics Shipyard was over 8,000 with 500 more jobs to be filled.

A Vietnam Memorial was unveiled in Mount Wollaston Cemetery with the names of 27 Quincy residents who had given their lives inscribed on it.

Average family income was $11,000. Crew cuts were in style. And you could still buy a nice home for under $25,000.

And we thought it was a good year to launch a community newspaper in Quincy.

On Sept. 26, 1968, the first issue of The Quincy Sun rolled off the press.

It rated 21 lines in the Patriot Ledger under a small headline: "Quincy Tabloid To Be Published."

The lead headline in that first issue of The Sun: "Major Delay Averted In Quincy MBTA Extension."

There was the first editorial entitled "Sunrise" and an official letter of welcome from Mayor McIntyre.

There were feature articles by Dr. Charles Dyer, Congressman James Burke, Fr. John McMahon of St. Mary's Church. And making its debut, a column called "Sunbeams."

And, fortunately for this new publication, there were full page ads from President Chevrolet, South Shore Buick and a centerfold (two pages) from South Shore Television.

The first issue was off the press and we got some pretty good reaction. But some of the so-called experts said we wouldn't last. They predicted "sunset" within six months.

There were times we thought they would be right. In those early days, we had no standing ads -- repeat ads. We didn't know from one issue to the next what ads would be in the paper.

But we had a solid commitment in South Shore Television and President Chevrolet. Remo and Pete DeNicola at South Shore TV and George Reardon at President Chevrolet strongly believed Quincy should have two newspapers. And they demonstrated that feeling with big ads in those early weeks that kept us alive and in the ballgame. Thanks largely to them, readers and news sources who also believed in a two-newspaper town, we survived.

They gave us news to print and were willing to pay a dime at the newsstand or invest $3.50 in advance for a year's subscription by mail.

We didn't exactly take the town by storm. It took a while for people to get used to a weekly newspaper and one that also came by mail.

In those first days, if a reporter called and said he or she was from The Quincy Sun, it wasn't unusual to get a response like: "Whose son, did you say?"

The Sun almost came into being five years earlier and as a Sunday weekly. It was to have been called The Quincy Sunday Star.

But, somehow, it just didn't seem to be the right time. So the idea was put on the back burner for five years.

And, just before September, 1968 when the timing seemed to be right and our plans were underway, a Braintree weekly came out called The Star.

So, our planned Quincy Star became The Quincy Sun instead with a Thursday -- instead of a Sunday -- publication day.

Twenty years. Two decades. A lot has happened since.

The Sun in February, 1982 launched its news television channel (then Ch. 8, now Ch. 26) on Quincy Cable Systems' new Continental Cablevision.

The Sun was the first newspaper in the South Shore and one of the first in the state and in New England to provide news via cable television. The service was expanded from text to video camera coverage of Quincy events and special features.

The Sun has won its share of awards for editorials, features and photography down through the years. And in 1979 won the National Newspaper Foundation's Blue Ribbon Award for being "an outstanding community newspaper."

That's what we started out to try to be: a good community newspaper.

We've been blessed with faithful readers, advertisers and newscarriers and some darn good employees.

The Sun started in a second floor corner office in the old Quincy Conservatory Building on Foster St. Next stop was a second floor office in the Kincaid Building on Hancock St. which has since burned down. In 1975 we moved to our present street floor location in the old Quincy Savings Bank building at 1372 Hancock St. in the heart of Quincy Sq.

In the 20 years we have seen old landmarks come down and new ones go up. Long-time political figures like Amelio Della Chiesa, James McIntyre, Thomas Burgin, Dave McIntosh, Charles Hedges left us. New ones have come along to replace them or try to.

We've seen and recorded Quincy Center's economic ups and downs and are happy to see it now on a definite upswing.

We have watched our first young newscarriers grow up, go off to college and to war, get married and have children of their own. We've recorded many of these milestones in the pages of The Quincy Sun.

It makes us feel a little older and wonder where those 20 years went in such a hurry.

If we had to pick a favorite edition of The Sun other than the very first one, it would be the Feb. 9, 1978 issue. That was the week of the Blizzard of '78.

And though the Quincy-South Shore area was paralyzed by 27 inches of snow, we got the paper out Friday -- just one day late.

It's been an interesting two decades.

After 20 years we feel we still have a lot of good friends out there like you. And because of them and you -- we are still here as Quincy's community newspaper.

And we're proud to carry the name Quincy in our banner. The Quincy Sun.

Thanks for making it all possible.

The Coming Of The T

- Construction of the MBTA Red Line to North Quincy went ahead after 22 homes were saved from demolition when the extension was moved 350 feet.
- City Council President J. Vincent Smyth proposed a 10-member youth council to give kids a louder voice in community politics after he cited breakdown in law and order and increased use of drugs.
- The Boston Fire Department honored "The Granite," a 123-year-old hand drawn fire tub-Quincy's first fire fighting apparatus-during Fire Prevention Week.
- The Hong Kong Flu was expected to hit hard. Vaccinations were the order of the day.
- Approximately 1475 Vietnam veterans applied in Quincy for state bonuses totaling $200 to $300 apiece.
- The USS Whale, the first nuclear submarine built in Massachusetts, was commissioned at the General Dynamics Shipyard

- Quincy Police Chief Frances Finn recommended a $2,800 closed circuit TV system to film on-the-spot accurate recordings in the event of a youth riot.
- The workforce at General Dynamics, as of Oct. 24, was 8,336 with 500 jobs left to fill.
- Jordan Marsh announced plans for its distribution center-the largest in America-in Quincy. Completion was slated for the 1970s.

- Quincy's Vietnam memorial was unveiled in Mount Wollaston Cemetery honoring Quincy residents who had given their lives. The city's death toll, which stood at 27, included: Brian Ahern, Richard Archer, Francis Builaet, James Casale, Ralph Caspole, James Cavicchi, Thomas Chiminello, Basil Ciriello, John Coughlin, Richard Davis Jr., Robert Fay, John Granahan, Paul Grasso, Lawrence Grenhan, William Hinchey, James Jenks, Stanley McCousland, J. David Pitts, Richard D. Slack, Alfred Schofield, James Stark, George Underwood, Richard Vasconcellos, James Walsh, and Ralph J. Willard.
- Mayor James McIntyre proposed legislation giving law enforcement officers the authority to make on the spot arrests for suspected fake prescriptions and illegal possession of harmful drugs in an effort to crack down on Quincy's drug problem.
- In an effort to allow General Dynamics to bid on contracts for super-size ships, Mayor McIntyre directed the Department of Public Works to widen the span of the Fore River Bridge 300 feet.
- Quincy was linked to the National Warning System, or "hot line," to give the city a two-minute warning in case of a nuclear attack or disaster.

McIntyre Pledges Revaluation Fight

- In his mid-term address, Mayor James McIntyre promised to fight against citywide property reassessment-revaluation-which he said could have a negative impact on the "small homeowner."
- 1000 Southern Artery was fast on its way to becoming the largest elderly housing facility in the country when contracts were signed for a 226-unit addition.
- The city's tax rate threatened to rise to $20-$30 from $98.90 if the $4 million hike in municipal budget requests were approved.
- Quincy experienced its most crippling storms in decades when 71.5 inches of snow were dumped during several northeasters. Some 15,000 homes in the Quincy-Weymouth area lost power. Mayor McIntyre sought federal aid to allow Quincy and other communities to use Army equipment to battle the storms.
- Clifford MacDonald, a North Quincy High School student, became the first Quincy Youth Council Mayor.
- City Hall was draped in black and a memorial service was held at First Parish Church to mourn the passing of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

- The City Council approved a record $34,594,682 budget. Taxpayers faced a $112-$115 tax rate.
- Ruth Gordon won the Academy Award for best supporting actress for her roll in "Rosemary's Baby." Upon receiving the award, the 72-year-old Quincy-born actress said, "This is very reassuring."
- Quincy Police picked City Hall following a breakdown on salary and seniority issues.
- Representing one of the largest single changes in personnel in two prospective branches, 21 men were appointed to the Police and Fire Departments. The appointments made a police narcotics division possible.
- At a packed two-hour City Council meeting, the issue of a Mechanic St. parking lot was debated with proponents arguing the lot was an economic necessity and opponents saying storeowners should provide

New North Quincy Station Site

Major Delay Averted In Quincy MBTA Extension

DIMMOCK ST. BRIDGE nears completion for MBTA rapid transit extension to Quincy. This is a view of progress looking north. Adams St., Beale St. bridges and Granite St. overpass have yet to be constructed. ## City Council Will Discuss Incinerator Plan Saturday

The City Council's special committee on dumping and refuse problems will meet Saturday at 10 a.m. to discuss a proposal for an estimated $2 million incinerator.

We can't fool around with this any longer.

The full council membership has requested to sit with McDonald and regular committee members, Councilmen Albert B. Barilano, Edward Graham, Arthur John and John F. Knight, at the series of upcoming meetings to help find the right answer to the problem as soon as possible.

Councilor McDonald is also inviting interested residents to attend the committee meetings at the council chamber to hear the various proposals.

At Saturday's meeting, John Forrest, president of North American Incinerator Corp. of Boston will outline his firm's proposals for either a municipally or privately operated incinerator.

McDonald said one of the firm's special incineration features is rocket-type grates for complete combustion, leaving no unburned rubbish or garbage.

He said his committee, Mayor James R. McIntyre and key department heads have been invited to inspect the North American built municipal incinerator at Greenwich, Conn. He expects the Quincy delegation to make the trip within a week.

McDonald said of particular interest to the Quincy group will be a new section added to the 30-year-old incinerator six years ago.

Its furnace, he said, burns more than 300 tons of refuse a day at a cost of $5.75 per ton. Primary combustion is at 1,850 degrees with the rubbish itself the only fuel. "There are more technological advances developed by North American since then which may be incorporated in an incinerator built today," McDonald said.

He believes Quincy would require dual 350-ton capacity burners to handle up to 100 tons of refuse a day. He estimated the

• There's all this-and a lot more-on the inside.

A threatened potential year and a half delay in the MBTA extension to Quincy has been averted and 22 North Quincy homes spared from demolition.

Mayor James R. McIntyre disclosed last night that the planned North Quincy transit station will be relocated 350 feet, preventing an ominous "long term" construction snag and taking of the homes.

But despite the development the Mayor does not expect trains to be running to Quincy until early 1970, mainly because of a construction slowdown caused by the iron works strike. MBTA General Manager Leo Cusack had predicted the Quincy line would be in operation by Christmas 1969.

The North Quincy station the Mayor said will be located 150 feet south of the new West Squantum St. bridge.

Original plans were to put the station immediately under the bridge with an extending 500 feet north and south.

The locations was selected as a result of a number of hearings in 1965 and 1966.

But the new site has been designated with agreement by city officials, North Quincy merchants and the MBTA, Mayor McIntyre said.

"MBTA planners and engineers thought the original site was the best location at the time," he said. "But since they have run into difficulty because of the Newport Ave. extension."

It is a space difficulty-trying to get the Newport Ave. extension, the station and the West Squantum St. bridge and the Newport Ave. ramps to West Squantum St. all under one bridge.

The Mayor had innumerable meetings with MBTA officials to hold them to their original commitments to place the station under the West Squantum St. bridge.

But, "said he, "when we saw the preliminary plans for the station under the bridge would require the taking of 22 homes in

Peak Enrollment At Jr. College

Quincy Junior College has reached another milestone in its 10-year history with a fall total record enrollment of 1,087 students.

The figure, announced by President Kenneth F. White, is 122 higher than last year's.

The growth the school has undergone in just a decade is shown by comparison of this figure with the first enrollment in September, 1958. Total students that opening year, 35.

Of the 1,087 students this year, 711 are in the full-time Day Division-550 freshmen and 182 sophomores.

The part-time Evening Division has 976 students including:

- Evening College 464
- Quincy City Hospital student nurses 51
- Quincy Community Educational Services, 426
- General Dynamics personnel, 15.

The 711 full-time students is an increase of 70 over last year's 640.

The biggest gain in the 436 students enrolled in the Evening Community Educational Services program for adults. This nearly triple the 160 taking these courses last year.

The overall gain in total enrollment would have been considerably higher than 122 if it had not been for a drop in those taking courses at General Dynamics. There were 170 at General Dynamics last year compared to 25 this fall.

The college, keeping pace with its growth, now has three Deans assisting White. They are Hugo F. Sabala of Quincy, Dean of Administration, Joseph J. Fialbr, of Squantum, Dean of Students, and Richard J. Mula of Braintree, new Dean of Evening Community Educational Services.

The college offers more than 60 courses in liberal arts, business administration, vocational and continuing education.

Between 90 and 95 per cent of Quincy Junior College graduates go on to a junior college.

THE SECOND OFFICE of The Quincy Sun was located at 1601 Hancock St., above Kincaid Furniture. The Sun was there from 1969 to February, 1975 when it moved to its present location at 1372 Hancock St.

their own parking areas. The parking lot proposal fell through.

- As of May 15, General Dynamics still had 500 jobs to fill with the payroll at $70,070.435.

- Ground was broken for a $5 to $6 million electronic research and development laboratory complex in the Echo Lake area.

- The Houghs Neck Congregational Church, erected in 1894, turned 75 years old.

- A planned computer center office building—the beginnings of State Street South—was the first step of a $200 million development for the Montclair section of North Quincy.

- Denise Sheridan was crowned Miss Quincy Bay Race Week.

- The $15 million South Shore Community College faced delays for at least a year.

By year's end Mayor McIntyre introduced legislation to take 90 acres in the Echo Lake area by eminent domain for the school.

- McIntyre was re-elected to his third and last term as mayor.

- Court action was threatened by the mayor against the Metropolitan District Commission unless something was done to alleviate morning traffic jams at Neponset Bridge.

- A Christmas fund was started for Mrs. Michael J. Walsh and her sons after a fire left them homeless.

- Quincy resident Raymond Crombie, an Army veteran of Vietnam, stayed in South Vietnam for his fourth Christmas to play Santa Claus at six orphanages.

- City organizations, including the Elks, Salvation Army, and Koch Club, provided Christmas baskets for 125 needy families.

THE HIGHLIGHT OF Veterans Day in 1968 was the dedication of the Vietnam War Memorial with 27 names of Quincy men inscribed. Principal figures at the Mount

Shipyard Seeks 2,000 Workers

- Mayor James McIntyre, predicting another substantial tax hike, said he'd reject general pay increase requests for city employees and would cut department budgets to the bone.

- The Quincy Police Department planned several innovative law enforcement programs such as closed circuit TV, computerized traffic signal systems, and a training program to help police officers recognize family crises and cope with them.

- Nearly 2,000 more tradesmen were sought by General Dynamics, making this year the busiest year in Quincy shipbuilding.

- Mayor McIntyre slashed $997,475.27 from the budget during an 18 hour marathon budget session, thereby saving $5 on the 1970 tax hike.

- Broad Meadows was the latest site sought for the proposed South Shore Community College.

- The rezoning of Quincy met with favor in Houghs Neck and opposition in West Quincy, with 400 dissenters signing a petition.

- Adoption of zoning proposals and the new MBTA extension led some Harvard Business School students to refer to Quincy as the "boom town" of the 870s.

- Dutch Elm disease claimed over 200 trees.

- Creation of a concentrated air pollution control district for Quincy, Braintree, and Weymouth was sought.

- Fewer than 30 North Quincy High students enrolled at the new $5.5 million Quincy Voc-Tech School.

- A record high $39.9 million budget was passed. Property owners faced a possible $130-plus tax rate.

- A long-time Quincy Square landmark, the Waldorf Restaurant, was demolished to make way for the MBTA parking lot.

- A walk-in center, telephone hot line, and residential home for addicts to receive treatment were all part of "Survival Inc.," a Quincy program for youths with drug problems.

- The cost of municipal services were shown to go up $23.4 million in 10 years.

- Homeowners in flood-prone areas were able to obtain flood insurance at a rate of $4 to $5 per $1,000 coverage.

- Virginia Pritchett, 20, was crowned Miss Quincy Bay Race Week.

- A public opinion poll by Mayor McIntyre showed an overwhelming majority of local residents feel the city council should have the right to cut the School Department budget. School Committee vice chairman James F. McCormick denounced the poll.

- An estimated 20 homes needed to be cleared in order for the planned Lincoln Hancock School to be built.

- An anti-pollution petition signed by 500 Quincy Point residents was presented at the State House hearing opposing a fuel oil burning variance for Boston Edison's North Weymouth station.

- About 1,100 people signed a petition favoring a Houghs Neck Youth Center at 1095 Sea St.

- Montclair School Principal Leon Gould tried out the Japan-tested classroom television teaching method.

- The Quincy High School Presidents went to the Orange Bowl—as spectators, —after funds were raised for the undefeated football team. The Quincy Fathers Club spearheaded the drive.

- A "Write Hanoi" campaign was started to seek humane treatment of POWs from Quincy. Lt. Comdr. Richard Stratton and Capt. Alan Brudno

- Raymond Crombie of Quincy, who played Santa for six South Vietnam Orphanages, had a surprise Christmas visit at his home from six South Vietnamese students.

- Deaths included Richard Cardinal Cushing, 75; John DeMatteo, founder of DeMatteo Construction; and David S. McIntosh, former mayor, state representative, and senator, at 85.

The T Arrives At Last, Jobless Figure Doubles

- Creation of a coordinator position to gear private and public drug programs was one of Mayor James McIntyre's goals for the year after drug arrests soared 180 per cent by the end of 1970.

- Starting in February, 36 families were relocated so construction of the Lincoln Hancock School could begin.

- A pilot program at Snug Harbor School where more than half the students would receive hot lunches free and the others would pay 30 cents met with controversy. Proponents of the program called it a necessity. Opponents said the program was not an education program and that home rule was being taken from Quincy in favor of state law.

- Quincy's jobless figure nearly doubled. More than 1,000 people were being processed daily through the Quincy office of the Massachusetts Employment Security Claims.

Congratulations to Henry Bosworth and the reporters, photographers, production crew, salespersons and news boys and girls who have provided Quincy with a unique voice for the past twenty years.

Tip O'Neill has said that all politics is local. The Quincy Sun has also proven that what's local is newsworthy. Whether it's politics, social or religious events, individual achievements or patriotic celebrations, our home town is best covered by our home town paper.

When I started to work for The Sun while in law school, Henry Bosworth told me to "be fair and be accurate." This measure is the basis for the paper's twenty year success and also a good standard of conduct whether you're in the newspaper business or the state Senate.

For a job well done - congratulations.

Shipyard Lands $350 Million In Contracts

• In his inaugural address to perhaps the largest crowd to witness such an event, Mayor Walter Hannon pledged to appoint a coordinator to study the General Dynamics "situation and seek quality investment in Quincy." He said he would also appoint a coordinator of drug programs in the Mayor's office, and provide more housing for the elderly.

• General Dynamics employees breathed easier after a $350 million contract for six supertankers quieted rumors of a shutdown.

• A granite marker on the site of the original Howard Johnson's on Beale St. was dedicated. Howard D. Johnson was there for the ceremony.

• A record $52 million municipal budget, representing an increase of $4.8 million, was presented to the City Council. The budget would bring the tax rate to $164.20.

• More than 900 parking spaces were available in and around downtown Quincy during construction of the Ross Parking Garage.

• Council President Arthur Tobin appointed a committee to investigate Mayor Hannon's charges of drinking, absenteeism and theft in the Quincy Water Department. No basis for the charge was found.

• After some careful consideration, the School Committee unanimously recommended the WMEX property in the Montclair Marshes be considered for the new North Quincy High School.

• Two hundred and 50 10-cent parking meters were installed in Quincy Center. City Councillor Clifford H. Marshall, who was also chairman of the Council Ordinance Committee, said there was no ordinance to cover their installation and they may have been illegal.

• The Duke of Windsor died. The late duke gave up the throne of England to marry former Quincy resident Wallis Simpson. She had lived on Davis St. in North Quincy from 1917-18.

• The Quincy High School Marching Band was invited to join the Cotton Bowl festivities. The North Quincy High School Band was invited to march in the St. Patrick's Day Parade in Dublin. All that was needed was $55,000. Quincy made it by year's end.

• Bonfires and fireworks were banned for the Fourth of July due to ecology and economy reasons.

• A firebomb caused $50,000 damage to the former Hunting School in Houghs Neck. • A HUD (Housing and Urban Development) $885,284 grant cleared the way for completion of the Quincy Point Improvement Project. • Regina Smith, 18, of Milton, won the Miss Quincy Bay Race Week pageant.

• Mayor Hannon, the Shipbuilders Union, Chamber of Commerce and Quincy Center Business and Professional Association sought signatures for a petition to demand the Nixon administration find work for General Dynamics.

• A 10-day festival marked the opening of the Ross Area Garage.

• Irate taxpayers picketed city hall, paced the council chamber, and circulated petitions when the "equalization program" called for homes in the city to be valued between 32.5 and 35 per cent of their market value and showed an alleged 25 per cent increase in property tax bills.

$100 Million Revitalization Plan For Downtown

• In his midterm address, Mayor Walter Hannon pledged, among other things, to establish a program to reduce municipal spending; a commitment to acquisition of open space, a "Spring Offensive" to clean up the city, a Historic Zoning Study Committee, and a city-wide cultural development program.

• A $3,000 pledge from the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association made possible the beginning of a $45,000 downtown redevelopment study and master plan.

• Taxpayers were invited to voice their opinions about the budget during regular Saturday meetings and by submitting written statements to the City Council through their ward councillors.

• The North Quincy High School Band headed for Ireland for the St. Patrick's Day Parade in Dublin.

• An almost snowless winter saved the city more than $200,000.

• The South Quincy Civic Association circulated a petition opposing the proposed South Quincy MBIA station and parking facility. The goal was 20,000 signatures.

• Realigning Quincy into eight zones, which might have caused one of the largest numbers of people running for the City Council, fell by the wayside after several months of publicity and discussion. Realigning Quincy was one idea to make voting precincts more equal in compliance with a Superior Court order.

• Quincy residents started having their social security numbers engraved on valuables to cut down on thefts.

• A farewell party was held to say goodbye to the 88-year-old Hancock School and the 84-year-old Lincoln School. Both were to be replaced by the $5 million Lincoln Hancock School.

The name "Richard M. Nixon" was under consideration.

• Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter was made an honorary citizen of Quincy. The future president was in town to speak at the South Shore Council of Church's breakfast.

• The tax rate fell $1.10 instead of rising. The new rate was $154.30.

• Gov. Francis Sargent paid a congratulatory visit to Faxon House, Quincy's alcoholism detoxification center, in the wake of a new law which states alcoholism is not a crime but an illness and alcoholics should not be arrested.

• Patricia Kelley, 18, of Quincy, was crowned Miss Quincy Bay Race Week.

• A group of mothers demanded an interim bag lunch program be instituted until the hot lunch program, which was mandatory by law and which would be delayed, went into effect. School Committee Vice Chairman Paul Kelly called the demand ridiculous because it would mean hiring matrons on a temporary basis.

• South Quincy residents feared a proposed 168-unit apartment building at Brook Rd. and School St. would aggravate the severe flooding situation of the neighborhood.

• Communion was distributed by lay people for the first time in Quincy's Catholic churches.

In the wake of two Quincy shootings within a week, Dist. Atty. George G. Burke called for tougher gun control.

• The Hilgenhurst Report, which was applauded by political and business leaders, outlined a $100 million proposal to revitalize Quincy which included 300,000 square feet of shopping space, 4,000 new housing units, and gradual transformation of Hancock St. between Revere Rd. and

• Quincy got set to tighten its belt during the energy crisis after warnings that came from sources all the way up to the President. Warnines were spurred when one of New England Power Co.'s biggest generating stations--at Brayton Point--came within two hours of simply running out of fuel.

• Monsignor John J. Allston, former pastor of St. Joseph's Church, died.

• City Councillor James Sheets proposed fencing off

Swingles Quarry in the wake of two deaths. Robert Hanson and Caroline Echardt died climbing the ledge. Eventually the grout, a huge pile of discarded granite boulders, was removed and signs were posted.

LEAD POISONING TESTS were given several hundred youngsters in the summer of 1973 when an investigation disclosed considerable quantities of the lethal substance in paint at the Germantown housing project. This young fellow doesn't look too happy about having had a sample of blood taken for analysis. Volunteers from Boston University School of Medicine administered the tests.

Police Get Machine Guns

• Mayor Walter Hannon, beginning his second year of office, pledged in his inaugural address to attack the unemployment problem in Quincy. He also advocated the development of downtown Quincy and attempted to add to the tax base and employ local people with projects similar to Kemper Insurance and the State Street South Complex.

• In the biggest political turnover in Quincy's history, five new city councillors began their terms of office. The five: Ward 1 Councillor Leo J. Kelly, Ward 3 Councillor John J. Lydon Jr., Ward 4 Councillor James A. Sheets, Ward 5 Councillor Warren Powers and Ward 6 Councillor Dennis Harrington.

• Sen. Edward M. Kennedy predicted a big year for the General Dynamics Shipyard in a visit to The Quincy Sun in January. There would be an increase in shipbuilding contracts, he said.

• Residents rallied to five-year-old Tammy Stuart, who was mauled by dogs near the Snug Harbor Housing Projects. Thousands of dollars were raised for plastic surgery.

• In October, evidence against former Cemetery Supt. Anthony Famigletti by Special Investigator J. Blake Thaxter was presented before a Norfolk County grand jury. The investigation, stemming from alleged irregularities within the Cemetery Department, had been going on for over a year. Famigletti was forced to resign.

• A random telephone survey was conducted by The Quincy Sun concerning then President Richard M. Nixon in February: 31.4 per cent of those surveyed favored his resignation; another 31.4 per cent favored him completing the term; 25.7 per cent advocated impeachment and 11.4 per cent were undecided.

Six months later, following Nixon's resignation, another Sun survey found 60.6 per cent in favor of prosecution.

• Actor-comedian Billy DeWolfe, Quincy's "ambassador of good will," died March 5. He was 67.

• Edward (Red) Lewis, former city manager and executive secretary to mayors Amelia Della Chiesa and James McIntyre, died in March at age 68.

• Charles Johnston, former labor leader at General Dynamics, died Aug 11 at 46.

• Quincy's unemployment rate hit 10.57 per cent during January and February.

BILLY DeWOLFE
Died 1974

According to the Office of Manpower Affairs, the city's unemployment rate increased .4 per cent during three consecutive six-month periods.

• 1,800 production workers at the General Dynamics Shipyard walked off the job in March, marking the beginning of a 123 day strike of Local 5. An eventual three year contract gave the workers of Local 5 a $1.48 per hour across-the-board pay raise over 3 years with insurance, retirement disability and other benefits. The loss to all parties during the strike was estimated in the millions of dollars.

• Political hopefuls made appearance at The Quincy Sun office in August, one month before state primaries. Visitors included: Attorney General candidates Barry Hannon, Charles Cabot, Francis X. Bellotti, Edward O'Brien, William Cowin and George Sacco; Democratic candidate for state treasurer Mark Furcolo; and gubernatorial hopeful Michael Dukakis. Visiting at various times afterward were Thomas P. O'Neil III, and Kitty Dukakis.

• Rep. Joseph Brett was elected to his ninth term. Also elected were Rep. William Delahunt, Rep. Thomas Brownell, State Treasurer Robert Q. Crane, Auditor Thaddeus Buczko, Congressman James Burke, Senator Arthur Tobin, Dist. Atty. George G. Burke and County Commissioner Thomas K. McManus.

• In December, 246 nurses at Quincy City Hospital turned in their resignations, accusing City Hall of not bargaining in good faith on contract negotiations.

• Quincy's tax rate of $159.90 represented a $5.60 hike over the last year.

• Janice Lamparelli, 18, was crowned Miss Quincy Bay 1974.

• The 78 year old business of Old Colony Laundries, Inc., came to an end due to union pressures, drop in work incentive and spiraling operations and supply costs.

• Montilio's Pastry Shop baked a 3,000 pound cake celebrating the 100th anniversary of the Kentucky Derby.

• Machine guns were added to the Police Department weapons in response to a 40 per cent rise in the city's crime rate. Defending his controversial stance, Mayor Hannon said the Police Department needed to fight crime with equal force.

• The 246 nurses who had turned in their resignations changed their minds when a 30 month contract between city officials and the hospital nurses union gave them a $1,220 pay hike.

LaRaia Wins Recount To Defeat Hannon

• Joseph J. LaRaia was declared the mayoral winner after a recount ironically requested by incumbent Walter J. Hannon showed six blocks of 50 votes originally credited Hannon actually belonged to LaRaia. It gave LaRaia a 438 vote victory, heralding the start of a tumultuous mayoral term.

• James A. Sheets became Ward 4 city councillor and state representative. Sheets started his political career by running for city council to give his Quincy Junior College students a gist of governmental workings.

• Other election results were: Councillors at large Arthur Tobin and John J. Quinn, Ward 1 Councillor Lee Kelly, Ward 3 Councillor John Lydon Jr., Ward 5 Councillor Warren Powers, and Ward 6 Councillor Dennis Harrington, all re-elected.

Newcomers to the City Council were Councillor at large Paul Harold and Ward 2 Councillor Daniel J. Raymond.

School Committee winners were Christopher Kennedy, Patricia Toland, and Francis X. McCauley.

• Anti-busing demonstrators from South Boston followed Sen. Edward Kennedy to Quincy during a visit in April to a Knights of Columbus communion breakfast. His train was stoned as it pulled out of North Quincy Station.

• The 1,600 lb. bell from the USS Quincy, built at the Fore River Shipyard in 1943 and soon to be scrapped, was brought home in 1975. It currently sits in front of City Hall.

• An 11½ hour marathon hearing made construction of the T-station at South Quincy (Quincy Adams) drag its feet. A lobbying group went as far as Washington, D.C. to block building of the station.

• A private study showed that General Dynamics would have to close down unless the Fore River Bridge was rebuilt for ships of the year 2000 to fit through.

• The City Council requested a $12 million bond issue for an addition-reno- vation to North Quincy High School. The State School Building Assistance Bureau denied them the money.

BUILDING & CONSTRUCTION TRADES COUNCIL

I AM A BUILDING TRADESMAN

*I am a building tradesman.
My hands are custodians of skills a thousand generations old, beld in trust for a thousand generations to come.
My predecessors created the Hanging Gardens of Nebuchadnezzar and patiently put together the Parthenon.
My successors will construct platforms in space and way stations on the stars.
I harness the rivers, bridge the inlets, disenbowel the mountains, and level the valleys to make the nation strong in war and prosperous in peace.
The mightiest skyscraper begins with a stake I drive in the ground and ends with the turn of the owner's key in a lock I install.
Between the stake and the lock I fight searing summer heat and bitter winter cold.
Danger is my constant companion and instant death lurks around every corner.
The astronaut begins his probe of the heavens from a launching pad I build.
The mightiest surgeon performs his miracles in an amphitheater I erect and provide with heat, light, water, and technical equipment.
Even at the birth of the atomic age one of my Brothers* was there. And when the first test proved successful, Enrico Fermi, the master scientist, placed his arm around the shoulders of this Brother and said: "Gus, with all our education, what could we have done without your experience?"
I stand straight and walk proud, because I know my contribution to society is based on skills, not bluff; on sweat, not sweet-talk; on production, not press-agentry.
I am a building tradesman, belonging to a building trades union.

LaRaia Begins Stormy Term

• As he took the oath of office to become the 25th mayor of Quincy, Joseph J. LaRaia began a term which would be marred by scandal, questionable appointments, and bitter scrutiny from the City Council.

• Two members of his administration were arrested on charges of extorting $7,000 from the Rochefort Construction Co., a Natick firm vying for the contract to build the addition to Merrymount School.

• 1976 would be remembered as the year of the "January Massacre," during which LaRaia cleaned out the remaining people from Walter Hannon's and James McIntyre's administrations, citing a need of individuals "in those positions who will serve with regard to my goals and not in opposition with them."

• LaRaia's political appointees included a downtown Quincy development coordinator who would be convicted of stealing $500 and trying to steal $10,000 more.

• LaRaia's political appointees included a downtown Quincy development coordinator who would be convicted of stealing $500 and trying to steal $10,000 more; a Squantum man who would resign after five days as Cemetery Superintendent after it was learned he had been under indictment for two years in Suffolk County on criminal complaints.

• After some bitter arguing, LaRaia agreed to a $13.5 million project to renovate the 50-year-old North Quincy High School, $1.5 million less than originally planned. Controversy over the high school also stemmed from the fact that the Kent Corp. and a clerk of the works were both working as liaison between contractor and city to speed up the project. Kent was getting $310,000. The clerk was getting $600 a week.

• Mayor LaRaia locked horns with both Police Chief Francis Finn and Fire Chief Edward Barry. The mayor cut $700,000 from Finn's budget proposal and $950,000 from Barry's budget proposal for the year.

• The tax rate was set at $194.60, a hike of $34.90. The mayor blamed the unprecedented boost on underbudgeting in Hannon's administration and interference by Council President Arthur Tobin.

• A $21 million grant was approved by the Mass. Transportation Administration in Washington for construction of Quincy intently to commencement address at Broad Meadows Junior High School.

Adams MBTA station (South Quincy).

• In a probe of the 1975 mayoral election in which LaRaia won by 484 votes on a controversial recount, Quincy District Court Judge Albert L. Kramer found flaws in the election system. He said it could be improved by eliminating the flash count system of quick vote counting, doublechecking tally entries by the warden and clerk, and prohibiting employees and families of candidates from working as election officers and providing badges to election officials to make them recognizable.

• WJDA personality Mary Johnson of Merrymount, with her husband, Russ, who had met Jimmy Carter when he came to the state in 1973, died from cancer a few days after Carter won the election. When Mrs. Johnson was in the hospital, Carter personally sent her a bouquet of roses.

• Mary Pickering, 16, of Quincy, was crowned Miss Quincy Bay.

• Ruby C. Bigelow of North Quincy turned 100. She received a plaque from Mayor LaRaia and letters from President Gerald Ford and Gov. Michael Dukakis.

• At 14,772 students for September, the 1976-77 Quincy school enrollment was the lowest in 10 years.

• "Quincy Is Our Name" became the official city song, as composed by Berkley School student John Fantuccio of Quincy.

• The blue laws were black and blue when a number of Quincy stores threw the 250-year-old statute to the wind by staying open Sunday. Five stores were cited for violations by the Police Department the first Sunday they stayed open.

• A poll taken by Cambridge Survey Research, Inc., indicated that Arthur Tobin would defeat Joseph LaRaia if the 1977 mayoral election was held then.

• Mary Limcoe became the first woman to head a Quincy American Legion Post as she was elected commander of Houghs Neck Legion Post.

• Deaths included: Mrs. Evelyn Della Chiesa, widow of former Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa, Mrs. William F. McIntyre, 72, mother of former Mayor James McIntyre; Michael J. ## Tobin Ousts LaRaia In Bitter Campaign

• Quincy City Councillor Arthur H. Tobin became Mayor-elect of Quincy after swamping incumbent Joseph LaRaia 19,096 to 14,046 in the city election.

• Judge Ellis F. Brown ruled that LaRaia's appointment of Lt. Corady Solimini as Inspector of Divisions in the Police Department, a position second only to that of Police Chief, exceeded the mayor's power boundaries.

uniformed street duty LaRaia gave him, said LaRaia nearly jeopardized the raid by transferring Rowell from the Special Services Unit.

The injunction obtained by Finn prevented LaRaia from getting information from Rowell, put Rowell on Special Services, but granted LaRaia the right to look at records of the hearing and punishment of three Quincy Police officers who were involved in a bookmaking incident in 1976.

• LaRaia, Chief Finn and Fire Chief Edward Barry were at it again. The mayor proposed a three member commission to supervise operation of the Police and Fire Departments, much to the chagrin of the two chiefs.

• In March, LaRaia and City Council began yet another battle over the budget, particularly the $3.4 million supplementary budget LaRaia sent to the council to cover some last minute pay increases for city employees. Budget Coordinator Sarah Saccone wouldn't answer any questions about a $600,000 mistake in the budget, and the council wouldn't listen to the person she wanted to speak for her.

• A $2.40 hike in the tax rate was something of a contrast to the $34.90 of the year before.

• Aside from Tobin's victory, other election winners included:

Joanne Condon, the second woman ever elected to the City Council, defeated Walter J. Hickey to win the Ward 6 seat vacated by Dennis Harrington to run at-large; Mary Collins and Joan Picard, elected to the School Committee defeating Frank Anselmo and Charles T. Sweeney; John J. Sullivan re-elected to the School Committee; Francis X. McCauley elected City Councillor at-large from School Committee; Stephen J. McGrath, 24, who upset Ward 5 Councillor Warren A. Powers; Paul D. Harold re-

Congratulations to the Quincy Sun on your Twentieth Anniversary

Quincy Junior College and the Quincy Sun have grown together over the past Twenty Years. On September 28, 1968 the Sun published its first issue and Quincy Junior College, celebrating our Tenth anniversary, was on the front page reporting a record enrollment of 1,687 students. This year we expect another record-breaking enrollment topping 3,000 students enrolled in credit and noncredit courses. We are also celebrating our Thirtieth Anniversary as the public Community College on the South Shore. Over the last two decades the Quincy Sun has grown to be an important part of Quincy and Quincy Junior College has continued to grow and improve. Quincy Junior College has been a leader in implementing Developmental Education, Child Care for our students, innovative Financial Aid programs and a variety of Continuing Education programs.

elected City Councillor at large, Leo J. Kelly, Ward 1 Councillor; Daniel J. Raymond, Ward 2; John J. Lydon Jr., Ward 3, and James A. Sheets, Ward 4.

• A new state law permitted stores to stay open between noon and 5 p.m. on the four Sundays preceding Christmas.

• An automobile crashed into the wall atop the Ross Parking Garage right before the holiday season, touching off fears that the roof wouldn't be opened in time for the holiday rush.

• For the second time in three years 5,000 members of Local 5 at General Dynamics walked off the job and remained out nearly three months. Local 5 President Stanley Kyler cited a need for wage parity with all East Coast shipyards.

• Building developments that didn't exactly go as smooth as silk included a $5 million shopping plaza on the site of the old Squantum Naval Air Station, stalled by the Board of Zoning Appeals; $120 million development with a 3,000 apartment complex called Marina Landing, including housing for elderly, recreational facilities and a hostel. And a $35 million arena plan by the Boston Celtics at State Street South in Montclair was shot down by opposition from Mayor LaRaia and residents.

• Teresa Jean McElaney, 17, of Weymouth, was crowned 1977's Miss Quincy Bay.

• Mrs. Robert Day was elected the first woman chairman of the corporation of the Covenant Congregational Church.

• Fifteen Quincy school students were arrested in drug charges following a three-month police investigation, sparking a need and plan for stiff enforcement rules.

• Upland Rd. was rededicated the Thomas S. Burgin Parkway in honor of the former Mayor and State Senator.

• Quincy High School's Marching Presidents won the state high school marching band competition in the Christmas Festival Parade but turned down a second prize trip to the Cotton Bowl parade in Dallas.

• While he visited The Quincy Sun, again, Sen. Edward Kennedy predicted a revival in shipbuilding.

• Mayor LaRaia and his planning director, L. Norman Lundin, revealed a revitalization plan for downtown Quincy which would include a highway from Granite St. to McGrath Highway, an international merchandise mart, a high rise motel and an office building. The plan drew mixed reviews.

• Once again school enrollment dropped, this time to 14,260, the lowest in 20 years. School Supt. Lawrence Creedon announced prophetic plans to close down three or four schools.

• The new redistricting plan for the State House, as devised by Rep. George Keverian, reduced Quincy's representation from 3½ state representatives to 2½ state representatives.

• $2.44 million was appropriated for an annex to be built on the parking lot behind the 133-year-old City Hall.

• Deaths in 1977 included: Mrs. Charles A. Ross, 95, widow of the former mayor of Quincy; M. Joseph Sweeney, 69, president of Sweeney Funeral Service, Inc.; Judge Kenneth Nash, 88, justice of Quincy District Court for 52 years; George H. Bonsail, 82, retired president of Quincy Savings Bank; Roland Josselyn, 93, the grand old man of Houghs Neck; John P. Flavin, 75, former state representative, city councillor and city solicitor; Harry E. Rodgers, 87, widely known Wollaston musician and Masonic organist; Joseph H. Tobin, 64, co-founder of WJDA.

The Blizzard Of '78: 27 Inches Of Snow!

• It was more than a snowstorm. It was more than a week or three off from school. It was the blizzard of 1978—THE Blizzard of the century, in which 27 inches of snow as dumped in Quincy, bringing the city to a veritable halt.

• City Councillor Paul Harold announced his candidacy for state senate, citing the probable less than adequate attention Arthur Tobin could give to Quincy by holding down both jobs as mayor and senator at the same time, and won by less than 2000 votes in the September primary and by an astounding 23,693 vote landslide over Jens Thornton.

• Cong James A. Burke (D-Milton), who represented Quincy in Washington for 20 years, announced he would not run for re-election due to diabetes. He was succeeded by Brian Donnelly.

• Arthur Tobin was sworn in as the 26th Mayor of Quincy, expressing a desire to unite the people "and with a fresh spirit launch our city on a new beginning." Among his top priorities was downtown revitalization.

• The Tobin Administration approved a $10 million home office building for the National Fire Protection Association on 42.5 acres of Pine Hill in West Quincy.

• Tobin referred to Campanelli Properties' construction of a 10-story, $10 million office building in Quincy Sq. as a "catalyst" to spark downtown revival. But an exclusive by The Sun, concerning the lack of information on the proposed East-West Connector downtown businessmen were getting, touched off a flurry of meetings.

• Francis McCauley resigned from the School Committee to assume his new duties as City Councillor-at-large, Frank Anselmo, School Committee veteran, succeeded him.

• A $7 million deficit was discovered left over from the previous mayoral administration. A five-year, $6.7 bond issue was proposed by Tobin to cover the debt. Eventually the bond issue and a $94.4 million budget was passed by the City Council.

• The city tax rate was down 60 cents to $196.60.

• Referendum Question No. 1, the classification amendment which would permit communities to value residential, business and industrial properties and open space at different rates, became the big issue in the November elections.

• Kent Corp., the firm which was hired to hurry along construction on North Quincy High School, was dismissed.

• A public hearing in the Quincy Vo-Tech gym drew

1,200 Quincy people who were miffed over the noise coming from jets departing from Logan Airport's runway 22.

• The U.S. House of Representatives approved the transfer of the Adams Birthplaces from the city of Quincy to the National Parks System, to give them better care.

• General Dynamics delivered three liquefied natural gas tankers during the year, for a total of five.

First Parish, Sacred Heart Mark Anniversaries

Boasted the GD annual report, "Quincy is aggressively developing a new business opportunity in an effort to provide a balanced and stable workload into the 1980's."

• In September, General Dynamics lost a $287.8 million contract to Litton Industries of Pascagoula, Miss.

• In what was described as a disgrace to the city, the Ruth Gordon Amphitheater, costing a total of $544,000, was still unfinished in May, five months after the projected deadline.

• Kathy Coletta, 23, of West Quincy, was the only woman to graduate with 83 men from the State Police Academy in Framingham.

• Six men at Kurtzman of Quincy, Volkswagen repair specialists, made the Guinness Book of World Records by doing a complete engine change in one minute, 37 seconds.

• Senator Arthur Tobin asked President Carter and Congress to have Abigail Adams' picture placed on the new silver dollar. But, Susan B. Anthony won the honor.

• Kathleen Mann, 17, of Houghs Neck, was selected Miss Quincy Bay Race Week.

• Mary Pratt, a physical education teacher in the Quincy schools and the city's all-time No. 1 female athlete, became the fourth woman inducted into the Hall of Fame at Boston University.

• Sacred Heart Church celebrated its 75th anniversary. Umberto Cardinal Medeiros was the chief celebrant of the Mass.

• The United First Parish Church, built in 1828, celebrated its 150th anniversary.

• The Quincy Sun, "Quincy's own newspaper," started in 1968, celebrated its 10th anniversary Sept. 26.

• Among those who died in 1978 were:

Robert M. Faxon, a descendant of one of Quincy's earliest families; Judge Gertrude R. Halloran, the first woman justice at Quincy District Court; Charles W. Hedges, former city councillor, state representative, state senator, and Norfolk County Sheriff; Alexander Smith, who was city auditor and served 25 years on School Committee; David Crowley, City Councillor from 1946-49 and city councillor under Plan E from 1950-55; Edward Dobbyn, retired chief naval architect for the Navy Department at Fore River.

MODEL OF NEW $10 million headquarters for the National Fire Protection Association in West Quincy is displayed by Robert W. Grant, vice president of NFPA. From left are Planning Director Walter J. ## Energy Crisis Sends Gasoline Over $1 Mark

• The rate was hiked $27.40 over 1979 to $224 for 1980, the highest tax rate in the city's history, as a result of a decade of fiscal postponement.

• In his mid-term address, Mayor Arthur Tobin stressed efficiency in government.

• Paul D. Harold resigned his City Council seat to become a fulltime senator in January. Joseph E. Brett succeeded him.

• A $7.5 million slander suit filed by staunch Joseph LaRaia supporter the Boston Post Gazette was dismissed in Superior Court when the newspaper refused to open its books to prove Tobin had done damage to LaRaia with a disparaging remark made during the mayoral campaign in 1977.

• City Councillor James Sheets was legally allowed to draw salaries from his job as teacher and city councillor. Despite a bid from former City Councillor Albert R. Barilaro trying to prevent Sheets from doing so, Superior Court Judge Henry H. Chmielinski reaffirmed a 1974 ruling saying there is no provision forbidding Sheets from being both councillor and teacher.

• The City Council appropriated a total of $725,000 for property revaluation and the commercial firm P.R.C. Jacobs of McLean, Va., was hired to do the job, ending the council's 15-year block against valuation.

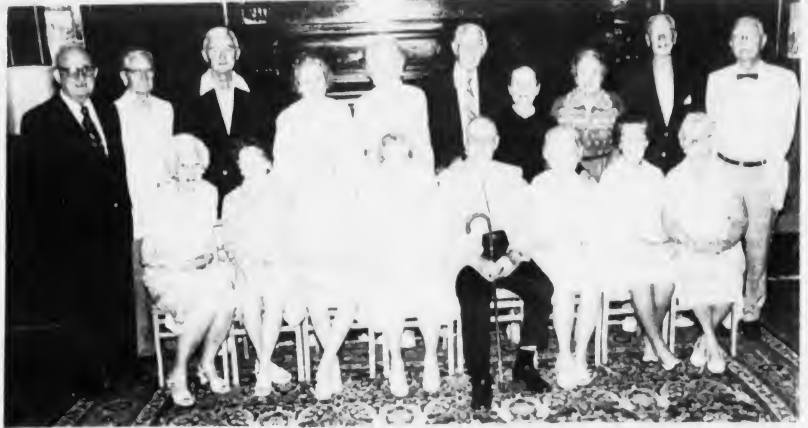

• Controversy arose from a projected pedestrian entrance from Independence Ave. to Quincy Adams Station, with South Quincy residents adamant against the entrance and Braintree residents all for the entrance.

• Demolition began on 38 units of Squantum Gardens previously used for families of South Weymouth Air Station personnel to make way for 2.6 acres of recreational land.

• Renovation of North Quincy High School would eventually cost $17.6 million when completed, up $4.1 million from the projected 1977 price, when it was discovered there was $1.5 million which had to go to the contractor for 94 extra days on the job.

• In 1979 the Adams Birthplaces were finally turned over to the U.S. Park Service because Quincy was unable to afford their upkeep.

• Dogs were allowed to be kept in the Germantown

65TH ANNIVERSARY of the Quincy High School class of 1914 drew 18 members in 1979 including Miss Gordon. housing projects, overturning a 1978 ordinance by Health Commissioner Dr. Samuel Solomon which said dogs were a health hazard.

• Ground was broken in September for the National Fire Protection Association's new $11 million headquarters in West Quincy.

• The Department of Housing and Urban Development granted $3.79 million to build a parking garage over the MBTA tracks to serve the Campanelli-Stop and Shop office building in Quincy.

• The O'Connell brothers received approval for a $4 million, 132 luxury apartment house on the site of the old Quincy Adams Yacht Yard in Adams Shore.

• A plan, which opened up three new management positions, was conceived to bring Quincy City Hospital out of its financial quandary.

• Korean born Stephanie Ann Siteman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Siteman of South Quincy, became an American citizen. Congressman Brian Donnelly presented her with a large American flag that had once flown over the Capitol.

• Rev. John D. Banks, former minister of Bethany Congregational Church, announced plans to retire.

• Nearly 30,000 gallons of home heating oil spilled into the Town River by accident from the barge of George I. Tilton. No lasting environmental damage was done.

• Representatives of Shipbuilding Workers Local 5 at General Dynamics predicted major layoffs and ultimate closing of the yard in October if work wasn't found. It was disclosed that after GD finished its contract for 10 liquefied natural gas tankers, there would be no work in sight.

• The Navy awarded General Dynamics a $23.8 million contract to repair a cable ship, which would take about 500 men, after awarding a contract of over $100 million to a West Coast shipyard.

• Mrs. Lolita Harris of the Quincy Housing Authority became the first black person to hold a high public office in the city when she was named the state member of the Board of Commissioners in April.

• Ruth Gordon, along with 18 others, came to the Neighborhood Club to celebrate the 65th reunion of Quincy High School Class of 1914, the so-called "worst class" on record because no one made honor roll.

• Gasoline topped a dollar a gallon, as did home heating oil, when the energy crisis hit. Lines at a Willard St. gas station had 30 to 40 cars queued up.

• The Atlantic Self-Help program started a $5,000 pilot program to have smoke detectors installed in the housing of the elderly.

• The National Newspaper Foundation named The Quincy Sun as a National Blue Ribbon Newspaper, one of only 165 papers nationwide to be so named.

- Nancy Meyers of Hingham was named Miss Quincy Bay.

- The Massachusetts Constitution, on which the U.S. Constitution was based, came home to Quincy for four days. It was written in John Adams' South Quincy law office in the birthplace of John Quincy Adams.

- Former Mayor Joseph LaRaia wrote the novel, "A City Under Influence," in which he made disparaging marks to his opponents, under pseudonyms.

- Mayor Tobin was re-elected mayor with a large margin over Abe M. Itkin.

- LaRaia barely made it back into the City Council.

- Those who died in 1979 included:

Mrs. Edna Austin, 93, the first woman to serve on the City Council; Laurence J. Curtin, 78, leader of the fight to overthrow the Plan E-City Manager form of government; and Avedia Zildjian, 90, who turned out the world's best cymbals from an old family formula.

Proposition 2½ Referendum Winner

- Proposition 2½ reared its head in November when Quincy voted for the referendum 26,859 to 14,135 to limit the tax levy to 2.5 percent of the total property valuation, leaving city officials deciding who to lay off. Schools would be hit hardest.

- Mayor Arthur Tobin and a City Council commission agreed to put Quincy City Hospital under private management because municipal management proved to be "inadequate."

- Mayor Tobin was sworn into a second term in January. Extra police were present in the Council Chamber because of a reported threat on his life.

- Tobin said he cut $6.9 million from the budget proposals of various departments and $5 million from the school department. He also said he would veto any appropriation that went above the 4 per cent cap.

- Leo J. Kelly was elected by the City Council as Council President. Joseph LaRaia took the third-at-large City Council seat.

- A funnel of smoke rising from Houghs Neck could be seen everywhere in the city when DiMarzio's Roller Skating Rink burned to the ground the morning of Jan. 4.

- Six fires, all apparently set but not related, sprung around Quincy during the summer.

- It was the worst year for vandalism in the city, according to Richard J. Koch, executive director of the Park and Recreation Board, with vandals causing more than $10,000 in damage.

- Judge Albert L. Kramer came under fire for being too lenient on drug users and for letting inmates go to make room for people arrested for drunk driving. Kramer said it wasn't so.

- Ground was broken for Quincy Center Plaza, a 10 story, $14 million office building at the corner of Hancock and Granite Sts. and the parking garage which would go along with the building.

- Work on Monarch II in North Quincy began under the banner of the O'Connell Brothers construction firm. OCB, Inc. also finished and dedicated the commercial union building.

- General Dynamics negotiated a three year contract with Local 5 without a strike, a first in a decade. The shipyard also received several new contracts.

- Lydia Warren, 87, became the first woman member of the George Bryan VFW Post.

- Fifty people were left without work when the 60-year-old Quincy Motor Co., the oldest Ford dealership on the South Shore, closed its doors.

- Females were allowed to join the stalwartly male Koch Club Boys Bowling League, making it the Koch Club Coed Bowling League.

- Simon Fireman of Quincy was named by President Carter to a Department of Commerce advisory board on international trade.

- Tracy Hart, 17, of Quincy, was crowned the reigning Miss Quincy Bay.

- The papers of the late

Laurence J. Curtin, City Councillor from 1931 to 1936 and 1939 to 1942, were presented to the Quincy Historical Society.

3 Elementary Schools Are Closed

- Edward Moore retired after 21 years as aide to Congressmen James A. Burke and Brian J. Donnelly.
- Houghs Neck's own Louis, a spotted basset hound, got nationwide recognition when he received his own crossing sign on Sea St. Sen. Paul Harold, Rep. Brownell and Councilors Kelly and McCauley were present for the somber event.
- Great Hill, Myles Standish, and N.H. Hunting Elementary Schools closed down when enrollment dropped to just over 12,000 in the city. The money saved was $250,000.
- Edward Monti's sculpture was unveiled. It stands on Constitution Plaza outside City Hall.

- The Quincy Family, some 200 descendants strong, held its first reunion in 122 years at the Dorothy Quincy Homestead.
- A seven-member committee was set up to see about bringing cable television to Quincy.
- The 152-year-old United First Parish Church, the Church of the Presidents, was placed under the U.S. National Park Service.
- Quincy firefighters protested outside City Hall when 13 colleagues were laid off.

- The City Hall was placed on the National Register of Historic Places, making it eligible for 50 percent matching federal grants for preservation.

- The city's population, once the seventh largest in the state, dropped to 83,904.

- Patti Lyons-Catalano became the second best marathoner in the world after several events including a second place showing in the Boston Marathon.

- Those who died in 1980 included:

- Jason Feldman, 55, owner of Jason's Luggage and Music Shop; Arthur I. McGilvray, 59, owner of the drug store of the same name at the Quincy MBTA station; the Rev. Chester A. Porteus, 74, rector emeritus of Christ Episcopal Church and longtime chaplain of the Police and Fire Departments; Dr. John M. McIvor, 67, ophthalmologist and member of the Quincy City Hospital for many years.

City Celebrates Release Of Hostages

- The hostages were released from Iran after 444 days of captivity. The South Shore National Bank celebrated by tying a giant yellow ribbon around it.

- New developments planned for the downtown area included a $14 million office complex on Chestnut St., a $20 million retail complex on Hancock St. next to the Bargain Center, and a $28 million retail mall in the John Hancock Parking area.

- According to Mayor Tobin, the city was faced with a budget shortfall of $3.5 to $4 million by the end of fiscal 1981, which could mean 700 city employees lose their jobs.

- City Councilor Francis McCauley announced he would be running for mayor in January after reading an accusation that he was a "hatchetman" who should "run for mayor if he thought he could do a better job."

- Quincy Cable Systems won the Quincy franchise on a recommendation by the Mayor's Advisory Committee on Cable Television.

- The Nut Island Sewage Treatment Plant suffered a 50 million gallon spill of partially treated sewage during Christmas week 1980. It was disclosed that one diesel operator was covering all shifts because of retirement, illness, and death.

- The Quincy Sun won third place in its division in the New England Press Association for its 15 part series on the drug problem in Quincy.

- Mayor Tobin presented the City Council with a budget of $63.8 million, bringing the city well within the $56.9 million tax levy. The budget didn't include financing for City Hospital, Quincy Junior College or the Sewer and Water Departments.

- The budget for the School Committee was set at $8.4 million less than 1980, at $26.6 million. By now the School Committee was stripped of fiscal autonomy by Proposition 2½.
- Family, church, and

McCauley Defeats Raymondi For Mayor

• Teenagers Bonnie MacMurdo and Tracy Duclos were killed in an automobile accident on Quincy Shore Drive, site of five fatalities in 15 years.

• School Supt. Lawrence Creedon predicted that in five years (1986) "the high school population will be such that we can consolidate it into one school."

• David B. Lynch turned back a bid for control by stockholders supporting Abraham D. Gosman and kept control of the $1 billion Multibank Financial Corp.

• City Councillor Daniel Raymondi began his unsuccessful campaign for mayor.

• Reports circulated that Mayor Tobin would be named clerk-magistrate of the Quincy District Court, succeeding the late Dennis F. Ryan.

• Tobin got his home rule petition creating a revolving account for Quincy City Hospital without an amendment giving the City Council the right to appoint three members to the Hospital Board of Managers.

• The city was in danger of losing federal funding of the South Quincy-Faxon Park Wastewater Collection and Pumping Facility because of a failure to adopt a sewer user charge demanded by the state and federal government.

• Fifty city employees decided to take advantage of early retirement benefits, saving 50 jobs for employees with less seniority and easing the layoff situation.

• To boost local business during the Easter season, Mayor Tobin ordered "lenient enforcement" of parking regulations in downtown Quincy.

• A prayer service was held in the United First Parish Church for Ronald Reagan after he was shot and wounded.

• Executive Director of the Rent Grievance Board Jane Reikard was laid off because of Prop. 2½. Several councillors showed up at a meeting wearing "We Want Jane" buttons.

• 7,100 Red Line riders were bused to North Quincy from Mattapan to catch the train when construction work began on lines between Andrew and Ashmont.

• Comfortman (Sandy Rounseville) climbed his one story business building to protest the closing of the municipal comfort station. Rounseville, dressed like Paul Revere, also rode down Hancock St. on a horse shouting "The meter maids are coming!"

• Gypsy months invaded West Quincy. Mayor Tobin suggested spraying for five days at a cost of $5,000.

• City Council passed a $66.4 million budget for fiscal 1982.

• An MBIA fare hike went into effect Aug. 1. Fares went from $1 inbound and 50 cents outbound to 75 cents each way to and from Wollaston and North Quincy.

• Beth Ann Streng of Quincy walked off with Miss Quincy Bay honors.

THE LOSER, Daniel Raymondi (right) arrives at the Quincy Neighborhood Club election night November, 1981 to congratulate the winner, Francis X. McCauley as Quincy's new mayor-elect.

• Judge Albert Kramer of Quincy District Court underwent triple bypass heart surgery at Massachusetts General Hospital. He was expected to return to the bench in October.

• School Committee-woman Mary Collins proposed a plan to have high school students expelled after four suspensions.

• Councillor Francis McCauley won the mayoral race against Daniel G. Raymondi by a wide 18,037 to 12,222 landslide.

1982

School Closings Under Proposition 2½ Protested

• Francis X. McCauley was sworn in as Quincy's 27th mayor.

• To make the 15 per cent budget cut mandated by Prop. 2½, Mayor McCauley proposed cutting $3 million from schools, among other things. QEA President Joanne O'Malley said this could mean 75 teacher layoffs, closing of Lincoln Hancock Pool and large athletic cuts.

• More than 500 people jammed into Quincy High school's resource center to protest any more school closings under Prop. 2½. One matter of controversy was whether or not to close the Pollard School.

• Stop & Shop Co. moved its headquarters into Quincy Center Plaza, the "first big step to the revitalization" of Quincy, said Ron Zooleck, executive vice president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

• Quincy Sun Channel 8 made its broadcast debut.

• Superior Court Judge Hiller B. Zobel ruled that Quincy must refund General Dynamics $13.5 million due to overassessment.

• Quincy began a successful crackdown on parking tickets, with an estimated $400,000 to $500,000 in projected fines. The city also moved to collect delinquent real estate taxes.

• Parents picketed City Hall to prevent the approved closings of Willard, Wollaston, Pollard and Massachusetts Field Schools.

• Quincy residents, led by City Councillor Joanne Condon, moved to have 2 a.m. liquor licenses rolled back to 1 a.m. to cut down on drunk driving accidents.

• "The meters are going! The meters are going!" shouted Sandy Rounseville (Comfortman), flogging a campaign for validated parking as he rode up and down Hancock St. on an elephant.

• The coliform count at Wollaston Beach reached 34,000-33,300 more than what the count should have been.

• Owen J. Eaton lost his job as water superintendent and Dr. Robert McKeogh lost his as Health Commissioner.

• The Cherry Sheet for state aid to Quincy showed a net gain of $7.8 million, $2.5 million more than expected.

• The 57-year-old Strand Theater, the first big run motion picture house to three generations of movie goers, was sold to the South Shore National Bank and ultimately torn down.

• A committee which had been studying the mayor's office recommended that the mayor's salary be boosted to $48,500 a year from the current $25,000 and that the salary for City Councillors be increased from $3,000 to $4,500 per year.

• Christine McGrath, 18, of West Quincy, was selected as Miss Quincy Bay.

• General Dynamics landed $272.6 million in contracts.

• Six black families moved into the predominantly white Germantown housing projects. Instances of racial slurs, rock throwing, and harassing phone calls were reported.

• David Harris of Randolph, deputy commissioner of the State Dept. of Commerce, called Quincy the most racist city in America. Unable to back up his comment, he later said

"Quincy is among the top five."

• Quincy High School's Presidents swamped North Quincy's Red Raiders 26-3 in the 50th anniversary of the Turkey Day Football Game.

• The archaic Blue Laws were repealed after 300 years, allowing stores to open on Sundays.

• Mayor McCauley filed suit against the MDC and Boston Sewer and Water Commission for violating the law by discharging more than 3.5 billion gallons of raw and partially treated sewage into the harbor and Quincy Bay.

• Deaths included: Gerald Desmond, 69, professional and semi-pro baseball star and John Cheever, 70, Pulitzer Prize-winning author from Wollaston.

City Ordered To Pay $12.1 Million To GD

- $12.1 million, about 30 per cent of the taxes Quincy property owners would be expected to pay, was ruled payable to the order of General Dynamics by the State Supreme Court because of overassessment in 1977-1980. This reaffirmed a lower court ruling.

- The Quincy Education Association approved a "work-to-rule" plan which meant no member of the QEA would perform any action outside of regular school hours unless paid.

- Rev. Bedros Baharian resigned from the Planning Board of the Planning Dept and was succeeded by Joseph F. McConville.

- A list of some 1,000 people who had more than 20,000 overdue parking tickets amounting to $80,000 in penalties was sent to the Registry of Motor Vehicles in a long awaited crackdown by the city.

- The Navy awarded a $12.5 million contract to General Dynamics.

- Quincy stores were opened for the first time Sunday, March 27 following the repeal of the blue laws. Merchants liked it; city officials didn't.

- Ward 4 was up in arms about an MDC plan to force more sewage from Braintree, Weymouth, Hingham, Randolph and Holbrook into Nut Island.

- Frank Remick, owner of Remick's of Quincy, and father of actress Lee Remick, died at age 73.

- The tax rate dropped an unprecedented $28.60 to $177 per thousand.

- Mayor McCauley, citing underpayment of mayors all over the state, sought a $40,000 salary for himself and $6,500 for the City Council.

- Dr. Clayton Johnson became the first black president of Quincy Junior College.

- Delays in the Burgin Parkway Extension and the Quincy Adams MBTA station were attributed to the failure of the MDC to raise money to channel Town Brook.

- The "work to rule" plan, called by QEA President Herman Pasquarella a failure, was dismissed.

- Paul Gooch, 17, of Brockton, drowned after jumping off a 50 foot ledge into Swingle's Quarry, calling to attention the age old problems and dangers of swimming in Quincy quarries.

- Monique Powers, 18, was asked to register for the draft.

- Tricia Markakos, 16, of Braintree, was crowned Miss Quincy Bay.

- George Belezes of Quincy, 100, was believed to be the oldest man ever to receive a cardiac pacemaker.

- Mayor McCauley was able to name four new captains, two new lieutenants and nine new patrolmen after several lawsuits were dropped against the Captain's list. Chief Francis Finn had threatened to resign for lack of captains.

- The "Snow White," a ketch-rigged yacht that ran aground and was abandoned in Town River, provided one of the biggest drug hauls in the New England area when $9 million in pot was found below deck.

- A horse's death at the Brookdale Stables started an equine encephalitis scare.

- Mayor McCauley reached an agreement with General Dynamics to float a bond issue to be repaid at a rate of $2.8 million for 10 years to repay tax over assessments. Councillors said the idea lacked imaginative thinking.

- Quincy residents queued in front of Quincy Savings Bank, numbers in hand, to take advantage of low interest loans.

- After years of controversy, financial problems and public discord, the Quincy Adams MBTA station officially opened for business.

- The City Council voted 8 to 1, with Patricia Toland the lone dissenter, to keep COMMUTERS line up for an early train on opening day in the new $33 million Quincy Adams MBTA station in September 1983.

Prop. 2½ off the ballot.

- Stephen Durkin, 27, captured a School Committee seat in his first try for public office, ousting two term committeeman John Sullivan.

- Francis McCauley was reelected mayor without opposition. Voter turnout was 36.4 per cent.

- Pamela Lall and Brian

Gilfeather were among those at St. George's Medical School in Grenada when the little island was invaded by American military forces.

- Deaths included:

George L. Tobin, 85, father of former Mayor Arthur Tobin; William S. Ash, 88, former commander of the Quincy Legion Post and the Quincy

Veterans Council; Judge Henry Chmielnski, former Superior Court judge; Donald G. Shaftoe, 75, one of the original developers of the Howard Johnson Co. on Beale St.; and Albert R. Frantello, witness in the famed Sacco-Vanzetti murder case.

Former Mayor James McIntyre Dies

Leo J. Kelly, three weeks after being sworn in for a sixth two-year term as Ward 1 Councillor, resigned to take the post of project manager of housing developments in Quincy. His council seat was filled after Michael Cheney defeated Robert Johnston by 79 votes in a special election.

Some 500 persons attended the funeral at St. Boniface Church for Germantown's Marine Cpl. Edward J. Gargano, 21, who was shot by a sniper during a U.S. peacekeeping mission in Lebanon.

Police Chief Francis Finn said his department was on "the brink of disaster" because of budget woes. The situation was eased after the City Council transferred $35,000 from personnel budget into the expense account.

Downtown economic revival surfaced after F.A. Messian purchased the old Sears building on Hancock St. for $1 million and planned extensive renovations and retail development there.

James R. McIntyre, former Quincy mayor, city councillor, state representative, state senator, and Senate counsel, died of a heart attack at 53 after undergoing surgery at Massachusetts General Hospital.

Ten men, mostly from Quincy, were arrested and pleaded innocent to 109 counts of assault and civil rights violations following an attack on five sailors, three of them black, near Louis Cafe in Houghs Neck.

Tax rates of $21.95 for residential property and $32.50 for commercial property in Quincy were approved by the State Department of Revenue.

After several months of debate and considerable opposition the city's license board voted 5-0 to grant a license for a McDonald's restaurant in North Quincy.

Swingle's Quarry in West Quincy was drained in search of the body of Paul Gooch, 17, of Brockton, who drowned in June, 1983, after jumping into the water from a 50-foot ledge. His body was never recovered.

Dr. O. Clayton Johnson was installed as the third president of Quincy Junior College.

School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, who denied sexual misconduct allegations lodged against him by three high school girls involving separate incidents, announced his retirement from the $55,000 a year post.

Simone Riman, 20, of Randolph, was crowned Miss Quincy Bay 1984.

The new controlled parking system in downtown Quincy grossed $40,413 during its first month of operation in June. The new validated system replaced parking meters that operated for 30 years.

Ground was broken for the $9.9 million construction of the 1.2-mile long Burgin Parkway Extension.

The days of "Happy Hours" at Quincy drinking establishments were numbered after the License Board voted 5-0 to ban them. The ban, proposed by City Councillor Joanne Condon, would take effect January, 1985.

Construction of Crown Colony Place in West Quincy, the largest single development in the city's history, was officially underway after groundbreaking ceremonies were held.

Superior Court Judge James Lynch Jr., calling the February attack on five sailors in Houghs Neck "blatant racism," sentenced four men to jail terms for the assault.

Judge Albert Kramer, presiding justice of the Quincy District Court, referred to Germantown as a "white ghetto" and a breeding ground of crime, incest, family violence and alcoholism as he accepted the Citizen of the Year Award from the South Shore Coalition of Human Rights. After much public outcry, Kramer apologized to Germantown residents after touring the area.

The Cranch School, sold by the city to Housing Organizational Trust for $150,000 in September 1983, was resold to a development corporation a few months later at a $100,000 profit.

The Most Rev. Bernard Law, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Boston, said in an interview with Quincy Sun Ch. 8 that he feels no compulsion to moderate his voice on issues that some people view as a religious invasion of the political arena.

The General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard lost a $365 million contract to build four or five container ships at $73 million each for U.S. Lines. However, a spokesman for the yard denied reports that 2,000 workers would be laid off as a result.

Award-winning actress Ruth Gordon, Quincy's best known daughter, came home and charmed several hundred well-wishers and admirers at the rededication of the Ruth Gordon Amphitheatre in Merrymount Park. It would be her last appearance in Quincy.

John J. (Jack) Donahue, founder of the North Quincy High football program in 1932 and head coach for 29 years, died at age 79, only 12 days before the 52nd renewal of the Quincy-North football rivalry on Thanksgiving. He had seen all 51 games before his death.

For the first time in 11 years, the city sold grave sites in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery. Some residents waited in line all night to purchase final resting places.

The legislature passed a bill creating the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority, which would serve many area communities, including Quincy.

Peter and William O'Connell proposed a $250 million development project on the site of the former Squantum Naval Air Station. The project would develop into Marina Bay.

Deaths in 1984 included: William F. McIntyre, 19, son of Senate Counsel and Mrs. James R. McIntyre; Philip A.G. Carbonaro, 67, retired chief of Army materials;

Dennis E. Harrington Sr., 72, retired assistant superintendent of the Boston Post Office; Ray G. Perry, 71, retired square dance caller; Henry P. Murray, 85, retired owner of Henry Murray Labs of Boston; John J. Kelliher, 68, longtime aide to former Mayor McIntyre; John J. Sullivan, former School Committee member; the Rev. Lloyd F. # Native Daughter Ruth Gordon Dies

- Joanne Condon became the third Quincy woman to run for mayor.
- City employees picketed city hall pressuring for new contracts.
- Mayor Francis McCauley warned against rampant overdevelopment of Quincy Center.
- Three Quincy representatives and a senator were named chairmen of important State House committees for the first time in city history. Paul Harold was named chairman of the Joint Committee on Criminal Justice; Thomas Brownell, Judiciary Committee; Michael Morrissey, Committee on Counties; and Robert Cerasoli, Post Audit and Oversight Committee.
- A fire of suspicious origin destroyed the closed Pollard School in Quincy Point. The extent of damage was so great that it was decided to tear the building down and construct condos.
- City Clerk John Gillis said Quincy might have 30 instead of 39 voting precincts. This would save on voting machines and personnel.
- The City Council approved a home rule petition sponsored by Councillor Joanne Condon asking the state to loan the city $17,715,999 interest free to

- pay back a tax abatement judgement won by General Dynamics.
- The majority of the 725-member Quincy Education Association voted for a one-day strike—which is prohibited by state law—after failing to reach contract agreements with the School Committee following a heated all-night meeting.
- Boston television Chs. 4 and 7 questioned the scores of 16 Quincy police patrolmen who received above 90 on the sergeant's exam. Police Chief Francis Finn said he'd stake his reputation on his men.
- General Dynamics announced 3,084 workers would be laid off by the end of the year. City councillors mulled ideas for the shipyard. Councillor Patricia Toland suggesting setting up a task force to consider the shipyard's options. Councillor Michael Cheney lambasted General Dynamics for being apathetic in its options.
- After complaints from Chief Finn about the dilapidated conditions of the 50 year old police station, architectural consultants suggested either renovation and addition at a cost of $4.8 million or relocation at a cost of $5.5 million.
- One hundred nurses from Quincy City Hospital

- staged a one day "sick-out" after talks on the nurses' two-year contract were ended.
- After over six months of rallies, petitions, official visits, and formal City Council opposition, Quincy got its wish when Long Island was not selected as the site for a sewage treatment plant. The Massachusetts Water Resource Authority chose Deer Island instead.
- Iricia A. Tanner, 19, was crowned Miss Quincy Bay.
- Thirty Wollaston residents were evacuated from their homes when chemicals leaked from bottles ruptured when compacted in a garbage truck. Seven people were rushed to Quincy City Hospital.
- Although closing of the General Dynamics shipyard was inevitable, Quincy residents planned a rally to keep it open. The rally was attended by Gov. Dukakis, Senators Edward Kennedy, Congressman Brian Donnelly and Gerry Studs on a rainy day in front of City Hall.
- Award winning actress Ruth Gordon, Quincy's favorite daughter, died at her Martha's Vineyard Home. She was 88.
- Quincy switched from paper ballots to punch card voting during the September primaries. Returns were in by 10:15 p.m., seven hours earlier than they normally would have been with paper ballots.
- Nearly 10,000 Quincy homes were left without power when Hurricane Gloria blew into town.
- The two mayoral candidates, Francis McCauley and Joanne Condon, found themselves facing late campaign developments when McCauley defended real estate transactions and Condon was accused of delinquent auto excise taxes. McCauley rode to a third term victory with 64 per cent of the votes. Condon said she had no knowledge of owing taxes and McCauley would eventually be cleared by an ethics committee.
- The old city hall building was renamed the James R. McIntyre Government Center, after a proposition was made to do so by long time political foe Joseph LaRaia.
- The North Quincy High School Red Raiders finished the season with a 3-7 record. Quincy was 0-10, the first winless Quincy team ever.

$57 Million Hospital Project Gets Underway

• Plans were unveiled to develop the site of the Bargain Center into the $45 million Presidents' Place.

• Quincy lost a favorite son when former mayor-senator Thomas S. Burgin died at age 83 after a bout with cancer.

• The City Council voted 8-1 against Mayor McCauley's home rule petition to increase the term of mayor and city councillor from two to four years.

• A three-alarm fire struck the Quincy Vocational-Technical School causing $100,000 in damage.

• Former School Supt. Lawrence Creedon pleaded innocent in the alleged rape of a woman in Quincy.

• The School Committee voted 5-2 to reopen the Wollaston School, creating a 10th school district to ease overcrowding at the elementary level.

• General Dynamics announced it would not convert the Quincy shipyard for Navy submarine repair work, drawing sharp criticism from union members and disappointment from city leaders attempting to save the sinking yard.

• Quincy patients rallied in support of Dr. Archie Keigan of Braintree whose medical license was suspended by the state for "improperly prescribing drugs to 13 people addicted to narcotics in 1980 and for not filing required reports and records on cases."

• Local officials hailed Gov. Michael Dukakis's decision to site a new Suffolk County jail in Boston rather than on Quincy-owned Moon Island.

• Quincy's first five-alarm fire in 24 years destroyed the Mutual Building, better known as the Kincaide Building, in downtown Quincy. The suspicious fire caused $4 million in damage. The Quincy Sun was formerly located there.

• Shipyard workers voted to approve a $100,000 feasibility study concerning a possible worker buy-out of the yard.

• The Bargain Center closed, ending an era as a Quincy Sq. landmark for 49 years.

• Plans for two major construction projects, the $8 million addition and renovation of the Quincy Police Station, and an eight-story building on the site of the former Kincaide Building were announced.

• Michelle Toth, 18, of Weymouth was crowned Miss Quincy Bay 1986.

• The 36-month long construction project for the $57 million replacement facility at Quincy City Hospital was started.

• The City Council voted 7-2 to override McCauley's veto of a council order that increased square feet per dwelling unit in PUD areas from 250 to 1,000.

• Construction increased more than $84 million from 1985, creating 10,000 new jobs and millions in new tax revenues.

• The "Save Our Quincy" petition drive was launched with a goal of 16,000 signatures in an effort to curb development density and change present building ordinances.

• A cyanide scare at a Quincy drug store turned out to be a false alarm when aspirin tablets thought to be laced with the poison were found coated with a common buffer.

• A giant parade with five bands, 800 marchers and costumed characters climaxed Houghs Neck's summer-long 350th celebration.

• After 10 years of telethons and other events, the Quincy Sun-Jerry Lewis Labor Day pledge center and telethon committee reached and passed the $1 million mark.

• A joint venture bid for the 102-year Quincy shipyard was made by Massachusetts Shipbuilders Inc., an employee buyout group, and a private investment firm. They planned to build a $100 million power plant.

• A 208-page report by the state criticized the Quincy Police Department for such things as lack of strong leadership and use of favoritism in assignments. Chief Francis Finn said the department would take actions to comply with the study's recommendations.

• Snug Harbor Court was renamed in memory of the late City Councillor Jim Crowley and a section of land in Scantum was dedicated in honor of the late Quincy Police Sgt. Michael Barry.

• A portion of Willard St. in West Quincy, termed one of the city's busiest and most dangerous roads, was turned over by Quincy officials to the MDC which promised an extensive traffic reinforcement effort.

• Deaths in 1986 included: Josephine Koury, 790, novelist and owner of Koury's Clam Stand in Wollaston; Robert F. Forde, 47, Quincy police officer; Dr. Casper J. Budrick, 71, Quincy podiatrist for 50 years; Angelo P. Bizzozero, 94, former owner and president of Ernest Bizzozero Memorials of Quincy and a former president of the City Council; Ruth F. ## $10.1 Million Surplus For City

• A slasher stalked the South Shore, stabbing several victims.

• One of the largest crowds in several years was in attendance at City Hall's Council Chambers to support the $54 million Presidents' Place project on the site of the old Bargin Center.

• Over 50 per cent of Central Middle School students signed a National Forum petition to urge a forum on nuclear weapons and other issues, and Broad Meadows students attended a Say No Substance Abuse assembly.

• Residents packed the Council Chambers to back a zoning change that would regulate the future of land at a busy intersection in North Quincy and a zoning change which would change an ordinance allowing automatic "Crossover" from one zoning use to another.

• The Registry of Motor Vehicles announced its move from Broad St. to the Quincy Fair building in Quincy Square. It cleared the way for a homeless shelter at the old Registry building on Broad St.

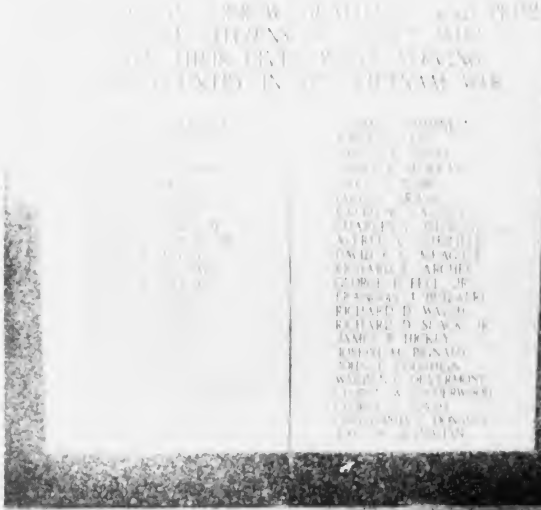

• Ward 2 Councillor Ted DeCristoforo, with not just a little passion, told the School Committee he would do anything he could to see that Point Middle School is kept open.

• The City Council unanimously approved final design plans for the renovation and addition to the police station, to be completed in 1989.

• A record $96 million budget was presented to the City Council by Mayor McCauley.

• A Superior Court judge ordered the 110-acre landfill in West Quincy to close, calling it an ecological disaster.

• Councillor Joseph LaRaia proposed a new retail district within a covered mall in the parking lot bounded by Cottage Ave., Hancock St., Revere Rd and the Quincy Courthouse, to revitalize Quincy.

NAMES OF 46 Quincy residents are inscribed on one of the sides of the Marina Bay Vietnam Memorial Clock Tower which honors those residents who were killed or are missing in action in the Vietnam War. The memorial was dedicated in October, 1987.

• Quincy was against dispensing condoms to seventh through 12th graders to ward off AIDS, despite a Massachusetts Teachers Association resolution.

• Thirty-five Quincy Police officers picketed in front of City Hall because of Auxiliary Police status.

• Herb Fontaine of WJDA was honored by the City Council for his 32 years of service covering council meetings and other Quincy news events.

• The MWRA announced its consideration of the General Dynamics shipyard as a transfer station for sludge composting and burning.

• Renee R. Vardaro, 21, of Brockton, was crowned Miss Quincy Bay 1987.

• A substance abuse testing plan was included in a three-year contract with the city ratified by the Quincy Police Betterment Association. It was the first time the city had included such a plan in negotiations with city unions.

• Actress June Lockhart, of Lassie fame, received the coveted Golden Paw Award from the Quincy Animal League in a visit to City Hall.

• A $10.1 million surplus was announced by Mayor Francis McCauley. The money was ticketed for improving schools, a new bookmobile and 11 marked police cruisers.

• The Marina Bay Clock Tower, honoring Quincy residents lost in Vietnam, was dedicated by U.S. Army General William Westmoreland.

• In one of the closest elections in recent years,

Mayor McCauley held off a strong challenge by former Mayor Joseph LaRaia to win a fourth term by a slim 474-vote margin. Voter turnout was 52 per cent.

• A Thanksgiving morning automobile crash took the lives of Richard Miller Jr., William B. Marston and Timothy Tobin, and severely injured Matthew Tobin. All were 22.

• The city entered into an agreement with the MWRA for an interim sludge facility at GD until at least 1995, announced McCauley.

• Deaths included John I. Williams, 70, former business liaison officer for Quincy District Court and a founder of the court's "Earn It" program, which was lauded by President Reagan; Hazel Olson, former leader of Hazel Price's all girl orchestra.

Toland First Woman Council President

- In his inaugural address, Mayor Francis McCauley said he would "reluctantly seek establishment of a sewer user fee, strict control over smoking in restaurants, and an ordinance which would place responsibility on property owners in Quincy to keep their property and adjacent areas clean."
- Councillor - at - large Patricia Toland became the first woman elected Quincy City Council president.
- Budget requests from city department heads for fiscal 1989 were up $16,736, 744 from the 1988 budget approved by the City Council.
- Mayor McCauley proposed a home rule petition for a four-year mayoral term be put on the ballot with the presidential election. The City Council eventually gave it the green light.
- The walls came down on the 49 year landmark the Bargain Center to make way for President's Place.
- The Super Tuesday presidential primary marked the first time Quincy's wards and precincts were made equal by population.
- Plans for revitalization of Quincy, as foretold by the Downtown and Economic Development Committee, included a proposed designated revitalization zone in Quincy Sq and a Quincy Tourism Association study to show how tourism could be increased.
- More parking tickets were issued this fiscal year than in any of the previous five.
- The city filed suit against General Dynamics, alleging the firm violated the tax agreement entered in 1983, where Quincy would pay GD due to overassessment. Mayor McCauley said the city was entitled to a rebate of 75 per cent of the interest rate.
- Carl Valenti retired as fire chief and was succeeded by Thomas F. Gorman Jr. as acting chief.
- The City Council adamantly opposed a methadone clinic in Quincy, citing possible drug problems. Methadone is a synthetic substitute for heroin used to weed addicts off the drug.
- Gov. Dukakis filed legislation which would allow the MWRA to transfer 75 acres at General Dynamics to former shipbuilders who want to use the site for building ships.
- The MWRA agreed to pay Quincy $2.8 million a year for municipal services in connection with MWRA activities at the former General Dynamics Shipyard.
- Although Gov. Dukakis vetoed $1.2 million in state aid to Quincy, McCauley said the city would weather the cuts.
- Dawn Larkin, 16, of Weymouth, reigned over Race Week as Miss Quincy Bay.
- Mayor McCauley, a Republican, went to Atlanta to cover the Democratic National Convention for The Quincy Sun.

• Quincy's Auxiliary Police took flak from the Quincy Police Patrolman's Association, who said there was no room for them in the city. The association said auxiliary police were ill-equipped to handle crisis situations.

• A massive onslaught of rain caused severe flooding in West Quincy and Wollaston and heavy pollution of beaches.

• Judge Paul C. Reardon, who was appointed Superior Court Chief Justice at age 45, died at 78.

• Father Daniel Graham left St. Johns for a new assignment at St. Brendan's and Fr. John McMahon retired as pastor at St. Mary's.

• A peace-march and fund raiser were held in the memory of stabbing victim Robert "Quackie" Lingoos, 18, of Germantown.

• Rep. Robert Cerasoli and Mayor McCauley found themselves at odds about the proposed four year mayoral term and the returning of the position of executive secretary of forestry and park to a mayor's appointment from civil service.

• The Quincy Sun turned 20 years old.

• Last-but not least-- Quincy turned 100...

Our New Year Cover Babies

New Year baby cover photos have been a Quincy Sun tradition down through our 20 years.

Usually the baby selected for the New Year's issue is the first baby born of Quincy parents at Quincy City Hospital the previous year.

There were three exceptions when babies were selected just because they were just plain cute.

Here are our cover babies:

1969: Tabitha Dawn Kimberly Melzard, born 3:42 p.m., Jan. 1, 1968.

1970: Susan Lynn Spargo, 10:19 a.m., Jan. 1, 1969.

City's Credit Rating Improved

After a trip to New York last week, Mayor Francis McCauley has returned to Quincy with some "outstanding news" regarding the city's credit rating.

At the tax classification hearing Monday night in city hall, McCauley announced that the city's credit rating has been improved by two New York City rating services.

The mayor said Moody's Investor Services upgraded the city's rating "one notch" from Baal to A while Standard and Poors upgraded their rating "two notches" from A- to A+.

According to McCauley, the improved ratings will save the city a half of a per cent to a per cent or $110,000 to $220,000 in borrowed money.

The city borrowed $4,245,000 to finish work on the new Quincy Police Station.

McCauley called the upgradings "outstanding news" since the better the rating, the lower the interest rate on the city's borrowing.

McCauley traveled to New York with City Auditor Robert Foy, Planning Director Richard Meade, Peter Kinney, the mayor's administrative assistant and officials from Shawmut Bank, the city's bankers.

The lowest rating in recent years was a Ba by Moody Investor Services, four notches below the present A rating.

In 1985, when Standard and Poors began ratings for Quincy, the rating was BBB, also four notches below its present level of A+.

ConCom Public Hearing

The Quincy Conservation Commission was scheduled to hold a public hearing and meeting Wednesday, Oct. 5 at 7:30 p.m. in the second floor conference room of city hall, 1305 Hancock St.

The commission was scheduled to continue a public hearing on a request by Frederick Weber III and Carol Hornblower, 14 Herbert Rd., to construct an addition in rear.

During its meeting, the commission was to discuss the public hearing and a request by Park Properties Realty Trust for a certificate of compliance on Burgin Parkway.

Tax Rates Up Residential $12.65 Business $24.71

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

Mayor Francis McCauley signed an amended version of his own tax classification plan Tuesday, creating a residential tax rate of $12.65 and a commercial, industrial and personal property tax rate of $24.71 for fiscal 1989.

The amended tax classification, based on 157 per cent full cash value, was approved by the City Council 7-1 Monday night. Prior to the council meeting, the mayor had requested a tax classification plan based on 150 per cent.

Although his plan was not approved, McCauley said he was not disappointed with the council's action.

"I thought 150 per cent was far enough this year. One hundred and fifty-seven per cent is not so extreme that I'd veto it. I'm not disappointed," he said, adding he wanted to keep the rate at 150 for one more year.

Under McCauley's plan, the residential tax rate would have been $13.03 and $23.61 for commercial, industrial and personal property (CIPP).

The amended tax plan, proposed by Ward 3 Councillor Lawrence Chretien, saves home owners money but puts CIPP rates higher than the 150 classification plan.

Councillor Timothy Cahill was the only councillor to support the mayor's plan. Councillor Patricia Toland was absent from Monday night's meeting.

Last year's rates were set at $12.22 for residential and $22.41 for CIPP. With the 157 per cent plan, the increase for this year over last is: 43 cents for residential and $1.10 for CIPP.

"With the 150 per cent plan, the residential tax rate would have increased 81 cents and the CIPP would have gone up $1.20.

By adopting the 157 per cent plan, the average single family home owner with a valuation of $117,380 will save $44 compared to the 150 per cent plan.

With the 157 per cent classification, the average home owner will pay $1,485 in residential taxes, an increase of $55 over last year.

Under the 150 per cent classification, the tax for an average single valuation of $117,380 would have been $1,529, an increase of $99 over last year.

Of the city's total tax valuation of $3.8 million, 74 per cent comes from residential taxes and 26 per cent comes from CIPP. Regarding Quincy's $60.4 million tax levy for fiscal 1989, 60 per cent comes from residential taxes and 40 per cent comes from CIPP.

Chretien said he favored the 157 per cent classification for several reasons.

"First, the residential housing crisis has gotten to the point that residential property values are rising a lot faster than non-residential property values. If we didn't adjust, we'd be increasing the burden on residential taxpayers," Chretien said.

"Also, the impact (of high residential taxes) is greater on renters. This offers them a break on the housing problem," he said.

Chretien also said the 157 per cent classification would not hurt business owners. "There are a lot of factors that determine a healthy business, such as state and federal income taxes and state and federal payroll taxes as well as interest rates and foot traffic.

"The economy in Quincy is good and we've got to be fair to residential taxpayers," Chretien said.

Councillor Stephen McGrath, chairman of the council's Finance Committee, said he supported the 157 per cent classification as an effort to "protect" homeowners, especially senior citizens, from high residential taxes.

"As real estate values continue to rise, we ought to do all that we can in order to protect the taxpayer from what could be exorbitantly high real estate bills, senior citizens in particular, we are concerned with. This is one of the main reasons I supported the legislation," McGrath said.

Taking the business point of view, McGrath said, "Certainly it is not with any sort of good feeling that we go on and pass on to business which is essentially a 10 per cent increase. We ought to look at other ways to run city government," he said.

"I would have to say that it is probably true that business is paying a very, very high rate of tax and unfortunately, that rate will go higher.

"I really think we should begin, not only on the state level but also the municipal level, at some kind of alternative to this regressive property tax," McGrath said.

Chretien's motion to amend the mayor's plan was seconded by Ward 4 Councillor James Sheets. Sheets said he favored the 157 per cent classification because the lower residential tax rate will help senior citizens trying to maintain their homes.

Ward 6 Councillor Thomas Nutley called the 150 per cent plan a "dramatic increase" over the 157 plan. "Anything we can do will help (residential taxpayers) tremendously."

New Program For Seniors To Fight Flim Flam Racket

Police Chief Francis Finn announces a new crime fighting program for senior citizens in Quincy.

The program is entitled "The Bunco Boys and How to Beat Them."

Due to the fact that there has been an increase in flim flam operations aimed at senior citizens, Finn said he believes that it would be timely now to present this program to the seniors in the city.

The program deals with three common fraud schemes used to con senior citizens and how senior citizens can avoid being the victims of these and other schemes.

The program is free of charge to Quincy senior citizens and can be obtained by contacting Officer Bob Hanna of the Quincy Police Department Crime Unit at 479-1212, ext 368.

Tax Bills In Mail Oct. 21

With the signing of a new tax classification plan by Mayor Francis McCauley, tax bills will be mailed out Friday, Oct. 21, the mayor said.

The first bills, which are for the first six months of fiscal 1989, are due Monday, Nov. 21, McCauley said.

The second installment of tax bills will be sent out in April and will be due May 1, McCauley said.

Sterling Parents' Complaints Have Been Resolved, Says Ricci

By JANE ARENA

Several issues raised by three parents of Sterling Middle School students have been "responded to and resolved" according to School Supt. Dr. Robert Ricci and Eugene Creedon, director of Elementary and Middle Schools.

Parents Marie Gallagher, Margaret Allen, and Denise Swimm said in a letter to The Quincy Sun that student safety had been jeopardized when Dr. Ricci decreased the number of afternoon pick up buses from four to three, disposing of bus route D's afternoon pick up. Parents were not informed of the change, which resulted in the overcrowding of bus route A. This bus was reported that he was misquoted in the letter and that he had never made any such promise.

"What I said was that the school would be ready for occupancy by the start of the school year," he said. Dr. Ricci said that $800,000 in repair work had been done on the entire school during the summer break and that the school was opened on time.

The decision to discontinue the bus route was based on a projection that students would be staying after school for extra-curricular activities, Dr. Ricci said.

Another complaint was that the school gymnasium was "unusable" due to painting and construction work being done. Dr. Ricci replied that all the repair work, including roof repair, painting, and the installation of new windows in the gym was completed shortly after the opening of the school, but that the gym has been "open and in operation for the past two weeks."

The parents also asserted that Dr. Ricci had "promised that all the repair work at Sterling would be completed before the start of school."

Dr. Ricci responded that he was misquoted in the letter and that he had never made any such promise.

"The money is there for a new kitchen," he said, "but we have to wait for a school break to do it." He also said that the new kitchen was never "promised."

Another complaint concerned a new sound system for the Theatrical Arts Program, which the letter claimed was also "promised by Dr. Ricci."

Dr. Ricci said that the sound system, too, had never been "promised" and that the auditorium for the program had been painted.

Dr. Ricci said "The work we said we would do has all been done. It's worked out beautifully and I'm satisfied with what we've done."

The parents also said that

"Dr. Ricci promised us a new kitchen which we understand has been cancelled," Dr. Ricci said it had been neither "promised" nor "cancelled."

He explained that the food preparation area of the kitchen needed work involving the removal of asbestos.

"I believe the asbestos has been removed," he said, noting that the area in question is the cooking area and that students never come in contact with it.

"The money is there for a new kitchen," he said, "but we have to wait for a school break to do it." He also said that the new kitchen was never "promised."

Another complaint concerned a new sound system for the Theatrical Arts Program, which the letter claimed was also "promised by Dr. Ricci."

Dr. Ricci said that the sound system, too, had never been "promised" and that the auditorium for the program had been painted.

Dr. Ricci said "The work we said we would do has all been done. It's worked out beautifully and I'm satisfied with what we've done."

City Council Passes $3,53,764 In Appropriations

The City Council passed $3,530,764 in appropriations at its meeting Monday night.

The breakdown:

- $1.4 million to waste collection and disposal.

Figure was amended from $2.6 million in an effort to "retain some of control" over the city's trash collection, said Ward 3 Councillor Lawrence Chretien, an advocate of a recycling program in Quincy.

According to Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson, the $1.4 million will cover trash pick up until February and at that time, more money can be appropriated to continue the service.

- $1,828,699 was appropriated to the revenue fiscal 1989 account from the free cash account. This figure was amended from $3,028,699.

- $11,119 to park and forestry department for tree plantings. The money will be used to complete a $26,119 planting project totaling 178 trees throughout the city.

- $7,300 to Recreation to fund 10 one-week sports camps and instructional workshops.

- $102,200 to Sewer,

- $35,000 to planning capital outlay for two Council on Aging passenger vans.

According to Council on Aging Director Thomas Koch, the money will purchase two vans priced at $17,500 and replace two of the council's six vans.

- $2,013 for two typewriters and a time stamp.

- $12,500 for the holiday display account. Money will be used for the Quincy Center and Business and Professional's Christmas Parade.

- $58,643 to personal services accounts to these departments: $25,508 to Sewer Water and Drain, $1,264 to Police, $16,326 to Highway and Sanitary, $6,516 to Cemetery, and $9,029 to Park and Forestry.

Money will be used to fund settled agreements between unions and the city.

- $7,300 to Recreation to fund 10 one-week sports camps and instructional workshops.

- $102,200 to Sewer,

Water and Drain for various trucks.

- $16,800 to Highway for a three-quarter ton pickup truck.

- $17,000 to Snow and Ice for a three-quarter ton truck with plow.

- $16,000 to Public Buildings for a station wagon.

- $12,000 to Police for a cargo van.

- $11,500 to Cemetery for various capital outlay projects.

In addition to these appropriations, the Council also accepted a $1,000 gift from the Fred E. Berglors Fund to be used by the Youth Commission from National Telecom Services for five years. It is anticipated that the savings by purchasing the system via lease is $800,000.

According to School Superintendent Robert Ricci, the system is a "cost saving measure" and will make the city's school department "more efficient."

Sears To Locate Paint, Hardware Store On Quincy Ave.

After about a 10-year absence, Sears & Roebuck will return to Quincy later this fall when the department store chain opens a paint and hardware store on Quincy Ave.

After leaving what is now Quincy Fair on Hancock St. in Quincy Center for the South Shore Plaza in 1979, the chain will open a 20,000-square foot paint and hardware store at 213-243 Quincy Ave., according to the Quincy Building Department.

A Sears spokesman said the store will open Dec. 7.

After Sears left its 85,000-square foot store in downtown Quincy, developer Francis X. Messina bought the building and renovated it into Quincy Fair. A multi-screen movie cinema recently opened at the fair giving the downtown business community a shot in the arm.

City officials have said that Quincy's economic climate is now on the upswing as several downtown office, retail and condominium projects are being constructed.

Manet Center Corporate Memberships

The Manet Community Health Center is offering corporate membership which allows for voting privileges at the annual meeting.

Membership must be obtained at least 30 days prior to the meeting in order to vote.

Forms are now available from the health center offices at Houghs Neck and Snug Harbor. Anyone over 18 is eligible.

The next annual meeting will be held Nov. 22 at the Community Room at 1193 Sea St. The meeting will offer a year-end report of the activities of the center and other business pertaining to the corporation.

Nominations to fill vacancies on the board of directors will also be presented.

'Homework All Done'

Environmental Task Force Reiterates Clean Harbors Opposition

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

Saying it wanted to wait until "all our homework was done," the Quincy Environmental Task Force recently reiterated its opposition to a hazardous waste incinerator proposed by Clean Harbors, Inc. at a meeting held in city hall.

Clean Harbors has proposed to install a rotary-kiln incinerator in Braintree near the Quincy line at the Fore River shipyard. The task force has spent the past 10 months researching and collecting data regarding the proposed incinerator as well as other environmental concerns, including hazardous waste cleanup at the 185-acre site.

Formed in November, 1987, the group set out to address environmental issues requiring in-depth investigation, scientific knowledge and varying perspectives of "diverse disciplines from within the established city departments." Soon after its inception, the task force decided it would make the proposed Clean Harbors rotary-kiln incinerator its "first and primary concern."

Among the group's concerns is emissions from the facility which could drift over Quincy neighborhoods, including densely populated Quincy Point.

"We accepted the challenges and we want to keep (the Clean Harbors incinerator) out of Braintree and the pollution from its stacks out of Quincy," said task force chairman David Smith, Quincy's personnel director.

According to Smith, Quincy, an abutting community to the proposed incinerator, "has been told that they will receive little or no funding for doing any of this research."

workers, a lot on our time at our own expense without state support or funding," he said, adding lack of state money has been their biggest obstacle in getting their message across.

Despite the lack of state funding, Smith and other members agreed they never lost sight of their goal.

"Everyone is working towards a goal of making sure environmental concerns are addressed. The only way we can do this is to keep hammering away," Smith said.

"The work was done with the concept that we could go public after our work was done," he said, adding members have worked "hundreds of hours" on the incinerator issue.

One task force member, Cynthia DeCristofaro of the city's Health Department, toured a similar incinerator plant in Chicago while on vacation recently.

"I wanted to get a better feel for the technology involved," she said, adding her experience allowed for better discussion of the Clean Harbors proposed incinerator.

"If we do our homework, we can keep Clean Harbors out of Braintree," Smith added.

The "homework" Smith referred to includes many written documents of correspondence as well as expert consultation and environmental reports. Correspondence included letters to the Hazardous Waste Facility Site Safety Council, Environmental Protection Agency and Executive Office of Environmental Affairs. Research also included finding photographs of the former General Dynamics shipyard and the eventual construction of a scale model of the site and surrounding neighborhoods showing how emissions could affect the area.

Local officials said they are pleased with the work done by the task force.

"I'm pleased with what we have done. I am very happy with what the task force has done," said Ward 2 Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro, a member of the group.

"Quincy has been doing its share of the work," said Senator Paul Harold (D-Quincy). "The reason the task force was set up was to let the state know this is not a one town problem. It's a regional issue."

"Quincy is best served by a committee that does its homework and then releases it," Harold said.

Quincy Health Commissioner M. Jane Gallahue, the vice chairman of the task force, said the group "tapped every available resource" while compiling the data.

Among the group's findings were:

- The Chicago-based incinerator visited by DeCristofaro was found to be under warranty for one year only. However, the design contractor can enter into an operation and maintenance contract with the operator, such as Clean Harbors.

- According to Task Force Member Mike Shaheen of the Quincy Health Department, the plant in Chicago is located approximately two miles from any neighborhoods, with the closest home one mile away.

- According to Gallahue, there are five similar incinerators like the one proposed by Clean Harbors in the country and all are located in small, rural areas.

- According to Harold, an incinerator he visited in

Readers Forum A Hell Of A Lot Of Money

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

In regards to a recent Boston Herald article we see that once again Mr. Paul Levy, executive director of the world famous Massachusetts Water Resources Authority was given a healthy 12 per cent raise.

When the average person looks at this, they may say, "What's wrong with that 12 per cent. It is not that much." To the average $20,000 a year worker, that is not that much. When you are already making $95,000 a year that is a hell of a lot of money.

The problem with the MWRA is that a board of directors set up by the corporation runs this "menace to the working man" authority at the taxpayers' expense.

Fine, give the man a raise if he really deserves it, but let's not take money out of my pocket to pay for his raise. The mayor tells us that within the next 10 years our water bill will be over $1,000 a year. Well now I understand why.

Agrees With Spring On One Legion Team Opposition

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I would like to commend Ed Spring, Quincy Legion Baseball coach, for his position on one Legion team for Quincy.

Many times we lose sight of the fact that sports, especially for youngsters, are for enjoyment and participation.

Yes, it is great to win, but it's more important to participate. That's where we learn to work together as a team and find out about sacrifice and discipline.

It's great for a community to have a winning team but in the long run it's more important for a team to have as many of its young people experience the joy of competition and accomplishment.

We don't want to limit athletics to those exceptional few but to all.

LIFE INSURANCE OPTIONS

When you purchase life insurance, it's a major investment, and when you begin to look at the many types of policies that are available, it can seem somewhat confusing.

Even if you do your homework and feel that you understand the differences between term, whole life and universal life, there are many variations of these types of policies being offered in the marketplace while there are many consumer information publications dealing with insurance, they are usually quite general, and they may not be able to provide details that can make a big difference in individual situations. Before you make any decisions about the coverage that is ideal for you and your family, it's important to sit down with an insurance professional who can help you tailor a plan just for you. In addition, your agent can provide you with information about the pros and cons of each type of policy that will enable you to make a truly informed decision.

Stand Up, Republicans

Maybe it's time someone asked John McDuff, Richard Harris and Denis Tardo to stand up and take a bow.

For political bravery, courage or just plain guts, whatever you want to call it.

The three Republicans this year decided to go after state representative seats against lopsided odds in a Democratic stronghold.

There are two of them still in contention now and if one of them succeeds, it will go down as one of the biggest local upsets ever.

But this year, it was a real Republican novelty. Not only did three Republicans become candidates, two of them ran against one another.

Harris and Tardo went after the Republican nomination for state representative in the Second Norfolk District.

in last week's primary.

Tobin and Harris will square off in the final election in November.

TOBIN

mean that Republicans in the city are finally saying, "We're ready to fight."

The worst thing that could happen is to have one party dominate the political scene so strongly that the other party won't even come out to play — never mind

Task Force Reiterates Clean Harbors Opposition

Denmark is located in a "desolate" area. He said surrounding cities and towns control it and sort out waste materials before incineration. As an example, Harold said small, nine-volt batteries are removed from waste before incineration.

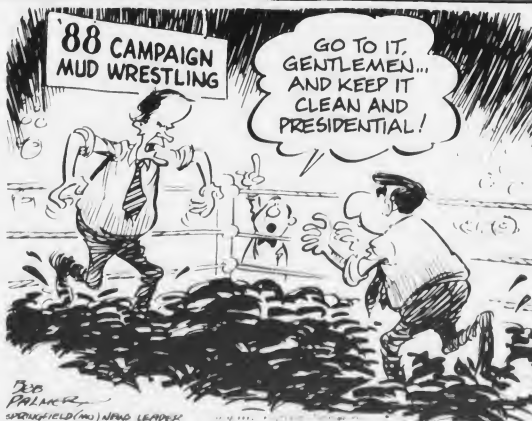

According to Gallahue, the final decision for the proposed Clean Harbors incinerator in Braintree could come in 1989. The application process began in July, 1987 and it is a two-year process, she said.

"We're at the half way point," Gallahue said.

Members of the Quincy Environmental Task Force are: Smith, Gallahue, Theodore DeCristofaro, Cynthia DeCristofaro, Mike Shaheen, Joan Oates of Senator Paul Harold's office, Heather Sergeant of the Conservation Commission, Richard Meade of the Planning Department, Roberta Fitzgerald of the Planning Department, Mike Wheelwright of the Department of Public Works, and Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney.

Of course, it wasn't always this way. Back in the 1920s, 1930s and 1940s and into the 1950s, Republicans ruled the city. But the Democrats had turned things around by the 1960s.

Republicans may never get back in control again but the willingness of Tardo, McDuff and Harris to get in there and mix it up is a healthy start to making it more of a two-party system locally.

Maybe other Republicans in the city will become more active as candidates two years from now and after that.

THOSE METER MAIDS will get you if you don't watch out. And, apparently it doesn't matter who you are.

Mayor Francis McCauley was down at Embellish on the westerly side of Hancock St. in the downtown area to help that firm mark its first anniversary last week.

And while he was inside doing his bit, a meter maid was outside writing up a ticket for His Honor's car for being parked in a restricted area. Penalty, $5.

Arthur Foley, the mayor's administrative aide, takes the blame, however. He says he drove the car and he'll pay the $5.

Incidentally, this restricted area is about to be legalized for parking by the City Council at the request of the downtown business community.

NORTH QUINCY FOOTBALL Coach Ken

McPhee hopes his team doesn't face any more sons of celebrities the rest of this season.

In the Raiders' game against Newton North, Joe DeNucci, son of the state auditor and former outstanding boxer, almost beat North single handedly as he rushed for 28 yards and scored both touchdowns on runs of 77 yards and 61 yards, but North held on to win, 20-14.

In the next game, last Friday night against Brookline, Geoff Gamere scored all four touchdowns as Brookline rolled over the Raiders, 29-0. Gamere is the son of TV sportscaster Bob Gamere.

Constables And The Lockup

Prior to the first uniformed police officer, the law, or law enforcement in Quincy was handled by constables. These men were elected yearly by popular vote.

As early as 1710 there is noted a "public service law" which compelled everyone, by turn, to serve as constable or surveyor. It was the duty of the constable to collect taxes, accounting for those collected as well as those not collected.

The police "Lockup" was constructed by Seth Adams in 1856 for the sum of $186.87. The lockup was located in the cellar of Town Hall. The lockup consisted of two cells constructed of brick and doors of solid oak.

Washington M. French was chosen as the first keeper of the lockup. The lockup remained in Town Hall until 1872 when the town voted to construct a new lockup on the southerly side of the Town Hall.

An entrance with a stairway was constructed and a room finished off in the basement with two cells constructed of brick walls and iron grate doors. Two iron cots were placed in the cells. This equipment was considered up to date as far as lockups went. The total cost of construction was $1254.35. The lockup furnished lodgings to 198 tramps that year.

The name lockup was changed the following year to Police Station, a more dignified name by which it has since been called. French continued to be keeper until 1878 at which time Joseph French was chosen to succeed him. During this year, owing to the increase of travelers, it became necessary to increase the size of the police station by four cells, which were constructed in a separate room.

Please notice the film-flam operation noted in the "Hot Spots." A man representing himself as a Quincy Police Officer, is soliciting money for an ad book. ## Harris Criticizes Legislative Delegation On Sludge Facility

Richard A. Harris, Republican candidate for state representative in the Second Norfolk District, has criticized Quincy's legislative delegation for failing to protect the selection of Quincy as the preferred site for a permanent sludge treatment plant.

"Although the cleanup of Boston Harbor is a regional problem, Quincy has been singled out to provide the solution," Harris said. "I can see no reason why the citizens of Quincy should have to bear this burden."

"Since House Speaker Keverian did not see fit to call a special election to fill the vacancy in the Second Norfolk District, we must rely on Senator Harold and Representatives Cerasoli and Morrissey to protect the city's interests. With so much at stake, one would expect more vocal opposition from our elected officials," he said.

"It is hard to believe that a densely populated urban area would be a more suitable location for a sludge facility than an offshore island that is uninhabited.

"Quincy has little to gain and much to lose. Property values will almost certainly be affected, and the net result on air quality standards has yet to be determined," Harris said.

"Quincy would not be in its present unenviable position if it were not thought to be dependably Democratic in its voting habits. It is presumed that we will suffer the inconvenience of housing undesirable structures while continuing to elect those that allow such outrages to occur.

"By electing a Republican to represent the Second Norfolk District, Quincy could send a clear message to Beacon Hill that such treatment will no longer be tolerated. An independent spokesman, with no ties to the legislative leadership, could more effectively preserve our city's territorial integrity and quality of life," Harris said.

Donnelly Endorsed By Massachusetts AFL-CIO As 'Friend And Ally'

Congressman Brian Donnelly has received the statewide endorsement from the Massachusetts AFL-CIO, which called Donnelly "a friend and ally" of every working man and woman across the state.

Donnelly, who is seeking his fifth term, was cited for his "superior labor record and continued advocacy" in an endorsement letter from Arthur Osborn, president of the state AFL-CIO.

The Massachusetts Building Trades Council, with its Brockton affiliate, and the Greater Brockton Central Labor Council, followed the lead of the state AFL-CIO and also endorsed Donnelly's re-election bid.

"Since my days in the Massachusetts legislature, I have strived for better working conditions for all men and women," Donnelly said. "These awards and endorsements mean a great deal to me and I thank every working person across my district and the state."

Donnelly, who spearheaded legislation calling for a 60-day notice for workers who were about to be laid off from their jobs, said the Reagan Administration "just doesn't understand the plight of the working class."

When Reagan vetoed the Omnibus Trade Act which included the plant closing provision, Donnelly acted quickly to push a plant closing bill through the House. When the Administration realized another veto would be overridden, the president allowed the bill to become law without his signature.

"We obviously had to show the administration that there are people who rely on their jobs. Those workers are people. They have families to take care of and homes to maintain," Donnelly said.

The Massachusetts AFL-CIO, which has over 400,000 members statewide, voted unanimously to endorse Donnelly.

'Why Relationships Fray' Squantum First Church Sermon

"Why Relationships Fray" was the title of the sermon preached at the First Church of the Squantum Sunday morning by the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor.

This was the second in a series of five sermons being preached by him on the subject of human relationships. The series is entitled "Relating To Others: Relating To God."

Sermons for the next three weeks will be Oct. 9, "Dealing With Interpersonal Conflict"; Oct. 16, "Three Things To Do If You Care"; and Oct. 23, "If You Are Broken-hearted."

The highlight of this World Communion Sunday service was an observance of the Lord's Supper. Seated with the pastor at the Lord's table were Deacons Gretchen Bumpus, Stewart Scott, Barbara Walter, Dana Olson, and Grace Holmes.

Harry Holmes and Lore Wallin were the ushers. Eva Martin, Katherine Hansen, and Janet Sumner hosted the Fellowship Hour after the service.

Cynthia Stanton, the church clerk, conducted a brief election during the announcements. Elected to the Nominating Committee for 1988-89 are Sandra Stohlberg, Patti Hurd, Carl Anderson, Lorraine Jewell, and Rene Johnson. The group had been nominated at the Church Council meeting Wednesday night. The church moderator, Sally Johnson, had presided at that meeting.

Events coming up include Ladies' Aid Wednesday, Oct. 5, at 12 noon; Evening Friendship, Tuesday, Oct. 11 at 7:30 p.m.; Board of Trustees, Wednesday, Oct. 19, at 7:30 p.m.; Board of Deacons, Monday, Oct. 24, at 7:30 p.m.; Reformation Sunday, breakfast and service, on Sunday, Oct. 30, 10:30 a.m.; the church fair, Saturday, Nov. 5 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Covenant Sunday, Nov. 6, Stewardship Sunday, Nov. 11, and Thanksgiving Sunday, breakfast and service, Nov. 18.

Members and friends of the church will be going to camp for a day on Grotonwood Day, Monday, Oct. 109. The trip to a church camp near Groton will include boat rides, hayrides, nature concerts, lots of good food, a point-by-point market, an auction, and more. Parents with young children are particularly urged to attend since it is a good way to become familiar with a Christian camp that they might like to use at some point in the future.

The Bible Study Group will meet next week on Wednesday, Oct. 12, at 7:30 p.m. Its usual meeting night is Tuesday.

On Oct. 16, the board of deacons will be sponsoring a brunch for friends and members of the church and guests. The brunch will be a good opportunity for persons new to the community to visit the church and meet its members.

The Chancel Choir rehearses on Thursdays at 7:30 p.m. The Junior Choir meets Thursdays at 3 p.m. and the Youth Choir on Sundays at 11:45 p.m.

The service this Sunday will begin at 10:30 a.m. Sunday School and a nursery are provided during the service. Orange Crush, the church youth group, meets Sunday nights at 6:30 p.m.

'Creators Or Consumers?' United First Parish Sermon

"Do we live only to pay the bills, or is there a deeper purpose to the work we do?"

This is the question Dr. Sheldon W. Bennett, minister, will address in his sermon "Creators Or Consumers" during the 10:30 a.m. service Sunday at United First Parish Church (Unitarian), "Church of the Presidents," Quincy Sq.

The Church Choir, under the direction of Norman

Corey, will sing anthems by Hassler and Vaughan Williams. Mr. Corey will also play organ works by Gibbons and Bennett.

Visitors are welcomed and are invited to the social hour following the service. Virginia Sindelar will be greeter, Betty Bond and Chris Blomberg will be pourers at the social hour, and Richard Post and Matt Malloy will be ushers.

Historic First Parish Church dates from 1636.

Unitarian since 1750, the church continues as a leader in liberal religion. It is also the church of Presidents John Adams and John Quincy Adams, whose tombs are within the church, with those of their wives Abigail and Louisa Catherine.

The church is located at 1306 Hancock St. opposite Quincy City Hall. Church school is at 10:30 a.m. and child care is provided during the service.

What's up and coming in health care?

The New QCH!

Quincy City Hospital has begun an impressive $57 million renovation. Almost two-thirds of the buildings and other facilities will be replaced — all part of a dramatic plan to better serve the growing and changing health care needs of the South Shore.

The focal point of the new hospital complex will be a brand new six story building that will contain 234 patient beds as well as all of the necessary patient care support services.

Since its founding in 1890, Quincy City Hospital has been in the forefront of health care on the South Shore. With our new facilities we'll continue to deliver the highest quality health care services with warm, personal attention.

At QCH — we're building for the future on a proud past.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

What do we owe in the way of loyalty to others? To whom do we owe loyalty? First of all, we owe loyalty to ourselves - to our principles in which we believe and by which we conduct our lives. We owe loyalty to those with whom we work. Not the covering up of mistakes, not the condoning of errors, but a broader loyalty that makes their needs as important as our own. We owe loyalty to those for whom we work. Not a servile acquiescence, but a loyalty that keeps us doing our best to do the job for which we were hired to the utmost of our ability. Loyalty demands from us that we give as well as take. That we take responsibility and give service. We owe loyalty to our family and friends. Not a blind endorsement of all they do, but the loyalty of an understanding heart that assumes the good and is bold enough to speak out against evil and wrong. We owe loyalty to our country. It may not be as perfect as we wish, but we, as citizens, have the power within ourselves to make it so. The greatest safeguard of our democratic way of life, of our Republic itself, is the unwavering loyalty of those who comprise its citizenry. Loyalty means the willingness at times to stand up and be counted. It can bring great joy and it can bring discomfort and sometimes suffering, but isn't it worth what it costs?

Gilleran Challenges Donnelly On Defense Records

Mike Gilleran, a Republican candidate for Congress in the 11th District, is challenging his Democratic opponent, incumbent Brian Donnelly on his economic and defense records.

"On taxes, spending, defense and foreign policy, Donnelly is almost as liberal as Mike Dukakis," said Gilleran.

"However, as much as Donnelly may deny that he is a liberal, his liberal voting record is there in black and white. When the National Taxpayer's Union rates you a 'Big Spender' four of the last four years, and you vote against virtually every major defense system since the slingshot, there's no denying you are a liberal," he said.

Gilleran, 34, of Hyde Park, is a trial lawyer who handles civil cases. He is a partner in the Boston law firm of Schultz & Bednarz, P.A. He has authored legal articles which have appeared in the American Bar Association Journal and the Massachusetts Law Review.

Born in New York and raised in Michigan, Gilleran was a high school state champion cross-country runner. After college, Gilleran worked for two years on an assembly line for Chrysler in Detroit. While working for Chrysler, he was a member of the United Autoworkers Union.

Gilleran studied law at New York University School of Law and at Boston College Law School. He has lived in the Boston area since 1980.

Gilleran said he feels "more in tune" with the conservative views of the 11th Congressional District than Donnelly.

"The district is overwhelmingly Democratic, Irish and conservative. Donnelly is a Democrat and he's Irish but he's generally a liberal," Gilleran said.

"I'm not a Democrat, but I'm Irish and conservative. I'm asking people to ignore party labels and vote for a conservative like themselves," he added.

According to Gilleran, the most important issue facing the country today is maintaining economic growth.

"Our future depends on a steady hand on the nation's economic rudder," he said. "Our economy will crash on the rocks if both taxes and spending are not kept under control. Donnelly's record clearly shows that he does not understand this."

Gilleran also said he is concerned with family values, faith, community, and schools with greater parental control. He criticized the state's liberal political leadership saying, "The liberals don't understand the importance of individual freedom, the value of families, the moral superiority of the United States over the Soviet Union, the importance of strength in protecting freedom and the value of retarded free enterprise," he said.

Gilleran said he believes that the values of the liberal Democratic leadership are no longer the values of the working men and women in the district.

"The future of Massachusetts politics," Gilleran said, "is away from the liberal establishment which denies a voice to the moderate to conservative working men and women in Massachusetts."

"Future Massachusetts political leaders will be moderate to conservative Republicans from working and middle class backgrounds, who hopefully will include me," he said. "This future leadership will understand the importance of traditional Republican values of low taxes, controlled spending and strong defense, while also understanding that government can have a strong humanitarian role in improving people's lives."

Don Bosco To Report On Campaign

The Don Bosco Technical School in Boston will report on the progress of the 1988 portion of their five-year "Growth and Development Campaign for Excellence" in October.

The goal of the campaign is to raise $6 million for the school over a five year period. The money will be used for endowment funds to provide scholarships and financial assistance to needy students and for extensive renovations and repair work on the school.

School principal, Charles A. Schuetz of Quincy said that "If we are to maintain our excellent record of providing a quality technical educational program, along with preparing young men to continue their education in college, we must raise funds to be financially secure for present and future generations of students."

4 Residents Receive Conway Awards

Four Quincy residents have been presented with achievement awards from the Jack Conway Company's Quincy offices.

During August, Judy Lyons negotiated the most sales and Betty Hourin listed the most property through the Wollaston office.

In the Quincy Center office, sales associate Doug Connors negotiated the most sales and Laura Penny listed the most property.

The names of the award recipients are displayed on a plaque in their offices.

Classical Music, Modern Dances Centennial Cultural Contrasts

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

Classical music of the 1800's and modern dances of 1988 contrasted at Quincy's Centennial Cultural Evening last Friday at Woodward School for Girls.

"This is an appropriate setting since this school holds a special place in Quincy history," said Eugene Creedon, Centennial Co-chairman with Joyce Baker. (The school opened in 1894.)

Close to 200 persons were present when the Scarborough Chamber Players presented a faultless selection of compositions from French and Spanish composers of the 1800's. The internationally known group, based in Quincy for the past seven years, was directed by Virginia Sindelar, flutist. Anna Soranno was soprano soloist, with William Buoncore, guitarist. Following a flute-guitar rendition of "Snow Dreams", composed in 1986 by Joan Lower, the program closed with American folk songs sung by Ms. Soranno.

A rousing contrast were the 20th Century popular dances of the Frances Osborne School of Dance, located in South Quincy for 25 years, and directed by Frances Osborne Jancaterino. Thirteen students enlivened the six patriotic show numbers arranged by choreographer Francine Jancaterino.

At intermission, Marilyn Reisberg, president of the Quincy Art Association, formally presented to the City of Quincy portraits painted by Edwina Caci, of Charles H. Porter, Quincy's first mayor in 1888, and Francis McCauley, serving his third term as Mayor in 1988.

In accepting the gifts, McCauley said of Porter (1843-1911) "He was a Republican. He served two one-year terms as Mayor, 14 years on the Quincy School Committee," continuing a Quincy insurance business for many years.

The Centennial observance will continue through Jan. 3, 1989, McCauley said, the date of his mid-term address, and the month in 1899 in which the present form of government began.

McCauley is the 26th mayor under this plan. Richard Porter, grandson of the first Mayor and a lifelong Quincy resident, expressed appreciation for the portrait of his grandfather, "whom I never knew. He died three years before I was born."

Two dozen original paintings of Quincy historical persons and scenes by Quincy Art Association members were displayed in the school lobby. These the Presidents' Church, Adams Birthplaces and Mansion, to present-day clam diggers, Blacks Creek, and a Blessing of The Fleet '78. Artists were Anet Pagherani, Ruth Heeman, Sally Moscardelli, Mary Rennie, Carmen Unger, Ann Muir, Violet Gillis, Kay Hansen, Elva Proctor, John Shaw, Helen Shaw, Marilyn Reisberg and Olive Thompson.

McCauley presented Centennial Citations of Appreciation for their contributions to Miss Reisberg of the Quincy Art Association, Miss Sindelar of the Scarborough Chamber Players, and Mrs. Jancaterino of the dance school.

The program, made possible by the Quincy Arts Lottery, was arranged by the Co-chairmen Creedon and Baker, with Mary-Jane Fandel as coordinator and Carol Block in charge of refreshments.

Centennial Exhibit To Open Oct. 22 At Historical Society

With the opening of a six-month exhibit at the Quincy Historical Society, the Quincy Centennial observance seems to have peaked in October.

The Centennial exhibit, "One Hundred Years, and Counting," will be officially opened on Sunday, Oct. 23, with the public invited to a ceremony and viewing from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Adams Academy headquarters of the Quincy Historical Society, according to Elliott W. Hoffman, Director Curator.

Details will be announced later.

Other October events are: On Oct. 8 and 9, "Hello, Quincy, Hello!", a Happy Birthday salute to the City, will be presented in Sacred Heart Auditorium, North Quincy, with some 160 parishioners of all ages in the show. Tunes, dance numbers and comedy routines will include recognition of some Quincy celebrities, actresses Ruth Gordon and Lee Remick, Billy DeWolfe, among others.

Oct. 27 at 7:30 p.m. the Quincy Historical Society will have William Fowler of Northeastern University speaking on "Schooners Down East." The annual LaBrecque Award will be presented by Joyce I. Baker, president of the Society and also co-chairman with Eugene Creedon of the Quincy Centennial Committee.

Oct. 28, there will be a Centennial gala musical program at Eastern Nazarene College, during which awards will be made to college essay contestants.

Mental Illness Awareness Week

Mayor Francis McCauley has proclaimed the week of Oct. 2 through 9 as National Mental Illness Awareness Week in the city of Quincy.

The proclamation reads: "Mental illnesses are diseases of the brain for which neither the victims nor their families are to blame."

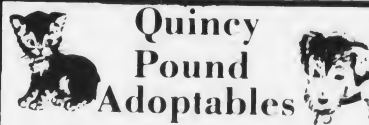

Mentally ill persons occupy more hospital beds than persons suffering from cancer and lung and heart diseases combined.

Funding for research into the causes and cure of mental diseases has been extremely limited in comparison with that for many less common illnesses.

Most mentally ill persons are not violent and wish only to be accepted in the community on their merits as individuals, rather than to be feared and avoided.

National Mental Illness Awareness Week in the city of Quincy has been proclaimed "as a way to reduce stigma and promote understanding of the mentally ill and their families and urge the citizens of Quincy to give fitting recognition to this observance," the proclamation read.

Father Bill's Place Will Open Oct. 17

Father Bill's Place, the city's first permanent shelter for homeless men and women, will open Monday, Oct. 17, according to Nancy Powers, executive director of the Quincy Interfaith Sheltering Coalition.

The new facility, located at the former Registry of Motor Vehicles building at 38 Broad St., Quincy, will house 35 men and 10 women. It replaces the temporary homeless shelters in two Quincy churches and will serve the South Shore.

Beginning in November, the shelter will be open 24 hours a day, Powers said. The shelter's phone numbers will remain 770-3314, 770-3315 and 770-3316 and will be manned 24 hours a day, seven days a week, she said.

The move by the Registry to the Quincy Fair mini-mall in January cleared the way for the Sheltering Coalition to begin the $300,000 conversion of the building.

Operating money will come from contributions and state grants.

The facility is named for Rev. William R. McCarthy, a former president of the Quincy Interfaith Coalition and longtime advocate for the homeless on the South Shore. He has been pastor of St. John the Baptist Church for 11 years.

The QISC has moved from several temporary quarters, including the Salvation Army facility, St. John's Church, Faxon House at Quincy City Hospital, Wollaston Lutheran Church and Quincy Point Congregational Church.

Powers said volunteers are still needed, including kitchen volunteers and care volunteers. She also thanked all those people who have given their time to this worthy cause.

"I want to thank each of you for your devotion, time and energy. We are where we are because of people like you, who have cared and given of themselves," Powers said.

McDuff Assails MWRA, Clean Harbors

Speaking at a meeting, Republican state representative candidate John H. McDuff assailed Clean Harbors and the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority as "twin monsters."

McDuff said "the MWRA led the people of Quincy down the garden path with the promise that the sludge treatment plant would only be a temporary facility, while I believe they intended all along to make the shipyard site permanent."

"At the same time, Clean Harbor's plan for a toxic waste incinerator in our backyard is a clear assault on our health, our property values and the quality of life in our neighborhood."

"Locating such facilities right under our noses is a slap in the face to us all."

Operations of this sort belong in remote, less populated areas," McDuff said.

"I recommend strongly that our officials and residents continue the fight to locate the sludge plant on Spectacle Island where it belongs, despite the cavalier disregard of our wishes by Billy Bulger."

"After all, Bulger is not God, his own opinion notwithstanding. As for Clean Harbors, the chemical spills we have already experienced are a pretty clear indication of what we can expect when the toxic fumes from their proposed 200 foot smokestack billow into our homes and schools on every breeze," he said.

"The citizens who are putting up such a valiant fight to stop the twin monsters are to be highly commended, but I don't feel that our present state representative has shown the quality of leadership that we've needed."

"If he had actively involved himself from the outset, perhaps we would not be facing the development of either facility."

"I have not personally heard one constructive thought expressed by Mr. Cerasoli (Rep. Robert Cerasoli). Where was he when all of this began to be dumped on us?"

"What we need is a real voice for the people, not a rubber stamp. We need a representative who will fight against the power structure on Beacon Hill."

"I believe that Mr. Cerasoli's lack of leadership is to a large extent responsible for the debacle we are facing," McDuff said.

South Quincy T Airport Shuttle May Be Relocated

Citing insufficient parking, the Logan Airport Shuttle bus stop at the Quincy Adams MBTA station in South Quincy will most likely be relocated, possibly to Braintree, sometime in the future, a Massport spokesman said Monday.

"Our hope is to relocate the site from the Quincy Adams MBTA station," said Maynard Scarborough, a Massport spokesman.

"Quincy Adams is restricted in parking. It is basically for park and ride people. There is an unavailability of parking there and we would like to construct our own parking facility," Scarborough said.

One possible site is the former South Shore Plaza Twin Drive-In located near the Route 128 and Route 3 interchange in Braintree.

Scarborough said Massport has been negotiating with the Flatley Co., which owns the land. He said other sites "are in mind and all are located in the general South Shore area."

Negotiations to relocate from Quincy Adams have been ongoing for the past year, he said.

According to Scarborough, a move to another location would be beneficial to South Shore airport commuters.

"It would be better to serve the South Shore from a more accessible location. We're not dissatisfied with Quincy Adams but by relocating we could much better serve the area," Scarborough said, adding that "we are not under any pressure from the MBTA to move."

Scarborough said the principal reason for the move is to acquire sufficient parking spaces. As it now stands, most, if not all, spaces at Quincy Adams are filled by MBTA commuters by 8 a.m.

"The Quincy Adams MBTA station was not designed for airport bus and ride service," he said. Scarborough also said it is doubtful Massport would request designated parking spaces at Quincy Adams for shuttle riders.

"I don't think we would ever look into having designated spaces," he said.

In addition, Scarborough said it is doubtful Quincy Adams would be used as a satellite shuttle stop with another main stop. According to Scarborough, Massport would like to begin an airport shuttle bus service on the South Shore similar to the authority's Framingham shuttle stop.

Located off Routes 9 and 30 near Shoppers World, the site has 180 spaces where shuttle riders can park and board buses. According to Scarborough, the Framingham site has been more successful than Quincy Adams for perhaps a variety of reasons.

Scarborough said the Framingham ridership frequency is higher than Quincy Adams because of its location in a high-tech business area. He also said having their own parking system could be a reason for Framingham's success.

"It's hard to call," Scarborough said.

Last week marked the second year anniversary of airport shuttle service from Quincy Adams. During its two years of operation, more than 154,000 travelers have used the shuttle out of Quincy Adams, including 103,241 this year.

The service is run by Plymouth and Brockton Street Railway Co. under contract with Massport.

"They have done a great job. We are pleased with them," Scarborough said.

South Shore Stroke Club Marks 10th Anniversary

By JANE ARENA

In the summer of 1978, Caroline Raimondi of Braintree, a woman of 42 who had had a stroke two months earlier, met by chance with Bruce Richardson, of Hingham, also a stroke victim, while grocery shopping.

This meeting would change not only their own lives but those of the many stroke patients they've been able to help over the past 10 years.

The two, together with Sidney Winders of Weymouth, conceived of and mouthed the South Shore Stroke Club which celebrated its 10th anniversary this week.

Founded on the slogan "We Stress Abilities - Not Disabilities," this attitude carries over into everything the club does.

The 25 current members meet on the first Monday of each month at the Town Brook House in Quincy to go to lunch or on other outings in the community concentrating on what they can do and not on what they can't.

When the club started there were only eight members. Two months later there were 68 members, due to the recruiting efforts of the founders, who spoke in area hospitals and even in the homes of stroke patients to get their message across.

"There was a great need for people helping people," says Richardson, "and for stroke patient helping stroke patient. I here's a certain communication that goes on between people who've had strokes that other people can't understand."

Raimondi speaks about this need as well.

"When I had my stroke," she says, "I felt like my world had come to an end."

A mother of four, Raimondi's husband of 28 years left her after her stroke, which, she feels, gave her the "extra push" to become active in helping others in her situation.

Aside from her duties with the Stroke Club, Raimondi also formed the Commission on Handicapped Affairs in Braintree, is a former member of Easter Seals, and has been on the Governor's Advisory Council for the Handicapped for nine years.

Wearing a leg brace and having lost the use of her left arm, Raimondi truly lives by the club's slogan. Her abilities far outshine her disabilities.

Richardson, who is confined to a wheel chair after a massive stroke, was out in public for the first time in five years to celebrate the club's 10th anniversary. He says he mostly stays at home now, but that this may change after the anniversary.

"I was reluctant to come at first," he says, "but now I'm glad I did."

Before his massive stroke five years ago, Richardson received an accommodation from President Reagan for his efforts on behalf of stroke patients. He frequently spoke at area hospitals and nursing homes giving other stroke victims motivation and encouragement.

"In my opinion," he says, "95 per cent of recovery from a stroke is positive thinking. You have to think positively even when you're feeling negative."

Thanks to the efforts of the South Shore Stroke Club, that may be a bit easier to do.

For more information on the club, call Caroline Raimondi at 848-4159.

Presidents Face Tough Peabody Friday

By TOM SULLIVAN

Back in the 1920s and 30s, Joe Zapustas followed a brilliant high school career at South Boston with an excellent career at Fordham University under the famed 'Iron Major,' Frank Kavanaugh, and later was longtime football coach and athletic director at Randolph High.

Last Saturday night at Veterans Memorial Stadium Joe's namesake grandson, co-captain and quarterback of the Weymouth South football team, was a one-man gang as he accounted for 26 points as the Wildcats defeated Quincy, 27-6, in the Presidents' home opener.

Quincy will try to rebound Friday night at 7 p.m. at the stadium, but faces another tough task against Peabody which tied Salen and defeated Somerville and Everett. Quincy did not meet Peabody last year.

Zapustas completed nine of 12 passes for 235 yards for Weymouth, three for touchdowns, scored a touchdown himself and rushed for a two-point conversion. The only point he didn't have a hand in was Bob Leighton's kick following the final South touchdown.

The Presidents were unable to generate any consistent offense and rushed for only 37 net yards. Weymouth rushed for 111 yards.

Quarterback Chris Noble was 11 for 18 for 167 yards, but except for a 65-yard touchdown pass to Scott Grant, he was pretty well controlled until the final minutes when he completed four in a row for 57 yards.

"I was very disappointed," said Quincy coach Jack Raymer. "I thought we would do much better and it is particularly disappointing because it was our first home game. Our offensive line was again ineffective in the first half and, although it improved in the second half, it was too late. Chris was running for his life in the first half.

"I feel sorry for boys like

Jim Dennett, who puts out 110 per cent all the time. He ran well at times tonight and caught three passes, in addition to one for a touchdown that was called back. Dave Nourse also showed up well running at times.

"We had far too many penalties and they really hurt us. We had a few promising drives going only to have penalties stop us. We just didn't execute. Tommy Morrell played another fine two-way game and Dan Hanly, Tony Madden, Frank Ienello, Todd Kimmell and Brian Norris all played well on defense. But we are going to have to work awfully hard on our offensive line. There was no excuse for us letting them score on those two early passes. We had the receiver stopped both times but our tackling was poor."

The game started out just as the North Quincy game the night before did. Quincy kicked to open the game and on the first play from scrimmage Zapustas threw a swing pass to Kevin Danahy. Danahy was almost stopped but broke loose and completed a 60-yard touchdown play.

The Presidents were stopped following the kickoff and Noble punted out on Weymouth's 47. Four plays later Zapustas threw another swing pass to Mike McMahon. Again he was almost stopped but escaped to complete a 37-yard touchdown pass. Zapustas went around left end for the two-point conversion.

Quincy drove downfield following the kickoff, picked up two first downs and a pass from Noble to Dennett gave it a first down on the Weymouth 12. The same pair connected for an apparent touchdown, but it was voided by a penalty.

Noble was back to punt but the pass from center was high and he tried to run but was stopped on Quincy's 23 where Weymouth took over. Two passes brought the Wildcats to the 10 and three plays later Zapustas hit Greg Brooks from three yards out for a touchdown to give South a 20-0 halftime lead.

In the third quarter a Noble-to-Dennett pass was good for 40 yards but another penalty nullified it. However, on the next play Noble passed up the middle to Scott Grant, who outran several

Quincy Freshmen Breeze By Weymouth South

The Quincy freshman football team rolled over Weymouth South, 36-6, for its second straight victory.

Quincy scored on its first three possessions and never looked back.

Co-Captain Jason Anderson powered in from the seven for the first score and finished the game with 227 yards on 13 carries. He also rushed for the two-point conversion.

The second score came on a 55-yard pass from quarterback Gary Collins to flanker Jason Eleuteri. Collins, who rushed for 85 yards, threw for 65 more, scored a TD and kicked an extra point, did a fine job running the offense.

"Gary can do it all, he punts, kicks off, backs up the line, kicks extra points and runs the team well at quarterback," said coach Earl Metzler.

Peter Eleuteri scored the third touchdown from the seven and the young Presidents led, 22-0, after a quarter.

To start the second quarter Collins handed off to Anderson, who ripped off 45 yards to the Weymouth seven and on the next play

Anderson scored.

Collins scored on a one-yard sneak for the final Quincy score.

Weymouth averted a shutout on a long pass play late in the game.

"Obviously you can't run for all those yards without the offensive line doing its job," said Metzler. "And it did the job led by Paul Eleuteri, co-captain Keith Norris, Ed McCabe, Bob Daggart, Steve DiStasio and Mike Malvesti."

Defensive standouts included Alli Sleiman and Greg Warren at cornerback. Weymouth had only three first downs.

Quincy will play at Peabody Friday.

Quincy Girls Defeat North

The eagerly-awaited match between the undefeated Quincy and North Quincy girls' volleyball teams lived up to expectations last week when Quincy, after losing the first game, 15-11, came back to take the next two games, 16-14, and 15-7 and win 2-1.

A full house rocked the North Quincy gym as the teams brought 6-0 records into the match and neither had lost a game all season.

Both clubs came back Monday with straight-game wins. Quincy topping Waltham, 15-9, 15-7, to improve to 8-0 and North defeating Brookline, 15-7, to make its record 1-1 as both continue to dominate the Suburban League.

Last season North defeated Quincy three times, twice during the regular season and again in the state tournament as it went on to an undefeated season (23-0) and the state championship.

Prior to last season Quincy had won the state title three times and went to the finals twice more.

"I wanted my team to be more concerned with the present than with the past," said Quincy coach Tom Henderson. "I told the girls to go out and pretend they were at practice, to go out and have fun, but maybe they had last year in the back of their minds."

"It's a great natural rivalry because the kids grow up together and have known each other all their lives."

"It was a great match and we have no regrets," said North Quincy coach Jim Rendle. "We found out where we need work. It was our first tough match and it was a fun night. I'm sure the next time we meet will be a barnburner, too."

Quincy ended North's win streak at 29 straight matches.

Amy Guidice of Quincy was a dominant force in the third and deciding game. Her spike gave the First Ladies their first serve, leading to the first two points. After Deirdre Murphy, of the Raidersettes powered two strikes that gave North a 3-2 lead, Christine Barrett and Nancy Latinen spiked successfully on Guidice's serves and the First Ladies went ahead for good, 4-3.

North rallied on Robin Guilfof's strong net play to close a 7-3 deficit to 7-6, but Quincy's Jennifer Richmond served for six straight points to give her team a commanding 13-6 lead.

The day before the big match both teams had rolled to their sixth straight wins.

Quincy defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 15-6, 15-9, with Richmond's service and the spiking of Guidice and Latinen, while North topped Boston Latin, 15-3, 15-4, behind the strong play of Murphy, Debbie Panaro and Cara Sullivan.

Quincy will be at Brockton Friday and will host Newton North next Wednesday, while North will be home to Weymouth South Friday and Waltham next Wednesday.

Quincy Boys Down North For First Time In Five Years

The Quincy boys' soccer team, showing marked improvement over the past few years, topped North

Quincy, 3-1, last week for its first win over the Raiders in five years. Quincy improved to 4-2 and North fell to 1-3-1.

Peter Lespasio scored Quincy's first goal with Dan Piccini and Oscar Jara scored the second unassisted. Tai Le had the final score with Jara assisting.

Aiman Janineh scored the North Quincy goal. Ray Rochon and Piccini played strong defense for the Presidents.

Quincy will host Waltham Friday and will play at Cambridge next Tuesday. North will be at Brockton Friday and will be home to Newton North Tuesday.

• Swimming

North Girls Defeat Westwood

The North Quincy girls' swim team is off to another good start and last Friday improved to 4-1 with a 100-69 victory over Westwood.

Renee Robichaud qualified for the South Sectionals by scoring 149.50 points in winning the diving competition and Debbie Ramos and Claire McCarthy were double winners for the Raidersettes.

Ramos won the 50 freestyle in 29.8 and the 100 freestyle in 1:01.3, while McCarthy won the 200 freestyle in 2:32.18 and the 500 freestyle in 6:47.7.

North's only other winner was Beth Hughes in the 100 backstroke (1:17.3).

Placing second were Blythe Bumpus, 50 freestyle and 100 freestyle; Hughes, 200 freestyle; Sarah Harrington, 100 butterfly; Leslie Mahoney, 100 breaststroke, and Dana Guilfof, diving.

Taking third places were Elean Barbuto, 200 freestyle and 500 freestyle; Harrington, 200 individual medley; Christine Calnan, 100 butterfly; and Joanna Vermette, 100 backstroke.

In their previous meet the North girls had defeated Newton South, 105-67, as Hughes set a school record in the 100 backstroke (1:15.69) and Ramos and McCarthy were again double winners.

Ramos won the 50 freestyle in 28.1 and the 100 freestyle in 1:02.3.

Other winners for the Raidersettes were McCarthy in the 200 freestyle (2:27.8) and 500 freestyle (6:57.5);

Robichaud, diving (148.90), and the 400 freestyle relay team of Ramos, Sherrin Quintiliani, Hughes and McCarthy (4:38.1).

Taking seconds were Hughes, 200 freestyle; Quintiliani, 500 freestyle; Harrington, 100 butterfly; Vermette, 100 backstroke, and Guilfof, diving.

Placing third were Bumpus, 100 freestyle; Quintiliani, 200 freestyle; Barbuto, 500 freestyle; Harrington, 200 individual medley; Vicki Borek, 100 butterfly, and Mahoney, 100 breaststroke.

Coach Bill Walker's Raidersettes will host Weymouth North Friday at 4 and Brockton Tuesday at 6, both meets at the Lincoln Hancock School pool.

Brookline 29, North Quincy 0 Raiders At Weymouth S. After Blowout

When a team falls behind by 20 points less than six minutes into the game, it is almost impossible to catch up.

That is what happened to the North Quincy football team last Friday night at Veterans Memorial Stadium when Brookline scored on the first play from scrimmage, added two more, and within 10 seconds was up by 20-0. The Raiders, in their first game, North Quincy, after two weeks.

The Raiders will return to regroup and rebound Friday night when they play Weymouth South at Weymouth's Legion field at 7 p.m.

North coach Ken McPhee knows he is in for another busy night after personally scouting South's win over Quincy last Saturday. South had previously lost to Dedham and Marshfield. North edged Weymouth, 24-40, last fall.

"What can you say, we just got blown out," said McPhee.

"We were very flat and when you fall 20 points behind in the opening quarter, it is very hard to come back. I'm not trying to alibi, but we were really hurting."

"Two of our top starters, Ryan Craig and Kevin MacDougall, were sidelined with injuries. Billy MacDougall, our quarterback, and Mike Ainsley, a tremendous line backer, were playing hurt and we lost Dave Joyce, one of our best two-way players, during the game with an injury."

"I'm not saying we would have won with all our players in there, but we sorely missed Craig, an outstanding runner (149 yards the previous week against Newton North) and tremendous line backer, and Kevin MacDougall, an excellent wide receiver and defensive player and our punter. Kevin will be out for at least three more games, but I'm hopeful Ryan will be back against Weymouth South."

Jeff Sullivan, filling in for Craig, did some excellent running, including a 42-yarder which put North inside Brookline's 30, and Keith Gott also ran well. North had only 86 yards on the ground and Brookline ran for 109.

Billy MacDougall, playing with a soft cast on his leg, was five for 10 for 49 yards and had two passes intercepted. Tim Baker was on the receiving end of four of those passes.

Ainsley, despite his injury, was outstanding again backing up the line, and Sullivan and Gott also played well on defense," McPhee said.

In their previous game the Raiders were almost beaten single-handedly by Joe DeNucci, son of the state auditor, who rushed for 218 yards and scored on runs of 77 and 61 yards for Newton North.

Last week it was Geoff Gamere, son of Boston TV sportscaster Bob Gamere who wrecked the Raiders.

Gamere scored all four Brookline touchdowns, including a 53 yard run on the opening play of the game.

Before the Raiders could recover, Gamere had scored twice more in 90 seconds.

He blocked Sean McDonough's punt and ran it in 15 yards for a score and on the next North series McDonough, back to punt, had to scramble after a bad snap and recovered on North's 17. On the first play Langston Cawthorne passed to Gamere for the third quick score. Cawthorne rushed for the two-point conversion and it was 20-0 with 5:35 still left in the quarter.

North's longest drive got as far as Brookline's 23, most of the yardage coming on MacDougall's passing. The Raiders drove from their own 20 midway through the second quarter before stalling. MacDougall hit Baker for passes of 15 and 16 yards, hit McDonough for 15 but a 13-yard completion to Ainsley ended the drive on fourth and 15.

Brookline added two points early in the final quarter when another high snap on a punting situation resulted in a safety when the ball squirted out of the end zone.

The final score came when Gamere ran 25 yards down the sideline and Dan Differ kicked the final point.

"We thought we prepared for them fairly well, but that was a flat, flat team out there," said McPhee. "On that blocked punt I don't think we blocked anybody. When you get blown out like that, you can't get too upset. When you lose the close ones, they hurt. Tonight it was just one thing added onto another and our kids just never came back. We just have to put that game behind us and regroup for a tough Weymouth South squad."

North Jayvees Roll Over Brookline, 32-8

By PETE ZOIA

The unbeaten North Quincy junior varsity football team improved its record to two wins and a tie with a 32-8 victory over shorthanded Brookline on Monday.

Brookline had only 16 players and as the game progressed, the Raiders wore down their opponents.

North had the only points of the first half as Jim Bryan passed to Evan Kiley for 33 yards and a touchdown.

The same pair connected early in the third quarter for 59 yards and a score and later in the quarter North recovered a fumble on Brookline's nine. Dave Kiley carried to the one and Desmond Belott went around the left side to score. Bill Earley rushed for the two-point conversion to make it 20-0.

Brookline marched 75 yards to score its lone touchdown in the final quarter and North came right back when Belott raced 62 yards behind some fine blocking to put North up, 26-8.

The final score was a linebacker's dream as Mike Iacobacci intercepted a pass and ran it back 19 yards for the touchdown.

Coaches Tom Carter and Pete Chrisom were pleased with the play of the North squad. They singled out Scott Leonard, Chris McCallum, Matt Swierk and Iacobacci in the offensive line and Earley and Mark Kelliher for their defensive work.

Weymouth drove to its final touchdown after the ensuing kickoff. Zapustas hit Jim O'Connor for 40 yards.

Grant making a fine touchdown-saving tackle. Four plays later, on the first play of the fourth quarter, Zapustas scored from the one. Leighton kicked the game's final point.

With time running out

Noble hit Scott Campbell for 14 yards, then went to Marc Miele for 15, passed to Grant for 14 and finally hit Campbell for 14, but time ran out with Quincy on the Weymouth 35.

Youth Football Apaches Stun Panthers

By STEVE KAVANAGH

The North Quincy Apaches stunned the Quincy Point Panthers with two fourth quarter touchdowns, including one with under two minutes to play, to rally for a 16-12 win in Quincy Youth Football League action.

The Panthers controlled the first half action by moving the ball well and causing numerous Apache turnovers.

Jason Simon capped the first Panther scoring drive with a one-yard quarterback keeper. The Apaches stopped the conversion attempt.

Marc Lomanno raced nine yards for the second Panther score to give the Panthers a 12-0 lead. The two-point conversion attempt failed.

The Panthers maintained their lead through the third quarter although the Apaches began to move the ball well.

Kevin Mantville tallied the first North Quincy touchdown early in the final period on an eight-yard scoring jaunt.

Quarterback Derek Thompson passed to Jay Shaw for the two-point conversion cutting the Quincy Point lead to 12-8.

The Apaches got the ball back later in the quarter and mounted a long time-consuming drive. Willy O'Donnell scored the winning points on a well-executed reverse from 32 yards out. Adam Fitzpatrick rushed for the two-point conversion.

O'Donnell, Thompson, Mantville, Fitzpatrick, Shaw, Eric Kane and Keith Lentini all had solid offensive games for North Quincy.

Defensively, Shaw, Nick Mastro, Mark Sinclair, Sean Halpin, Pat Riley, Josh Gott, Eric Delorey, Dave Carney, Peter Liccardi and Kane excelled.

The Panthers received sterling efforts from Simon, Lomanno, David Jolley, and Noel DiBona on offense. DiBona also did a fine job kicking.

On defense, Simon, DiBona, Andy Smith, Tom Foley, Jolley, Lomanno, Steve Carterman, Ken Downey, Walter Spadorcia, and particularly Matt Dwyer played well.

In junior varsity action, the West Quincy Elks hammered the Houghs Neck Manets, 26-6.

Pat Donoghue scored on a 45-yard run and added the two-point conversion for an 8-0 Elk lead. A short while later Donoghue rambled 34 yards for another touchdown.

West Quincy's Joe Cirella picked off a Manet pass and returned it 40 yards for another Elk TD and a 20-0 lead.

Early in the fourth quarter the Manets got on the board as Mike Kane scored on a three-yard run.

Elk quarterback Mark Nutley scored from two yards out to provide the final, 26-6 margin.

This week's action takes place under the lights at Veterans Memorial Stadium. The Squantum Sailors lock horns with the Houghs Neck Manets at 6 p.m. in a varsity game. In junior varsity action the West Quincy Elks battle the North Quincy Apaches at 7:30 p.m.

High School Coaches Looking Over Players

By BRUCE WOOD

The Quincy Youth Soccer League continues to provide plenty of action each weekend and the high school coaches are eyeing the players for their future teams.

"I have begun to reap the benefits of the league and I know Charlie McLaughlin (Quincy High coach) is in the same boat," said North Quincy boys' coach Jim McGuire.

Last weekend's results:
Boys under 10: Balducci's defeated Wickens & Troupe, 7-4, with Timmy Lewis and Thomas Mann scoring two goals apiece and Richard Delisle, Jared Downey and Danny Nichol one each. Nichol had three assists, Lewis two and Downey and Jason Little one each. Brian Degan scored all four goals for W&T.

Eric Wood scored six goals and Bill Norris one as Wood Building Maintenance topped Commercial Ceiling, 7-2. Matt Lebo had four assists and Kevin Walsh and Eric Sullivan one each. Goalie Keith McLeod and Steve Geloran played well. Nick Williams and Russ Corner scored for Commercial. Brad Smith had two assists and Leo Connelly and Chris Wilkie had good games.

Kevin Moore scored twice and Mike Johnston once as Legion Post 95 defeated Commonwealth Builders, 3-1. Carmen Lorenzano, Gerard Fahey and Tim Kenerson had assists and Matt Flynn, Mike Trayers and Joe Walsh played well. Nick Bissanti scored for Commonwealth and goalie John Galvin, Chris Bregoli, Jim Callahan and Sheldon Ma had strong games.

Marina Bay Real Estate Services Expands Sales Force

Nancy Sheehan has been appointed sales representative and Richard Donovan and Walter Cunningham sales associates at Marina Bay Real Estate Services (MBRES).

MBRES is the full-service brokerage company for all commercial, retail and residential properties located at Marina Bay's 400-acre site in North Quincy. MBRES was founded by O'Connell Management Company - one of the developers of Marina Bay.

Sheehan, Donovan and Cunningham join the team of Tom Kilgarriff, director of residential sales, and Sandra Fennelly, office manager. The sales force will be directly involved with all phases of residential development at Marina Bay including the most recent phase of development at Marina Bay - The Seaport. In conjunction with this, the sales force will play a vital role in the development of the necessary marketing strategies involved in assuring The Seaport's success. In addition to their efforts for The Seaport, the sales force will oversee all residential aspects of the luxury condominiums of Marina Point East and West, as well as the quaint, Nantucket-style townhouses of Harbourside.

For more information on the various lifestyles that Marina Bay offers, contact Marina Bay Real Estate Services, 333 Victory Rd., Marina Bay, North Quincy, or call 847-1820.

Phelan voiced a similar sentiment, saying, "Forty-four dollars may not seem like it but for someone on a fixed income, it means a lot."

Cahill said he favored the mayor's classification plan because it was "fair" to both residents and business owners.

"I felt 150 per cent was very fair. It's been that way since it was established in 1984."

"If we push too hard and tax too much, we'll drive business out of Quincy. Keeping the residential tax down could come back to haunt us," Cahill said.

"I honestly believe we could ultimately end up hurting the people we're trying to help, the residents. We could regret this," he added.

Before the council vote, a public hearing was held to discuss the mayor's plan. After McCauley summarized his plan, several business owners commented on the mayor's proposal.

Maureen Rogers, community development manager for the South Shore Chamber of Commerce, said classification "hurts business" and asked the council to consider lowering the business tax rate.

"Classification does nothing to address the real problem of municipal spending and coming up with money to pay for unfunded state mandated programs. It simply shifts the tax burden," Rogers said.

"More importantly classification sends a negative message to business owners and prospective developers. Remember, every dollar for the community ultimately comes from business. Without business employing people in the communities, no one would be able to pay taxes," she said.

Rogers also said that high business taxes are driving retail commercial businesses south of Quincy. Of the 41 cities and towns comprising the chamber, only 34 per cent have classification, with most of them less than 150 per cent classification.

"We're asking that you do look into reducing the tax rate. You can only get so much from us before we'll move on," she added.

Quincy Center Business and Professional Executive Director George Riley asked the Council to set the CIPP rate at 150 per cent or less.

"Remember, we are an old business community, struggling to compete in today's economy. Please don't force more of our businesses to Hanover, Pembroke and Marshfield where the single tax rate still exists," Riley said.

"Please do not send a greater negative message to our business owners and prospective developers. We could not survive it," he said.

Loren Strout, owner of the Winfield Gift Emporium and the Egg and I Restaurant on Hancock St., also appealed to the council.

"If taxes keep going up, you're going to lose all the small businesses. We've been here 51 years and we're thinking of leaving because we can't take it anymore."

The total tax levy for fiscal 1989 is $60,424,913. The total tax valuation for the year is $3,839,438,150, an increase of $20,552,400 or 54 per cent over last year's valuation of $3,818,885,750.

The principal reason for the increase is due to the loss of the former General Dynamics shipyard on the city's tax roll, McCauley said. During fiscal 1988, the shipyard property produced $1,894,800 in tax revenue on a value of $84,500,000.

State Wide Police Chief Exam Called

Mayor Francis McCauley has called for a state-wide police chief examination Feb. 4, 1989 in order to open the position "to superior officers" throughout the state.

"This open competitive exam will allow us to draw from all over the state," McCauley said.

The mayor said there are three main reasons why he has called for the test.

- They are:
- A number of Quincy captains are "not really interested" in taking the job.
- The state-wide exam opens the position up to "superior officers from all over the state."
- Police Chief Francis Finn is "strongly considering retiring upon the completion of the Quincy Police Station which will probably occur next fall."

Finn has been Chief for more than 20 years.

Commenting on the mayor's decision to call for the state-wide exam, Finn said, "It's his choice," adding that better than 90 percent of Quincy Police officers are formally educated beyond high school, many with various college and law degrees.

As for his retirement, Finn said, "I will be retiring in the next few years."

"Nothing is written in stone regarding my retirement within the next couple of years," he added.

As it presently stands, there are four officers from within the Quincy Police Department who are on a Civil Service list for the police chief position. The local exam was administered about three years ago, the mayor said.

Lt. Donald Riley is first on the list, he said.

According to David Smith, the city's personnel director, the criteria for the February test is:

- Officers with seven years experience with a minimum of three years administrative experience (sergeant or above).
- Civil Service, at their option, will assess any criteria beyond that, such as education.

Before calling for the state-wide exam, McCauley said he had considered the possibility of taking the position out of Civil Service. However, the process to change it would have been "too cumbersome."

Affordable Housing Public Hearing To Be Held Oct. 17

The City Council's Human Services Committee will hold a public hearing on Monday, Oct. 17 at 6:30 p.m. in the City Council Chambers on the second floor of the Old City Hall. The hearing is intended for residents who wish to speak on a proposal for a home rule petition to establish an affordable housing trust fund.

The fund was introduced to the City Council by Human Services Committee Chairman Lawrence Chretien on June 27. Chretien is councillor of Ward 3.

'Restrictive, Unconstitutional' McCauley Vetoes Resident Hiring Preference Order

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

Calling the measure restrictive as well as unconstitutional, Francis X. McCauley vetoed a City Council order Tuesday that would have given Quincy residents hiring preference on construction projects wholly or partially funded by the city.

The order was unanimously approved by the City Council Oct. 3.

The Council can override the mayor's veto with a two-thirds vote. The decision to override it could come at the Council's Nov. 7 meeting.

As passed by the Council, the order would have required contractors to hire qualified Quincy residents by a two to one ratio on any construction project funded in whole or in part by city funds.

Also, contractors would have been required to give further preference to minorities and women in Quincy.

In vetoing the order, McCauley expressed several reasons for his action.

First, McCauley said the Supreme Judicial Court has held that a hiring preference of Massachusetts residents when "critical unemployment conditions" were met violated the U.S. Constitution's privileges and immunities clause.

"If unemployment reached a certain percentage then a clause would kick in requiring the hiring of Massachusetts residents on a preferential basis and the Supreme Court has ruled that this is unconstitutional," McCauley said.

Concerning the legal implications if the order is passed again by the City Council, City Solicitor Joseph "Jay" MacRitchie said, "It would be left to be challenged by some contractor and I'm not too confident that we would be able to go into court and support it."

The mayor added, "If the state cannot do this legally, neither can the City of Quincy."

Secondly, the mayor said the ordinance includes a provision requiring the payment of the prevailing wage on any construction project funded by the city, thus causing "a virtual end" to such city programs as the Rental Rehabilitation Program, Residential Loan Program, Residential Grant Program and the Quincy Neighborhood Housing Services Program. The mayor said "the payment of the prevailing wage for the rehabilitation or single family homes as well as the smaller rental properties simply because city funds assist in that rehabilitation is inappropriate."

McCauley added, "This kind of thing would really adversely impact a number of the programs we have going in the city of Quincy."

The mayor also said the city lacks the resources to monitor the ordinance's enforcement and that a fine provision contained in the ordinance exceeds the maximum fine

Slander Suit Against Sheets Being Dropped By Ricciardi Family

A slander suit brought last year against Ward 4 Councillor James Sheets by the Ricciardi development family is being dropped.

Sheets made the announcement Wednesday at a press conference at the law office of his attorney, Richard W. Barry in North Quincy.

The Ricciardis had filed the suit last October, alleging the slander took place at a Planning Board meeting May 11, 1987.

The suit claimed that Sheets allegedly referred to property owned by the Ricciardi's on Quarry St. "as an area full of hazardous waste, in essence a dump with millions of yards of rubbish, an extraordinary site to develop."

According to the claim, Sheets also said the developers were building across the ravines at the city dump.

Sheets also questioned where the Ricciardis were getting their money for development.

Sheets statement follows: "I have called this press conference today to announce that the Ricciardi family has dropped their law suit against me and to express my deep appreciation to the people of the city of Quincy for their unwavering support in the form of hundreds of letters, phone calls and words of encouragement.

"This law suit did become a city-wide issue and captured the attention of people for weeks. This issue embodied the right of a public official to represent and defend the public interest of the people. In my comments to you, the people of Quincy last October, I stated, it was my responsibility to speak on the concerns and also to investigate and question anything that effects the well-being of the community which I represent. I have always done that and always will.

"Since October of 1987, I have stood firm in my opposition to the summit view project on Quarry St. I said what I meant about the project, I meant what I said, and still mean what I said. My only regret is that the Zoning Board of Appeals granted the comprehensive permit for 975 units even though the majority of the city council opposed it and an overwhelming majority of the people opposed it.

"I particularly want to express my appreciation to Mayor McCauley for his support during this difficult time, to my attorney Dick

JAMES SHEETS

Barry, as well as my colleagues on the city council, and to my family and friends who were so helpful and thoughtful.

"I will always consider it a privilege to represent the people of Quincy. An honor to stand and fight beside them in the trenches of life, as we work and labor to preserve the communities where people live and raise their families."

Bates Ave. Bridge To Be Closed For A Year

The Bates Ave. Bridge in West Quincy was scheduled to be closed Wednesday for about one year in order that the old Southeast Expressway overpass can be rebuilt.

According to Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson, the bridge closure will affect West Quincy residents who use Bates Ave. to get to their neighborhood. The area is abutted by the expressway, quarries and Milton.

Signs informing motorists of alternate routes were to be posted, said state Department of Public Works spokesman Scott Pickard. Other signs indicating the bridge would be closed went up last week.

Pickard said.

The $650,000 reconstruction project is expected to be completed in mid-1989, he said.

Residents living off Grove St. in the Cunningham Park area will have to use Robertson St., Anderson said.

The detour also involves Willard and Stedman Sts. and Bryant Ave.

The city has devised new routes for school buses and rubbish collection trucks. Alternate fire truck routes have also been established.

According to Pickard, the work will also affect motorists on the Southeast Expressway.

He said a protective shielding will be installed in order to keep debris from falling on traffic during demolition.

Pickard said work will not be done during commuter hours.

The state had originally planned to begin the work several days earlier but held off in order to give residents more notice, Anderson said.

According to Pickard, the project entails:

- Demolishing the bridge pavement and the concrete underlying it.
- Pouring new concrete and applying a new travel surface of blacktop.
- Making minor repairs to the structural steel.

Board Approves Jonathan's License Transfer

By JANE ARENA

The Quincy License Board Tuesday granted a request from Jonathan's, Inc., 584-598 Washington St., for the transfer of the cv-aa license from J. Perette, Inc. doing business as Old Salt Seafood, to Athanasios Kotoulas, manager.

Representing Kotoulas, Atty. Michael Bucuvalas told the board that Kotoulas intends to make no physical changes to the establishment and that the restaurant will continue to operate in much the same manner as under the previous owner.

Kotoulas, who has been in the restaurant business for over 20 years, was a previous owner of Eddie's Diner in Quincy, as well as other restaurants in the Boston area.

The board noted that there have been no complaints from neighbors of the establishment concerning the upkeep of the property.

Ward 2 Councilor Ted DeCristofaro told the Board that he has received no complaints concerning the establishment since they were granted a liquor license.

"I have no problem with the liquor license as long as the business will stay the way it's been."

The board granted the license with the stipulations that there be no live entertainment, that the no-smoking seating plan be checked with the Health Department, and that the business continues to operate in the manner it has been.

Planning Board To Hold 3 Public Hearings Oct. 24

The Quincy Planning Board will hold three public hearings on Monday, Oct. 24 in the City Council Chamber of City Hall.

At 6:30 p.m. the board will consider an application filed by the Quincy Lodge of Elks for a planned unit development (PUD) special permit for a two-story, 18,130 square-foot building on a 9.67 acre parcel on Quarry St.

At 7 p.m. the board will consider an application filed by Lincoln Property Company and R.J.B. Management Corporation for a PUD special permit for 336 residential units on a 16.06 acre site located off Centre, Bartlett and Brewer Sts. in West Quincy.

At 7:45, the board will consider a request by Edmund

Nardone, trustee of C.R.I. to modify a previously approved definitive subdivision plan titled "Plan and Profile of Ridgewood Lane" by Ernest W. Branch, Inc.

The revised subdivision plan may be examined at the Department of Planning and Community Development Office in City Hall during regular business hours, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Frances Hathaway Completes Training

Army National Guard Private 1st Class Frances Hathaway, III, son of Donna M. Younic and stepson of William N. Younic of 141 Sea St., Quincy, has completed training at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

During the course, students received training which qualified them as light-weapons infantrymen and as indirect-fire crewmen in a rifle or mortar squad.

Younic is a 1988 graduate of Quincy Vocational Technical School.

New Programs Aimed At Reducing, Aiding High School Dropouts

Quincy school officials are optimistic that two new alternative programs will keep high school students from dropping out and help those who do.

At a recent School Committee meeting, Assistant Supt. Carol Lee Griffin reported that the school department will work with South Coastal Career Development to help as many as 16 high school students who leave school.

"We see this as a dropout prevention program," she said.

Officials also have high hopes for the Heritage Program, scheduled to begin in January. In this program, students will be able to participate in more individualized studies rather than the traditional classroom work.

The program will be limited to 50 students from Quincy High and the Vocational Technical School.

According to Program Coordinator Charles McLaughlin, the program's success will depend on the cooperation from local businesses and the community.

McLaughlin said students are interested in this new form of education. "This is the kind of program I'm convinced that you will hear about and they will be good calls," he said.

In other matters

• The School Committee accepted a $3,000 check from committee member Frank Anselmo for a Quincy Junior College scholarship fund. Anselmo, who recently celebrated his 90th birthday, has been on the committee 27 years. During his tenure, he has donated $25,000 to the college in scholarship money.

• The committee appointed Stephen Verenis as the boys' freshmen soccer coach at North Quincy High School.

• Members also welcomed three high school seniors as associate members. Mary Cronin of North Quincy High, Sharon Goodman of Quincy High and Elizabeth Fortin of Quincy Vocational Technical High.

License Board Briefs

The Quincy License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall:

• Granted a request from Peggy Kelly, representing Sally Moscardelli for a one day all-alcoholic license for Saturday, Oct. 15 from 6 p.m. to midnight for the President's Golf Club.

• Continued for two weeks a request from John Ruggiano from the Franklin Street Exchange, 105 Franklin St., for an Old Gold license to sell old jewelry. The Police Department needs to check Ruggiano's background before the license can be granted.

• Granted a request from David I. Butler, representing Avoub Engineering, Inc., for Self-Service pumps at three gas station locations: Shell Oil Co. at 315 Hancock St., Shell Oil Co. at 8 Franklin St., and 10 Independence Ave. and Franklin St. The Board granted the license with two stipulations. The Building Department must check to ensure that the three locations are properly zoned for this use and the Fire Dept. must complete a traffic study to ensure that the entrance and exits are wide enough.

• Postponed for one week a hearing concerning the change of management of McDonald's Restaurant at 25 Hancock St. from K. J. Nickerson to new manager Robert Sanderson. The public was not present at the meeting.

No Legal Way To Block Methadone Clinic , Says McCauley

Mayor Francis McCauley says there is no legal way the city can block the opening of a methadone treatment clinic in Quincy, despite the city's strong opposition.

"We don't see any legal right to prevent them from coming into Quincy," McCauley said. "I have discussed the issue with City Solicitor (Joseph ) Jay MacRichie and he feels there are no grounds to go to court," he said.

The state has announced its intention to have mobile methadone treatment vans based in several communities, including Quincy. Eight of Quincy's nine city councillors have vowed to fight the methadone clinic.

After learning that the state won approval to put a similar methadone clinic in Brockton last week, several city councillors said Quincy should take the state to court if it goes ahead with its plans to put a clinic in the city.

However, the mayor said that Brockton's unsuccessful attempt to stop the methadone clinic from coming to that community shows that "the city has no right to stop them."

McCauley also said that state officials behind the methadone clinic should come to Quincy and meet with city officials in order to hear their "collective concerns."

The mayor, who admitted the city has drug problems, said he was concerned that a methadone clinic in Quincy would act like a magnet to drug dependent people in other communities.

"I am concerned with the drug use here and I am concerned that the city would attract people into Quincy who weren't residents of the city and I'm opposed to that.

"We have problems in our city, and unless they're going to put (a methadone clinic) in every town, I see a situation where people from other communities are going to come here for treatment.

"My fear is that you're going to have drug dependent people from other areas filtering into our city," he said.

The state is attempting to locate methadone clinics in 11 communities, including Quincy, in order to help fight the spread of AIDS and reduce lines at its 18 existing clinics. The clinics would be operated by Habit Management.

Methadone is a synthetic drug that weans addicts from heroin.

However, city councillors from Quincy as well as Brockton have argued that the treatment centers would attract drug dealers and addicts into their communities.

According to Habit Management President Leonard Kupsc, Quincy is 16th in the state with reported AIDS cases.

According to Quincy Public Health Commissioner Jane Gallahue, from July 1987 to March 1988, 864 Quincy residents were admitted to a drug treatment program in the state. Of this number, 91 or 10 percent were intravenous drug users.

Gallahue also said:

- Eighty-four percent of drug uses are addicted to heroin which is self-administered through I.V. needles.

- The use of heroin in Quincy has tripled in the last three months, according to the Quincy Police Department Narcotics Unit.

- Eight cases of AIDS have been reported in Quincy but it is estimated that about 16 to 18 cases exist.

- On the state level, the number of AIDS cases more than doubled in one year from 126 to 267.

- It is obvious that any measure which provides an intervention which could decrease the spread of AIDS through I.V. drug use and helps a severe addict begin leading a productive life needs to be given serious consideration," Gallahue said.

Bellotti For Governor?

Local Democrats think Frank Bellotti may be getting ready for a run for governor in 1990.

If he is, it could mean sleepless night for anyone else thinking of or planning to run.

Bellotti always has been politically formidable and still is -- any race, any year.

The former lieutenant governor and attorney general made it halfway to the governor's office 26 years ago.

As lieutenant governor in 1962, he wrested the nomination away from incumbent Gov. Endicott (Chub) Peabody in a stunning upset that rocked the Democratic party. But he was then derailed by Republican John Volpe.

Those in Quincy who have known Bellotti since he was a young attorney representing police and firefighters before the Quincy City Council and winning pay raises for them in the late 1950s believe he has never really abandoned the idea of trying once more to capture the governor's office.

If the right opportunity comes along, they think he will take a shot at it.

Opportunity may now be knocking and Bellotti may be moving toward the door.

A 38-year old crewcut political unknown in 1962, he came out of the blue to win the lieutenant governor nomination because he thought he could win it and he worked hard to do it.

While the pros were hardly paying attention, Bellotti was all over the state for six months before the Democratic convention that year. He kept crisscrossing the state like a travelling salesman selling himself at the grass roots level.

By the time the convention opened in Springfield he had something like 60 percent of the delegates in his corner and was picking up more by the hour.

Bellotti had four opponents going into the convention and suddenly found himself with a filth.

Edward McLaughlin, Jr. who was the lieutenant governor lost his bid for the governor's nomination to Peabody.

Then a group of power boys tried to musk Bellotti out of the picture to give the lieutenant governor nomination to McLaughlin.

Bellotti's original four opponents dropped by the wayside, one by one to give McLaughlin the chance.

But Bellotti would not budge. He stayed in and won the nomination by acclamation.

Bellotti is now "moving around" once again including Quincy where it all began.

He was keynote speaker at the recent Quincy City Democratic Committee brunch.

One astute political observer who thought he saw a campaign starting, noted: "He plans ahead. He seems to be getting ready in case there is a good opening. I think it he believes there is one, he will go for it."

If present Lt. Gov. Evelyn Murphy and one or two other Irish names are on the ballot, it would be an ideal situation for Bellotti who would pull a big Italian vote, while the others were splitting votes.

And, what if Michael Dukakis doesn't make it to the White House and returns to the State House and decides to run again in 1990? Would Bellotti take him on?

"He might," says the observer. "If Dukakis appears weak and it looks like there could be a Republican governor in the making, Frank might just do it."

The observer didn't say it, but Bellotti has run against an incumbent governor before and won. He could do it again.

Cottage Ave., Quincy Center. A vinyl face mask for only $20.

"Just the thing for Halloween," says owner Don Savori.

He had hoped to also have George Bush aboard but hasn't been able to get him.

How Dukakis sells could be a barometer of political barometer.

If Dukakis doesn't sell very well it won't be good for the joke shop but it might be good for the Duke.

Savori explains that popular political figures' face masks usually don't sell well.

"Jack Kennedy didn't do well," he notes.

It seems the unpopular figures appeal to buyers who apparently want to make a big joke about them.

"We did very well," says Savori "with the Ayatollah and Nixon."

Attend Affordable Housing Hearing Urges LWV

Editor, The Quincy Sun;

The League of Women Voters has a long history of advocating for Affordable Housing. It is time for local action -- not since the Great Depression has the housing crisis in America been so acute.

In the past 15 years housing costs have accelerated three times faster than incomes. Home ownership has decreased for first time home buyers in Massachusetts only 20% of low income families receive any housing assistance, the balance are competing in a very hot real estate market which exacerbates the problem of homelessness. As a result of escalating housing costs, women and children have now joined the ranks of the homeless in Quincy. The most vulnerable are disproportionately affected:

- female heads of household because their wages fall below those of their male counterparts.
- mentally and physically disabled persons because of their limited earning potential.
- single older women, among the poorest of the population.

No Man's Land?

Editor, The Quincy Sun
By no man's land I mean the former Ward 2 Precinct neighborhood of Revere Rd. Meacham St. Bigelow St. and the side of Elm St. where the new real estate office is located. Does anybody know where it is? I'll bet that you drive by there all the time.

Who cares that there have been at least four serious traffic accidents there? Has anyone seen the front steps of the American Legion that were smashed in April by a serious auto collision? Has anyone seen the burntout shell of the house on Meacham St. that was owned by a former councilor-at-large and mayor that has been left that way since a suspicious fire last spring? Has anyone seen the unpainted crosswalks? Has anyone seen all the illegally parked cars and cars parked on sidewalks? Has anyone walked on the sidewalks that are falling apart and in need of repair? Did anyone see the two feet of flood water in our basements this summer? Has anybody seen the gangs of lights in the John Hancock Parking area late at night?

Does anybody want the vote of residents of the former Ward 2 Precinct? The residents of this area certainly hope somebody cares about no man's land and that somebody will represent us soon.

Arlene Goodman
31A Revere Rd.

There are two critical factors in housing availability and affordability. Quincy has a very limited supply of available and affordable units for ordinary working families. When did this crisis begin?

Research tells us that redevelopment in the 1950's, gentrification of low-income units into housing for the upper middle class in the 1970's and the removal of all federal assistance and tax incentives in the 1980's are all to blame for a national housing crisis which has been building over a thirty year period.

What is being done in Quincy? Quincy formed a group of interested housing advocates known as the Quincy Housing Partnership. Recently a study of Quincy housing needs was completed and recommendations to the City Council were made.

On Oct. 17th, at 6:30 p.m. the Quincy City Council will hold a hearing where citizens of Quincy will express their opinions about affordable housing. Concerned citizens should be present at the hearing to take a stand on this key issue.

Shipbuilding At Quincy Yard Hinges On MWRA Approval

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

The return of shipbuilding to Quincy cleared a major hurdle over the weekend as a group of former shipyard workers and the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority signed a tentative agreement to reestablish shipbuilding of the former General Dynamics shipyard.

However, the deal still hinges on final approval by the MWRA, which owns the 182-acre site, and several state agencies, including the Governor's Office of Economic Development and the Massachusetts Land Bank, which are involved in the reopening of the idle yard.

On Friday, the Massachusetts Shipbuilders Inc., comprised of former shipyard workers, signed a proposed lease forwarded by the MWRA.

The lease, if accepted by all parties and approved by the MWRA Board of Directors at its Oct. 26 meeting, would permit the shipbuilders formerly employed by General Dynamics to set up an employee-owned shipbuilding and repair enterprise at the Fore River shipyard. The announcement was made at a press conference held Saturday afternoon in the main administration building at the shipyard. It culminated two years of negotiations between the shipbuilders, the MWRA and several other state agencies.

To bolster the bid, Gov. Michael Dukakis has provided $500,000 in financial support. The state agencies involved in the negotiations have played key roles in the lease drafting.

Peter Gwyn, president of Massachusetts Shipbuilders, Inc., likened the agreement to the so-called "Massachusetts Miracle."

"I know of no other place where something like this has been brought about, a completely democratic workers' buyout of a shipyard. It just doesn't happen," Gwyn said.

"You can be sure that we are going to bring about a successful return to shipbuilding here in Quincy," he added.

Terms of the lease include:

- Seventy acres, or about one-third of the 185-acre site, to be used for shipbuilding purposes.

- The land will be leased to the Massachusetts Land Bank which in turn will sublease the property to the shipyard workers.

- Rental fees will be $0 for the first two years; $100,000 for the third year; $300,000 for the fourth year; $600,000 for the fifth year; $800,000 for the sixth year; and $1 million for the seventh year. The lease is renewable for an additional seven years.

- The MWRA will receive $3 million up front for the sale of equipment to the Land Bank which will resell the equipment to shipworkers.

- The state and shipbuilders will fund a pollution insurance escrow account with $500,000 immediately from the state and $100,000 per year contribution from the shipbuilders after the completion of the second year of the lease.

- Shipbuilders will be responsible for improvements to the property necessary to conduct their operations.

- The workers will receive five building bases, three for ship repair and one wet basin and one wet berth for ship outfitting and ship repair processes.

- Workers will also receive a full steel mill complex with steel for ship hulls and a main machine shop where all other outfitting trades will be relocated.

According to Gwyn, the reduced shipyard size will make it more efficient.

"Of course, the main ingredient to the success of the yard are the workers who will come back not only as workers but also as owners," he said.

If and when the lease is finalized, Massachusetts Shipbuilders, Inc., will "immediately begin bidding on work," Gwyn said.

"I expect that we will have the whole deal put together within 60 days," he said, adding during that period the group will interview job applicants.

It is estimated that the yard will employ 500 to 1,000 workers within one year. At the height of activity during World War II, there were 30,000 shipyard workers. The work force dipped to 13,000 during the 1960s and continued to decline up until the yard closed in 1985.

According to Gwyn, the work will be streamlined to include mainly tug barges and repair work. "In this we see an area of the business that is coming back and will be the first area of business coming back to United States shipbuilding," he said.

In addition, the yard is capable of building vessels up to 150 feet in width and 800 feet in length.

According to Gwyn, there is a market for shipbuilding contracts.

"There are a number of shipbuilding contracts that will be coming up this year which will be ideally suited to the shipyard. Bear in mind," Gwyn said, "It wasn't that Quincy couldn't build good ships that General Dynamics closed the yard."

"It wasn't for that reason. It was, among other things, that the yard had become uncompetitive."

"What we have done here together with the unions and in the way we have acquired the shipyard is to reduce the fix costs of the shipyard and also to reduce the size of it and with the cooperation of the workers, represented by the union, we've been able to reduce the numbers of trades, or in other words, streamline the work that is going to be done," Gwyn said.

"With that combination of efforts, with the incentives that the workers will have that now they are owners and thus, as owners, will benefit directly from the bottom line of the success of the shipyard that we feel we will be the most competitive shipyard in the United States," he said.

Senator Paul Harold, who has been a part of the negotiations since the beginning, said two state studies have revealed that the purchase bid is a sound investment.

Harold said one study indicated the sagging shipbuilding industry would return "on the upswing" and another showed the Quincy shipyard could compete with U.S. as well as foreign yards.

"Under a reduced overhead with an employee ownership, in fact, it can be, if not the most competitive, it can be as competitive as any shipyard in the United States and could even compete with the South Korean shipyard," Harold said.

On another economic note, Ward 2 Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro said the reopening would help revitalize Quincy's business sector. "I think it will be an uplift for some of the businesses still here that have been anticipating something like this," DeCristofaro said.

Part of the purchase agreement includes funding required to reactivate machinery idle since the yard was closed in 1985. Because all the equipment will not be needed at once, the shipyard equipment will go through a "gradual reactivating plan."

"It will be phased in as we need it," Gwyn said.

As for the new work force, 2,800 questionnaires were mailed to former shipyard employees in an effort to hire new workers. Slightly more than 1,000 responded, indicating they are "willing to come back to work," said Tony Svizzero.

"They want to come back to Quincy. They're going to be welcomed back," he said.

According to Harold, this could be the first shipyard to be closed and then reopened by former workers.

"We're not returning something here of a nostalgic value. We're returning real jobs that will be head of household jobs and for the first time, we'll be having an increase in our economic base which has been a great concern to the Governor and the whole Legislature," Harold said.

The reopening of the yard will also increase the manufacturing base of both the South Shore and the state, he said.

The MWRA and Massachusetts Shipbuilders, Inc., have negotiated since the authority bought the yard in 1986 for $49.5 million. The MWRA will use the site as a construction staging area for the Boston Harbor Plan and interim sludge fertilizer plant scheduled to begin operation in 1991.

The site is also being considered for the MWRA's long-term sludge processing facility to begin in 1995 or 1996.

Furcolo Campaigns Here For Senate

State Treasurer Foster Furcolo was escorted by Joseph F.X. Doherty, chairman of the Democratic City Committee, on a visit to Quincy during his campaign for the U.S. Senate.

At night, Furcolo joined other statewide candidates, including Robert F. Murphy for governor, John F. Kennedy for treasurer and John F. Collins for attorney general, at a reception at the Elks Home.

Also at the reception were the Democratic candidates for State Legislature; Thomas N. Byrnes, Thomas R. Burke, Joseph P. McDonough, David J. Crowley, William A. Connell Jr., William F. Donoghue and George A. Lydon.

Meanwhile, Ward 1 Republicans promoted an all out fight in defense of Rep. William Jenness, who was being challenged by Crowley for the Second Norfolk District seat in the Legislature.

D. Scott Deware

"Thank you" — beautiful words, yet too often unexpressed and by neglect covered with cobwebs and shorn of their loveliness. What a tragedy that the grace of gratitude is not as common as it ought to be. Kind words of appreciation and encouragement to each other by husband and wife could 'make their day.' A child would brighten a weary mother with acknowledgment of her value by a word, a hug or a kiss. An employer would undoubtedly get more for his dollar if with the paycheck would come some commendation of esteem and, in turn, an employee could find a happier relationship with management by some extra effort beyond the required just to show the opportunity of gainful employment is valued.

All of us are the recipients of countless deeds of kindness on the part of those with whom we rub shoulders every day, and yet all they may receive from us are picky criticisms, when a word well spoken would completely change both the service and the server. May we take this opportunity to say a "Thank you" to all our readers who have commented on the "Thoughts" they have read here. Your comments have been and always will be most appreciated.

introduce you to the excitement of the seasons.

Oct. 25 - Adanzas: Songs of South America An outstanding trio including harp, wood and clay flutes, guitars, voices, etc. Alan del Castillo, Cynthia Price-Glynn, and Miguel Jimenez combine the energy and sentiments of traditional Latin American rhythms with the refinements of chamber music. Boston performances include the Museum of Fine Arts, the Esplanade, Sanders Theater, and a live concert on WGBH's "Morning Pro Musica". "Spark and Fire, engaging, irresistible", said the Boston Globe.

Nov. 22 - The New England Brass Quintet This talented ensemble attracts concert audiences of all ages with a completely unique and refreshing approach to brass chamber music. Their performance displays virtuosity, versatile musicianship, charm and a genuine enthusiasm that offers an exceptionally delightful entertaining afternoon for all!

Nov. 29 - Poobley Greedy Puppet Theater Described by the Boston Globe as "successful and innovative" the Poobley Greedy Puppet Theater uses a variety of puppets including big, colorful ones to tell fascinating stories about dinosaurs, whales, or Ancient Egypt. This performance will feature Going, Going, Gone Whaling, a biology/history puppet drama developed by the Poobley Greedy Puppet Theater. Dec. 6 - Studebaker Movement Theater Co. Studebaker's use of dance, music and theater is funny and beautiful. Their original works rely on images rather than languages to create dreamlike stories with offbeat humor and charm.

Scuba Course To Start Oct. 17

The Quincy Recreational Department and the Quincy Underwater Recovery Dive Team will co-sponsor an introductory Scuba Course as part of its swimming programs at the Lincoln Hancock Community School Pool.

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch, said:

"This course has been designed to give the average family access to the sport of Scuba with no cost to the participant. The dive team provides the necessary equipment and instructors for the six week course, and it enables residents of Quincy an opportunity to become knowledgeable about the sport, equipment, and safety in a controlled and orderly fashion. Although the course does not lead to certification, at its conclusion participants may elect to enroll in a certification program. It is our hope that a program of this type will prevent persons from "borrowing gear to give it a try, a dangerous practice which can end with injury or death."

There are three weeks of classroom programs and three weeks of pool experience. The classroom lessons are held on Tuesdays at 7 p.m. and the in-pool experience is on Mondays at 7 p.m. The course will begin on Monday, Oct. 17. The course is open to all ages from children to adults, and family groups are encouraged to enroll.

Registration is limited and will take place during recreation swimming programs at the Lincoln Hancock Community School beginning Oct. 12. Additional information can be obtained by calling the Quincy Recreation Department at 773-1380 ext 204.

'Interpersonal Conflict' Squantum First Church Topic

"Dealing with Interpersonal Conflict" was the title of the sermon at the First Church of Squantum Sunday.

It was the third in a series of five sermons that the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, is preaching on the subject of human relationships.

Visiting the church for the morning from Florida were Jerry and Sandy Reister. Sandy is the daughter of the late Hildegard I. Yates. The flowers on the worship center were given in memory of John and Hildegard Yates and Charles and Ida Swenson.

Cynthia Stanton and her daughters, Emily and Vanessa, were the greeters. Harry Holmes and Tore Wallin, the ushers. Ellen Ogilvie and Sandra Stohlberg hosted the Fellowship Hour after the service.

On Columbus Day, young people and others from the church participated in a day of outdoor activities at Grotonwood, a Christian camp in Groton. Evening Friendship met Tuesday night. The Bible Study Group met Wednesday. Registration was also held the same night for boys in grades 1-5 (Tiger Cubs, Cub Scouts, and Webelos).

Other meetings scheduled: the Nominating Committee, Sunday, Oct. 16 at 7:30 p.m.; Bible Study, Tuesdays, Oct. 18 and 25 at 7:30 p.m.; The Board of Trustees, Wednesday, Oct. 19 at 7:30 p.m.; the Board of Deacons Monday, Oct. 24 at 7:30 p.m.; and the Church Council Wednesday, Nov. 9, at 7 p.m.

Special services include Reformation Sunday (breakfast at 9:15 a.m. and service at 10:30 a.m.) Oct. 30; Covenant Sunday on Nov. 6, Stewardship Sunday on Nov. 13 and Thanksgiving Sunday, Nov. 20. The Church Fair will be held on Saturday, Nov. 5, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The Chancel Choir rehearses Thursdays at 7:30 p.m., the Junior Choir meets Thursdays at 3 p.m., and the Youth Choir meets Sundays at 11:45 p.m.

This Sunday, the Board of Deacons will sponsor a "Friendship Brunch" for members and friends of the church, invited guests, and people new to the area. The brunch will be held right after church. There is no charge to attend. Persons planning to attend are urged to make reservations in advance so that there will be enough food for all. Reservations can be made by calling Hazel Mayne at 328-4367 or Ruth Swenson at 328-1990.

The sermon topic for that morning will be "Three Things to Do If You Care." The service begins at 10:30 a.m. Sunday School and a nursery are provided during the service. The church youth group, Orange Crush, will meet at 6:15 p.m. on Sunday night.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH of Wollaston has re-dedicated its six-unit apartment building at Weyland and Berlin Sts., Wollaston, to the needy.

First Baptist Church Re-dedicates Apartment House For Needy

After completing $60,000 in renovations, the First Baptist Church of Wollaston has re-dedicated its church-owned apartment building on Weyland and Berlin Sts., Wollaston.

The six-unit building will provide low cost housing for the needy.

The pastor, Rev. Dr.

Richard C. Melmquist, also announces a partnership between the church and the Quincy Interfaith Sheltering Coalition. When there are vacancies in the building, residents will be sought from among the shelter's clientele. The Shelter staff will also assist residents to make the adjustment to permanent housing.

Renovations in the building included new kitchen and bathroom units, new plumbing and electrical lines, a new smoke alarm system, exterior siding and replacement of the back porch.

The church purchased the building in 1969.

'Is My Child O.K.'

PSSB Discussion Topic

The Protestant Social Service Bureau will sponsor a presentation and discussion group entitled "Is My Child O.K.?" Tuesday, Nov. 15 from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at 774 Hancock St., Wollaston.

Amy H. Eden, L.I.C.S.W. and Peter Tierney, Ph.D., Co-Directors of Neponset River

Associates in Milton, will focus their discussion on the elementary school child's academic and social development, addressing such questions as:

Am I expecting too much or too little from my child in school? Why is my child so sensitive and so concerned with everybody being fair? Do other children fight with their siblings and friends as much as mine do?

Group size will be limited. Those planning to attend are asked to contact Ben Thompson at 773-6203 by Nov. 7. Admission is $5. per person or couple.

Rev. J. William Arnold To Preach At Bethany

Worship this Sunday, at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., will be at 9 a.m. in the chapel and at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon, and Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will be the liturgist. Lay scripture readers will be Marion Lockwood and Sylvia Sanchez.

At the 10 a.m. service, the chancel choir, directed by Charles J. Blue, organist, will sing Carl Mueller's composition, "Create in Me a Clean Heart, O God," and as the offertory, Dvorak's "I will Sing a New Songs of Gladness."

Receiving the sacrament of Christian Baptism at the 10 a.m. worship will be Kyle Benjamin Mikami, son of Darryl K. Mikami and Corinne Miller Mikami. Godparents are Barbara Miller and Randall Mikami.

The 10 a.m. service will be broadcast live over radio station WJDA, 1300 kc.

Sunday Church School will be held from 10 to 11 a.m., with classes for preschool through eighth grade. Nursery and toddler care will be provided under the supervision of Pamela Ford Curran, early childhood coordinator.

A senior high class for students from ninth through 12th grades begins Oct. 16, from 9 to 9:45 a.m., led by Jerry Capobianchi in the upstairs parlor.

Following the 10 a.m. service, there will be a fellowship time beginning at 11 a.m. in the Allen parlor.

Crisis Center Topic For Wollaston Congregational

Esther Sanger, Executive Director of the Quincy Crisis Center will be the guest speaker at the 10 a.m. service Sunday at Wollaston Congregational Church.

Established in 1979, the Quincy Crisis Center is a non-profit organization that provides shelter, clothing, home visits for the elderly, emergency grocery deliveries, a 24-hour Crisis Hotline and in Nov. 1987 opened the Mary-Martha Learning Center in Hingham. The Learning Center is a place where homeless young women with infant children can live and be assisted with information to help them grow physically, intellectually and spiritually.

The lay scripture reader will be Fran Martin, greeters Mary and Paul Gifford, ushers Joan Tierney and her daughter Tavey Leigh Towle and the acolyte Joshua Knowles.

The senior choir directed by organist Donald A. Reade will sing the anthem, "A Prayer of St. Richard of Chichester" by L.J. White and for the offertory will sing "Servant Song" by Sr. Donna Marie McGargill.

The prelude played by Mr. Reade will be "Lesson No. 1 Andante and 11. Allegro" by Samuel Long and the prelude, "111 Air" also by Mr. Long.

Nursery care for infants and toddlers is provided and church school for grades 1-12 is held from 10-11 a.m.

The Youth Fellowship group announced that Jean Libby is to share the job of Youth Fellowship Director with Gus Oster. Many plans for the current year were recently made and discussion of a retreat exchange to Jean's home church in Maine was met with enthusiasm. Tavey Leigh Towle was elected president, Susan Cleary, vice-president, Erik Oster, treasurer, and Jennifer Walker, secretary.

The Lask Force will meet in the social hall on Monday, Oct. 17 at 7:30 p.m. and on Wednesday, Oct. 19 the boys scouts will meet at 6:30 p.m.

On Saturday the annual rummage sale will be held in the social hall from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The Family Group is sponsoring a Square Dance on Saturday, Oct. 22, at 7:30 p.m. in the social hall. An excellent caller will be on hand. Come watch or dance. Tickets $3 at the door.

Human Dignity Is Theme At United First Parish Church

"Yourself As Your Neighbor" is the title of the sermon that Dr. Sheldon W. Bennett, minister, will deliver during the 10:30 AM service this Sunday at United First Parish Church (Unitarian), "Church of the Presidents." "Respect for the dignity of each person is a key spiritual principal," says Dr. Bennett. The sermon will consider such issues as self-understanding, race relations, and the AIDS crisis in light of essential human dignity.

Guest musician, Patrick Jordan, will play the viola. Norman Corey, Music Director, will also play organ works by Bach, Brahms, and Reger. Visitors are welcome and are invited to attend the social hour following the service. Ruth Keating will be greeter, and Chuck Kelley and Nancy Westland will be pourers. Betty Bond and John Dowd will usher. Historic First Parish dates from 1636, Unitarian since 1750, the church continues as a leader in liberal religion. It is the church of Presidents John Adams and John Quincy Adams, whose granite tombs stand in a stone crypt within the church, with those of their wives, Abigail and Louisa Catherine. The church is located in Quincy Center at 1306 Hancock St. Sunday Services and the Church School are at 10:30 AM, and child care is provided. Call 773-1290 for information.

Daniel McEleney Attends Civil Air Patrol Convention

Civil Air Patrol (CAP) Major Daniel R. McEleney of Quincy recently participated in the 1988 Civil Air Patrol National Board convention held in Washington, D.C.

McEleney, a member of the Quincy Composite Squadron, was one of more than 1,200 CAP people representing every state, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico who attended the annual meeting.

It's held each year so that CAP members can participate in national-level seminars covering a variety of subjects; to recognize many CAP award winners; and to present an opportunity for CAP members to interact with their counterparts from across the nation.

This year's National Board was hosted by the National Capital CAP Wing and conducted by officials of Headquarters, Civil Air Patrol-U.S. Air Force, the active-duty Air Force Command element which supports CAP.

ALA Offers Free Guide For Foliage Tours

A free guide to help motorists enjoy New England's colorful fall foliage display is being offered by the ALA Auto & Travel Club.

The guide details a number of circular auto tours that highlight some of the region's top viewing areas.

"Fall is truly a glorious season in New England and it should be enjoyed as much as possible," John G. McMann, ALA president, said. "Our guide includes at least one auto tour for each state in the region and each tour has been praised by foliage viewers over the years."

The ALA official said that a copy of the free guide may be obtained at any ALA office in New England or be sending a stamped, self-addressed, business-size envelope to: ALA Fall Foliage Guide, ALA Auto & Travel Club, 888 Worcester St., Wellesley, MA 02181.

McCauley Declares 'Lupus Awareness Month'

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has declared October "Lupus Awareness Month" in Quincy.

The proclamation reads: "Whereas, Lupus Erythematosus is a disease of unknown cause which may cause inflammation and destruction of the skin, joints, lungs, kidneys, brain and virtually all other systems of the body, and which occurs primarily in women of child-bearing age; and

"Whereas, an estimated

500,000 Americans are afflicted with the disease and 5,000 people die of this disease every year; and

"Whereas, an estimated 20,000 people in Massachusetts have this disease, many of them not even aware that they may have it; and

"Whereas, the public lacks awareness of this disease—which may often result in unnecessary hardship and suffering; and

"Whereas, Massachusetts has been a leader in Lupus research and has pioneered in bringing about an awareness throughout the country of this disease; and

"Whereas, it is in the best interest of all citizens, and especially to those of our citizens who may suffer from this disease to become aware of it and to seek proper medical treatment and assistance"

The mayor urges all Quincy citizens to give fitting recognition of this observance.

Crime Watch

By ROBERT HANNA
Crime Prevention Officer
Quincy Police Department

The Early Years

During the years 1879 to 1880 Michael Walsh was in charge of the police station. Eden Underwood was in charge from 1881 to 1882.

Washington M. French from 1882 to 1884. In 1885 Frank Shea was appointed keeper and served for two years. James E. Maxim was in charge from 1888 to 1892, when the police force was organized.

In 1894 Chief Hayden recommended that the police station location be changed. He suggested that the old stone school house on School St. be repaired and used as the police station. Chief recommended that the position of Inspector be created. He also recommended a horse and wagon. At this time the police had to hire teams for transporting prisoners, or get the prisoners to the lockup the best way they could.

Chief Ripley later continued the fight for the police station on School St., saying the lockup had not changed in 22 years.

In 1901 the Council appropriated $4500.00 for the changing over of the old school building to a police station. On February 15, 1902 the police department occupied the School St. building.

The old lockup in City Hall was converted into an office for the Overseer for the Poor.

"The Bunco Boys" program is available to all Quincy Senior Citizens groups free of charge. If interested please call Off. Bob Hanna at 479-1212 ext 368 for a time and date.

Auto Insurance Rates Hurt Bay State Drivers, McDuff Says

John H. McDuff, Republican candidate for state representative in the Third Norfolk District has taken aim at Massachusetts lawmakers and insurance companies for "the outrageous" auto insurance premiums that Bay State car owners face.

"People are mad as hell" McDuff said, "and they want to know two things: How can insurance companies justify the scandalous rates they charge? and what have the Democrats who control this state done to bring these rates down?"

"In March of 1988, the Dukakis administration announced an incredible 7 percent increase in rates for the year, on top of the retroactive increase of 8.5 percent for 1987. Unbelievable as it may be insurance companies in August had the nerve to ask for another increase in premiums--this time of a 19.2 percent.

"If granted, this would mean rates will have increased 50 percent in the last three years alone. I believe that auto insurance reform must be made a priority this year so that we stop the ripping off of every motorist in Massachusetts."

"Our present system is rampant with fraud and false claims of theft and damage, yet every attempt to clean up the mess is met with delay, infighting and intensive lobbying from insurance companies and auto repair groups. In the meantime the People Suffer."

McDuff concluded Massachusetts citizens are still waiting for action while premiums rise. The entrenched Democrats have grown unresponsive to the people's demands paying more attention to the special interest lobby groups that have prevented any real reform laws from passing. It's time for the legislature to get back in session and do some real work."

Sheriff's Drug And Alcohol Awareness Program Underway

The Norfolk County Sheriff's Department has begun its drug and alcohol awareness program for local schools, police departments, youth and community groups throughout the county, including Quincy.

The program has been an ongoing community service provided by the sheriff's office for several years and has been a very successful part of Sheriff Clifford Marshall's administration.

The drug and alcohol program consists of a department coordinator and inmate residents with chronic drug and/or alcohol related problems. Residents address organizations speaking of their own personal abuse problems. Arrangements are made for groups to attend the program at the House of Correction and Jail or by requesting that the program be brought to the group.

The program has been very successful over the past few years with drug and alcohol abuse being a main concern in all public and private sectors. Last year, more than 5,000 students in Norfolk County participated in this program.

"Drug and alcohol abuse is one of our nation's most serious issues and we in Norfolk County are proud to be able to assist local schools and groups in addressing the needs of this issue," said Fred Canniff, the Sheriff's Department Drug and Alcohol Coordinator.

"Hopefully our efforts will result in increased community awareness and eventually a 'Drug Free America,'" Canniff said.

Anyone interested in the program or more information should contact Canniff at 329-6730.

McCauley Vetoes Resident Hiring Preference Order

allowed under state law.

"I don't feel its in good order for the city government to get involved telling private contractors who are doing business with the city of Quincy just who they should hire or how they should hire," McCauley said.

"I don't think this is very good legislation. It's very restrictive and I don't think, based on the research that Mr. MacRitchie has done, it's not constitutional," the mayor said.

In hiring his own "Official Family," McCauley said "I've always gone on the basis that it's good to hire local people, if you can.

"However, there are people in my administration that don't live in Quincy and they were picked on their capability and qualifications. If we got into this type of thing and this type of restriction spreads, we could find cities and towns in our general area passing restrictive clauses that would adversely affect our people," McCauley said.

He also noted that many Quincy residents work in the city as well as other communities, such as Boston.

DISCOVER A NEW ROOM in your home by renovating underused attic space with plywood wall paneling. Paneling easily adapts to cover slanted ceilings and knee walls, and is perfect for hiding storage space, according to the Plywood Paneling Council. Designer Patricia Gaylor created a cozy family hideaway by combining pastel toned beige woodgrain paneling with decorative paneling in a "petit fleur" pattern of soft beige, peach and celery tones. Portable furniture, throw pillows and wicker baskets in coordinating colors pull the room together with minimal expense.

Attic hideaway: A new room just waiting to be discovered

A new room is waiting to be discovered in your home. Your attic can provide a place of escape with a renovation made easier by using plywood wall paneling.

According to the Plywood Paneling Council, attics are high on the most-wanted remodeling lists, and equally high on the lists of improvements for increased resale value.

While this is no doubt due to the need to use every inch of available space, there's another reason. It is the intrinsic tree-house-like charm of the space itself. Slanted walls, transformed with starry skylight views, give a sense of openness with top-flight privacy.

Whether the attic is a remodeling or a finishing-off, there are decided advantages to using plywood wall paneling as a final decorating touch.

The paneling can be cut to size easily to cover slanted ceilings and knee walls, going up quickly in 4 by 8 feet sheets. It may be applied directly over studs. Paneling applied over gypsumboard covers existing seams and nail holes so these needn't be finished.

Decorative patterns have the look of fine wallpaper, while the woodgrain patterns and real wood veneers help create a natural look.

Designer Patricia Gaylor transformed the dark and underused attic of a quaint Cape Cod home into a cozy new room with lots of versatility.

Soft beige, peach and celery tones create an atmosphere conducive to relaxing for all family members seeking a place to unwind for favorite hobbies and activities.

Decorative paneling in a "petit fleur" pattern fills the room with a light country flavor. Woodgrain paneling is used on the front of built-in storage space around the perimeter of the room, and adds a rustic touch to the ceiling. The hinged wood lids on the storage compartments also serve as seating and shelf space.

Portable furniture that converts to beds, overstuffed throw pillows and wicker catch-all baskets for reading materials and toys complete the cozy, comfortable atmosphere without depleting the decorating budget.

City Seeks Bids On Radon Test Kits

Steps have been taken to secure bids from companies producing radon kits to help Quincy residents test their homes for radon levels, Mayor Francis X. McCauley said.

Bid notifications have been sent to EPA-approved Radon Home Vendor Testing Services, he said. The lowest bidder will be accepted.

Companies will be asked to supply the kits in bulk to provide the lowest cost possible to homeowners. This will include laboratory analysis of the charcoal filtered testing canisters, and information on any follow-up measures necessary to reduce unacceptable levels of radon in the resident's home.

It is expected that by mid-

November the radon test equipment should be available to all residents interested. The cooler months of the year, are advised for testing, when radon levels are higher, and readings reflect more clearly the maximum radon levels in homes.

Information on radon may be obtained from the J.J. Kennedy Health Center, 1120 Hancock St.

Buying a wood stove today: Heat, good looks combined

A crackling fire generally is recognized as one of life's most enduring pleasures. Just as appealing (if not even more so) in today's complex world as in centuries past, the soothing warmth of fire is an important source of comfort to body and soul.

According to Peter Comart, director of Team Fireside, Vermont Castings' consumer service resource, choosing the right wood stove for your home — just like choosing the right furnishings and appliances — is critical.

Comart advises that you consider the following key factors before buying a wood stove.

- As a rule, it is better to select a slightly undersized stove and burn it hotter than to select the largest size available and burn it at low temperatures.

- "Bigger is better" may be a good guideline when buying a snowblower — but it doesn't pertain to stoves.

- Stoves often are rated by the amount of cubic feet they can be expected to heat. Closely match the size of the area to be heated to the stove rating.

- Climate is important. Consider how many "heating degree days" your area experiences. Residents in northern states generally require greater heating capacity than do their southern counterparts.

- Is your house energy efficient? Age, tightness, amount of insulation and similar factors affecting your home's energy efficiency should be considered. An older, draftier home in Virginia actually may require a larger stove than a newly built, well insulated home of the same size in Minnesota.

- How will the stove be used? Many stove owners prefer to use a stove as a primary source of heat — to supply 50 to 75 percent of total heating needs. Others prefer using a stove as a supplementary source of heat, or to provide heat for a part of the home that a main system can not reach effectively.

- Consider the design. Of course, the physical appeal of the wood stove is extremely important. Today's stoves, such as those from Vermont Castings, incorporate such features as porcelain enameled finishes in handsome colors of red, green, blue, brown, gray, sand and black; stay clean glass windows for fire viewing; removable ash pans and top or front loading.

BEAUTY AND BRAINS. Today's wood stoves are as beautiful as they are efficient. No longer plagued by the "black box" image, wood stoves, such as Vermont Castings' Intrepid II shown here, add warmth and good looks to complement any room decor.

Fiberglass ceilings are one terrific cover up!

It's time somebody said something nice about cover ups.

No, not the political kind. We've all heard enough about them. We're talking about something more important: Your home.

Maybe it has an unfinished basement with exposed joists, ducts and wiring. Or maybe (if it's old enough), it has a cracked, stained or sagging ceiling. In either case you've got something to hide—and that calls for a cover up.

In fact, it calls for a "suspended ceiling." It's called that because the ceiling panels (2-foot by 2-foot or 2-foot by 4-foot) rest in a lightweight metal grid that you hang, or suspend, from the existing ceiling.

You can select a white, black or walnut-colored grid. You also have a choice of ceiling panels. There are wood fiber panels (generally the least expensive), mineral fiber panels (costlier but more attractive) and fiberglass panels, which are in a class by themselves.

Fiberglass panels too are generally low-priced, although you'll have to pay considerably more for the thickest panels that provide the most insulation.

And that's one of the things that sets fiberglass panels apart from the rest: They insulate. None of the others do. And you can "backload" the panels with more pink fiberglass batting to give you R-values up to R-38.

But there are more characteristics that distinguish fiberglass ceilings from other kinds. For example, they are flexible and lightweight. As a result:

- They won't chip, crumble or break during installation.
- They're easier to fit into the grid. You just flex them and pop them in.
- They're easy to cut with a utility knife for a precise fit around pipes, lighting fixtures (high hat fixtures, for instance) and room borders.

What are their drawbacks compared to the other types? Although they're acoustical and do a good job of soaking up sound in whatever room they're installed in, they're not as good as other ceiling panels in blocking sound transmission between floors. And their styling is not as sophisticated as the styling of mineral fiber panels, although this is somewhat a matter of taste.

On the plus side again, fiberglass panels are fire-retardant like mineral fiber, and washable like both mineral and wood fiber.

One company that makes all three types of panels, and metal grids as well, is Armstrong. In fact, if you buy Armstrong ceiling panels and grid together, you'll get a 10-year guarantee.

For more information, write to: Armstrong World Industries, Inc., ATTN: Free Ceilings Brochure, P.O. Box 3001, Lancaster, PA 17604. Or call 800-233-3823, toll-free, and ask for a complimentary copy of the ceilings brochure.

Quick and easy stain removal

Mud, red wine and blood are three of the most common stains found on carpets. But you can remove them and prevent permanent damage if you know how.

Mud, no matter how bad it looks, is actually easy to remove. Just wait for it to dry completely, then loosen with a soft brush and vacuum away.

For red wine stains, first dilute the stain with white wine, while the stain is still wet if possible, then clean with cold water and cover the spot with salt. After a few minutes, vacuum up the salt.

Blood stains should be cleaned with cold water and carpet shampoo. Or you can use a paste of cold water and laundry starch. Let the paste dry, then loosen and vacuum.

Keep winter out with new windows

Falling leaves and a chill in the air mean winter will be here soon. Before Old Man Winter takes over, now is the time for homeowners to replace old, weatherbeaten, drafty windows.

For years, your old windows have faced harsh weather, rain and snow, and summer's heat. Now your windows are warped and split, the paint's peeling, or the metal frame is corroding.

In fact, you may find yourself trying to heat the whole neighborhood as heat escapes from your drafty windows and your heating bill soars.

The solution to all these problems is solid vinyl replacement windows from CertainTeed. This year, CertainTeed has introduced a completely new line of vinyl windows—The Genesis® Collection.

Genesis windows combine all the benefits of vinyl windows with the smooth, sleek look of traditional wood.

Each Genesis window style—double-hung, glider, picture, casement, bay, bow or combination—is custom made for a custom fit. This means no gaps, no drafts, no place for your heat to escape. Because the window frames are made of vinyl, they never need painting.

Strong, structurally fused frames, with heavier, thicker walls, give Genesis windows greater strength and durability. For added thermal efficiency, the Genesis glazing system seals the glass tightly to the window's sash, creating a permanent bond.

Double-pane insulating glass, chambered frames and double weatherstripping all work to keep cold air outside.

The Genesis double-hung window features a constant force balance system unique to CertainTeed.

Consisting of concealed stainless steel balance springs, the system is designed for dependable, trouble-free operation, regardless of weather conditions—no more sticking windows.

Available in white or natural tan, the Genesis Collection of solid vinyl replacement windows complements any architectural style or color scheme.

For more information about CertainTeed's complete line of solid vinyl replacement windows, write to The CertainTeed Home Institute, VBPD, P.O. Box 860, Valley Forge, PA 19482.

WEEK OF: October 13

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Indecisive and changeable on the one hand, you're totally charming and easy to live with on the other. You love beautiful objects, but the coming year focuses as much on personal development as it does on materialistic acquisitions. An important celebration may be announced late in '88.

AQUARIUS - January 21 - February 19

Friends may oppose your plans - you'd do well to listen to the reasons. You may be enjoying a minor financial windfall. Romance benefits from a more lighthearted approach.

PISCES - February 20 - March 20

Work-connected ideas may receive a lukewarm reception, but it may be that only minor refinements are needed. Leadership role can be yours for the asking. Friend is more open minded.

ARIES - March 21 - April 20

Week sees you taking on the role of helper - a new role, and one you enjoy. Housemates are more cooperative. You may be able to manage a private holiday.

TAURUS - April 21 - May 22

Some conflict in the neighborhood shows signs of resolution - thanks largely to your initiative. Opening new lines of communication helps you restore rapport with older loved ones.

GEMINI - May 23 - June 21

Week sees you involved in some of your least favorite and most favorite activities. Recent uncertainties clear up in the friendship arena. Family functions demand much energy.

CANCER - June 22 - July 22

Loved one may press you for a decision. A shy friend becomes more extroverted, thanks to your gentle encouragement. Distractions are many and varied - make an added effort to conclude key task.

LEO - July 23 - August 22

Surprise expenses may cut into some of your spending plans. Loved one appreciates your forthrightness more than you expected. Rearranged plans and unexpected guests keep you moving.

VIRGO - August 23 - September 22

Seek out top advice before finalizing financial deals. Cancellation of event may leave you with time to pursue a new interest. Weekend offers rare opportunity to get away with loved one.

LIBRA - September 23 - October 22

Interesting money making idea benefits from further refinement. Colleague may resist your plans, but superior is willing to listen. A Sagittarius or Pisces may be stepping into friendship scene.

SCORPIO - October 23 - November 21

Ingenuity is your middle name, and your creative touch improves an otherwise routine project. You meet an individual whose mysterious approach closely resembles your own.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22 - December 22

Meetings are delayed, but there's enough on your plate to keep you well occupied right now. Loved one is more upbeat. Week generally favors learning, teaching, and patience.

CAPRICORN - December 23 - January 20

Week may see you attending auctions, garage sales and the like - and uncovering a meaningful treasure. Regardless of the season, this is an outstanding time for making resolutions.

QUINCY'S Tom Morrell (56) and Bob Austin (70) celebrate after the Presidents recovered a fumble in the end zone in last week's loss to Peabody.

Peabody 13, Quincy 12

A Great Start, A Disappointing Ending

By TOM SULLIVAN

Quincy's football team started out like a house afire last Friday night when it scored with only 33 seconds gone in the game, the first points scored on undefeated Peabody this fall.

The Presidents proceeded to turn in one of their finest efforts of the year only to fall, 13-12, their second one-point loss of the season.

Quincy (1-3) will try to return to the win column Saturday afternoon at 1:30 when it plays at Newton North.

Newton, which defeated Quincy, 21-0, a year ago, is 1-3 and lost to North Quincy, 20-14. It defeated Cambridge and lost to Needham and Arlington.

"This is disappointing," said Quincy coach Jack Raymer. "Peabody is one tough team and I saw them roll over Everett, 41-0, any team which can go through three games undefeated and unscored upon must have something, but we certainly gave them all they could handle."

"Peabody controlled the ball and ate up the clock, just as Waltham did in our one-point loss to them. We didn't have the ball very much and we didn't take advantage when we did have it. Our defense bent but didn't break and I give them a lot of credit."

"We still have to work on our offense, but we'll get it together. Chris Noble, I still feel, is one of the finest passers around but he still has to run for his life too many times. We ran the ball better tonight and he will continue to improve. Jim Dennett had another fine game as did Dave Nourse and Noble passed well."

Noble was 11 for 21 and 162 yards and both Quincy touchdowns. Dennett caught five passes for 58 yards and a touchdown and Scott Grant

Quincy Season Scoring

|          | TD | PAT | Pts |
|----------|----|-----|-----|
| Grant    | 3  | 0   | 18  |
| Dennett  | 2  | 0   | 12  |
| Noble    | 1  | 0   | 6   |
| Nourse   | 1  | 0   | 6   |
| Oliveri  | 1  | 0   | 6   |
| Caldwell | 1  | 0   | 6   |
| Norris   | 0  | 4   | 4   |

had four receptions for 87 yards and a touchdown.

The Presidents had only 83 net yards rushing, 61 by Nourse, while Peabody, paced by Wallace Johnson, who ran for over 100 yards, ground out 279 yards, while clicking off 17 first downs to nine for Quincy.

Peabody's quarterback Greg Licata, was three for eight for 49 yards and had one pass intercepted.

Brian Norris missed two kicks for extra points for the first time, and one was the result of a poor snap from center on which he had to rush the kick. Both kicks were plenty long but went to the right.

"Although they controlled the ball and ground out a lot of yardage, our defense did a good job," said Raymer, who hailed the play of Bobby Austin, Norris, Frank Ienello, Joe Baker, Tom Morrell, Dan Hanly, Todd Kimmel, Nourse, Ennio Eleuteri, Scott O'Brien, Grant, Marc Miele and Scott Campbell.

"I feel Morrell and Hanly are two of the finest defensive ends around," Raymer said.

Jack had good words for Tony Madden, Baker, Morrell, Norris and Hanly in the offensive line.

"Our major problems have been bad snaps from center, poor pass protection and penalties," said the Quincy coach. "I think we are a pretty darn good 1-3 club."

Things started off well as it took just four plays for Quincy to score. After an incomplete pass, Nourse ran for 16 yards and on the next play raced 44 yards before being brought down from behind on Peabody's eight. Noble then hit Dennett for a touchdown, but the kick for extra point was wide.

Peabody drove from Quincy's 39 late in the first quarter and Johnson (124 yards on 15 carries) scored from the three on the second play of the second quarter. Jeremy Coffey kicked what proved to be the winning point.

Peabody drove to a first down on Quincy's 10 and a pass was apparently good for a touchdown, but a fumble was recovered by the Presidents in the end zone and they got the ball on their 20.

Quincy could only get to the 38 and Raymer gambled on fourth down but a pass just missed connections and Peabody took over.

Peabody completed two of its three passes to reach Quincy's 24, Johnson raced 17 yards to the seven and Scott Webster scored from the eight.

Here came one of the big plays of the game. Coffey's kick for the point was blocked and O'Brien picked it up and took off, being stopped at midfield from behind. Under a new rule for high schools and colleges, a blocked kick can be run back for two points. If Dave Silva hadn't brought O'Brien down, it would have been the two points which would have made the difference for the Presidents.

O'Brien intercepted a pass just before the half ended. Peabody took the second half kickoff and ate up 7:37 on the clock as it picking up four first downs. Coffey's try for a field goal fell short and Quincy had the ball on the 20.

On the second play of the fourth quarter Noble passed up the middle to Grant for a 33-yard touchdown. However, Norris' kick for the tying point again was wide.

"I suppose I will be criticized for not going for the win, but there was no question that we would go for the tie, with so much time left in the game," Raymer said. "I was criticized after the Waltham game for going for the win instead of the tie (Waltham won, 14-13)."

North Girls Lose

The North Quincy girls' cross country team, following impressive wins over Brockton and Brookline, lost to Newton North, 20-40, last week in the battle of Suburban League teams.

Sherrin Quintiliani, the Raiderettes' top runner, battled with Jennie Haggar, Newton North's lead runner, over much of the 2.5-mile Pageant Field course, but Haggar's strength proved superior in the end, winning in 14:41, while Quintiliani finished second at 15:08.

Newton then spotted three runners ahead of North's Bridget Toland, who placed sixth, and Karen Cashman finished ninth. Lindsey McGovern was 11th and Joanne Moriarity 12th for the Raiderettes.

"Newton proved it was the best in the league and possibly one of the best in the state," said North coach Jeff

Hennessy. "It's depth was just too much for us."

North Quincy will take part in the Brown University Invitational Saturday and will host Waltham on Oct. 20 over the Pageant Field course.

"Waltham is still undefeated, but we'll be ready for them," said Hennessy.

Raiders Look For New Start Against Lakers

When North Quincy's football team was blown out by Brookline two weeks ago, Coach Ken McPhee said, "when you get blown out like that, you just try to forget it and not worry about it. It's when you lose the close ones that you really feel it and wonder what you could have done."

McPhee got to know the latter feeling last Friday night when the Raiders lost to Weymouth South, 13-12, because of two missed extra point conversions and a field goal try which fell short by about a yard.

North will try to get back into the win column Friday night when it hosts Silver Lake at 7 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The Lakers, who have former North Quincy coach Ralph Frazier as their athletic coordinator, are 2-2 with wins over Barnstable and Taunton and losses to Bridgewater-Raynham and Weymouth North.

"This loss was very disappointing, especially after taking a 12-0 lead," said McPhee. "We have the trouble with extra points all season. That field goal try by Dave Hutchings was right on target but just fell short."

Fullback Ryan Craig, who missed the Brookline game, was back but played only on offense. He and Mike Ainsley are two of the best line backers in the area but McPhee sat him down on defense last week. He had a good night offensively with 92 yards on 19 carries.

Wide receiver Kevin MacDougall is still out of action and will miss at least two more games and his brother, quarterback Billy, left the game early after re-injuring his leg.

Jim Bryan got his chance at quarterback, finished the game and did well running the team. He completed four of nine passes for 57 yards, including one for 29 yards to Tim Baker and another for 14 to Ainsley.

All the scoring took place in the first half and it was all defense the second half. Baker, Ainsley, Keith Gott, Hutchings and Dave Joyce all played well on defense. Gott also ran well, rushing for 52 yards on 14 carries and scoring a touchdown.

On North Quincy's second possession, the Raiders drove 54 yards for a score with Craig accounting for 32 yards. Gott scored from the four but the try for the extra points failed.

In the second quarter the Raiders marched 59 yards with Craig picking up 42 yards and he went around the left side for 18 yards and the touchdown. Again the conversion try failed.

Weymouth South went 74 yards for its first touchdown with Mike McMahon picking up 51 yards and he scored on a 17-yard run. Bob Leighton kicked what proved to be the winning point.

With 32 seconds left in the half quarterback Joe Zapustas, who had accounted for 26 of his team's 27 points the previous week in a win over Quincy, threw a 32-yard bomb to Jim O'Connor, who caught the ball while in the air in the end zone.

Zapustas completed six of 12 passes for 114 yards.

McPhee disputed the touchdown call but to no avail.

With a minute remaining in the game Hutchings tried his 40-yard field goal but it fell a yard short and that was that.

"Dave was hitting from that distance in practice so we had to take a short with fourth down and 11," said McPhee.

"I remember seeing him hitting them from that distance in practice and it wasn't a good feeling when I saw him lining up."

Weymouth coach Bart Webber said "North Quincy played a heck of a game and we were fortunate to come away with a victory."

Belott's 4 TD's Pace North Frosh

By PETE ZOIA

The North Quincy freshman football team defeated Weymouth South, 28-12, with Desmond Belott scoring all four touchdowns.

Mark Cacuzo and Chris Murray sparked a 93-yard drive with quarterback Sergi Wasilew handling the ball well. Belott scored from the 19-yard line to put North ahead.

North's Mark Kelleher recovered a blocked punt for a few minutes later on Weymouth's 27. Belott raced 25 yards to the five and scored on the next play. Cacuzo rushed for the two-point conversion.

Weymouth came right back with a 63-yard touchdown run but Belott raced 78 yards for the young Raiders' third touchdown. Weymouth scored its second touchdown on a 52-yard run.

In the final quarter Cacuzo went 22 yards and Murray added 19 to Weymouth's 17 and Belott scored his fourth touchdown. Cacuzo again added the two points.

Coach Kevin Kelly, who was able to use his entire squad, singled out Dave Raftery, Chris Peck, Brendon O'Connell, Sean Moran, Ray Daduia, Paul Oakes and Tim Lampa for their performances.

Quincy Freshmen Defeat Peabody

The Quincy freshman football team improved its record to 3-0 with an 18-6 victory over Peabody.

Quincy's defense set the tone for the day when it stopped an early Peabody drive on the goal line sparked by Gary Collins. Paul Eleuteri, Bob Daggari and Jason Andrews.

Collins then led a 96-yard drive and he scored from the one behind a fine block by Paul Eleuteri. The drive was sparked by a 60-yard pass completion to Jason Eleuteri and the young Presidents led at the half, 6-0.

After another fine defensive stand, Collins led Quincy on another long scoring drive early in the third quarter. A 60-yard pass to tight end Mike Malvesti set up the score and Peter Eleuteri scored from the seven. Guards John Fink, Keith Norris and Paul Eleuteri make key blocks.

Peabody scored on the ensuing kickoff. "This is one part of the game I would like to see change," said first-year coach Earl Metzler. "Kickoffs produce more injuries than they are worth and most of the time can produce freak scores."

Collins led still another drive from Quincy's 45 and moved in for the touchdown on 11 plays, sneaking in from the one.

"Collins showed a lot of poise and character on this drive," said Metzler. "He's a real leader."

Co-Capt. Jason Anderson played well both ways and did the bulk of the ball carrying on the final drive. He rushed for 85 yards on 14 carries.

"Jason is a real workhorse and gives you 110 percent on every play," said the Quincy coach.

Other standouts for the Presidents were Steve distasio, Pat Gallagher, Mark Zaborowski, Greg Warren, Ali Sleiman and David Cahill. Quincy will be host to Newton North Friday.

Walker Has Something To Smile About At North

North Quincy girls' swim coach Bill Walker is smiling these days despite the misfortune of breaking both arms in a fall last month.

The smiles come from the Raiderettes' best start ever, a 6-1 record, and Walker was eagerly looking forward to the start of the Suburban League season this past Tuesday when North met Brockton.

The North girls will swim at Newton North Friday and will be home to Brookline Tuesday in 4 p.m. league meets.

"I can't complain, my team is doing real well," said Walker, who will be inducted into the Bridgewater State College Athletic Hall of Fame Friday.

While Bill is relegated to poolside, his sister, Linda Walker, and Gail Raftery are handling the in-water coaching.

The Raiderettes improved to 6-1 last Friday with a 107-60 victory over Weymouth North.

Junior diver Dana Guilfoyle scored more than 140 points for the third time and qualified for the South Sectional championships.

Sara Harrington hit the 200 individual medley (3:02) Joanna Vermette in the 100 backstroke (1:24.2) and freshman Maria Pasalacqua in the (1:35.2 for second place) turned in their personal best times.

North Quincy winners were Debbie Ramos, 100 freestyle (1:00.5); Claire McCarthy, 200 freestyle (2:25.8) and 500 freestyle (6:46.8); Harrington, 200 individual medley; Vermette, 100 backstroke; Guilfoyle, diving (157.60 points), and the 400 freestyle relay team of Vicki Borek, Christine Calnan, Maria Cavros and Eileen Barbuo (5:18.4).

Placing second were Ramos, 50 freestyle; Calnan, 200 freestyle; Barbuo, 500 freestyle; Borek, 200 individual medley; Harrington, 100 butterfly; Pasalacqua, 100 breaststroke, and Renee Robichau, diving.

Taking third places were Blythe Bumpus, 50 and 100 freestyle; Calnan, 100 butterfly, and Kelly LeBlanc, diving.

Earlier in the week the Raiderettes defeated Framingham, North, 91-74.

Ramos took two seconds off her own school record in the 100 freestyle (59.63) and improved that with a 58.8 on the lead leg of the freestyle relay. Her times qualified her for the Sectional Championships and the 58.8 relay leg gave her an automatic berth in the State Championships.

North winners were Ramos in the 50 freestyle (27.2) and 100 freestyle; Heather Stuart, 100 breaststroke (1:34.8), and Guilfoyle, diving (136.55 points).

Taking seconds were Bumpus, 50 freestyle; McCarthy, 200 freestyle and 500 freestyle; Hughes, 100 backstroke; Leslie Mahoney, 100 breaststroke, and Robichau, diving.

Placing third were Bumpus, 100 freestyle; Hughes, 200 freestyle; Harrington, 100 butterfly; Pasalacqua, 100 breaststroke, and LeBlanc, diving.

Quincy, North Continue To Dominate Suburban League

It appears the only losses for the Quincy and North Quincy girls volleyball teams will be to each other as they continue to dominate the Suburban League.

Both teams went along their winning ways last Friday as the Quincy girls improved to 10-0 and the North girls to 9-1, their only loss being to Quincy. Quincy lost its only game of the year to North, while North lost its only two games to Quincy.

Quincy defeated Brockton,

2-0 (15-6, 15-0) last Friday sparked by the serving and spiking of Amy Guidice and Nancy Laitinen. North topped Weymouth South, 2-0 (15-2, 15-1), with Debbie Panaro doing some strong setting and Deirdre Murphy and Karen Reister playing well at net. Earlier in the week, Quincy defeated Newton South, 2-0 (15-0, 15-1) with sophomore Christine Barrett, Laitinen and Guidice standing out. North toppled Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 2-0 (15-8, 15-10) led by Reister's strong serving and Julie Detwiler's spiking.

Quincy faced Netwon North yesterday (Wednesday). Will be at Boston Latin Friday, will play at Weymouth North Monday and will host Brookline next Wednesday. North Quincy played Waltham yesterday, will be at Newton South Friday, will host Brockton Monday and will be at Newton North next Wednesday.

Manets Sink Sailors, Hold First Place

By STEVE KAVANAGH

The Houghs Neck Manets maintained their first place standing with a 12-0 victory over the Squantum Sailors in Quincy Youth Football League action last week.

The Manets improved their record to 3-0, a game ahead of the idle North Quincy Apaches.

Houghs Neck scored its first touchdown in the second quarter. Mike Spaur scored from about 40 yards out on a reverse. The Sailors stopped the two-point conversion attempt.

The two teams went into the lockerroom at halftime with the Manets holding a slim 6-0 advantage.

Houghs Neck extended the lead in the third period when Rob Kane salvaged a broken play by running 20 yards for a touchdown. Once again the Sailor defense stopped the conversion attempt.

Houghs Neck coach Dan Morrell was pleased with his team's effort and also gave credit to the Sailors for playing a good football game.

Brian Clifford played a strong two-way game for the Manets and the offensive line of Jamie Schaeitzl, Jason Curry, Rich Stone, Mike Gomez, Jamie White, Jeff

Craig and Eddie Kenney had a solid game.

Houghs Neck was led defensively by Curry, Dan Morrell, David Bogan, Rich Howard, Stone and White.

Squantum received an excellent two-way performance from Phil Pacino. Offensively, linemen Matt Levine, Rick MacVarish, Pat Layden, Mike Katz, Dave Reinhart, Joe Powers, Brad Douglas and quarterback Greg Burke played well.

On defense, the Sailors got solid play from Tom Nutley, Billy Degan and Wayne Weikel.

In a junior varsity tilt, the West Quincy Elks and North Quincy Apaches battled to a 0-0 standoff.

The Elks threatened to score at the very end of the game. Joe Cirrello completed a 30-yard pass to Brendan Brack and Mark Nutley passed to Mike Malvesti who was topped at the Apache 15-yard line with no time remaining.

Elk coach Jim Hazelhurst said the game was played hard by both clubs with the defense dominating.

"Both offenses sputtered," Hazelhurst said.

This week the Quincy Point Panthers will challenge the Manets in varsity action at 1 p.m. while the Elks will go head-to-head with the Squantum Sailors in a junior varsity contest at 2:30 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Squirt Bs Defeat Arlington, 7-1

The Quincy Squirt B hockey team, sponsored by Quincy Cable Systems, opened its season with an impressive 7-1 victory over Arlington.

The team turned in an outstanding defensive effort led by assistant Capt. John Ryan, Eric Oliva, Joe Braken, Bruce Stenberg and Mike O'Brien.

Joshua Wingate had two goals and assistant Capt. Jim Kelly, John Manning, Chris Grant, Shawn McTomney and Capt. Jimmy Gallagher one each.

Robbie Pirelli and Tom Mirarty had two assists apiece and Billy Barron, Manning, Grant and McTomney one each.

McTomney, Barron and Mirarty did some solid backchecking in the second and third periods.

"This was the first game together and the boys played outstanding hockey throughout the game," said Bob Pirelli, who coaches the team along with Mike McTomney.

The Squirt B's will play Weymouth next Monday night at 7:40 at the Pilgrim Arena in Hingham.

Flavin & Flavin Showing First Time Home Buyers They Are 'Very Qualified'

By JANE ARENA
Flavin & Flavin Real Estate Company, 1085 Hancock St., Quincy, recently sponsored a seminar for first time home buyers at their Bicknell School Condominiums 190 Sea St., North Weymouth.

The seminar, aimed at young couples and professionals who may have thought they were unable to afford a new home or condominium, featured speakers from area banks and mortgage companies who explained to potential buyers what they could afford under various mortgage plans.

"Many young buyers feel that they can't afford to buy now because they haven't worked long enough, they haven't accumulated enough money for a down payment, or because they think their income is not high enough," said Ed Flavin of Flavin & Flavin. "We are trying to teach them that they're very qualified to buy."

Bicknell School Condominiums, which was once the Bicknell Junior High School, was entirely remodeled into affordable luxury condominiums by Storrow Associates, a development company in Boston.

"When they started," Flavin said, "the building was a boarded up school which had been broken into. They took what had become a town eye-sore and renovated it and expanded it and turned it into an asset for the North Weymouth section of town."

The units in the building range from varied one-bedroom models to elegant townhouses and start in price at $109,900. The building is currently over 60 percent sold.

These condominiums are made even more affordable to first time buyers through a gesture from Storrow Associates: Paul Maney, a representative from the company, said that they offered to waive the condo fee, waive the real estate tax fees from the point of purchase until June 30, 1989, and to pay up to two points of the mortgage origination fee, which is usually one to three points.

While this offer was originally extended only to those attending the seminar, it has now been expanded to other first-time buyers without limitations, Flavin said.

Also at the seminar was Peter Collins of Quincy, a representative from the Commonwealth Mortgage Company, who offered individual consultations with people after the seminar.

"I think we were very well received," Flavin said, "there was some very good interest and some sales made. And a good amount of those sales were from people who never thought they could afford to buy."

Although this was the first such educational seminar sponsored by Flavin & Flavin, the company's representatives had participated in similar programs sponsored by local banks and area real estate boards.

"We probably would (sponsor future seminars)," Flavin said, "it depends on the indications. If people inquire about them, or if our general marketing finds that there are still a lot of young professional people who don't think that they can buy... we want to educate these people and give them a little boost and some encouragement."

"Our primary motivation with the seminar was to educate the potential market," he said, "we hoped that we'd make sales, of course, because we're motivated by sales too, but the education aspect was our primary motive... we want to show people that they really can afford homes and condos."

An abundance of two-career families are entering today's real estate market, bringing with them unique housing requirements.

That's the word from Maureen McCaffrey, director of relocation for the Jack Conway Real Estate Company, who notes that a large number of today's transferees are members of two-income families which require special treatment and help.

"Surveys show that over 60 percent of all families today have two incomes," said McCaffrey. "In the past, when women were not so prominent in the work force, the wife was the dominant one in the home selection process. But this pattern has changed as more women have developed careers of their own. Today, when a two-career family relocates, one-in-six times it is because the wife is being transferred. As a result, there is much more participation and decision-making by the male spouse since he often shares the home maintenance chores."

While purchasing a home is a major decision for everyone, the two-career family tends to look more at the practical side, McCaffrey noted.

"There is a greater emphasis on such things as transportation, convenience of maintenance and additional space for an office or library. These couples tend to buy more from their head than heart."

According to McCaffrey not all two-career families seek the same things in housing; but there is a common denominator in their approach to finding a new home.

"They all want to know how the home will work for the. Two-career families with children desire close proximity to schools, day-care facilities and transportation for themselves and also for household help they may require," she said. "On the other hand, a couple without children often seeks a home that is a physical retreat from the hustle and bustle usually found in their work environments."

Conway's relocation division was established in 1962, and has grown to offer a full spectrum of services including homefinding, homesale, rental assistance, personal mortgage consultation, spouse counseling, and insurance.

The division is also a member of the nationwide RELO Inter-City Relocation Service. Headquartered in Chicago, the organization consists of nearly 1,400 member companies and approximately 4,000 member offices which work to help families who are selling a house in one geographic area and buying a home in another.

Holiday Sampler Art Course At Beechwood Center

The South Shore Art Center will begin a Holiday Sampler course for young artists Monday, Oct. 31 at 3:30 p.m. at the Beechwood Community Life Center, 225 Fenno St., Wollaston.

Advanced registration is required for this course designed for students in grades two through six. Registration can be made through the South Shore Art Center, 119 Ripley Rd. Cohasset.

The young artist courses taught in Quincy are part of the Center's popular satellite program funded by the Joseph Brown Foundation, a Los Angeles-based philanthropic group.

The Holiday Sampler series will meet on Mondays from 3:30 to 5 p.m. for six weeks. Each week students will be introduced to a different project and a different instructor.

Young artists will work on projects revolving around the December holidays and learn to create unique gifts for friends.

Also continuing in Quincy are the weekly Drop-in Workshops on Thursdays from 1:30 to 3 p.m.

Workshops are for grades one through five and has been an on-going series from September to mid-December.

The drop-ins let students come on an informal basis to work on weekly art projects such as creating Indian masks, carving plaster slabs, designing banners or building mobiles with wire.

For more information on these and other young artist classes, call the South Shore Art Center at 383-9548.

Center programs are funded in part by a grant from the Massachusetts Council on Arts and Humanities, a state agency.

Elder Activity Room Open At Beechwood Center

The Elder Action Program at Beechwood Community Life Center, 225 Fenno St., announces the opening of the Elder Activity Room on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Elders are welcome to come by the center anytime during those hours for coffee, board games, card games, conversation, and organized activities which are being planned.

There is also a lending library from the Thomas Crane Public Library and books are available on a three week borrowing basis.

Discussion groups and classes on various activities including basic photography are being planned, as well as an arts and crafts session on Wednesdays from 12:30 to 2 p.m.

Historical Society Library Hours Expanded

The Quincy Historical Society Library has expanded its hours to be opened six days a week.

The new schedule is: Monday and Wednesday from 9:30 a.m. to noon and 12:30 to 1:30 p.m.; Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.; Saturday from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. and by appointment by calling 773-1144.

The expanded hours are a result of growing use by researchers and students. The library is open to members and non-members at no fee.

Quincy Sun Car Care Guide

Simple approach to automotive repairs

In the fall, with the arrival of cooler weather, motorists often turn their attention to getting their cars ready for winter driving. Do-it-yourselfers seem to have no problems—indeed, they relish the opportunity of popping the hood and going to work.

But, due to ever-changing technology, many people would rather have a mechanic check out their car and perform any necessary repairs and service. If only finding good, competent auto repair weren't so chaotic.

Fortunately, finding a good auto mechanic need not be a guessing game. The non-profit National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence, better known as ASE, offers the following tips:

- Don't go it alone. Ask your friends, relatives and business associates for the names of shops they recommend. A common sense is more convincing than the advice of one person.

- Use local consumer groups. Your Better Business Bureau or similar consumer organization can tell you if the shop in question has many complaints lodged against it. They also should be able to tell you what constitutes an excessive number of complaints, and whether or not the complaints have been resolved.

- Look for signs of professionalism. For example, are there such things as customer service awards, certificates of appreciation, civic awards, etc., on the walls?

What about evidence of technical competence? Employers often will post their technicians' credentials (ASE certificates, diplomas from automotive training programs, advanced courses, etc.) in the customer service area.

- Look for certified technicians. The National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (ASE) offers the only industry-wide, national credential available to working technicians.

Shops which employ ASE technicians usually display the bold blue and white ASE outdoor sign, while the technicians wear matching shoulder insignia.

ASE does not certify shops; only the technicians the shop employs. ASE certification of a technician means that he or she is qualified to perform repair and service in given specialties, such as engine repair, brakes, etc.

- Look for organization. Does the shop appear to be orderly and relatively clean, and free of clutter and old parts? It doesn't have to be hospital clean, simply tidy and well-maintained.

PROVEN PROS—Competent auto repair can be found at auto repair facilities that employ technicians certified by the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (ASE). There are over 216,000 of these proven pros in the marketplace. They can be found at new car dealerships, service stations, independent garages, tire dealerships and volume retailers. Shops employing ASE technicians often display the ASE outdoor sign; the technicians usually wear a matching shoulder emblem.

- Get involved. Start by reading your owner's manual—even if you never intend to do the actual repairs yourself.

Be certain to have your vehicle serviced according to the manufacturer's recommended intervals as stated in the manual. If you do, your car probably will last longer. Keep a record of your repairs. Many manuals leave a page or two blank for that purpose.

- Look for shop policies. Are the policies concerning labor rates, guarantees, estimates, etc., posted in the customer service area? If they are unclear or not posted at all, is someone willing to explain them to your satisfaction?

- Stay involved. You can help the repair process by describing your car's symptoms. Use precise language. Don't try to diagnose the problem or insist upon a specific repair.

For example, do not rush in and say, "I need a complete tune-up." Instead, describe how the car is running—how it feels or sounds or handles. Let the experts make the final diagnosis, based upon your input, comments and observations.

- Remember, you're the boss. Admittedly, your technical ability is no match for the experts, but beware of any shop that does not welcome your comments. If no one seems to listen, or if you feel yourself being rushed, take your business to a more reputable establishment.

Mutual respect is the name of the game today. Yesterday's shade tree amateurs have been replaced by professional shops, with up-to-date equipment, professional ASE-certified technicians and courteous service.

For more information about voluntary certification of technicians write: ASE, Dept. MC, 1920 Association Drive, Reston, VA 22091.

PURE ANTIFREEZE IS NO SOLUTION

Visions of a frozen engine during the depths of a severe cold snap might encourage some zealous car owners to "tail sale" by pouring pure antifreeze into their cooling systems. Then they learn the hard way that they have created, rather than solved, car problems.

Pure, undiluted antifreeze (ethylene glycol) solidifies at eight degrees above zero (Fahrenheit), warns Car Care Council. It is intended to be mixed into a 50 percent solution with water, which provides protection to 27°F. The maximum mix is 70 percent, says the Council, which protects to 85°F.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE UNDER G.L. 183A:6

By virtue of a Judgment and Order of the Norfolk Superior Court (docket no. 479027) in favor of HERMAN PASQUERELLA, et al. against KARL D. FIECH and RICHARD D. FITCH, et al. establishing a lien pursuant to G.L.M. 183A on the real estate known as Unit #407 at 133 Commander Shea Blvd., Quincy, MA for the purpose of satisfying such lien, the real estate will be sold at Public Auction at 11:00 o'clock a.m. on the 10th day of November 1988 at the Deputy Sheriff's Office, 630 High St., Dedham, MA. The premises to be sold are more particularly described as follows:

*Unit No. 407 of Edgewater Place, a Condominium, created by Master Deed dated October 4, 1985 and filed on October 28, 1985 with Norfolk Registry District of the Land Court as Document No. 475933, noted on Certificate of Title No. C130, and recorded with the Norfolk Registry of Deeds on October 28, 1985 as Instrument No. 85672, together with an undivided, 6397% interest appertaining to said UNIT in the common areas and facilities of said Condominium, and subject to and with the benefit of the provisions of said Master Deed hereinafter referred to. The Post Office Address of the Condominium is 133 Commander Shea Boulevard, North Quincy, Norfolk County, Massachusetts 02171.

Terms of Sale:

1. Non refundable check for a minimum of 10% of the purchase price of $7,500.00, whichever is greater, to be paid by the successful bidder at the time of the auction.

2. The balance of the purchase price to be paid within thirty days of the sale.

3. Release deed to be issued to purchaser upon payment of balance of purchase price.

4. The sale shall be subject to and with the benefit of all restrictions, easements, improvements, encumbrances, taxes, municipal or other public taxes, assessments, liens or claims in the nature of liens and existing encumbrances of record which have priority over the lien for outstanding condominium common fees or which survive the same whether or not reference to such restrictions, easements, improvements, liens or encumbrances is made in the deed as well as all the provisions and conditions of the Edgewater Place Condominium Master Deed, Trust, By-Laws, Rules and Regulations and any amendment thereto. The sale is further subject to any and all tenants, tenancies and occupants.

5. Other terms to be announced at the sale.

One Hour Meters, Hancock St. Westside Parking Approved

A proposal to increase parking meters in downtown Quincy from 30 minutes to one hour and allow legal parking on the westerly side of Hancock St. from Granite St. to School St. with metered one-hour parking has the approval of the mayor and City Council.

Mayor Francis McCauley said Tuesday he will sign the ordinance. The measure was unanimously approved by the City Council Monday night.

According to George Riley, executive director of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, the ordinance will create about 25 legal parking spaces in the downtown area.

Meters will be installed on the westerly side of Hancock St. to allow legal parking there. Meters in the downtown area would increase from the present 30 minutes to one hour.

Also, meter rates will increase from 10 cents per 15 minutes to 25 cents an hour.

The ordinance also calls for loading zones to be designated at seven locations on the west side and east side of Hancock St.

On the west side:

- One between Granite and Cliveden St.
- Two between Cliveden St. and Hancock St.

On the east side:

- One between Granite St. and Cottage Ave.
- Two between Cottage

Ave. and Revere Rd.

- One between Revere Rd. and School St.

Exact dimensions and locations of the loading zones will be determined by measurements to be made by the traffic engineer.

The recommendation for the changes were made after a survey was conducted by the QCBPA. The organization surveyed its membership during the summer. Results showed more than 80 businesses supported the change.

In August, the Traffic Commission voted to approve the recommendations made by the QCBPA. A month earlier, McCauley, QCBPA Bob Colman and Riley voiced their support for the measure.

At Public Hearing:

'We Need Affordable Housing But What Is The Best Way?'

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

Residents, housing officials and business leaders stood united at a public hearing Monday night in favor of promoting affordable housing in Quincy but were divided over the method to promote it.

About 75 people gathered before the City Council in City Hall to discuss a proposal for a home rule petition to establish an affordable housing trust fund in Quincy. The measure was introduced in June by Ward 3 Councilor Lawrence Chretien, chairman of the Human Services Committee.

Under the order introduced by Chretien, a trust fund would be established to promote various forms of affordable housing. The fund would be used by local residents and be supplied by a four percent fee on commercial developments in the city.

Virtually every resident, business leader and owner and housing official present said they were in favor of promoting affordable housing but many from the business sector voiced disapproval of the four percent fee, saying it would hurt the business climate.

Twenty-seven people went on record in support of the fee while 13 signed in opposition. The tally does not include the approximately 10 people who spoke against the fee nor the other 10 who said they supported it.

According to Chretien, the fund could be used in a variety of ways. Beside building affordable housing projects, the fund could be used as vouchers for renters and as a down payment on a house.

"This is a concrete way to promote affordable housing I think some people exaggerated the adverse effects of it," Chretien said after the 90-minute hearing.

The adverse effects Chretien referred to were several points brought up by business leaders and owners who said a four percent fee on commercial developments in the city would force some businesses to move while hinder new ones from locating in the city.

Ronald Zooleck, executive vice president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce, said "While I am ultimately for affordable housing, the end does not justify the means."

"I am a little angry. We're not against the bill," adding that other ways should be considered such as incentives.

Referring to the recent Council passage of the 157 percent tax classification plan, Zooleck said, "Anything that makes it more difficult to do business in Quincy is not good."

George Riley, executive director of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, said the four percent fee "does away with any logic." Instead of the fee, Riley advocated raising money for the fund by real estate taxes brought on by new business in Quincy.

Residents and housing officials offered a different kind of testimony to city councilors, stating how difficult it is for many people to live in Quincy.

John P. "Jake" Comer, who recently returned to his post as executive director of the Quincy Housing Authority after serving as National Commander of the American Legion, said he was in favor of the fund via four percent fee.

Real Estate Tax Bills In Mail Friday

Real estate tax bills will be mailed out Friday, Mayor Francis X. McCauley announces. Approximately 20,000 bills will be mailed out, he said.

Bills are due and payable on or before Monday Nov. 21

The mayor urges all tax payers to pay their real estate tax bill as soon as possible.

Council Opposes State Wide Exam For Police Chief

The City Council unanimously approved a resolution Monday night stating their opposition to Mayor Francis McCauley's decision to call for a state-wide police chief examination.

Last week, McCauley said he would call for a state-wide police examination from which a successor to Chief Francis X. Finn would be selected. The mayor said a state-wide exam would open the position "to superior officers" throughout the state.

Ward 5 Councillor Charles Phelan, who introduced the resolution said the next chief of police should come from within the ranks of the Quincy Police Department.

"Someone who is from the city and works in the city is more able to address the needs of the city," he said.

"We have talented people on the Quincy Police force," Councillor Stephen McGrath, who called the mayor's decision "very bad," said, "I think this is wrong. It sends a very devastating signal to the moral of the Quincy Police Department."

"I see no reason to go outside the city of Quincy to elect a chief. We've got talent down there and I believe the next chief should come from there," he said.

The state-wide police exam, to take place Feb. 4, will replace the present local Civil Service list. There are four Quincy officers on the list: Lt. Donald Riley is first.

The mayor said he called for the state-wide exam after being notified by Civil Service that the current list must be updated.

"This open competitive exam will allow us to draw from all over the state," McCauley said.

Ward 4 Councillor James Sheets also voiced his opposition to the mayor's decision.

"I've always been very proud of the Quincy Police Department," he said, citing its sensitivity in dealing with the public.

"They should have an opportunity to apply for this job. This is a very bad decision."

"The Quincy Police Department has a very proud tradition and I think this strikes at the very heart of that tradition," Sheets said.

The resolution reads: "Whereas, the Senior Officers of the Quincy Police Department have scored some of the highest marks in the state on police promotional exams, and

"Whereas, the Senior Officers of the Quincy Police Department are some of the best educated in the state, and

"Whereas, a candidate for chief of police from outside the Quincy Police Department would lack knowledge of the city's citizens, history, culture and background, and

"Now, therefore, be it resolved that the City Council go on record as being opposed to a state-wide exam for Police Chief for the city of Quincy."

Hearing Nov. 2 On Cahill Downtown Revitalization Plan

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

A public hearing on a proposed downtown revitalization will be held by the City Council Wednesday, Nov. 2 at 7 p.m. in the City Council Chamber at City Hall.

The plan was introduced by Councillor Timothy Cahill, chairman of the Downtown Economic and Development Committee.

One of the main points of the plan is the proposed creation of a "central business district" or "downtown revitalization zone," Cahill said.

The district, with specific boundaries and a specific zoning plan, "will encourage a more vibrant, and livable, Quincy Square," he said.

The new district consists of land presently zoned Business C beginning at the intersection of Washington St. and McGrath Highway and bounded as follows:

- Southeasterly by McGrath Highway
- Southeasterly by Revere Rd.
- Easterly by Mechanic St.
- Southeasterly by Elm St.
- Southeasterly by School St.
- Northeasterly by the southeasterly lot line of land owned by the MBIA
- Southwesterly by Granite St.
- Westerly by Hancock St.
- Northwesterly by Temple St.
- Northeasterly by Washington St. to McGrath Highway.

One of the plan's highlights is the creation of a special permit granting review authority board. Cahill said this board would give the City Council more control over the type of structure proposed by a developer.

If the board is set up, Cahill said that "every large project, residential and commercial, will come before the Council for approval."

"The board will work within the new perimeters and the City Council will have the authority to review plans. The Council would have a say in what buildings look like," he said.

Under Cahill's plan, height limitations would also be increased. The maximum height for commercial projects in the specified zone would go from 80 feet to 110 feet.

Residential projects in the zone would also have a maximum height of 110 feet, Cahill said.

As for density, residential projects in the zone would go from a minimum of 2,500 square feet of unit density to 500 feet.

Commercial density would not change, he said.

Cahill said he hoped these changes would encourage developers to come to Quincy and revitalize the downtown area.

"This will hopefully encourage developers to come to Quincy and build, thus revitalizing Quincy. If you want to build, downtown is the place to build, not in our neighborhoods, because that is where the benefits are," he said.

Cahill said he believes Quincy Square is at a "critical crossroads."

"We have seen the positive results that projects begun in this decade, have produced," referring to Quincy Center Plaza. According to Cahill, this project encouraged the rehabilitation and revitalization to the Greenleaf Building, the Adams Building and the Burgin Platner Building.

"Three other key downtown projects, Presidents Place, Hancock Square and Hancock Park, give us a glimpse of the potential that Quincy Square holds," he said.

Cahill said the plan is designed to give maximum flexibility to those who wish to develop or rehabilitate the property they own. It is Cahill's goal to create a Quincy Square that:

- Encourages residential project development.
  - Encourages the creation of a cultural center.
  - Mandates the continuation of safe and clean environment.
  - Encourages more public spaces, including courtyards, parks, and rest areas.
  - Mandates all new building and rehabilitation to be done in an historical context, focusing first on preserving and restoring Quincy Square's unique history.
  - Continues to deal with traffic and parking realistically and constructively.
- "The ultimate goal is to revitalize downtown Quincy - to reawaken it," he said.

Fall Foliage Nears Peak Here

Raymond Cattaneo, executive director of Park, Forestry and Cemetery Departments, reminds residents who are unable to travel that fall foliage is expected to hit its peak here this week and next.

For the second straight year, Mount Wollaston Cemetery reached its peak earlier than the rest of the city with many trees turning into beautiful fall colors.

Merrymount Park, located off Southern Artery, also offers an outstanding view of the many trees turning into beautiful colors as well as the Conservation Nature Trail off Fenno St. to the Marsh Site on Quincy Shore Dr.

Gates at Faxon Park will remain open until Nov. 1 to allow persons wishing to view the foliage to drive up to the Observation Circle lookout where there is an excellent view over to Quincy Bay.

Another area that offers limited amount of foliage is Squaw Rock in Squantum where there is an excellent scenic view of the Boston Skyline and Harbor Islands.

Riley & Rielly Insurance Agency, Inc.

IF YOU'RE SELF-EMPLOYED

Adequate insurance coverage is crucial for anyone who is self-employed. If you fall into this category, you should periodically reexamine your coverage for liability, disability, health, and life insurance.

The self-employed have special needs. You may need liability coverage for malpractice or to cover clients and customers who come to your home office or ride in your automobile. The self-employed individual does not accumulate sick leave, and if you can't work for a long period of time, a good disability policy can protect you and your family from financial disaster that could result from loss of your insurance benefits, you must provide your own. If you're self-employed, you could benefit greatly from the advice of an insurance professional who can help you piece together the special protection you need for your business and your family.

At Riley & Rielly Insurance Agency, Inc., our insurance professionals are happy to discuss the many protection options available today. Please give us a call at 471-6200 or stop by our office at 1050 Hancock Street in Quincy.

Sheets Looks Like Mayoral Candidate

If you're wondering who will be running for mayor next year jot down the name of James Sheets and circle it.

The Ward 4 City Councillor who has been mentioned as a potential candidate is beginning to look more and more like a positive candidate.

In fact, those close to him, are convinced he is a definite candidate. He feels it's "his time" to run, they say. And they believe he is going to run regardless of who else is running.

SHEETS

Whether the "who else" is incumbent Frank McCauley, Councillor at-large Stephen McGrath or former Mayor-Councillor Joseph LaRaia who came within a whisker of upsetting McCauley last year.

The sources say that Sheets feels if he can't beat the field, he shouldn't be mayor. But he thinks he can. Sheets was going to run four years ago but because of the death of his brother-in-law and added family responsibilities he didn't.

Now, four years later, he feels it's "my time" to run.

Sheets is in his eighth term as Ward 4 Councillor. He unseated six-year incumbent Albert Barilaro in 1973 and fended him off in 1977 after being re-elected unopposed.

In fact Barilaro was Sheets' only opposition until last year when Philip Baldassini took a shot at him and missed by a country mile. Sheets polled 2,886 votes to Baldassini's 648.

Sheets did that without a single campaign sign, bumper sticker or political ads.

But can a ward councillor run city-wide for mayor and win? Most observers don't think so. They think a mayoral candidate has to have councillor at-large exposure first.

Last ward councillor to do it was Walter Hannon in 1971 who came out of Ward 5 to win the mayor's office. But, observers, point out, that was a different situation. Hannon had the blessing and support of the powerful James McIntyre who was leaving the office and virtually picked Hannon as his successor.

But that reportedly doesn't bother Sheets. He agrees that ordinarily it would be difficult for a ward councillor to be elected but feels "it's not true" in his case.

Sheets hasn't been politically confined to Ward 4. He was a state representative for two terms from 1974 to 1978 and the then 4th Norfolk District extended from Ward 4 over Wollaston Hill in Ward 5 to Montclair in Ward 6.

HANNON

He gave up the seat in 1978 to run for Congress when incumbent James Burke retired. That year he did run city-wide and carried Quincy over district winner Brian Donnelly.

So Sheets feels he has had city-wide exposure. In addition to that he has taught history and government for over 25 years at Quincy Junior College to about 150 students a year, most of whom are from Quincy.

All of this, the sources say, gives Sheets "extensive ties across the city."

And, on top of that, a political poll taken last year during the city election campaigns reportedly gave him a strong recognition-favorability showing.

McCauley reportedly got a 67 percent, LaRaia 66 percent and Sheets 53 percent.

Why would Sheets want to be mayor?

Again, those close to him, say he's committed to public service and being mayor would "cap off" his political career on a city-wide basis.

Ask Sheets himself if he is going to run and he will tell you: "At this time I would say it is a very serious consideration."

Anyway, there is a fundraiser for Sheets Thursday, Oct. 27 from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Common Market in West Quincy. Tickets are $50 per person.

The event is sponsored by the Committee to Re-elect James Sheets.

But that can easily become the Committee to Elect James Sheets.

Sinatra's 'Ultimate Event' Lives Up To Its Name

By JANE ARENA

Billed as "The Ultimate Event," Saturday's performance by Frank Sinatra, backed by Sammy Davis, Jr. and Liza Minnelli at the Centrum in Worcester had little trouble living up to its name.

If the onstage banter seemed a bit contrived at times, the music--and especially the song choices--were as smooth as silk. All of the expected hits were included in each of the star's separate sets, and there wasn't too many surprises (with the possible exception of Sammy's tongue-in-cheek "tribute" to Michael Jackson, doing a snippet of Jackson's hit, "Bad," complete with moonwalk).

From Sammy we got "The Candy Man Can," "Mr. Bo Jangles," and Anthony Newley's "What Kind of Fool Am I?" Liza gave the audience "Rings of Saturn," Irving Berlin's "I Love A Piano," and, of course, "Cabaret."

With nearly 50 years of material to choose from, Sinatra's one hour plus set was a showcase of old favorites and stand-bys done either on their own, or in medley form when Sammy and Liza joined him at the end of his performance.

Backed by a quartet which featured his son, Frank Jr. conducting, ("I got tired of watching him hang around the house," Sinatra said. "So I gave him a job.") he included such crowd-pleasers as "Summer Winds," "Strangers in the Night," "One More for the Road," and "Mack the Knife."

In typical Sinatra form, "Mack the Knife" featured an introduction of the band set to the tune: "An Ivy Cottler He bangs those drums, Man/ And ya know, Jack This band can play." The band also featured Sinatra veterans, Bill Miller on piano, guitarist Ron Anthony and bassist Jim Hughart.

The two Centrum shows had been rescheduled from over a week before when Sinatra fell ill with laryngitis. One of two New York concerts had been cancelled at that time as well.

The illness, however, was neither mentioned nor particularly evident during his performance. Despite everything, Sinatra's vocals are strong and steady. Gone is the velvety smoothness of his hey-day, but at nearly 74 years old, no one expects that smoothness anymore. What people do expect, though, Sinatra delivered with class.

More important than the voice of "The Chairman of the Board," are his presence and his legacy. There was no mistaking it on Saturday night.

Dressed in black tux, Sinatra walked from one side of the stage to the other, snapping his fingers to the tunes and graciously accepting flowers and love notes from the women of the audience. (The first gift-bearer was promptly rewarded with the handkerchief from his pocket.) Everything the man did was polished.

The sell-out crowd was sprinkled with a number of younger, obviously new

FRANK SINATRA

Sinatra fans, a fact which may seem less surprising when one considers the recent onslaught of re-releases of his music on digitally remastered tape and CD. There is a new generation of music fans who can appreciate Sinatra's distinct contributions and unfortunately, at this point, every tour might be his farewell. No one wants to miss the chance to see Old Blue Eyes sing his classics.

Sinatra seemed to know just what people wanted. Doing his best to make "My fresh, he also treated the audience to four successive songs from the soundtrack of "Guys and Dolls," including "Luck Be A Lady," and "Nathan Detroit."

Overall, one was left with the impression that the show was everything anyone could have expected. The songs were there, the glitz was there, the nostalgia was there, and, thanks to Liza, the energy was certainly there.

Far from resting on his laurels, this performance proved that Frank Sinatra still knows how to communicate to his audience. He came through loud and clear.

Quincy's Yesterdays

$362 Per Person For Food Yearly

A Sales Management survey showed that Quincy residents spent an average of $362 per person a year on food, far above the national average of $218 and the Massachusetts average of $268.

It was explained that people in Quincy had higher incomes and therefore were able to spend more money on food. It was estimated that 35 percent of Quincy incomes went into food; 26.6 percent elsewhere.

Centennial Exhibit At Historical Society

A new exhibit titled "One Hundred Years and Counting: The Centennial of Quincy Becoming a City" will open Sunday, Oct. 23 at 2 p.m. at the Quincy Historical Society.

The exhibit will open with a ribbon-cutting ceremony by Mayor Francis X. McAulley. A reception from 2 to 4 p.m. will follow the ribbon cutting.

All Society members and the public are invited to view the exhibit designed by Will Twombly.

Light refreshments will be served.

The exhibit, consisting of more than 300 items from the Society's collection, will be on display until April 1.

The Quincy Historical Society is located in the Adams Academy building, 8 Adams St., Quincy Center. It is open Monday through Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and Saturday, 12:30 to 3:30 p.m.

There is no admission charge.

The exhibit contains objects from the Society's collection and deals with themes in 1888, the year Quincy was organized as a city, and which are still important in 1988. These include city government, land development, the industrial and business base, the growth of population, transportation and recreation needs.

The exhibition includes photographs taken a century ago and modern photographs illustrating the contrasts and similarities of forces in the city's history. Modern photographs were taken by John Laurenson.

There are also artifacts from the time Quincy became a city.

Quincy was one of the first Massachusetts towns after Boston to reach the status as a city. The rapid growth of population in Quincy throughout the 19th century made the traditional town meeting form of government headed by selectmen obsolete. Quincy opted for a mayor and council form of government in 1888.

Many of the institutions of government were created at the same time--a larger police force, a professional fire department, and a modern school system. Spurred by urban and industrial growth, the new city faced challenges of the creation of housing, mass transportation, health care and efficient government.

The exhibit focuses on the reasons for change in Quincy in 1888 and shows that many concerns of Quincy citizens in 1888 are shared by people here in 1988.

In the 1880s, the town's farmland was being converted to build suburban and workers' housing. New neighborhoods such as Wollaston appeared due to mass transportation offered by the Old Colony railroad.

Today, Quincy builds up, not out, because of the lack of open space and the condominiums of the 1970s and 1980s echo the need for housing in a similar manner to the same needs a century ago.

People poured into Quincy throughout the 19th century, finding employment in the quarries, at the shipyards or in shoe factories. Today, these industrial jobs are gone, but the growth of the service industry still lures workers here.

The exhibit also considers areas of recreation, home life, transportation and the development of city services.

For more information, call 773-1144.

Minor Home Repair Service For Elders At Beechwood Center

The Beechwood Community Life Center Elder Action program announces a minor home repair service for elders (60 plus) in Quincy.

The program is the result of a grant from South Shore Elder Services.

Purpose of the program is to provide home repairs to elder home owners in the city of Quincy, that will relate to their health, safety, or security and thus enable the home owner to maintain an independent life style.

The categories of minor repair include electric (light fixtures, door bells), plumbing (leaking faucets, plugged drains), or carpentry (stair treads, door handles and locks, broken window panes, or perhaps weights and ropes).

For further information call the Beechwood Elder Action office at 471-5712 and ask for Bette Campbell or Cheryl Verney.

4 At QHS Commended Students

Four Quincy High School students have been designated Commended Students in the 1989 National Merit Scholarship Program.

They are Sean O. Gannon, Daniel J. Piccini, Glen S. Sherriff and Herbert R. Spear.

Lloyd H. Hill, QHS principal, announced today that these seniors placed in the top 50,000 of more than one million participants in the 34th annual Merit Program and will receive a Letter of Commendation in recognition of outstanding academic promise.

More than one million students entered the current Merit Program by taking the PSAT/NMSQT in October, 1987 as high school juniors, with 35,000 qualifying as Commended Students.

Quincy Elks Host Seniors Dinner Dance

'Schooners Down East' Quincy Historical Society Topic

"Schooners Down East" will be the subject of Professor William Fowler of Northeastern University at the first open meeting of the Quincy Historical Society Thursday, Oct. 27, at the Adams Academy.

His talk will follow two special events planned for that evening.

At 7:30 p.m., Mayor Francis X. McCauley will present the first and second place laurels Awards given by the Society for the best essays written by high school students. The theme of this year's essays was the importance of Quincy's Centennial.

Also, Eugene Creedon, cochairman with Joyce Baker, of the Quincy Centennial Committee, will represent Dr. Robert Ricci, Superintendent of Quincy Schools, in making a presentation. He will present to the Quincy Historical Society school board records from the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. The records include those of Col. Francis Parker, originator of an educational system for Quincy Public Schools.

Joyce I. Baker will preside at a short business meeting. All Society meetings are open to the public without charge, and there will be refreshments.

Quincy Centennial Gala At ENC Oct. 28

A Quincy Centennial Gala has been scheduled for Oct. 28 by Eastern Nazarene College as a part of its Community Week, Oct. 24-30 at 7:30 p.m. at the O'Connell Auditorium of the Cove Fine Arts Center.

The Gala will include excerpts from "Huddler on the Roof," ENC's fall dramatic presentation, performances by ENC's music ensembles, and by talented musicians from the South Shore.

Also, during the Centennial Gala, certificates, trophies and more than $600.00 worth of Savings Bonds and Scholarships will be presented as awards in a writing competition sponsored by ENC. Students in Quincy Schools, both public and private, have been invited to submit essays on the history of Quincy.

Also at the Centennial Gala, an Alumni Outstanding Achievement Award will be presented to a member of the Quincy community.

A Heritage Day Chapel on Tuesday, Oct. 25, has been scheduled also for that week to focus on ENC's involvement on Quincy's history and development. The speaker will be Dr. Edward S. Mann, President Emeritus of Eastern Nazarene College, and a former member of the Quincy School Committee. He will speak at 9:45 a.m. in the Chapel.

Dorothy Mateik Named Emblem Club National Press Correspondent

Dorothy Mateik, past president of the Quincy Emblem Club, was appointed Supreme Press Correspondent at the recent national convention of the Supreme Emblem Club held in Honolulu, Hawaii.

Mrs. Mateik, also a past president of the Massachusetts State Association of Emblem Clubs, was appointed by Supreme President Pamela Shirkey of Reno, Nev. Her district will include Quincy, Norwood, Franklin, Mansfield, North Attleboro, and Attleboro. She was installed by Dorothy MacKenzie of Brunswick, Maine, past supreme president.

The convention was attended by 3,900 Emblem club members from all parts of the United States. $54,000 in scholarships was presented to freshmen college students, and over one million hours was reported given to community service.

Quincy Emblem Club received a certificate for having a 10 percent gain in membership during the past year. Alice Smith, vice president, is membership chairman.

The 1989 Annual Supreme Convention will be at Sparks, Nevada.

Harvest Dance At HN Legion Post

Talking With Your Kids About Drugs

Preventing drug abuse really starts with preventing drug use.

Some children as young as third and fourth grades feel pressured to try drugs, especially gateway drugs like alcohol, tobacco and marijuana. Research shows that each of these can increase the chance that the drug user will turn to even more dangerous drugs like crack or other forms of cocaine, and stimulant or depressant pills.

The average age of the first use of illicit drugs (including alcohol) is 12 years!

Constructive communication is one of the most effective tools you can use in helping your child avoid drug use. The very act of two-way communication shows your child that he or she means a great deal to you.

Next Week: What to communicate to your child.

The Early Years:

1894: There was a daily patrol in the Center, often called City Square, and seven men on permanent night duty for the thickly settled districts.

1901: Appropriations were made for the purchase of a patrol wagon.

1902: Feb. 15th, Old Horse House acquired to be used for stable for Wagon and Horse. The Wagon was constructed for $475.00 and was placed into service May 17, 1902 "Old Harry" the horse was purchased at the same time. Timothy J. Golden was the first driver of the wagon.

Question 4's electricity shutdown would be expensive – economically and environmentally

ECONOMIC COSTS

Question 4 would:

Cut off nearly 20 percent of our in-state power supply – forcing expensive power shortages.

Our state already faces the prospect of serious electricity shortages this winter.

Question 4's shutdown would cut off over 4 billion kilowatt-hours of electricity annually – nearly 20 percent of our in-state power supply – and make our electricity supply problems even worse.

Cost taxpayers and ratepayers billions of dollars.

If Question 4 passes, the State of Massachusetts would have to pay for the arbitrary shutdown of the power plants.

These huge costs would be paid by Massachusetts taxpayers.

A September 1988 Massachusetts Taxpayers Foundation study concluded that: "Likely compensation to the plants' owners would be somewhere between $1.3 and $2.1 billion. The annual carrying costs... would put a $150 million to $250 million a year dent in state and local budgets for each of the next 20 years – a total fiscal impact of $4 billion."

In addition, electricity rates would rise to pay for the high costs of replacement power.

Cause thousands of Massachusetts workers to lose their jobs.

Question 4's shutdown would cause the more than 1,000 men and women who work at the plants to immediately lose their jobs.

The increased electric bills and taxes that would result from the shutdown would increase business costs and damage our state's economy – putting thousands of other Massachusetts jobs at risk.

ENVIRONMENTAL COSTS

Question 4 would:

Increase oil and coal burning: adding as much as 44 million pounds of sulfur dioxide and 7 billion pounds of carbon dioxide into the air every year.

If our state's nuclear electricity plants are closed, most of the replacement power would come from oil and coal plants.

By forcing this switch to oil and coal burning, Question 4 would add to already serious air and water pollution problems – including ozone pollution, acid rain, and the global warming Greenhouse Effect.

Increase Acid Rain.

Sulphur dioxide pollution is a major cause of acid rain – which is destroying our lakes and streams, and agricultural and forest resources.

Question 4 would lead to increased sulfur dioxide pollution, making our acid rain problems even worse.

Add to the Greenhouse Effect.

By forcing a switch to oil and coal, Question 4 would increase the carbon dioxide emissions that are creating the global warming Greenhouse Effect – a problem which could have worldwide environmental impacts.

As the Boston Globe stated in an August 15, 1988 editorial: "If Massachusetts' nuclear electricity plants were replaced by fossil-fuel plants the emission of gases that cause acid rain, as well as the warming of the atmosphere would be increased by 15 percent – at a time when every effort should be made to reduce such emissions."

Question 4 would permanently shut down the generation of electric power by Massachusetts' nuclear electricity plants.

Harris Outlines Campaign Themes At Rally And Fundraiser

Richard Harris, Republican candidate for state representative in the Second Norfolk District, outlined his campaign themes recently at a rally and fundraiser held at the Neighborhood Club in Quincy.

Harris reiterated his petition for more community control over several quality of life issues.

"The problems at the MWRA are regional problems and the burdens of solving them should be borne equally by all the cities and towns in the district. How is it possible for the MWRA and the Legislature to come back to Quincy to locate staging facilities and sludge sites when we have already endured more than our share of the hardships.

"The voters of Quincy are being taken for granted," Harris said.

"That is what I hear again and again as I go from door to door. People feel like they've been taken for granted, by the Governor who has been gone for more than a year; by the Legislature that has been missing since June; and by the so called "experts" in this race. We have gone from mission impossible in the spring, to mission unlikely in the fall, and hopefully we'll go to mission accomplished in November," Harris said.

Also present at the rally was State House Minority Leader Stephen Pierce who has been campaigning throughout the state to bring the Legislature back into session.

"We need people like Dick Harris in the Legislature," said Pierce, "in order to prevent abuses such as this extended vacation, and to eliminate the inevitable post election frenzy."

Alicia Coletti To Be Honored By Human Rights Coalition

Alicia Coletti, the newly appointed Assistant Director of Personnel for the Quincy Public Schools, has been named the 1988 Mandy Cohen Citizen of the Year by the South Shore Coalition for Human Rights.

She will be presented with the award Wednesday, Oct. 26 at 8 p.m. at the United First Parish Church, 1306 Hancock St. The presentation is open to the public.

Mrs. Coletti was selected for the award for her work as Equal Opportunity Coordinator for the Quincy Public Schools from 1978 to the present and for her educational equity programs she has coordinated for the staff and students of the Quincy Schools.

Mrs. Coletti is a member and past president and chairwoman of the Voter Service of the League of Women Voters and was the first chairwoman of the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women in Quincy. Through the Commission she helped to found DOVI, the shelter for battered women and children.

Mrs. Coletti is a past member of the South Shore Women's political caucus and is presently serving as second Vice President of the Quincy Democratic City Committee. She is also a member of the Quincy Fair Housing Committee and the Gateway Cities Committee, which implements programs to assist non-English speaking newcomers to the city.

In her role as Equal Opportunities Coordinator for the Quincy Public Schools, Mrs. Coletti co-authored the affirmative action plan for the school and also monitored the implementation of the laws prohibiting race and sex discrimination.

She has also planned workshops for school personnel to assess the school system's compliance with equal opportunity laws and to develop action plans.

Mass. Mayor's Assn. Meets At Marina Bay

The City was scheduled to host the monthly Massachusetts Mayor's Association meeting Wednesday at Marina Bay.

According to Mayor Francis McCauley, the meeting's agenda included a panel discussion on the battle against drugs, as well as a Massachusetts Mayor's Association update presented by Dan Soyer, acting director of the MMW.

A brief walking tour of the Marina Bay complex was guided by developer Peter O'Connell and McCauley.

The mayor noted that the Massachusetts Mayor's Association is a division of the Massachusetts Municipal Association which represents the interests of the 351 cities and towns in the state.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Worry, worry, worry! This is the tempo of many a life in this so-called enlightened age. Sadly, too many people are the harassed and unhappy victims of that miserable phenomenon of human life called worry. They worry about their health, about their jobs and businesses, and even about their social standing. Yet when they look back over reason of anxiety they can see that nothing was made better by it and many things were decidedly made worse.

Some statistics have been worked out to show the needlessness of worry ... Here is a handy WORRY TABLE against which you can check your anxiety rating:

| WORRY TABLE                                                |     |
|------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Things that never happen                                   | 40% |
| Things that can't be changed by all the worry in the world | 35% |
| Things that turn out better than originally expected       | 15% |
| Petty, insignificant fretting                              | 8%  |
| Legitimate cause for concern                               | 2%  |
| Total 100%                                                 |     |

The next time you're upset and worried, remember the words of Cowper, the English poet. His very helpful words were: "The cares of today are seldom those of tomorrow and when we lie down at night, we may safely say to most of our troubles, 'You have done your worst and we shall see you no more.'"

FALL IS A GREAT TIME for a quick fix-up of your outdoor living areas. Start by inspecting your deck or porch, checking for loose railings, steps and floor boards, and rotting or cracked wood. Replacing deteriorating wood with pressure-treated lumber will help your deck or porch weather the winter.

Fix up porches and decks for autumn enjoyment

With the boom in home-related leisure time activities, homeowners in record numbers are centering outdoor activities around their porches and decks.

With wonderful fall weather approaching, a quick fix-up of your outdoor living area is a smart project. The payback can come now, and again next spring. Because your deck or porch will be reinforced to fight the ravages of winter.

Your first step is the inspection. Check all areas of a deck or porch for loose railings, steps and floor boards, and rotting or cracked wood. Then determine how much of the structure you should remove and replace with new wood.

In deciding upon the scope of the project, keep in mind that you might want to spruce up the look and design of your structure while repairing damage.

This season, there is a new system of "wood specialties" that lets you use your creativity in adding interest to decks and porches.

You'll find a wide array of specialty pressure-treated wood products at many building materials dealers. The Weyerhaeuser LifeWood specialties form a system of components that easily fit to gether.

The specialties can both speed and ease construction of an outdoor project and spruce up your designs.

Specialties include lattice panels and lattice frames, different types of turned spindles with handrails notched to fit over the spindles, deck posts, stair steps and stringers, and decking boards that also fit together, several types of fence boards from plain to fancy, and more. For the dimensional lumber you'll need, consider these tips:

- In shopping the different types of outside wood, many homeowners have discovered that pressure-treated wood can cost up to 30 percent less than the not-as-durable redwood and cedar. And, left unfinished, all three types of wood weather to the same shade of gray.

- The best pressure-treated wood is Southern Yellow Pine or Ponderosa Pine treated under pressure with a chemical called CCA. The treatment allows the wood to withstand rot, fungus and termites. Depending on the level of treatment, some treated lumber can be in contact with the ground, and some can be counted on to last a lifetime.

- Treated wood has been sold both as a generic product and under brand names for several years. But the brands available usually have referred to the chemical used for treating. With unbranded wood, you sometimes don't know if the wood has been treated with enough chemical for long duty. And, even with the brands referring to the chemical treatments, you don't always know the source of the lumber.

This year, the Weyerhaeuser LifeWood brand of dimensional treated lumber is available with a brand referring to the source of the wood and the level of chemical treatment. It comes with the industry's first limited lifetime guarantee, good for as long as you own the project.

HOME IMPROVEMENT

In American kitchens, trend is European

Beauty Versatility Practicality. In recent years, more and more American homeowners seeking these qualities in kitchen cabinets have found this perfect blend of form and function in European cabinets.

Less than a decade ago, European cabinets were virtually unknown to American consumers. Today, European cabinetry, with its built-in good looks and accessible storage, accounts for more than 20 percent of all cabinet sales to homeowners.

And industry experts predict that, by 1990, the classic beauty and contemporary flair of European cabinets will win an even greater audience, and more than 50 percent of all cabinets sold will be European style.

What makes European cabinets so popular among today's homeowners, dealers and builders? Bart Stolp, chief executive officer of AINO Kitchen Cabinets, Inc., the U.S. subsidiary of the world's largest manufacturer of European cabinets, cites a variety of reasons.

"Beauty, versatility and practicality are the hallmarks of European cabinetry," explains Stolp. He continues, "Clean lines contribute to the visual appeal of European styling. European does not necessarily mean contemporary. European cabinet styles draw on centuries of historical detail as well as today's innovative designs. An enormous selection of colors, finishes and styles add to the flexibility of European cabinetry, and its unique ability to blend with any decor."

In addition to the immediate pleasure and myriad benefits offered by European cabinetry, many experts believe that the timeless appeal of European cabinets increases the overall appeal of the home and, thus, its market value.

Stolp agrees. "An attractive, well-planned kitchen adds immensely to the value of any home. And the blend of form and function that European cabinets offer homeowners will be as sought after 20 years from now as it is today.

For further information on European cabinetry, or AINO Kitchen Cabinets, write to Bart Stolp at AINO's headquarters at the following address: 196 Angley Boulevard, Airport Industrial Park, New Castle, DE 19720. Or call (302) 321-1246.

BUILT-IN GOOD LOOKS AND ACCESSIBLE STORAGE contribute to the popularity of European cabinets. Shown above, AINO KITCHEN from AINO Kitchen Cabinets.

Your Best Fall Buys

Fall's the perfect time to assess insulation needs

How can you tell if your home is leaking energy dollars? With winter just around the corner, now is the perfect time to assess your home's insulation and make sure that the money you're spending on heating (and, in summer, on cooling) isn't just going out the windows.

An infiltration, the process through which costly energy leaks occur, can happen in numerous places in the average home. Between eaves, under thresholds, between baseboards, under exhaust ducts, around chimneys, under and on top of loose siding, and between corner joints and fastenings, to name just a few.

So, it is especially important to check carefully for those places where wasteful energy leakage may be occurring and before winter's winds begin to howl. Make sure they are sealed effectively, in order to prevent unnecessary heat loss in the months of cold weather ahead.

Even if the walls and attic of your home are adequately insulated, you still may be losing energy through random cracks and through spaces around doors and windows. In fact, these often-overlooked areas can account for at least 38 percent of the heat loss from the typically insulated home.

According to the Home Energy Saver's Workbook, published by the United States Federal Energy Administration in 1977, "In a well-insulated house, the largest source of energy loss can be the air leaks around windows and doors and through other cracks."

Amazing as that may seem, even more amazing is the fact that all areas in the home—these are among the simplest and the least costly to insulate effectively, yet too often they simply are neglected.

For, while other types of insulation themselves may be expensive, and may require a professional's expertise to install, the small cracks and spaces which can cause large energy losses can be sealed easily even by the most inexperienced do-it-yourselfer, thanks to Convenience Products' Touch 'n Foam™, an all-purpose instant foam insulation and sealant which provides, quite simply, the most economical method of eliminating drafts, heat loss and air infiltration through cracks and openings in the home.

Unlike caulking material and other sealants, Touch 'n Foam expands as it cures to fill uneven spaces and to create an effective barrier against energy loss.

Because it will never shrink, dry, harden or pull away, Touch 'n Foam offers the homeowner excellent protection against air and moisture infiltration. And, Touch 'n Foam is extremely economical—so economical in fact, that one 12 ounce can is equivalent in sealing power to 25 tubes of conventional caulking material. Also, waste is minimized because Touch 'n Foam's unique dispenser delivers at the touch of a fingertip, the correct amount of sealant for each area to be filled.

Touch 'n Foam can be used to seal holes and cracks in walls, and to fill in around doors and windows, electrical outlets, and openings for vents, antennas, electrical service connections and pipe feed-throughs. And, thanks to Touch 'n Foam's unique angle adaptor and extension tube for hard-to-reach places, even sealing around awkward pipes and plumbing fixtures is a breeze.

And, when you've finished sealing your home against energy loss, make cleanup fast and easy with Touch 'n Foam's cleanettes™. These convenient extra strength towlelette hand cleaners, which are safe to use and non-toxic, rapidly remove non-cured polyurethane foam, as well as a myriad of other ordinarily hard-to-clean substances, from your hands. Keep some in your toolbox and your workshop—even your glove compartment—for quick cleanups.

Then, sit back and enjoy the results of your handiwork—a comfortable home which works with you to conserve energy dollars, no matter how hard those winter winds may blow.

Attack dirt with vac attachments

Everyone knows a vacuum cleaner is the ideal appliance for cleaning carpets, rugs and bare floors. But your vacuum cleaner attachments can do much more to help keep your entire home clean.

Here are some hints from How To Beat Housework, a housecleaning guide published by Eureka, for making the most of these useful tools.

Extension wands further the reach of your vacuum cleaner's suction power. Use them for reaching cobwebs along the ceiling and walls, dust on lighting fixtures or ceiling fans, and other areas beyond normal reach.

For areas that are still impossible to clean (the fins behind a radiator for instance), try reversing the vacuum cleaner hose to the exhaust port and using the extension wands to blow the dirt out. First cover the radiator with damp newspaper to avoid spreading dust throughout the room.

Use the long narrow crevice tool to remove dirt in hard-to-get places: Furniture seams, backs of drawers, behind radiators and into heating vents. It's also ideal for removing the ashes created by your pyrolytic (self-cleaning) oven.

The soft bristled dusting brush is for blinds, lampshades, carved molding, picture frames and other items around the home. In combination with the extension wands, the dusting brush can be used to clean chandeliers and other lighting fixtures. The adjustable suction of such Eureka vacuum cleaners as Express Power Touch™ lets you clean more delicate objects.

The stiff bristles of the upholstery brush are for loosening dust and dirt from furniture. This attachment can also be used for touch-ups on curtains, wall hangings and other fabrics around the home. You can also use it to remove dust buildup in mattresses.

The wide floor brush with short stiff bristles provides a broader suction area for tackling big jobs. It also can be used to clean walls and ceilings.

The versatile vacuum cleaner is the most powerful weapon in your home for the ongoing fight with dust and dirt. By using it in "non-traditional" ways, you'll save valuable time.

Eureka's How To Beat Housework cleaning tips book is available with the purchase of selected Eureka vacuum cleaners. The offer runs through November, 1988.

Tony Siciliano Selected Jewish War Veterans 'Citizen Of The Year'

TONY SICILIANO

Anthony "Tony" Siciliano has been selected as the 39th annual "Citizens of The Year" by the Quincy Jewish War Veterans Post.

Siciliano will be honored at a breakfast ceremony Sunday, Nov. 6 at 9:30 a.m. at Beth Israel Synagogue.

Siciliano, who has been Quincy Civil Defense Director since 1981, is also Auxiliary Police Chief. He has also been general foreman of the City of Quincy General Services Division of the Quincy Police Department since 1972.

Siciliano will be recognized for his work "beyond the call of duty" in assisting community organizations such as the Red Cross, veterans and civic groups and individuals including the homeless and evacuation of residents from flood areas and assisting them during hurricanes, other storms and emergencies.

Siciliano has received the Quincy City Employee of the Year Award. The Quincy Sun's first "Citizen of The Year Award." The Outstanding Municipal Employee of the Year Award from the Massachusetts Municipal Association and numerous citations from other organizations.

2 Conversions To Self-Service Gas Stations Approved

By JANE ARENA

The City License Board Tuesday determined that two of three gas stations owned by Avon Engineering are suitably zoned to allow the company to convert full-service stations to self-service stations.

The board granted the license last week pending the zoning check by the Building Department.

The Building Department had determined that the station at 8 Franklin St. is zoned as Business 'B' and the existing conforming use is permissible.

The station at 415 Hancock St. is a Business 'C' Zone and the existing non-conforming use is permissible.

The Building Department does not consider the change of use, thus does not enforce any zoning problem.

A third station located at 10 Independence Ave. is in a Business 'A' Zone, but is in the Historic District and the modification of the building must therefore be reviewed by the Historical Commission. The board said.

License Board Briefs

The City License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall.

• Granted a request from Leslie Baxter of the Brian Donnelly Committee, 15

Laurel Rd., Milton, for a one-day all-alcoholic license for Thursday, Oct. 27 from 6 to 8 p.m. for a reception to be held at the National Fire Protection Agency headquarters, Batterymarch Park, Quincy.

conditions at Danny Trevis, 635 Adams St. requested by Ward 3 Councilor Lawrence Chretien.

• Granted a request from Nicola Mallico of European Foreign Cars, 365 Washington St., for a Motor License to repair and sell used cars. The board stipulated that only two cars be for sale at any time and that the cars are kept inside and not parked on the street.

• Withdrew without prejudice a request from Anna Sandomata, 34 School St., for a common victrola license for a take-out only restaurant. The board had recently denied a license for a Chinese restaurant at the same location due to the lack of parking facilities and increased traffic due to the proximity of the shipyard.

• Continued for three months a hearing concerning noise at 106 Columbia St. John F. Flemming Construction Company as per a letter from neighbor, Fred A. Martin of September 14.

• Postponed for two weeks a hearing concerning

Apostle Nathanael Sermon Topic At Covenant Congregational

At the 10:45 a.m. worship service at Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts., Rev. Fred Lawson will continue his series of sermons about the 12 disciples.

His message will be "Nathanael: From Prejudice to Purity."

At 9:30 a.m. Sunday School, with classes for ages nursery through adult, will begin. The emphasis this year is on doing things for others.

The choir, directed and accompanied on the organ by Richard Smith, minister of music, will sing "Peace, it is I," one of Mrs. Smith's own compositions. Luisa Dano, soprano soloist, will sing "How Lovely are Thy Dwellings" by Liddle. Mr. Smith will play "Sheep May Safely Graze" by Bach as prelude and "Fifth French Suite Gigue in G" by Bach as offertory.

During the service, an attended nursery is available for children age five and under. Directed junior church will be held at the same time for children up to age twelve.

Upcoming events include a Halloween costume party at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 29 and the quarterly business meeting at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 26. On Sunday, Oct. 23 Covenant Women will have their fall meeting at the Swedish Home in West Newton.

More information about the church's activities is available by calling the church office at 479-5728.

'Religion And Politics' Sermon Topic At United First Parish

Dr. Sheldon W. Bennett, minister, will deliver a sermon "Religion and Politics: Two Sides of A Coin" during the 10:30 a.m. service this Sunday at United First Parish Church (Unitarian), "Church of the Presidents."

In light of the current Presidential election, Dr. Bennett will consider issues of Church and State and the role that religious belief properly plays in American political process.

The Church Choir, under the direction of Norman Corey, Music Director, will sing anthems by Attwood and Pasquet. Mr. Corey will also play organ works by Scheidt, Johnson and Vaughan Williams.

Historic First Parish Church dates for 1636. Unitarian since 1750, the church continues as a leader in liberal religion. It is the church of Presidents John Adams and John Quincy Adams, whose granite tombs stand in a stone crypt within the church, with those of their wives, Abigail and Louisa Catherine.

The church is located in Quincy Sq. (opposite City Hall). Sunday services and Church School are at 10:30 a.m. and child care is provided. Visitors are welcome. Call 773-1290 for more information.

'The Good Old Days' Wollaston Congregational Topic

Rev. Elden D.J. Zuern will deliver a sermon "Back To The Good Old Days," at the 10 a.m. worship service this Sunday at the Wollaston Congregational Church, Lincoln and Winthrop Aves.

Lay scripture reader will be Charles Todd and the acolyte Erik Oster.

Greeters will be Joan Tierney and her daughter, Tavey Leigh Towle and ushers, Gus and Laurel Oster.

Nursery care for infants and toddlers is provided. Church school for grades 1-12 is held from 10 to 11 a.m.

A fellowship hour follows the service and all members, guests and friends are invited to enjoy the sociability and refreshments.

Energy Sunday will be observed when the white hoves sent our last spring will be collected. The donations will be used for keeping the church toasty warm this winter.

The chime ringers rehearsal is held on Sundays at 11:30 a.m. in the sanctuary and the choir rehearsal, under the direction of the organist, Mr. Donald A. Reade, is held on Thursdays, at 7:45 p.m.

The Youth Fellowship will meet immediately following the service to go to King Richard's Fair in Carver.

The Family Group will sponsor a square dance on Saturdays, Oct. 22, at 7:30 p.m. in the social hall. Tickets are $3.00 at the door. Come watch or dance.

The following Cottage Meetings will be held during the week. They are times of fellowship and sharing our thoughts as Christians and as a congregation.

On Sunday at 11:45 a.m. in the Ladies Parlor, Peg Sandahl will be hostess for out-of-towners and at 3:30 p.m. Phyllis McConnell Hohmann will be hostess at 1000 So. Artery. On Wednesday evening Oct. 26, Alice King will open her home for a meeting.

The annual rummage sale will be held in the social hall on Saturday, Oct. 22 from 9 a.m. - 1 p.m.

Raiders Look For Rebound At Revere

By TOM SULLIVAN

At the start of the season Silver Lake was rated one of the top teams in the Old Colony League.

Although coming into Veterans Memorial Stadium last Friday night with only a 2-2 record, the Raiders showed the North Quincy football team why they are highly rated when it unleashed a devastating ground attack and handed North its third loss in a row, 24-13.

Ken McPhee's Raiders (2-3) will be favored to return to the win column Friday night when it plays at Revere at 7 o'clock. Revere is 0-4, having lost to Arlington, Malden, Somerville and Peabody and having been outscored, 135-24.

"That was a good, big Silver Lake team and they just beat us up," said McPhee. "They blew out our offensive line and defensive line and especially our defensive ends. They were a lot bigger and I think if we had the size we had last year, we might have stopped them better."

"Our kids never quit and came back nicely after trailing, 14-0, but they were just too much for us. We played tough, but give them a lot of credit."

"We have a senior team with a lot of size and experience," said former North Quincy coach Ralph

Frazier, now the Silver Lake athletic coordinator.

Ryan Craig had another big night for North, rushing for 116 yards, including touchdown runs of 33 and 40 yards, playing strong defense again and intercepting a pass to stop a Lakers' drive.

Jeff Sullivan also had a big game, having two long kickoff returns and recovering a fumble at midfield. His two long runbacks set up Craig's touchdown runs.

"Billy MacDougall, Kevin MacDougall, back after missing two games with an injury. Keith Gott and Mike Ainsley played excellent games," McPhee said. "Ainsley must have made a dozen or more tackles."

Silver Lake controlled the ball all evening with the result it ran off 62 plays to just 32 for North. The Lakers had 52 rushes for 309 yards and 18 first downs, while North rushed only 12 times for 99 yards and five first downs.

Craig Solari and Bill Malaguti paced the Lakers with 85 and 83 yards respectively and scored all the touchdowns.

Silver Lake took the game's opening kickoff and Malaguti returned the ball all the way from his 30 to North's 38. On the fifth play Malaguti scored from the 2 and Bill Troup kicked the extra point.

Sullivan fell on a Silver Lake fumble at midfield, but the Raiders were held as a fourth-down pass was incomplete and the Lakers took over on their 34.

They drove 66 yards on 12 plays and Solari scored from the two and Troup again kicked the point.

North answered in four plays after the kickoff. Billy MacDougall hit brother Kevin with a 33-yard pass and Craig raced the remaining 33 yards and Dave Hutchings kicked the point. Sullivan got North rolling by returning the kickoff from his 25 to the laker 42.

North received the second half kickoff and Sullivan ran it back from his 15 to the laker 40 and on the first play from scrimmage Craig, behind some fine blocking, Western New England. Maimaron intercepted two passes.

Quincy's Antonios Katsakis continues to play excellent goal for the Beacon's soccer team (7-3-2) and last week had 11 saves in recording his third shutout, a scoreless tie with Plymouth State. Mohammad Berrard of Quincy has been outstanding at forward for the Becons.

went all the way for the touchdown.

The Raiders tried for the two-point conversion but a rush fell short.

Silver Lake had the ball for practically the rest of the game as it continued to grind out yardage and eat up the clock. After four more first downs, Solari scored his second touchdown midway in the third quarter and Troup again kicked the point.

North was stopped cold and the Lakers clicked off another four first downs. With fourth down and four, Troup kicked a 22-yard field goal for the final points of the game.

North Jayvees Blank Silver Lake, 22-0

By PETE ZOIA

The North Quincy junior varsity football team improved to 3-1-1 with a 22-0 victory over Silver Lake as coaches Tom Carter and Pete Chrisom had an opportunity to use their entire squad.

Excellent defense and a well-disciplined offense enabled North to get its third win.

Scott Leonard broke through the line to block a punt to set up the first score. Jim Bryan threw a short pass to Dave Kiley, who wiggled his way for 29 yards and a touchdown. Dan Gilmartin rushed for the two-point conversion.

Strong defensive play by Gary Rawdon, Mike Oliva, Adam Stour, Jim Raynes, Mike Doherty and Mark Kelleher stopped the Lakers repeatedly.

Gilmartin returned the second half kickoff 47 yards, Dave Kiley ripped off 11 yards and Bryan passed to Evan Kiley for the second touchdown. Dave Kiley rushed for the two points to make it 16-0.

Gilmartin added the final touchdown from three yards out in the third quarter.

Carter and Chrisom were pleased with the Raiders' play and cited the performances of Rawdon, who intercepted a pass, and Gilmartin, who was playing his first game.

Atlantic Boys, Broadmeadows Girls Middle School Winners

The Middle School cross-country season got underway last Saturday at Pageant Field with boys and girls from Atlantic, Broad Meadows, Central and Sterling running the 1.2-mile course.

The Atlantic boys defeated Broad Meadows, 24-33, while the Broad Meadows girls defeated Atlantic, 24-31.

Shawn Herron of BM was the winner in the boys' race, establishing a course record of 7:36. Atlantic's Wong Chan, Dennis Reichert and Taylor Ahearn took the next three places and this was the key to the win. Jim Lencki of BM was fifth, Johnny Liang of Atlantic sixth, Tim Galligan of BM seventh, Jay Ferlecco of BM eighth, Roger Smith of Atlantic ninth and Mike Flaherty 10th.

In the girls' meet the BM 1-2 punch of Tricia Bentley and Jamie Graham was crucial for the BM win. Bentley finished in 9:04. Atlantic took the third and fourth spots with Melissa Molis and Ilana Cobban, followed by Kathy O'Brien BM, Alyssa Cobban (A), Colleen Rourke (BM), Julie Barbuto (A), Margaret McLean (BM) and Eileen McDonagh (A).

The second competition featured Central against Sterling.

The Central boys scored a shutout, winning, 15-50, while the Central girls also won, 25-30. The Sterling boys were missing some key performers.

Central took all of the first 10 spots with Justin Ackerman winning in 8:15, followed by Billy Chu, Chris DuPill, Chris Swanton, Mike Statti, Zack Costa, Jason Downy, Glenn Peterson, Bobby Smith and Mike Downy.

The girls' race went back and forth with many sprints to the finish line deciding places.

Julie Ramos of Central was the winner, followed by Danielle Ford (S), Leah Leonard (C), Veronica Curran (S), Erin Duggan (C), Regina Murphy (C), Melanie McGrath (S), Erin Curran (S), Theresa Johnson (S) and Erica Curtis (C).

Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at Pageant Field Central will meet Broad Meadows and Atlantic will face Sterling.

Manets Turn Back Panthers, 12-0

By STEVE KAVANAGH

The Houghs Neck Manets got a big effort from their defense enabling them to turn back the Quincy Point Panthers, 12-0, last week in Quincy Youth Football League action.

The win upped the Manet record to 4-0, while the Panthers dropped to a deceiving 0-3-1.

Mike Spaur scored two touchdowns for Houghs Neck including a 46-yard score on a reverse in the first quarter.

The Panthers were unable to take advantage of two golden opportunities in the first half. Quincy Point had a drive stall at the Manet 3-yard line early in the second quarter.

A Manet fumble a few plays later gave the ball back to the Panthers at the 11-yard line but the Manet defense stiffened again.

Lineman Jason Curry blocked a Panther punt late in the third quarter which helped set up the second Houghs Neck touchdown. Early in the fourth period Spaur rushed into the end zone from four yards out to make the score 12-0.

The Manet defense was paced by Curry, Spaur, Brian Clifford, Ed Kenney, David Bogan, Rich Stone, Dan Morrell, Jamie Schatzl, Jamie White and Sean McAuliffe.

On offense, the Manets got good efforts from, Rob Kane, Spaur, Bogan, Morrell, Clifford, Joe Kelley and Jeff Craig. Joe Dorsey had a fine day kicking.

The Panther defense helped keep Quincy Point in the ballgame. The Panthers got effective play from Jason

Simon, Andy Smith, Tommy Foley, David Jolley, Steve Carterman, Rob Cibotti, Ken Downey, Walter Spadocria, Tom Courtney, Mike Sugrue, Matt Dwyer, and Marc Lomanno. Mark Hodges made a big fumble recovery for the Panthers.

On offense the Panthers got strong play from Jolley, Lomanno, Smith, and Carterman.

In junior varsity action, the West Quincy Flks stopped the Squantum Sailors at the goal line on the final play of the game to preserve an exciting, 20-18, victory.

Flk running back Pat Donahue opened the scoring with a six-yard run early in the game.

Phil Pacino got the points back with a 65-yard dash to tie the game, 6-6.

The Flks moved ahead when Dave D'Olimpio pounced on a Sailor fumble in the end zone. The conversion try failed.

Donahue ripped a 39-yard run off to extend the Flk lead to 18-6.

Squantum's Billy Knox intercepted the two-point conversion pass.

The Sailors trimmed the deficit with a one-yard 1D plunge by Mike McAdams. The touchdown was set up by quarterback George Wirtz's 17-yard run.

What turned out to be the difference in the game occurred on the two-point conversion attempt. Instead of two points for the Sailors, Donahue picked off the pass and raced 104 yards for a two-point safety, and a 20-12 Flk lead.

The Sailors scored again on a two-yard run by McAdams to make it 20-18. Wirtz was tackled by Bill Morrissey on the two-point try.

Squantum had one more chance to win it at the end of the game but the Flks defense made a goal line stand and forced a fumble on the final play of the game. The loose ball was scooped up by McAdams but he was dropped short of the goal line.

The Flks got strong performances from Donahue, Morrissey, Matt Tennessee, D'Olimpio, Eric McPartland, Joe Cirrello, Mike Elder, Mark Nutty, Mark Thibault, Tom Malvestri and John Traiser.

Squantum was sparked by James Butts, James Campbell, Bill Degani, Brad Douglas, Brian Franklin, Chris Klier, E. L. Gillespie, Knox, McAdams, Mike Kates, Pat Ladden, Rick McVinish, Joe Powers, Sean Skahan, Matt Walsh, Wayne Wickel, and Wirtz.

This week's action will be Sunday at Veteran's Memorial Stadium. The North Quincy Apaches tangle with the Squantum Sailors at 1 p.m. in a varsity match and the West Quincy Flks square-off with the Quincy Point Panthers in a junior varsity tilt at 2:30 p.m.

North Freshmen Roll Over Silver Lake, 20-0

The North Quincy freshman football team improved its record to 4-1 with a 20-0 victory over Silver Lake.

Coach Kevin Kelly's young Raiders didn't get going until after a scoreless first quarter. It took a 76-yard drive, capped off by an 18-yard run by Desmond Bellott to score the first touchdown and the hell ended with North ahead, 6-0.

Mark Kelleher recovered a Laker fumble on North's 43. Mark Cazuo carried to the Laker 30 and Chris Murray went the rest of the way for the score.

The final touchdown came on a power I-ant to the right with Bellott scoring from the seven. Cazuo rushed for the two-point conversion.

"We seem to have a good group as far as our starting team is concerned, but injuries would hurt us as our replacements are much smaller players," said Kelly. "Luckily, we have survived so far where injuries are concerned."

Kelly singled out quarter back Sergi Wassiliew, Paul Kerr, Mike Campbell and Dave Rattery for their work on offense and cited Kelleher for his two-way play. He also had good word for Dan Horwitz, Jim Lampa and Paul Oakes on defense.

North will seek its fifth win today (Thursday) when it meets Weymouth North at 3:30 at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Presidents Face Tough Brookline Friday

The Quincy football team unleashed its best offensive of the season last Saturday, gaining over 500 yards, but it went for naught as the Presidents' tackling was extremely poor and Newton North rolled to a 43-26 decision.

Quincy (1-4) faces another tough hurdle Friday night at Veterans Memorial Stadium when it hosts Brookline (3-2). Brookline, which walloped the Presidents, 41-6, a year ago, has wins over North Quincy, Cambridge and Medford, while losing to Wellesley and Malden.

Chris Noble had one of the finest games of his career for Quincy, going 17 for 30 for 366 yards and three touchdowns. Quincy also rushed for over 100 yards.

"It was a shame our tackling was so bad after putting on such a fine offensive show," coach Jack Raymer said. "Chris was phenomenal and Mark Miele had his best day with eight receptions for 128 yards and two touchdowns and Scott Grant caught five for 139 yards and a touchdown. Jim Dennett had another excellent game, rushing for 79 yards and scoring a touchdown. But our tackling was just awful."

Newton's Joe DeNucci, son of the state auditor, who rushed for 218 yards and scored on two long runs against North Quincy, had a fantastic day as he rushed for 278 yards and scored four touchdowns. He has scored at least two touchdowns in every game.

"DeNucci is an excellent runner, but we made it easy for him," Raymer said. "We had him stopped on all his runs but let him slip away."

Not only did Noble give a great day passing, but he continued his fine punting. He is averaging 48 yards a punt.

Quincy's offensive line did a fine job and gave Noble his best protection of the year. Raymer singled out Don Hamilton, Tom Morrell, Dave Zupkolska, Brian Norris, Joe Baker and Dan Hanly, who played tight end for the first time, for their work in the offensive line.

"We fell behind, 15-0, and kept coming back," Raymer said. "They stopped us only once and, after their first two touchdowns, we came back to score after they did."

Newton North scored early on DeNucci's 78-yard run and Jason DeGeorge kicked the extra point.

Newton then recovered an onside kick and DeNucci went 30 yards for his second touchdown and DeGeorge passed to Doug Quinn for two points and Newton quickly led, 15-0.

Late in the first quarter Noble passed to Miele for 25 yards and a touchdown and it was 15-6 after the quarter.

In the second quarter Brandon Hehir scored on a 14-yard run and DeGeorge kicked the point to give Newton a 22-6 halftime lead.

Andrews' 212 Yards Spark Quincy Freshmen, 30-12

The Quincy freshman football team improved its record to 4-0 with a 30-12 victory over Newton North, paced by Capt. Jason Andrews, who rushed for 212 yards on 19 carries, scored two touchdowns and a two-point conversion.

After a scoreless first quarter, Quincy got on the board first on a 25-yard scoring pass from Gary Collins to Jason Fleuter early in the second quarter. Fleuter also caught a 35-yard pass during the drive.

After Newton North's first touchdown, tying the score, Anderson went to work on the next drive behind the line blocking of Steve Distasio. Anderson eventually scored from the two and Mike Malvesti added the two-point conversion on a rollout pass.

Newton scored again to make it a 14-12 game, but Collins led another long drive with Peter Fleuter scoring from the seven, and Anderson rushed for the two-point conversion.

In the fourth quarter, with Mark Zaborowski running the offense, Anderson galloped 85 yards for a touchdown and Bob Daggart rushed for the final two points of the game.

Coach Earl Metzler had good words for the line play of Daggart, Distasio, Keith Norris, Paul Fleuter and Ed McCabe. "Our line has worked hard all year and is a major reason for our success," said Metzler.

Defensive standouts included Anderson, Collins, Pete Fleuter, Greg Warren, Jason Fleuter, Mark Reardon, John Green, Clinton Currie and Mike

Fleuten

Quincy has outscored its opponents, 95-30, with

Collins scoring 30 points and Anderson 28.

The young Presidents will face their toughest test Friday when they play at Brookline.

Cross Country

North Girls Compete In Brown U. Meet

Several North Quincy girls competed in the Brown University Invitational cross-country meet at Slater Park in Pawtucket, R.I.

Seniors Bridget Toland and Karen Cashman competed with Toland placing 28th over the 3.1-mile course with a time of 20:55, her fastest time ever, and Cashman finished 85th out of 130 with a time of 22:46.

In the novice 4000 meter race, sophomores Adrienne Mercier (58th in 19:19) Carol Wirtz (20:02) and Judy Young (20:29) turned in fine performances. All three have been hampered by injuries all season and coach Jeff Hennessy is optimistic that the entire team is coming back from a rash of injuries that have plagued the squad.

Junior standouts Sherrin Quintiliani and Joanne Moriarty missed the meet due to college board exams.

"If we can get key people healthy and in decent shape, we have a chance of doing well in post-season events," said Hennessy. "We have a strong top four, but you need five people in cross-country. Who that fifth runner will be, I have no idea. We'll just see who rounds into shape when the time comes."

The once-beaten North girls host undefeated Waltham today (Thursday) at 3:30 over the Pageant Field course in a key Suburban League meet.

Swimming

North Girls Upset Brockton

The North Quincy girls' swim team won its biggest meet of the season last week when it upset Brockton, 91-80, for its first win over the lady Boppers in 15 years.

Sophomore Debbie Ramos led the way for the Raiderettes by setting school records in the 50 and 100 freestyle events. Freshman teammate Claire McCarthy won the 200 freestyle with her personal best time.

North clinched the win when Maria Pasalacqua took second place in the 100 breaststroke. North swept the diving as it has in nearly every meet, and won the final event, the 400 freestyle relay.

North's winners were Ramos in the 50 freestyle (27:00), McCarthy, 200 freestyle (2:22.7); Renee Robichaud, diving (159.20 points), and the 400 freestyle relay team of Blythe Bumpus, McCarthy, Beth Hughes and Ramos (4:22.7).

Taking second places were Ramos, 100 freestyle; Sarah Harrington, 100 butterfly; Hughes, 100 backstroke, and Dana Guilloy, diving.

Placing third were Bumpus,

50 freestyle; Hughes, 200 freestyle; McCarthy, 500 freestyle; Harrington, 200 individual medley; Joanne Vermette, 100 backstroke; and Kelly LeBlanc, diving.

Later in the week the Raiderettes suffered their second loss, 102-68, to Newton North, dropping their record to 7-2.

The North girls will host Cambridge Rindge and Latin Friday at 4 o'clock at the Lincoln-Hancock School pool and Tuesday will swim at Waltham at 4.

Mite House

Lydon, Balducci Tie, Harold, Martin Win

The Mite House League got underway last week with three games.

Lydon Russell and Balducci played to a 2-2 tie. Jon Haddad and Kevin Regan scored for Lydon with assists for Didier Alther, Robert Spavento, Jason Smith and Chad Fitzpatrick.

Pat McGann had both Balducci goals with assists for Chris DiMattia, Owen Nestor and Matt Flynn.

The Paul Harold Club edged Newcomb Farms, 5-4, with Nick Pizzitelli scoring two goals and Matt Langille, Mike Fitzpatrick and Dennis Allen one each. Betsy Stone had two assists and Allen, Danny Strock, Fitzpatrick, Pizzitelli, Matt O'Connell and Brian Correia one each. Jesse Winter scored twice and Patrick Grogan and Brian Erlich once each for Newcomb. Chris Cullen, Erlich, Adam Radzevich, Winter and Mark DiBiasi had assists.

Martin Plumbing edged Rogan Hennessy, 2-1, on goals by Danny Murphy and Derek McInerney. Joey Ardagna, Jacob Fleming, Brian Gates and Nick Dargan had assists. Bill Griffin scored for Rogan with Chris Haidul assisting.

Quincy, North Girls Qualify For State Tourney

The Quincy and North Quincy girls' volleyball teams have qualified again for the state tournament and each team improved to 12-1 with wins on Monday.

The cross-town rivals tied for the Suburban League lead, will meet for the second time Monday night at 7 o'clock at the Vo-Tech gym and a capacity crowd is expected. Quincy handed North its only setback in their first meeting before a packed house at North.

Quincy lost its only game to North and the Raiderettes lost their only two games in that match. The two teams have swept all other matches in straight games.

Quincy easily defeated Weymouth North, 2-0, (15-0, 15-1) Monday while North topped Brockton, 2-0 (15-3, 15-3).

Holly Rendle, Julie Detwiler and sophomore Kara Sullivan stood out for the North girls.

Last Friday Quincy topped Boston Latin, 2-0 (15-0, 15-4) with Amy Guidice, Melanie Sullivan and Christine Barrett leading the First Ladies.

North defeated Newton South, 2-0 (15-9, 15-12) led by Rendle, Deirdre Murphy and Debbie Panaro.

Earlier in the week Quincy suffered its first loss to Newton North, 2-0.

North Quincy defeated Waltham 2-0 (15-1, 15-0) with Robin Guilloy, Detwiler and Brenda Hayduk leading the way.

The Quincy girls will play at Cambridge Rindge and Latin Friday and will host Waltham next Wednesday.

North will host Boston Latin Friday and will be at Brookline next Wednesday.

Seek $10,000 For Dallas Trip Point Panther Cheerleaders Win New England Title

The Quincy Point Panther cheerleaders won the New England championship and are trying to raise $10,000 in order to compete for the national title Dec. 27-30 in Dallas, Tex.

This is the first junior high age team to qualify for the national Cheerleaders Association championship in New England history.

The Panthers performed a 2½ minute routine at Boston College to capture the N.E. crown. The 14-member squad is made up of Quincy Point area participants and this is only their third try at the N.E. title. The past two years they were third in the national qualifying round.

With the incorporation of gymnastics and partner stunts, the Panthers pulled off a win through determination and total team effort. In only 10 days of practice their routine appeared flawless.

Jennifer Walsh was tossed about 17 feet into the air in a 'basket toss' through the strength of Capt. Lynne Feeley, Karen Curran, Vicky Comeau and Michelle Minichello.

Six team members will graduate from the youth program and eight will be returning.

A committee has been established to raise the necessary $10,000 for a trip to Dallas. Among the events planned are tag day, bowl-a-thon, candy sales and beach towel sales. They have only six weeks to raise the money. Donations can be mailed to

McDuff Blasts Opponent For Pay Raise Vote

Republican candidate for state representative John H. McDuff today charged that his opponent "never met a pay raise proposal that he didn't like."

Last year the state legislature, including the incumbent voted to increase the pay of state legislators by 33 percent to over $40,000 a year, while the average per capita income in Massachusetts is $15,500," McDuff said.

McDuff also pointed out that "the very same people who supported the pay raise on the grounds that being a legislator was a full-time job are now in favor of keeping the legislature out until after the Nov. 8th election to avoid causing Dukakis political embarrassment."

"Not only did they increase their pay, they voted themselves a retroactive increase, and added an Emergency Preamble to the bill to have it take effect immediately," McDuff said.

"In this November's election there will be an initiative on the ballot to repeal the legislative pay raise. I believe that we will be able to see clearly then what the voters think of this legislative exercise in self-indulgence."

"Despite the state's budget problems, the Democratic leadership, including my opponent continue to be fiscally irresponsible. 6 percent across the board raises were given in June to 30 members of Speaker Keverian's staff, and 45 other House employees. Treasurer Crane gave out $371,000 in raises to 145 of his employees. Auditor DeNucci gave a $1000 raise to every employee in his office for a total of $400,000, and the MWRA gave out raises totalling $787,500."

"This disgraceful squandering of taxpayers money is what happens when you have a one-party state. Without a check on the Beacon Hill bosses, Massachusetts taxpayers will continue to be taken for a ride."

Islamic Center To Commemorate Mohammed's Birthday

Hearing Continued On Fan Noise Complaint

By JANE ARENA

The City License Board Tuesday continued until Nov. 1 a hearing concerning complaints from neighbors on conditions at Dairy Mart East, 200 Sea St.

Neighbor Robert Keddy of Narragansett St. had complained about the use of an exterior fan at the building which is located in a side wall near his bedroom window. The fan has been called a public nuisance.

Atty. George Burke, representing Dairy Mart, told the board that a mechanic had been consulted about the possibility of moving the fan and that it had been determined that it could not be moved.

The fan is used to get heat out of the building, Burke explained, and it must remain in the side wall rather than be moved to the rear.

The board said that the city building inspector, who is on vacation for two weeks, would be sent to see if "anything reasonable can be done" about the placement of the fan.

The health inspector will also be sent to determine whether moving the fan would significantly lower the noise level.

Emergency Response Plan Filed By City

The city has filed its emergency response plan as mandated by the Superfund Amendments and Reauthorization Act of 1986. Mayor Francis McCauley announced Tuesday.

Quincy is required by federal law to file the plan. The law, signed by President Reagan two years ago, revises and extends the authorities established under the Comprehensive Response Compensation and Liability Act of 1980, commonly known as "Superfund."

The act provides authority for federal cleanup of uncontrolled hazardous waste sites and response to releases of hazardous substances.

Title III of SARA establishes new authorities for emergency planning and preparedness, emergency release notification, community right to know reporting, and toxic chemical release reporting which was not required under CERCLA. McCauley said the law is intended to encourage and support emergency planning at the state and local levels and provide the public and local governments with information concerning potential chemical hazards present in their communities.

The emergency planning requirements of this act recognize the needs to establish and maintain contingency plans for responding to chemical accidents which can inflict health and environmental damage as well as cause significant disruption within a community, the mayor said. McCauley appointed a 15-member Quincy Emergency Planning Committee last September. The committee is chaired by Anthony Siciliano, deputy director of the Quincy Civil Defense.

The plan includes:

- Identification of facilities and extremely hazardous substances transportation routes.
- Emergency response procedures, on and off-site.
- Designation of a community coordinator and facility coordinator(s) to implement the plan.
- Emergency notification procedures.
- Methods for determining the occurrence of a release and the probable affected area and population.

STEVE COLLINS, left, from Norfolk Corporation, and Tony Siciliano, deputy director of Quincy Civil Defense, work together to complete the city's Emergency Response Plan at Civil Defense headquarters on Sea St. Both are members of the local Emergency Planning Committee.

(Photo by Sharon McKays)

- Description of community and industry emergency equipment and facilities and the identity of persons responsible for them.
- Evacuation plan.
- Description and program for emergency response personnel.

In filing the plan, McCauley noted that the city met the Oct. 17 deadline.

He praised Siciliano and the members of the committee for the work performed during the past year. "Putting the plan together took a tremendous effort, the committee did a great job," McCauley said.

Alarm System Installed At City Hall

An alarm system in New City Hall has been installed and another system in Old City Hall will be activated next week, according to David Colten, Quincy's superintendent of public buildings.

The alarm systems consist of a perimeter protection for doors and windows as well as motion detectors in various locations in both buildings, Colten said. The systems will be hooked up to a 24-hour service which in turn notifies the Quincy Police Station if the alarm is touched off, he said.

Only the treasurer's office will be directly hooked up to the police station, he said.

Colten called the installation of alarms in the historic building "absolutely overdue." "It should have been done years ago. Alarm systems in buildings are routinely installed now. We really should have had it," he said.

The call for City Hall alarm system came after the building was burglarized three times last month. In those breaks, several electric typewriters, a television set, and other equipment were taken while other equipment was damaged. One piece of equipment, a computerized ballot counter, was damaged at a loss of $5,000.

In at least one of those breaks, entry was gained by breaking a deadbolt at a basement window.

Three weeks ago, city councilors urged the installation of an alarm system.

Colten said the installation fee for both systems is $1,700. South Shore Signal Company, based in Weymouth, began the installation process two weeks ago, he said.

Once installed, the city will pay a monthly lease payment of $56 for five years, totaling $3,360. The city will also pay a $15 monitoring charge every month for the life of the system.

"After five years, the city will own it but we'll still have to monitor it," Colten said.

To further secure the building, Colten said the key distribution process is now more regulated.

"In the past, we just handed keys out. Now, keys are registered with the locksmith and they are numbered and distributed to people who need them," he said.

Furthermore, duplicating a key is now much harder since an authorized signature is now needed.

"You can't just go down to the store and get a duplicate key," he said.

Colten also cleared up any confusion about a security officer being permanently assigned to both City Hall buildings.

He said the guard was assigned to guard City Hall in order to assist the Quincy Police Department during the alarm installation only.

"He was intended to alert the police if there was a break. He was just on patrol until the alarm was put in."

"He was never intended to replace the police patrol," Colten said.

Colten also announced that he will hold several orientation meetings this week in an effort to get city hall workers used to the system.

"It'll take a while to get used to. We'll hold some training sessions and hopefully we won't have too many false alarms," he said.

Rail Restoration Will Lead To Freight Transport McGrath, Nutley Claim

Two Quincy City Councilors have charged that the proposed restoration of the Old Colony commuter rail system will lead to the use of freight transport on the new line.

The recent charge by councilors Stephen McGrath and Thomas Nutley occurred after they received a copy of a letter to Rep. Robert Anshel written by Alfred Dellibovi of the U.S. Department of Transportation.

In his letter, Dellibovi wrote:

"The MBTA has not ruled out the possibility that additional freight service could occur if and when the system is restored. While the potential demand for freight service is speculative at this point this is certainly an issue that will need to be addressed as we go forward with the EIS process."

"If we find that a restoration of the Old Colony system could lead to a demand for new or increased freight service, the EIS will need to discuss the impacts caused by freight train movements and measures to minimize harm to those affected."

McGrath and Nutley have charged that this statement is contrary to the position taken by Steve Polichronis, the MBTA's Old Colony project director.

"At the time of my meeting with Mr. Polichronis, he made pointed reference to the difficulty of adapting the proposed rail line size and grade to one suitable for freight. In reality, however, the manager of the project continues to consider the possibility of utilizing this rail line for freight transport," the councilors said.

"We have taken the position from the beginning that the environmental impact of the project will be a disaster for the city of Quincy. The potential for freight transport through our city's neighborhoods increase the potential nightmare for Quincy," McGrath and Nutley said.

"We have taken a strong position against this Old Colony Line restoration and will continue to fight this violation of Quincy's environment," they said.

City Files Suit Against 11 To Collect Taxes

The city has filed civil action suits in Quincy District Court against 11 people and businesses in an effort to collect $27,772 in overdue personal property taxes. Mayor Francis McCauley said Tuesday.

According to the mayor, a sustained city effort to collect delinquent taxes has netted nearly $7.9 million the past six and a half years.

"These results are important to the vast majority of city residents who pay their taxes on time," McCauley said.

Tax Collector Dana Childs said in each district court suit, the city seeks a court order directing payment of overdue taxes. Personal property includes such items as office furniture, equipment and inventory.

The suits represent the second of a series of filings by the city.

Those named by McCauley are:

Bargains Galore, Donald Reinhart, owner and operator, $1,396.

Mr. Anthony's Barber Shop, Anthony Bonarigo, owner and operator, $1,300.

Dominic & Company, Dominic Silvestro, owner and operator, $558.

L-Z Shop, Peter Linlay, owner and operator, $7,039. Hedlund Motor Sales, Inc., Robert Hedlund Sr., owner operator, $860.

Josden Realty Trust, Louis G. Ouellette, owner and operator, $4,112.

Kathy's Beauty Shop, Kathleen Gillyoll, owner and operator, $290.

Affordable Housing Need Discussed At Hearing

Citing his own family experience, Comer said the proposal is a "good step forward."

"I have two young daughters, one just passed papers on a house in Brockton because she can't afford a home in Quincy. I have another daughter who lives at home because she can't afford high rents," he said.

According to Comer, there are 1400 people on the list for public housing in Quincy, 700 of them Quincy residents.

Comer said the measure would not hinder local business. "We're not going to drive any builders out of Quincy. It's a good city and it's a well-known city."

Other officials and residents told similar stories of the high cost of living in Quincy. One person told the Council that many people in the city must pay at least 60 percent and up to 100 percent of their income on rent.

Another resident said she was paying more than 50 percent of her salary on rent. Faced with several rent hikes the past few years, she said if her rent goes up another $100, she'll have to move out of the city.

Several speakers, in commenting on the proposal, made their own recommendations on how to fund the housing trust.

Peter O'Connell, partner in the O'Connell Management Co., called the proposal "tokenism."

"Tokenism bothers me," he said. "A million dollar project would equal $40,000 Quincy is an expensive place to build. Our hearts go out but (the order) is targeting only a handful of properties left to build in Quincy."

"I am in favor of affordable housing but I am not in favor of the method," O'Connell said.

Instead, he recommended that the Council work with the South Shore Chamber of Commerce, local banks and businesses to "try to get something underway now."

"(The order) is disappointing. You can certainly do other things to promote affordable housing. The way to do it is to have business community pay less, not more," he said.

Anthony Agnitti, a business and property owner in Quincy, advocated giving tax incentives to people who live in Quincy. The fund could also be established by lowering rents by $30 a month.

Dennis Lardo, president of the Quincy Tenants Organization, said the answer to affordable housing is rent regulation since it stabilizes monthly payments.

Another idea brought forth was a two percent meals tax and motel tax in Quincy in order to fund the trust.

Despite the disagreement on the trust fund method, virtually everyone present agreed something must be done to promote affordable housing in Quincy.

Carmen D'Olimpio, builders union leader and a member of the Quincy Housing Authority for 15 years said, "I am concerned with the amount of young married people with two incomes who can't afford to live here."

"These young people with families are the backbone of our community. We're concerned -- they deserve some kind of consideration," he said.

Professor Michael Iovanovic, a 17-year Quincy resident who has taught at the University of Pittsburgh, Stanford and Harvard, said, "Some people did not come here tonight because it's embarrassing to beg."

"This country has raised Europe from dust. It has helped Japan. How about doing something for our own."

"Billions are given to Mars, the God of War. How about giving a few pennies to Christ, the lover of mankind, who wants us to help the smallest of men," he said.

Influenza Vaccinations To Begin In November

The Quincy Health Department will again offer the annual influenza programs beginning in November, announces Public Health Commissioner Jane Gallahue.

Due to production delays, the vaccine will not be available to the public as soon as the Quincy Health Department receives the schedules, she said.

Dates, times and places of clinics in Quincy will be released to the public as soon as the Quincy Health Department receives the schedules, she said. The Center for Disease Control in Atlanta has stated that the optimum time for the administration of the vaccine is in November as adequate antibody levels are provided to sustain immunity throughout the influenza season.

This year's flu shot contains A Taiwan, A Sichuan and B Victoria to provide immunity against the types of flu which have been circulating in the past year and thought to be most likely to occur in the United States this winter.

Because influenza vaccine contains only non-infectious viruses it cannot cause influenza.

Annual vaccination against influenza is recommended for:

- Adults and children with long-term heart or lung problems.
- Residents of nursing homes and other chronic care facilities.
- Healthy people over age 65
- People of any age who during the past year have regularly seen a doctor or have been admitted to a hospital for treatment for kidney disease, cystic fibrosis, anemia (low blood) or severe asthma.

- People who have a type of cancer or immunological disorder (or use certain type medicines) that lowers the body's normal resistance to infections after checking with their physician.
- Children and teens (six months to 18 years) on long-term treatment with aspirin who, if they catch the flu, may be at risk of getting Reye Syndrome.

• Health care workers or others providing care to high risk persons.

• Anyone who wishes to reduce his/her chances of catching the flu.

Persons who would not be given the flu shot include those with an allergy to eggs or egg products that causes dangerous reactions if they eat eggs.

Anyone who has ever been paralyzed with Guillain Barre Syndrome, as well as women who might be or are pregnant, should seek advice from their doctor about special risks that might exist in their cases.

Persons who are ill and have a fever should delay vaccination until the fever and other temporary symptoms are gone.

Flu vaccination will only be given to Quincy residents 18 years and older. All others are advised to check with their family physicians.

Shut-ins should call the Quincy Health Department, Nursing Department at 773-1380 ext. 238 to arrange for a house visit by the public health nurses.

Historical Commission Public Hearing Oct. 24

Two matters will be considered by the Quincy Historical Commission at a public hearing Monday, Oct. 24, at 7:30 p.m. in the second floor conference room at New City Hall, 1305 Hancock St.

A penthouse addition has been proposed to the existing three-story building at 1212 Hancock St., plus new lightwells in the sidewalks. American Land of Cambridge is owner of the property, with Strekalousky & Hoyt, the architect.

John Ruggiano of 105 Franklin St. is seeking approval of a sign change.

A consultant for the Quincy Central Historic District Extension will be introduced by Joyce I. Baker, chairman of the Quincy Historical Commission.

LEN CABRAL

Storyteller In Concert At Crane Library

Storyteller Len Cabral will appear in concert at the Thomas Crane Public Library on Tuesday, Oct. 25 at 7 p.m.

His performance, which features the scary story "Wiley and the Hairy Man," is for children age seven and older and also adults.

whether it's by making his audience laugh, using children's names or asking questions. His imposing stature and striking costume combine with skillful body movement and facial expressions to focus attention on the stories and their telling.

Cabral, a Rhode Islander, performs throughout New England and is frequently featured at storytelling festivals. He began telling stories when he worked at a day-care center and has continued to perfect this ancient art. An evening with Cabral is a memorable experience.

Lecture Series At Adams Historic Site

Lectures on Sundays, Nov. 6 and Nov. 13, will be presented in the 1988 Fall Lecture Series of the Adams National Historic Site in cooperation with the Quincy Historical Society at the Adams Academy, 8 Adams St., Quincy.

English and American Painters, before and after Saenger, will be discussed Nov. 6.

American Painters Here and Abroad - before and after Saenger - is the subject for Nov. 13.

Miriam Butts is the guest lecturer for both. She is an instructor at the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston, and a graduate of Middlebury College with a major in New England Art and Architecture. She is the co-author of two "Jack Down" by Viking Press, "China Trade" and "Early Industrial Trade in New England."

In the past ten years, Mrs. Butts and her husband have escorted several art study trips to England. At present, she is focusing her studies on the English background of New England Painters.

Lectures at 2:30 p.m. will follow a 2 p.m. coffee hour. The public is invited.

WEEK OF: October 20,

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You're imaginative, persistent, secretive, stubborn, subtle—in short, a highly complex person. The next six to eight months focus on education and may see you assuming the role of teacher, either in a formal or an informal capacity. Prestige within your community continues to grow through the next 12 months.

AQUARIUS — January 21 - February 19
Thursday through Saturday see you recruiting help for a major project. Monday focuses on a new friendship. Tuesday Wednesday present several options and find you making an important decision.

PISCES — February 20 - March 20
Tasks seem to run more smoothly at home than on the job but give equal attention to both fronts. Partnership arrangement improves. Financial transaction may be delayed.

ARIES — March 21 - April 20
Thursday Friday include news of an advancement, for yourself and/or a loved one. The weekend presents a hectic schedule. From Monday on it's important that you delegate tasks.

TAURUS — April 21 - May 22
Your gift of gab helps you make contact with an influential individual. Travel ideas benefit from discussion with a professional. Work may find you taking art or craft classes.

GEMINI — May 23 - June 21
This is a transition week, there may be advances on the job, or a relationship moves from one phase to the next. Group activities are highlighted on the weekend.

CANCER — June 22 - July 22
Week may see you refining your marketing skills or launching an advertising campaign of sorts. Older relatives are easier to please now. Domestic complications ease up.

LEO — July 23 - August 22
Good week for planning fall wardrobe and even for organizing Christmas time plans. Compatible companions at this time include Gemini and Libra people. Avoid giving advice to the loved ones.

VIRGO — August 23 - September 22
Relationships with colleagues improve following a stalemate. Independent streak surfaces. Facts you've been trying to gather arrive after the weekend. Community project receives the green light.

LIBRA — September 23 - October 22
Family members may agree to disagree, and you can now concentrate on new areas of interest. You're more objective than usual, but partner is surprisingly emotional.

SCORPIO — October 23 - November 21
Patience is stretched with the arrival of a new neighbor or staff member—but first impressions may not necessarily be lasting ones. You easily win this week's battle of wits.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22 - December 22
Romance is sweet, and friendly become more supportive. Powers of intuition are strong, but combine them with doses of logic. You may be slightly vulnerable in financial area.

CAPRICORN — December 23 - January 20
Week sees your sentimental side surfacing, and you're inclined to pamper your nearest and dearest. Out of town assignment may come your way. Financial review requires attention.

BORN THIS WEEK
October 20th, actor Jerry Orbach, 21st, musician Alexander Schneider, 22nd, actress Catherine Deneuve, 23rd, actress Rita Bennett, 24th, actor David Nelson, 25th, singer Helen Reddy, 26th, actress Jaclyn Smith.

5 Promoted At Quincy Cooperative Bank

Mary Collins In Conway Gold Club

Mary Collins, who recently won nomination in the Democratic primary for Norfolk County Commissioner, has qualified for membership in the president's Gold Club of the Jack Conway Real Estate Company.

She is a sales associate of the company's Wollaston office.

Collins qualified for membership through outstanding sales and promotion efforts during the past year.

Collins is currently serving her 11th year as a member of the Quincy School Committee and her second term as vice-chairperson. She is also a member of the Quincy and South Shore Board of Realtors, the Quincy Ward 6 Democratic Committee and serves as a treasurer of the Quincy City Hospital Social Service Committee.

also find the series useful.

The program will be filmed for an educational video and participants need not attend all five taping sessions.

There is limited space and reservations may be made by calling Diane at the Chamber at 479-1111.

The Board of the Quincy Co-operative Bank announces the promotion of five management employees.

Charles H. Walker has been promoted to the position of Assistant Vice President. Since joining the bank in 1974, Walker has held several administrative positions including Branch Manager and Assistant Treasurer. His responsibilities will include Branch Administration and Bank Security. Walker is a graduate of North Adams State College.

Claire A. DelRosso of Braintree has been appointed Assistant Treasurer. DelRosso has been with the Quincy Co-operative bank since 1977 and will continue to serve as manager of the Braintree branch office located on Grove St. She previously served as assistant manager of the branch at 1000 Southern Artery in Quincy.

Gail Newcomb, manager of Quincy Co-operative's Hanover branch since 1984 has been promoted to Assistant Treasurer. Newcomb is a resident of Pembroke and has been with the bank since 1975 having served as a teller, supervisor and assistant manager.

Jeanne M. Roche, also of Pembroke, has been promoted to Assistant Treasurer and will retain responsibility for managing the Quincy Co-operative Branch at 300 Newport Ave. in North Quincy. Roche, a graduate of the New England Banking Institute, began with the bank in 1974 and has served in several operational capacities.

Michael T. Stuart of Weymouth has also been promoted to Assistant Treasurer. Stuart joined the Bank in 1986 and will manage the office located at 1259 Hancock St. in Quincy Center as well as oversee Quincy Co-operative's "Bank of the Presidents," an educational office at Quincy High School and Quincy Vocational Technical School. Stuart received his BA from Boston College and his MBA from Suffolk University.

The Quincy Co-operative Bank is a wholly-owned subsidiary of the bank holding company, Co-operative Bancorp (NASDAQ: COBK) which is based in Acton, Massachusetts. The Quincy Co-operative Bank operates eight retail banking offices throughout Norfolk and Plymouth counties.

New Hope Seen

Outbursts May Bring New Understanding For Asian, White Communities

By JANE ARENA
Recent outbursts of violence and disharmony between Quincy's Asian population and white community may offer new hope for cultural understanding.

State and city officials have now become involved in programs within the school system and the community at large which aim to promote tolerance and racial harmony between the two communities. After a fight (Oct. 18) between Quincy High School white and Asian students, in which five white students were suspended for 10 days, Quincy School Supt. Dr. Robert Ricci met with representatives from the Justice Department, the District Attorney's office, the school administration and representatives from the Quincy Police Department.

As a result of the meeting, Dr. Ricci will be implementing an "Educational and Enforcement Plan" which will establish a better understanding between the two cultures in the school system and also enforce rules against racial discrimination and civil rights violations.

"We have ideas on what to do in the enforcement area and we are, at this stage, (Cont'd on Page 10)

Multi-Family Project Compromise Wins Support

Hailed as a compromise between developers and residents, a revised plan for a proposed multi-family development project in South Quincy was greeted with support at a joint public hearing of the Planning Department and City Council Monday night.

About 50 residents gathered before the two bodies to hear a revised plan for the proposed development. The project would consist of 336 residential units divided among 17, three and half story low-rise buildings on a 16-acre site located off Centre, Bartlett and Brewer Sts. in South Quincy.

Lincoln Property Co. and R.J.B. Management Corporation has filed the permit.

Estimated construction cost, excluding land, is $53.511 per unit or $17,980,000 total.

The project would be built on land situated halfway between Furnace Brook Parkway and the Quincy Adams MBTA station. Ownership of the land dates back to the estate of John Adams and for several decades, it was the Greylock Quarries.

For the past 40 years, it has been idle.

Originally, the development plan called for a 10-story building with more than 500 units. However, many residents objected to the plan and met with developers and Ward 4 Councillor James Sheets to iron out a compromise.

"This is a blending of both the developers and the community. It's been a long-time and there's been a lot of effort by a lot of people," said Robert Fleming, an attorney representing the project developers.

Fleming praised residents and Sheets for their input "in bringing a project of this size into the city of Quincy."

"This is a team project," he said, adding that the revised plan meets and exceeds all zoning ordinances.

According to Planning Director Richard Meade, the proposal could come before the Planning Board Nov. 16. If the board votes favorable action, it would be passed on the City Council. The project would then need a two-thirds favorable vote, he said.

As proposed, the development would include:

- 336 residential units, of which 216 would be one bedroom and 120 would be two bedroom.
- Sizes vary from 595 square feet to 840 square feet for one bedroom and 968 to 1,081 square feet for two bedrooms.

• A central building with exercise and function rooms.

• Sixty percent of the parcel would remain as open space.

• Parking would have 588 spaces.

• A guard house "is anticipated" near the entrance to control traffic flow.

• Nearly all units would have individual washer and dryers.

• Second and third floor units would have fireplaces.

• Kitchens would include

Double Sessions Avoided Central Students To: Broadmeadows, Squantum, North

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

The Quincy School Committee voted 7-0 in favor Tuesday night to adopt a plan that calls for displaced Central Middle School students to be divided by grade and attend three other city schools.

The vote reversed an earlier decision made over the weekend which would have created double sessions for the 476 students at Broadmeadows Middle School.

The double session plan, approved 7-0 at an emergency meeting Saturday morning, was sharply criticized by many students, teachers and parents during the two and half hour meeting Tuesday night at the Quincy High School Learning Center.

After the split plan was approved, the overflow crowd of about 500 people cheered the school committee.

The committee met to reconsider its decision made Saturday which would have created double sessions for Central students at Broadmeadows. After voting 6-1 in favor of reconsideration, the standing-room-only crowd reacted enthusiastically.

Only School Committee member Frank Anselmo voted against reconsideration. After listening to Tuesday night's testimony, Anselmo joined his colleagues in an unanimous vote.

It was announced that the temporary repairs to Central could be completed in three to eight weeks.

In response to the safety issue of allowing students back into Central once the temporary repairs are done, Building Inspector Matt Mulvey assured concerned parents the school would not reopen until it is absolutely safe.

"No one is going in there until the building is 100 percent safe," he said.

Under the plan adopted by the School Committee:

• 141 sixth grade students will attend the Squantum Elementary School and use six classrooms.

• Seven seventh grade classes and one sixth grade class totaling 169 students will attend the Broadmeadows School and occupy eight classrooms.

• 169 eighth grade students will attend school at North Quincy High School.

• All three classes will attend school from 9:15 to 3:15 p.m.

• According to School Superintendent Robert Ricci, these hours "will guarantee the availability of sufficient transportation for all students effected."

Furthermore, Ricci said "we are assured space in these schools."

The rational behind the split class plan is to maintain concepts and preserve instructional concept by grade. Ricci also said the plan would schedule the fewest changes for students so that they may cope best physically, psychologically and emotionally with the current crisis--students have already been "severely traumatized."

This plan could be in effect today (Thursday) or Friday, Ricci said.

About 40 people, including many students of Central as well as parents and educators, spoke in reference to the double session plan and split plan at the emergency

Safety Improvements At Burgin Pkwy-Granite St.

Traffic Engineer David Kinnecom has notified Mayor Francis McCauley that his department is currently making several traffic and pedestrian safety improvements at the intersection of Burgin Parkway and Granite St., Quincy Center.

Kinnecom said the improvements are part of the resurfacing work on Burgin Parkway.

The pedestrian crosswalk on the north leg of the intersection is being moved to shorten the crossing from 100 feet to 60 feet, and the pedestrian signal is being moved for better visibility, he said.

Also, two new handicapped ramps are being provided and new pavement striping will be installed.

There is additional signal work that is planned. However, the work is being done now to take advantage of the resurfacing contract, Kinnecom said.

President's Wreath To Honor John Adams' 253rd Birthday At United First Parish Church

A wreath from President Reagan commemorating President John Adams' 253rd birthday will be presented and placed on President Adams' tomb at a ceremony Sunday, Oct. 30, at 10 a.m. at United First Parish Church, "The Church of the Presidents," in Quincy Center.

The wreath will be presented on behalf of the White House by a Naval delegation.

Mavor Francis McCauley will deliver brief remarks and accept the wreath on behalf of the City of Quincy. Dr. Sheldon W. Bennett, minister of United First Parish, will accept the wreath on behalf of the church.

The public is invited to attend.

The presenting of presidential wreaths at the tombs of former Presidents is an annual event begun in 1966 under President Lyndon Johnson. Each year in Quincy, ceremonies are arranged by the U.S. Navy, United First Parish Church, and the City of Quincy on the anniversary dates of two presidents, John Adams and John Quincy Adams, second and sixth Presidents.

Hong Kong Restaurant Approved For Downtown

The City License Board Tuesday granted a request from Ming Poy Chin and Hew Lai Chu Chin, representing the Hong Kong Plaza Restaurant, 1488 Hancock St., for a common victualer license to open the 80 seat restaurant.

Chairman John Gillis and Police Chief Francis Finn went on record against the motion.

Atty. Dennis Harrington, representing Mr. and Mrs. Chin, told the Board that they had plans to remodel the first floor of the building which used to be the Granite Trust Company and was occupied by the former Tago Furniture Store, and to comply with all city codes.

Harrington told the Board that he had spoken to Ward 3 Counselor Lawrence Chretien and that he is not opposed to the license. He also told the Board that he had received a letter from area business people in the same restaurant business who were opposed.

Mr. and Mrs. Chin had applied for the license in September, before they had purchased the building, and had withdrawn the request. There have been other requests for a restaurant at the location and they had also been denied.

The Board noted that there has been an ongoing problem concerning the dumpsters in the back of the area on Hancock St. which are used by a number of restaurants including Dunkin' Donuts. The dumpsters are kept open and are not properly enclosed, the Board said.

Harrington told the board that the Chins have plans to have a trash compactor in the preparation area of the restaurant so that their trash would be compressed to keep the dumpster cleaner. He also told the board that they would not be opposed to installing a sturdy metal fence to enclose the dumpster area in cooperation with the other businesses which use the space.

The board said the fence must lock from the inside and that all area businesses must have access to a key to the fence.

The board granted the request with the stipulations that the dumpster be kept enclosed and clean, that the first floor only be used as restaurant space, and that the plans meet the approval of the Health, Fire and Building Inspectors.

License Board Briefs

The Quincy License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall:

- Granted a request from John Ruggiano from the Franklin Street Exchange, 105 Franklin St. for an old gold license to sell old jewelry.

- Granted a request from the International House of Pancakes, 111 Washington St. for change of manager to Robert D. Collins.

- Postponed until Nov. 8 a hearing concerning extension of operating hours at Burger King Corp., 670

Adams St. The postponement was made to allow time for a neighborhood meeting to be held concerning the issue.

- Granted a request from McDonald's Restaurant, 275 Hancock St. for change of manager to Robert Sander-son.

- Granted a request from Diane Ivas, representing Elizabeth and Mary Gorga to hold a Blue Ribbon Christmas Bazaar, Sat., Nov. 19 from 10 a.m. to 3:45 p.m. in the lower Rectory, Star of the Sea Parish, 107 Bellevue Rd., Squantum.

- Granted a request from the Wollaston Yacht Club for a one-day all-alcoholic license for Oct. 29 from 6 p.m. to 1 a.m.

- Granted a request from Lili Filler for a CV license for a snack bar at 100 Hancock St. Building, health, and fire plans must be submitted.

Suspended the licenses of all Yellow cab taxis in the city of Quincy which failed to show up for an inspection on Oct. 18. The licenses of "about five or six" taxis have been revoked until they come to the Board with certificates proving they have passed inspection.

$1.2 Million Elks Home Proposed For Quarry St.

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

Plans for a new million dollar Quincy Lodge of Elks home in West Quincy were unveiled before a joint public hearing of the Quincy Planning Board and City Council Monday night.

Forty-seven people signed in support of the proposed facility while no one signed in opposition. About 50 Elks members, relatives of members and residents attended the public hearing.

The Quincy Lodge of Elks has filed for a special planned unit development permit for a two-story, 18,130 square-foot building on a nine and half acre parcel on Quarry St. in West Quincy.

Cost of the building, including foundation, parking spaces and landscaping is $1.2 million.

According to Planning Director Richard Meade, the Elks' permit could come before the Planning Department on Nov. 16. If a favorable recommendation is made, it would go to the City Council where it would need a two-thirds favorable vote, Meade said.

As proposed, the building would include:

- A first floor with a function hall, kitchen and hall.

- Ground floor with member's lounge, meeting rooms, recreation area, office facilities, and ancillary facilities.

In addition, there would be 104 parking spaces and an area reserved for at least 100 more spaces.

The building site, which would occupy four percent of the total area, is bounded by multi-story apartments to the north, single-family residences to the west and southwest and open, city-owned property to the south and east.

According to Atty. Robert Fleming, representing the Elks, the closest building would get to homes is 400 to 500 feet.

"It appears the building will not impact those residences," Fleming said.

Plans call for one entrance off Quarry St. and the building would be set back 200 feet from the street.

One concern raised at the hearing was the potential effect on drainage in the area. According to Fleming, the sewer system would be handled from Quarry St. using six inch sewer pipes and eight inch water pipes.

"We've been told there would be no problems with sewer connections," Fleming said.

Drainage would also include three major run-off areas including detention ponds and catch basins.

"We don't see that drainage is going to have a big impact on the city of Quincy," Fleming said, adding that the building would not be a "detriment" to the area.

As for water, service would consist of eight inch mains tapping into the existing main on Quarry St. This main would follow along the driveway of the site and enter the building on the easterly side.

Once given final approval, Fleming said the building could be constructed in nine months.

The Elks, a well-known charitable organization in Quincy, were founded in 1904 and first occupied a building on Foster St.

The lodge built a new home in 1924 at 1220 Hancock St., Quincy Center, and remained there for 56 years.

Comer: 'No' For Mayor 'Maybe' For City Council

You can scratch the name of John (Jake) Comer as a mayoral candidate next year.

He's not running. He's not interested in running for mayor.

But, the City Council might be a possibility.

"I have had many people ask me to consider running for mayor," says Comer who recently returned to Quincy after serving a year as National Commander of the American Legion.

"That makes me feel good, to be asked," he says. "But I'm not really interested in being mayor. I think that is a job with just too many headaches."

Comer says he likes what he is doing now: executive director of the Quincy Housing Authority.

He's definitely not interested in running for mayor? "Definitely."

Well, the City Council? Would he consider that?

"I would never run against Ted DeCristofaro," replies Comer who lives in Quincy Point, DeCristofaro's Ward 2, and with DeCristofaro and others helped establish the Ward 2 Civic Association.

"If Ted gave up the seat I might — providing I could serve and hold my job with the Housing Authority. I would have to check that out."

Well, what about councillor at large?

He wouldn't be running against his good friend DeCristofaro then.

"I might consider that," Comer says. "If I could offer something to be a positive force in the community, I might consider running, again providing there would be no conflict with my Housing Authority job."

Comer has been around the political block a few times. He'd hardly be a novice if he got into the local political ring.

Anyone who can put together the votes to become National Commander of the American Legion — the world's largest veterans' organization — certainly knows his way around.

Locally he has been quite active though not as a candidate. He was Clifford Marshall's campaign manager when he ran for and won the Ward 2 seat in 1964. In 1969 he was the campaign manager for Edward Graham when he ran against Charles Hedges for sheriff.

Before that, Comer was the Ward 17 campaign chairman for Francis Belotti when he ran for governor in 1962.

Comer got his feet wet politically at age 12 delivering political flyers for James Michael Curley.

Politics are in his blood.

But not for mayor.

City Council — maybe.

COMER

INCIDENTALLY, Comer was invited to Washington, D.C. Tuesday to be present when President Ronald Reagan signed the bill establishing a Secretary of Veterans Affairs cabinet post.

The legislation was one of Comer's top priorities as national commander of the American Legion.

The signing took place at Fort McNair in Washington. Attending with Comer was H.F. Sparky Gierke who succeeded Comer as national commander. Gierke is a supreme court judge in Bismark, N.D. and the first Vietnam War veteran to become Legion national commander.

QUINCY MAY HAVE come close to losing Dr. Clayton Johnson as president of Quincy Junior College.

Johnson signed a new three-year contract with the School Committee a couple of weeks ago.

But a week or so before that he was the major candidate for the presidency of a community college in Richmond, Va.

Dean Nicastro, former Quincy city solicitor and now general counsel for the Massachusetts Medical Society, was in Richmond visiting friends Sept. 25 and happened to pick up a Richmond newspaper.

There on Page One was a story about the search for the community college president. It reported that there were two serious candidates under consideration, one of them being Johnson. The second one pulled out of contention leaving Johnson No. 1.

YOU MIGHT SAY School Committeeman Frank Anselmo believes in getting his information first hand.

Last week Principal Louis DeMartino noticed a ceiling on the second floor at Central Middle School was cracking and sagging.

A check of the attic showed that a steel beam supporting the roof had shifted about 10 inches and could cause the roof to collapse.

Anselmo, who turned 90 last month, was among those who climbed the steep ladder to the attic to take a look.

Anselmo didn't make any big deal out of his climb. He's only 90, he mused. The school is 93.

School Committee Vice Chairman Mary Collins arrived at the scene later, heard about Anselmo and went up the ladder herself.

"If Frank Anselmo can do it, I can too," she said.

OBSERVATION VIA the Quincy Kiwanis Club newsletter (and from wherever they got it). "More and more people are looking to Washington for leadership. Unfortunately, he died in 1799."

CHANGES IN HIGH-RISK COVERAGE

The alarming spread of the AIDS epidemic, as well as actions taken by some insurance regulators to help victims of this disease obtain coverage, may change the way insurers do business in some areas of the country.

Last year, for example, the Washington, D.C. city council passed a law banning all forms of AIDS testing for insurance purposes, and many companies have stopped writing new health, disability or life insurance policies for District residents. Several states have passed or are considering laws that would similarly limit an insurance company's ability to deny coverage on the basis of an AIDS test. The industry has become concerned that, by limiting its ability to gauge the risks involved, these new laws could cause a rise in the cost of insurance, and, in some areas, make it hard even for healthy people to obtain coverage. Many experts suggest that you start your search now.

For professional advice on all of your insurance needs please contact the experts at Riley & Rielly Insurance Agency, Inc. Call us at 471-6200 or stop by our office at 1050 Hancock Street in Quincy.

Central Students To: Broadmeadows, Squantum, North

meeting. In addition to speaking out on behalf of the plans, many people, especially students and teachers, voiced concerns ranging from transportation, children's safety, extracurricular activities and the economic impact on parents who work during the day. One student, Sharon Goodman, a representative for Quincy High on the School Committee, offered an alternative plan to the problem. She said Quincy High and Quincy Vo-Tech could be used to school the students.

Many parents and students welcomed the idea but Ricci said it was unfeasible due to classroom space limitations. He also said "the intent is great but putting Central students in two big facilities is not wise."

The School Committee was called into an emergency situation last Wednesday when it was discovered that a beam supporting Central's roof had shifted, causing deep cracks in the ceilings and walls of the school's learning center.

The school was closed Thursday, Gale Engineering, which inspected the beam twice last week, advised that the entire school be closed.

The Committee had hoped to close off a section of Central to alleviate the problem of displacing the school's 476 sixth, seventh and eighth grade students.

After closing the building, the School Committee called for an emergency session Saturday to discuss relocation of Central Students. Two plans were brought up.

One plan, recommended by Ricci, called for double sessions at Broadmeadows Middle School from about 7:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and Broadmeadows pupils would start their day at noon and stay until 5 p.m.

Another proposal, so-called plan B, was also unveiled at Saturday's meeting. Under this plan, Central pupils would be split up and sent to three or four schools: North Quincy High, Broadmeadows, Merrymount and possibly Quincy High School.

The double session plan was unanimously approved by the committee Saturday afternoon.

The School Committee is comprised of: Mayor Francis McCauley, chairman; Mary Collins, vice chairwoman; Steve Durkin, Christopher Kennedy, Margaret Nigro, Frank Santoro and Frank Anselmo.

About 250 parents, students, city officials and school administrators attended the meeting held in the Quincy High Method Center.

Word on the double session decision reached the Broadmeadows School community through the media. According to Ward I Councillor Michael Cheney, parents of Broadmeadows students were upset that they were not informed of the decision.

At a meeting held in Houghs Neck Saturday night, more than 150 Broadmeadows parents said they opposed the double session plan. They were worried about how the revamped school day would affect extra-curricular activities and parents' work schedules.

Moreover, about 50 members of the Broadmeadows staff voted against the plan at an emergency meeting Monday morning.

The school's staff also issued a statement Monday, declaring "we sympathize with the plight of the Central community" but also "resent" the school committee's double session decision because it did not consult either the Central or the Broadmeadows communities.

"As of this moment, the Broadmeadows staff and the Broadmeadows community have not been involved in any way in the Quincy School Committee's decision announced last Saturday to hold double sessions at Broadmeadows in order to alleviate the dilemma they find themselves in as a result of the temporary closing of Central Middle School.

"We, the Broadmeadows staff, resent the exclusion of any involvement in the decision-making process from either the Central or Broadmeadows communities," the letter stated.

"In our opinion, any decision to establish double sessions is educationally indefensible. Double sessions should be considered only as a last resort after all other options have been fully explored and rejected.

"The School Committee should not have resorted to this last resort without having first consulted with the people whose lives would be most adversely affected namely: the students, the families of the students, the staffs of the schools affected, and the families of the staffs," the staff said, adding they want to go on record as opposing double sessions for any students.

"We welcome the opportunity to participate in the development of viable alternatives," the letter concluded.

Because of the opposition, the School Committee then decided to reconsider the double session plan Tuesday.

On Tuesday morning, more than two dozen Central students gathered in front of the school to protest the option that would divide them among several schools.

Instead of splitting them up, one student said the committee should put all the students into some vacant community building or church hall.

The pupils favored staying together for social reasons, saying social development is just as important as educational development. They said they had the support of their parents.

Quincy's Yesterdays

Shipyard Riveters Take A 'Vacation'

Some 500 riveters at the Fore River Shipyard took a "voluntary vacation" for the third time claiming management had violated terms of the agreement that settled the earlier walkouts.

Oct. 27-Nov. 3 1920 68 Years Ago

The strikers claimed that Fore River was five to eight cents an hour behind other Atlantic Coast shipyards in wages and that Navy yards were paying $7.53 a day to $6.40 a day at Fore River.

They said this time they wanted management's promise in writing.

General Manager Samuel W. Wakeman told the riveters to go back to work or consider their employment terminated. Nearly 700 of the 8,000 shipyard workers were laid off for lack of work due to the strike.

LODGE ASSAILS LEAGUE

Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge (R-Mass) criticized the League of Nations at a Republican rally at the Music Hall on the eve of balloting between Sen. Warren G. Harding and James M. Cox for the Presidency.

"If we were in the League of Nations they would say give, give, give and tell us how, when and what," he said. "But we are free and have the right to say when we shall give and what we shall give."

Among the other Republican candidates at the rally was Louis A. Frothingham, who was running against Cong. Richard Olney for the congressional seat from the 14th District.

In the election, Quincy voters went for Harding and Calvin Coolidge over the Democrats Cox and Franklin D. Roosevelt by a margin of 10,048 to 2,431. Frothingham also won.

WAR DEAD HONORED

The executive committee of the Quincy American Legion Post met to discuss plans to rename three state intersections for Quincy men who lost their lives during the World War. To be renamed were: - Dobles Corner, West Quincy, for George F. Bryan, who died when his ship, the Jacob Jones, was torpedoed by a German submarine.

- The junction of Copeland and Crescent Sts. and the Boulevard in West Quincy for Cyril P. Morrisette, killed in France in February, 1918.

- Brewers Corner, West Quincy, for Thomas D. Kind, who lost his life in July, 1918, in the Champagne-Marne offensive.

dishwasher, disposal, electric range, refrigerator and microwave oven.

Landscaping would include evergreens and other trees as well as rock outcroppings.

Fencing (both chain-link and board) would enclose the entire development.

A concern raised at the meeting was any potential drainage effects in regard to flooding. According to Fleming, five retention ponds would be constructed. They would be three and half feet deep and be surrounded by six-foot fences.

"We are trying to control any possible flooding," Fleming told the Planning Board and Council.

Also, in order to increase capacity of existing Centre St. drainage system, the 15 inch drain will be replaced by an 18 inch drain.

As for sewerage, the site is designed to collect 47 percent of anticipated flow by gravity and 53 percent via a four inch force main. Sewerage flow would be conveyed to an existing eight inch sewer in Bartlett St.

Also, water would be serviced by an existing 16 inch main in Centre St.

Solid waste would be collected on site in a compactor or dumpster.

According to Fleming, R.J.B. Management has constructed 200,000 units in 26 states.

Michelle Sherbring, who recently moved to Quincy from Dallas, spoke in support saying she had a difficult time finding housing in Quincy and that Lincoln property has an excellent reputation in the Dallas area.

Another resident requested that signalization be considered for the development's entrance on Bartlett St. As proposed, only stop signs are included.

Also, several gates would be located on the site to be opened only in the case of an emergency.

At the conclusion of the hearing, Sheets thanked the residents and citizen groups who met for two years to work out the problems of the proposal. "They have done an excellent job," he said.

Price Gouging By The City

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

If a business has a very successful year and posts a healthy enough net profit to invest some of this profit for future losses, it is said to be well managed.

If this same business repeats this success three years in a row, then it is fantastic. How what if this business has a monopoly on a product, and the consumer can't get it anywhere else? If this same business increases its prices beyond a reasonable profit margin, it is called GREED!

An investigation ensues, and the business is cited by the government for PRICE GOUGING! This is an illegal activity that is punishable by law! The offender is then forced to pay fines and return the extra earnings to its customers by a court. This is as it should be.

What about a city government that does the same thing? The Mayor presents to the city that for the third year in a row, a major surplus in the millions is a reality! The financial state of this city is on very good footing, and further proof is that its bond rating has been improved. We could assume, I would think, that bills are being paid on time and an excellent profit margin has been reached. Why then has the tax to business property been increased, when even the Mayor recommended that it not be increased? GREED, that's why! It's nothing else but PRICE GOUGING! It's illegal for business, what about government?

On the evening of Oct. 3, 1988 the Quincy City Council precipitated this action against the small business people of Quincy. The argument that it will save the average homeowner in Quincy a mere $44 on their taxes this year is a hot air balloon that is about to explode. By raising the taxes on business by 10 percent, the cost to the consumer in the increased prices over the next year will cost that same homeowner, hundreds of dollars!

To say that the threat of many small businesses to move out of Quincy or to close down completely, is nothing but a scare tactic, is proof to me, that our public officials in Quincy know little about running a small business! Maybe they should try it some time, and then only then, will they begin to understand what is happening to us.

Most of us live in this city, pay residential taxes, and vote. We won't forget this immoral action taken against us by a very GREEDY LANDLORD called the CITY OF QUINCY. This is not taxation with representation, it is price gouging!!!!

Sincerely,
Loren W. Strout
Quincy

Halloween Dance For Disabled Nov. 1

The annual Halloween dance for developmentally disabled people will be held Tuesday, Nov. 1, from 6:30 to 10 p.m. at Chevy's Belair Cafe, 79 Parkway, Quincy.

The dance is sponsored by the South Shore Association for Retarded Citizens, in cooperation with Jack Weir, handicapped self-advocate. Chevy's Belair nightclub is again donating space and staff for the occasion.

Weir is not new to organizing this kind of event. He has worked closely with SSARC and Carl Miranda, the owner of Chevy's, to put on several previous dances there.

The event will include a D.J. to play all kinds of popular dance music. A light buffet supper will be served early in the evening. Those attending are encouraged to come in costume, and prices will be given for the best costume.

Admission is by pre-registration only, with the fee $3 per person. For information and pre-registration forms, interested persons may call Marge at 773-7781.

A senseless, cruel murder

When 71-year-old Charles went out one night to check on his neighborhood hardware store, his wife didn't think much about it. But when he didn't return by midnight, his worried wife called the police to check on him.

The patrolman found Charles in a pool of blood on the floor of the hardware store, an unarmed, elderly gentleman bludgeoned to death by being struck in the head 17 times with a claw hammer. Charles' wallet was missing and the dial had been knocked off the safe.

The next day, a local dry cleaner notified police that a bloody sweater had been dropped off. Police arrested a 24-year-old man for armed robbery and murder.

The young man, who had recently been released from jail for a previous breaking and entering, was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment without parole.

That might be the end of the story, except that the young man applied for a Governor's commutation of his sentence so that he would be eligible for parole. The pardons board recommended clemency.

The victim's son was "absolutely opposed." His grandson found the situation "insensitive and offensive" to the family. The district attorney called the crime a "senseless, cruel murder" of an outstanding citizen. And the victim's wife called the recommendation a "travesty of justice."

When the case came before the Governor's Council for a vote, your councillor called the killing a senseless, vicious act.

He pointed out that the victim had been brutally murdered by a young man one-third his age.

He noted that the younger, stronger man could certainly have taken the older man's money, without taking his life.

And he argued that bludgeoning an elderly gentleman 17 times with a claw hammer, crushing his skull, deserved no clemency.

Your councillor voted no to commutation.

Your councillor is Peter Eleey. We hope you'll remember that when you go to vote November 8.

Quincy Center Bar License Suspended 3 Days For Serving Minors

The Quincy License Board Tuesday suspended the license of Conburke Inc., doing

The Quincy License Board Tuesday suspended the license of Conburke Inc., doing business as Stoooges, 3 School St., for three consecutive Sundays, to be followed by a six month probation period, after a hearing on a complaint from the Quincy Police Department on serving minors.

Quincy Police Sergeant Richard Laracy, Liquor Inspector, told the Board that he had received a report from Weymouth Police officer, Richard Grimes on a motor vehicle accident.

Sunday, July 24 in Weymouth involving three Quincy youths. The youths were 17 to 19 years old and the report stated that each had said they had been drinking in Stoooges Bar in Quincy and had not been asked for any proof of age.

The driver of the car had been given a sobriety test but had passed and was not charged with operating a vehicle under the influence of alcohol. He did, however, admit to the officer that he and the two passengers in the car had been drinking at Stoooges.

Officer Grimes told the board that one of the passengers had given his name as Christopher Deehan but later found to be lying about his name. He is 17 years old and a Quincy resident. The other passenger was a 19-year old Quincy resident. He is 19 years old.

The father of the 17 year old driver of the car made an appeal that the boy's name not be used because of his involvement in a custody suit. The youth appeared before the board, however, to testify that he and the other youths had been served in Stoooges on the day in question and had not been asked for proof of their age.

Three other underage youths two 17 and one 18 had also been drinking in Stoooges on that day, but had not accompanied the others to Weymouth, Sgt. Laracy said. Defense Attorney for Conburke Inc., Thomas Norton, told the board that the owners of the bar, Cynthia Conley and her brother Thomas Burke, both of Quincy, had not been present at the bar during the incident.

A barmaid, Camille Rita of Franklin, was working on that day.

Atty Norton told the board that Rita had been questioned

"at length" by the owners, and maintained that she did not remember the youths being at the bar. She also told Sgt. Laracy that she always ID's everyone who looks questionable, according to a report issued by Sgt. Laracy.

Sgt. Laracy told the board that he had been receiving complaints on minors being served at the establishment for six months, but had checked many times and found no evidence.

Atty Norton asked the board to give the owners of the bar "the benefit of the doubt that they will change."

The father of the 17 year old driver if the car appeared before the board with an appeal to issue the full extent of the punishment to the establishment.

"My car was totaled," he told the board, "I have to pay for that as far as I can see (the owners of the bar) got away scott-free. My son could have killed someone or himself. I'm not questioning what you do here, I'm questioning the law."

The board ruled that the license of Stoooges be suspended for three consecutive Sundays and that it be followed by a six month probationary period during which the bar would be closely monitored by Laracy and other Police officers.

Dates of the suspension and probation were not determined at the hearing.

Goal To Enroll All Vo-Tech Students In VICA

A goal to enroll every student at Quincy Vocational Technical School in the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) has been announced by school administrators.

This will give Quincy Voc-Tech national significance, according to Jeffrey Johnston of the vocational staff, and VICA Faculty Advisor.

"There are not too many schools throughout the country with total VICA enrollment, and my belief in this organization is so solid that I firmly believe every student here can benefit," Johnston stated.

Johnston, who travelled in June to Wichita, Kansas for the national competition sponsored by VICA, has the full support of Joseph A. Mazzarella, Voc-Tech director.

"VICA, a vocational club with thousands of young members around the nation, breeds professionalism and confidence through competition," said Mazzarella.

Johnston is also determined to place at least four students from every Quincy Voc-Tech occupational skilled area in district and regional competitions.

"Last year we won a gold and bronze medal state competition, with only eight students participating. This year we intend to win big in both the state and national tests," Johnston promised.

Because this requires money, donations will be welcome. Also, as long as fall weather continues, students will be available for odd jobs and yard clean-up tasks for Quincy residents. Persons interested may telephone Johnston during school hours at 786-8732 to schedule work assignments, which they may reimburse by a donation to the school's VICA program.

By ALICE GIORDANO

Quincy District Court Clerk Magistrate Arthur H. Tobin has been honored by the Quincy Police Department as this year's recipient of the Friend of the Quincy Police Department Award.

The award, was presented by Lt. Jack Doyle, President of the Mutual Aid Association of the Quincy Police Department at its dinner last week at the Bryan VFW Hall. In appreciation for Tobin's concern and assistance through the years for the Quincy Police Department.

The Executive Board of the Mutual Aid Association of the Quincy Police Department unanimously chose Tobin as the recipient.

As of February 1989, Tobin will have served his seventh year as Clerk Magistrate for the town of Quincy. He has been in public office for 20 years serving as a state representative for six years, state senator eight, city councilor for ten years, for which he was elected as President for eight consecutive terms, and was also mayor of Quincy for four years.

Throughout his public service, Tobin has received numerous awards, "but this award," according to Tobin, "is by far most special."

"As a brother of two police officers, an uncle to one, as well as a father to a police officer, this is an honor closest to my heart," Tobin said.

Tobin noted that "he is proudest of his children and their accomplishments." Tobin's eldest son, Arthur S. Tobin was recently elected as the Democratic state representative nominee for the Second Norfolk District. A position of his son's Clerk Tobin refers to "as his father's old seat," which is appropriate since Tobin held that seat.

Tobin's five other children are as well involved with community endeavors. His daughter Kelly Ann works in the Quincy Detective Division as a Crime Analyst while his other daughter Tracey works in the Sexual Assault Unit Norfolk County Superior Court as a counselor. His son Mark also works in the Norfolk County Probate Court.

His son, Brian, has recently become a member of the Quincy Police Department. His son, Bruce, is stepping his way up into his career as he is currently enrolled in the Public Policy Master's Program at the Univ. of Mass Boston.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

"Anger is the wind that blows out the light of reason." "It is easier to swallow angry words than to have to eat them." "An angry man is always full of poison." Confucius said ... (And modern medicine confirms his observation.) Common sense should tell us how important it is to conquer anger. What good does it do to blow off steam, if it disrupts blood circulation and either aggravates or brings on ailments in body and spirit? And anger does just that! (Ask your doctor!)

Anger can provide a very tricky personal problem to many people ... We like what Norman Vincent Peale says of this problem ... "An angry, irritable disposition can operate to rob a person of success and happiness. You cannot overcome anger by merely telling yourself that you won't be angry. Nor is it necessarily required that someone else project serene thoughts into your subconsciousness. You can build such thoughts into your own subconsciousness by affirming your ability to exercise emotional control until your mind accepts that you are no longer going to let anger harm you ..."

Yes, anger can be bad ... For whom? ... You! ...

Sullivan's Corner Offers Eye-Catching Antiques And Used Furniture

By JANE ARENA

The buying and selling of antiques has been somewhat of a second career for Vincent Sullivan, owner of Sullivan's Corner, 716 Hancock St., Wollaston, for about 35 years.

Having had a long career in education, first as a Science teacher in the Quincy Schools and afterwards as Coordinator of Science in the Quincy Public School system, Sullivan had "dabbled in the business" of antiques and auctions as a summer occupation and a hobby. In 1981 that hobby became a full time career.

With his wife, Jane, Sullivan opened an antique and used furniture store which was originally located at 1043 Hancock St. When he needed more space he opened a second shop on Greenwood Ave. in Wollaston.

"The store on Greenwood Ave. was very short-lived," he said. "The location wasn't right and it didn't work out."

Three years ago he moved the whole thing to his present location and is very happy with the results.

"This really is great with the traffic flow... we have all the space that we need and we have the location too," he said.

Sullivan's Corner is filled with so many eye-catching and intriguing objects that it's hard to immediately focus in on any one thing. Displayed in a kind of enduring sense of clutter, items range greatly in price, size, and age. Along with sofas and dinette sets dating back 50 to 60 years, there are framed paintings and photographs, china tea sets, ornate mirrors, delicately painted lamps and vases, vintage jewelry, and trinkets of every conceivable description. That's only what can be seen in the front room.

A back room is reserved for showcase pieces and items which require special display treatment.

"Now and then we have a bureau and mirror set that we like to set up together," Sullivan explains, "and we like to hang mirrors and paintings on the peg-board walls back here."

Downstairs is what Sullivan likes to refer to as "The bargain basement."

"This is where we keep the oldies but goodies," he says. "Things downstairs are lesser priced objects... some of the smaller, less valuable items."

A back room on the lower level is jokingly referred to as "the Bed Room," only because this is where many of the antique headboards and bedroom sets are kept.

Aside from what is housed and sold in the shop, Sullivan also holds frequent auctions where he sells his more interesting and valuable items.

A member of the Massachusetts State Auctioneers Association, Sullivan is a licensed auctioneer and, according to all who know him, an honest and fair one.

"The MSAA was very instrumental in passing the law for people in the business to be licensed by the state," he says. "Auctioneers had a reputation not unlike lawyers and used car salesmen. And, that reputation wasn't just picked up on the street, some in the business did treat people badly and unfairly. That's because before the state license law was passed, about three years ago, it was up to a little community to license someone. Now there are more regulations and higher standards."

Sullivan is also an Appraiser of Antiques, a title not requiring a license, but for which long experience, extensive knowledge and a good reputation are essential. He certainly has the qualifications.

"I'm a generalist," he says of his appraisal work. "I do 99 percent of the appraisals on my own, because I have a knowledge of the field and a great deal of experience. But for specialty items or especially unique things where I don't have expertise, then I'll bring in a specialist. For example, if someone asks me if I have expertise in 18th century art, I'll tell them I don't but I can get someone who does."

VINCENT P. SULLIVAN, owner of Sullivan's Corner in Wollaston.

Sullivan is known as a fair and honest appraiser, and a story he relates demonstrates this.

"There was an elderly woman," he says, "and she had some old paintings. They were covered with dirt and dust. Someone had offered her a few hundred dollars for them. We got her $3700."

One of the paintings was by Italian artist Cherubini and the other was what Sullivan called "an early Marine painting."

"It's those kinds of things that we feel good about," he says. "Sometimes someone can do better if we sell their items on consignment than if they sold them wholesale."

Many of the items in the shop and on auction are also sold on a consignment basis, whereby Sullivan is paid a percentage of the selling price. Despite the fee though, the above story illustrates that it's worth it.

His skills and experience as an appraiser also come into play when he is buying items for his shop or auctions.

"We buy estate contents," he explains, "and sometimes people ask for several prices and take the best bid." The bidders must have an understanding of what the contents are worth, and they must bid fairly, he notes.

"We do a lot of our buying based on our reputation," he said. "People will come to us because they know we're fair and will offer a fair bid."

Looking through estates for interesting and valuable items can sometimes seem more like the job of an archeologist than an auctioneer. That was certainly the case during one of Sullivan's estate appraisals.

"We found this little plaque a framed card that said 'This bottle contained tea from The Boston Tea Party,'" he said. "And that was in the back of a drawer in the basement. Then later, in the pantry of the same estate, we found the bottle!"

Well, treasures like that aren't found often, even in a place like Sullivan's Corner, but the shop certainly offers a unique departure from ordinary department stores for holiday shopping.

For a truly different kind of shopping outing this holiday season, Sullivan is holding his annual "Christmas Gift Auction" at the Sons of Italy Social Center, Quarry St., Dec. 6. Not only will one-of-a-kind gift items be available, but the event is an alternative to crowded stores and malls.

Sullivan's Corner accepts Visa and Master Card and is open Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and Sunday from noon to 5:30 p.m.

Mary Reilly First Woman President

Colonial Federal Savings Has Steady Growth In Assets, Service

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

Three years ago, Mary Reilly became the first woman president of a federally chartered savings bank in Massachusetts when she was elected to the position at Colonial Federal Savings Bank of Wollaston.

During her tenure, the bank has maintained its growth while continuing a tradition of serving families with a variety of financial needs. Since taking over the helm, the bank has increased its assets from $68.3 million to almost $95 million.

Furthermore, the Wollaston branch, located at 15 Beach St., underwent extensive renovations during most of 1986, a move that has greatly benefited her customers. Reilly has also continued and expanded the bank's vast array of services, ranging from first and second home mortgages to the pending installation of an automatic teller machine at the bank's East Weymouth branch.

But, the success of Colonial Federal Savings Bank is not a one-woman show and Reilly is the first to admit it. Asked about her goals as president, she is quick to point out that much of the bank's success belongs to the board of directors and her dedicated employees.

Reilly said the bank's pattern for steady growth has been set by a conservative board of directors.

"The board sets policy and we merely implement it, she said.

"Our board is a very conservative body and they want progress but they want to do it in a very prudent manner," she said.

"We've had good growth over the years. We prefer a steady flow of reliable money," she added.

The Colonial Federal Board of Directors is comprised of these officers: Robert Costello, owner of South Shore Buick, Edward J. Keohane, funeral director, Philip J. Lawrence, chairman, Nancy Smith, attorney, Darrell Roberts Jr., owner of Suburban T.V., and Reilly.

Equally important to the bank's success is the staff of 52 competent employees.

"We deal with a very loyal staff. Our senior officers are knowledgeable and aggressive and that tells the whole story," Reilly said.

As for the tellers and other employees, she said, "They are very bright and polite and without that, you don't have customers."

Other factors involved in the bank's success include careful monitoring of the nation's economy.

"The condition of the economy has a big impact. We have to act and react to changes in the economy," she said.

In addition, Colonial Federal Savings Bank is now able to write adjustable mortgage rates instead of fixed rates. "This makes us more flexible if we're faced with runaway savings rates," Reilly pointed out.

Among the many services the bank provides are: first and second home mortgages, automobile loans, student loans, direct deposit of pension, salary or social security; free notary service, home improvement loans, IRA accounts, personal money orders, wire transfers and safety deposit boxes in Wollaston and East Weymouth.

"We have an amazing repeat business. Unless they move out of the area, most of our customers return to us. That's because we are service oriented and we give them good service," Reilly said.

Colonial Federal Savings also has branch offices in Holbrook and Wareham.

Next year, the bank will celebrate 100 years of community service, a milestone Reilly is loosing milestone Reilly is looking forward to.

On April 8, 1889, the bank was originally chartered as the Wollaston Cooperative Bank and commenced business on April 16, 1889. It was located on Newport Ave. and later relocated to 80 Beale St.

On June 29, 1937 it was converted to a federally chartered institution and named Wollaston Federal Savings and Loan Association. In 1948, a corner stone was laid for the present building at 15 Beach St.

In 1971, the name was changed to Colonial Federal Savings and Loan Association of Quincy as part of its growth program. The same year, Colonial began its expansion into other areas by opening a branch at 802 South Franklin St., Holbrook. Another branch opened at Cranberry Plaza in Wareham in 1973 and another at 815 Washington St. East Weymouth. Five years ago, the name was changed to Colonial Federal Savings Bank.

For more than 40 years, Reilly has played key roles in the bank's progress. She joined the bank in April, 1945 shortly after graduating from Bridgewater State College Teachers College.

She admits that she never desired to be a teacher and instead headed towards a career in banking. She attended Bentley College, the University of Connecticut School of Executive Development, the Graduate School of Savings and Loans at the University of Indiana and the Weaver School of Real Estate.

She moved up through the ranks at Colonial Federal, becoming treasurer in 1968, vice president in 1973 and a member of the board of directors in 1979.

Reilly then made banking history when she was elected president in 1985, succeeding Philip Lawrence who retired to become chairman of the board.

"He is delightfully retired," Reilly says of her predecessor. "He and his wife travel extensively. He's a man of many hobbies. Time does not hang heavy on his hands," she said, adding that they keep in touch regularly.

For the most part, Reilly has enjoyed her tenure as president. But like any other chief executive, there have been one or two rough spots.

Two years ago, the Wollaston main office was completely renovated. During that time, Reilly encountered a few headaches, and not just of the paperwork variety.

"We completely renovated the main office which was a very difficult year. The renovations went on during business hours," she said, recalling the time when offices were relocated into the main hallway and plaster fell from ceilings and walls.

"We had a trailer in the parking lot to accommodate the loan officers because noise in here made it impossible to interview customers," she explained.

To make matters worse, she was advised that the Weymouth branch had to be moved because of the construction of Lechmere and Purity Supreme on Route 53. But the bank persevered.

"Business went on as usual. The customers were very, very tolerant and very, very patient."

"And it was worth it," Reilly said. "The facility gives us privacy and we can utilize the space to the highest potential. I think it's attractive. It's functional and takes care of people's needs with some privacy which didn't have before," she said.

As for future goals, Reilly is modest, saying she would like the bank to continue to grow in a healthy manner. In order to do that, you have to chart a course.

With Mary Reilly at the helm, Colonial Federal Savings should have plenty of smooth sailing.

'For All The Saints' First Parish Sermon Topic

"For All The Saints" is the title of the sermon that Dr. Sheldon W. Bennett, minister, will deliver during the 10:30 a.m. service this Sunday at United First Parish Church (Unitarian), "Church of the Presidents."

Norman Corey, Music Director, will play organs solo by Brahms, Walcha, Peeters and Bach.

Visitors are welcome and are invited to attend the Social Hour following the service. Molly Bennett is the hostess.

Historic First Parish Church dates from 1636. Unitarian since 1750, the church continues as a leader in liberal religion. It is the church of the Presidents John Adams and John Quincy Adams, whose granite tombs stand in a stone crypt within the church, with those of their wives, Abigail and Louisa Catherine.

The church is located in Quincy Center at 1306 Hancock St. (opposite City Hall). Sunday services and the Church School are at 10:30 a.m. and child care is provided. Please call 773-1290 for further information.

All Saints Sunday At Wollaston Congregational

All Saints Sunday - "Celebration of The Saints" will be observed at the Wollaston Congregational Church, Lincoln and Winthrop Aves., Oct. 30.

Rev. Elden D.J. Zuern will preach 2 sermon entitled "Be A Saint."

Everyone attending the service is asked to bring a bell - large or small. The Chime Ringers, under the direction of organist Donald A. Reade, will participate in the service. Lay scripture reader will be Peg Sandahl and the acolyte, Mark Mauriello. Greeters will be Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Stentford. Ushers will be Nancy Sheehan and Gilda Knowles.

Nursery care for infants and toddlers is provided. Church school for grades 1-12 is held from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m.

A fellowship hour follows the service to which members, guests and friends are invited.

On Saturday, Oct. 29 at 7 p.m. in the parish hall, Harry Towle will be presented the highest award in Boy Scouts, the Eagle Rank. A reception will be held immediately following in the social hall.

A Halloween Party will be held Sunday Oct. 30 from 4 to 5:30 p.m. Children should come in costume. Ages welcome are 8 years and under accompanied by a parent.

Apostle Thomas Sermon Topic At Covenant Congregational

At the 10:45 a.m. worship service at Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts., Quincy, Sunday, Rev. Fred Lawson will continue his series of sermons about the twelve disciples.

His subject will be "Thomas: Changed From Doubt to Faith."

Sunday School will begin at 9:30 a.m. with classes for ages nursery through adult. All members and their friends are invited to a Halloween costume party at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 29.

The choir will be directed by Richard Smith, minister of music.

Greeters will be Nancy and Don Johnson. During the service, a nursery is available for children age five and under. The attendant will be Lori Anne Facella. Junior church will be led by Linda Day for children up to age twelve.

On Sunday afternoon Rev. Lawson will lead a devotional service at the Swedish Home in West Newton. Anyone interested in attending should contact the church office.

Bethany Church Tower Rededicated Sunday

The historic 134 foot tower of Bethany Church, originally constructed in 1928, has been restored and will be rededicated Sunday, Oct. 30.

The celebration will take place at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary of Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center. The community is invited.

The tower has been designated as an historic landmark. The gargoyles jutting from the top four corners are the largest in Massachusetts.

At the 10 a.m. service Joyce I. Baker, chairman of the Quincy Historical District Commission, will give remarks on behalf of the community. Donald E. Kent, chairman of the Tower Restoration Fund Committee, will speak for the congregation.

Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach a sermon on "What Mean These Stones?" Louise B. Forsyth, moderator of the Church, will serve as lay scripture reader. The associate minister, Rev. Joel F. Huntington will lead the congregation in the Litany of Rededication.

Special music will be provided by trumpeters and organist Charles J. Blue. An augmented Chancel Choir will present two anthems, "Now Thank We All Our God" and "Alleluia" both arranged by J.S. Bach.

Following the worship service a fellowship hour with refreshments, hosted by the Deacons of the Church, will be held in the Allen Parlor. Also mini-tours of the tower and repaired areas of the Church will be conducted by members of the Tower Restoration Committee.

The Tower Committee members are Donald Kent, chairman; Win Bettinson, chairman of special gifts; Jean Smart, treasurer; Louise Forsyth, moderator; Robert DelVecchio, Gilbert FitzGerald, Russell Hodgkins, Sandra Jones, Roberta Murphy, Kathryn Roberts, Jean Ross, and Rev. Arnold.

The campaign to raise funds to save and restore the tower was initiated in the fall of 1987 with a goal of $125,000. A total of 498 persons and organizations contributed $137,960, of which $91,831 came from members of the congregation and $46,129 from the community.

A bronze plaque has been placed near the first floor Tower Room recognizing those donors who have given $1,000 or more. Gargoyle paperweight mementoes will be given to those who have contributed $250 or more.

The restoration work on the tower was done by the George Burgess Co. of Hingham. Additional interior repair work, due to extensive water damage has been completed in the hallway, kitchen, upstairs classroom and the library. William F. Greene, co-chairman of the Prudential Committee, served as "clerk-of-the-works" overseeing the restoration and repairs.

The public is cordially invited to attend and join with the congregation in the rededication celebration and the fellowship hour following.

The service will be broadcast live direct from the Bethany sanctuary at 10 a.m. over South Shore radio, WJDA, 1300 kc.

For additional information about this service or any of Bethany's programs and ministries, please contact the church office at 479-7300.

Rev. Joseph Veneto At Blessed Sacrament Church

Rev. Joseph P. Veneto has joined the parish staff at Most Blessed Sacrament Church, as senior priest in residence.

This is a return to Quincy for Fr. Veneto who was a curate in 1958 at St. Boniface Church, Germantown, when the church was officially dedicated by Cardinal Richard J. Cushing.

Ordained in 1946, Fr. Veneto for the past 12 years has been pastor of one of the largest parishes in the North Shore, St. Anthony of Padua, Revere.

Rev. Denis O'Driscoll was assigned as pastor at Most Blessed Sacrament Church several months ago, succeeding the Rev. James Hart

Taleb Grotto Worship Service At Houghs Neck Congregational

Taleb Grotto will revive a tradition of participating as a group in church worship Sunday, Oct. 30, at Houghs Neck Congregational Church. Prior to the one service of worship, the men will be serving breakfast in Fellowship Hall at 9 a.m. at $3. for adults. They will serve children under 12 who are accompanied by an adult free of charge. The proceeds will be given to the church.

There will be one service of worship at 10:30 a.m. in which the Grotto Brass Choir will take part, with Stanley Trask as soloist. There will also be special music by the Houghs Neck Congregational Church choir.

Breakfast reservations may be made by calling Stanley Younie at 472-1936.

There will be no church school classes that day.

Quincy 29, Brookline 8

Presidents Ready For Weymouth N. Friday

By TOM SULLIVAN
Two weeks ago Quincy's football team gained over 500 yards, including 375 on 17 Chris Noble passes, but the Presidents' worst defensive game of the year resulted in 43 points for Newton North and a 43-26 win.

Things were far different last Friday night when Quincy turned in its finest two-way effort in two years as it upset Brookline, 29-8, at Veterans memorial Stadium to end a four-game losing streak and improve to 2-4.

The Presidents face a tough hurdle Friday night when it hosts Weymouth North, a former Suburban League rival now in the Old Colony League, at 7 p.m. at the stadium.

The Maroons, who defeated the winless Presidents, 33-8, last year, bring a 4-2 record into Friday night's game.

Coach Jack Raymer changed his offense last week, stressing the ground game instead of the air route, usually Quincy's main weapon. It paid off as the Presidents had their finest running game in two years, rushing for 217 yards and eating up much time on the clock. They ground out 17 first downs.

Jim Dennett had his best game since the opener at Cambridge, rushing for 124 yards, while Peter Oliveri had his best night with 86 yards and a touchdown. Noble, who threw 30 passes at Newton, was six for 12 and 100 yards and his 11th touchdown pass of the season.

Scott Grant was on the receiving end of four passes for 83 yards and a touchdown.

Brookline's Geoff Gamere, who scored all four touchdowns in the Indians' 29-0 win earlier over North Quincy, was bottled up by the vastly improved Quincy defense, as was the entire Brookline offense. Gamere was held to just 32 yards.

"This was a great turnaround and the defense was immense after its poor showing at Newton," said Raymer. "Give defensive coach John Taglieri credit for that. We got great efforts from everybody all the way around and it just goes to show what we are really capable of doing."

Quincy's offensive line did a tremendous job of clearing the way for Dennett and Oliveri and giving Noble good protection on his passes.

Raymer singled out Tony Madden, Don Hamilton, Dave Zupkofska, Tom Morrell, Joe Baker, Brian Norris, Dan Hanly, Todd Kimmell and Grant for their work on offense.

"Dennett and Oliveri ran very well," Raymer said. "Dennett has had an excellent season and has rushed for about 500 yards. He is a fine pass receiver and has been on the receiving end of many of Noble's passes."

The defense did a tremendous job and Norris had a particularly outstanding game. "He had a dozen tackles and five assists and put continual pressure on their quarterback," said Raymer. "A really pleasant surprise was Allan Spaur, a junior playing his first game. He had two quarterback sacks and did a fine job."

Raymer praised Morrell, Hanly, Norris, Baker, Frank Ienello, Kimmell and Dave Nourse as well as defensive backs Scott Campbell, Marc Miele, Scott O'Brien, Ennio Eleuteri and Grant.

Late in the first quarter Quincy took over on its own 32 following a punt. Led by Dennett and Oliveri, the Presidents drove 68 yards on 12 plays, 10 of them running plays, and Oliveri scored from the three early in the second quarter. Norris kicked the extra point. Quincy clicked off four first downs on the drive.

Brookline staged its best drive of the game following the kickoff and drove to a first down on Quincy's two. During the drive Campbell and Eleuteri broke up Brookline passes.

The Presidents dug in and three passes went incomplete, the final one being knocked down by Grant and Quincy took over on the eight.

"This was a big stand for us as we came out in the second half and quickly scored our second touchdown," Raymer said.

The Presidents began on their 42 after taking the second half kickoff and Grant returning the kick from his 20. Dennett and Oliveri again sparked the drive and Dennett raced 44 yards to the Brookline two from where Nourse came in and scored. The kick was no good and Quincy led, 13-0.

Brookline then drove 56 yards for its only score. After Kimmell had knocked down a pass, Michael Chamberlain

Quincy Freshmen Drop First To Brookline

The Quincy freshman football team suffered its first loss of the season, 12-6, to Brookline last week, dropping its record to 4-1.

Most of the action took place in between the 40-yard lines with both teams playing hard all the way.

Brookline scored first and Quincy answered with a 55-yard touchdown run by Capt. Jason Anderson, who had rushed for 212 yards in his previous game. He leads the team in scoring with 34 points.

"Jason was hurt on the first play from scrimmage, suffering a hip pointer, but he continued to play," said coach Earl Metzler. "He has a lot of heart."

Late in the second quarter Brookline scored on a long pass play to go ahead to stay.

"They beat us off the ball and in the trenches," said Metzler. "That had been the strong part of our attack, but not in this game. All along we felt Brookline would be our toughest opponent other than North Quincy and it was. Defensively we played well, but we couldn't move the ball, although we had ample chances."

Quincy showed a lot of character, stopping Brookline constantly in the second half. Defensive standouts were Mike Malvesti, Peter Eleuteri, Jason Eleuteri, and Ali Sleiman.

Gary Collins played well at quarterback and had some long punts to push Brookline back.

"We hadn't turned the ball over all year and today we turned it over five times," said Metzler. "It was a very tough game to lose, but these kids have a lot of pride and we will bounce back."

The young Presidents will try to get back on track Friday when they play at Weymouth North.

Youth Soccer Tryouts Rescheduled

Last Saturday's high winds and rain forced the Quincy Youth Soccer League to cancel most of its travel team tryout sessions. Here are the revised tryout schedules.

Today (Thursday) the boys under 14 team will hold a tryout at Atlantic Middle School at 5 p.m. The team will also hold its second tryout tomorrow, also at Atlantic and also at 5 p.m.

Saturday the tryout schedule is as follows:

Boys under 10 at 9 a.m. at Varsity Field; boys under 16, Division II team, 10 a.m. at O'Rourke Field; girls under 12 at 2 p.m. at Atlantic Middle School; girls under 16 at 3 p.m. at Atlantic Middle School; boys under 16, Division I team, 3:30 p.m. at Varsity Field; and girls under 14 at 4 p.m. at O'Rourke Field.

On Sunday the boys under 16 Division II team will hold its tryout at 10 a.m. at O'Rourke Field and the boys under 19 team will hold its tryout at 9:30 a.m. at Varsity Field.

Middle School Westling Program Revived

The Quincy middle school wrestling program has been revived after a seven-year absence.

The junior high program, along with other junior high sports, was phased out of the budget in 1981 due to proposition 2½.

The new program was initiated by Supt. Robert Ricci, who has a strong wrestling background in Rhode Island.

The middle school program will benefit the Quincy and North Quincy High programs, serving as a feeder for the high schools.

"Skills learned at this level greatly enhance sorely missed talent at the freshmen level in the high schools," said Quincy High coach Lou Venturini.

Wrestling is available to all students in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades and practices are held two or three days a week.

Saturday morning dual meets are held at 10 a.m. at Broad Meadows Middle School and a city championship meet will be held at BM on Nov. 5. Weight classes range from 80 pounds up through 155 and unlimited heavyweight.

The program was intentionally started in the fall so that high school caliber coaches would be available to coach.

Three of the four coaches are currently involved in the high school programs and the fourth has been a mainstay of the past junior high program.

Coaching at Atlantic is Richard Ragusa, assistant North Quincy High coach, assisted by former wrestlers Jay Pollard, William Lee and Dave Goon, all on a voluntary basis.

Central is coached by Quincy High assistant Joseph

Souza, assisted by his brother, Al, a current junior star at Quincy.

Sterling is coached by Venturini, assisted by current QHS wrestler Tom Burton and former two-time sectional champion Robert Cabezas.

Robert Meadows, the perennial powerhouse of city wrestling, is coached by John Bogan, former Quincy High assistant football coach and a physical education instructor at BM. BM has by far the largest squad with 68 boys.

The first dual meets were held recently with John Palma and Brian Laird doing the refereeing.

Broad Meadows defeated Atlantic, 35-18, and Central defeated Sterling, 45-12.

The Broad Meadows wrestlers are 6th grade, Martin Cloonan, Kevin Nichol, Roger Johnson, Jason Beauvais, Chris McPartlin, Fred M. Corson III, John Richards, Mark Smith, Kevin Nichol, Christopher Gas, Thomas J. Clark, Robert Demers, J. Matthew Strauchon, Matthew Maglio, Antwon Brown, Christopher White and Giompero Bonsignore.

Seventh grade: Michael Bartlett, Kevin Gomez, Jackie Sapienza, Ashley Davis, Mike Leuchte, Timmy Dowling, Michael Kane, Jimmy Hogrell, Doug Nolan, Brian McPartlin, Joseph Kelly, Richard Howard Jr., Peter Penwarden, Scott Graham, Donald Bullens, Matthew Chenette, Marc Quigley, Bernardo Luggelle, Dong-Khoa Pham, Scott Joyce, Paul Frost, Steven Orsino, Joseph Winchell and Michael Dutton.

Eighth grade: Steve Uvanitte, Eddie Kenney, Sam McArdle, Mike Gardner, Tim

Byrne, Mike Gomez, Mike

North Girls Outswim Cambridge Rindge

The North Quincy girls' swim team defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 92-80, last Friday to improve its record to 8-3.

Bill Walker's Raiderettes, who faced Waltham Tuesday, will wind up the regular season Friday at 6 p.m. when they face the Quincy girls in their annual meet at the Lincoln-Hancock School Pool.

The girls will compete in the Suburban League diving championships next Thursday, Nov. 3 at Newton North.

Debbie Ramos and Claire McCarthy were double winners in addition to swimming on the winning 400 free style relay team in the victory over Cambridge.

Ramos won the 50 free style (28.05) and the 100 free style (1:01.2).

McCarthy won the 200 freestyle (2:23.4) and 500 free style (6:30.9).

Swimming with Ramos and McCarthy on the relay team (4:25.5) were Blythe Bumpus and Beth Hughes.

Other North winners were Hughes, 100 backstroke (1:16.5) and Renee Robichaud, diving (151.45 points).

Placing second were Bumpus, 50 free style and 100 free style and Sarah Harrington, 100 butterfly.

Taking third places were Sherrin Quintiliani, 500 free style; Harrington, 200 individual medley and Christine Calnan, 100 butterfly.

Earlier in the week North lost to Brookline, 90-74 despite Ramos setting a school record of 6:05.6 in her first try at the 500 free style. She finished second. Brookline, one of the top teams in the league, improved to 9-1 with the win.

North Quincy winners were Joanna Vermette in the 100 backstroke (1:24.2), Maria Passalacqua in the 100 breaststroke (1:33.9), Robichaud in diving (146.65 points) and the 400 free style relay team of Bumpus, Harrington, Vermette and McCarthy (4:46.3).

Taking seconds were Ramos, 50 free style and 500 free style; McCarthy 100 backstroke and Lesley Mahoney, 100 breaststroke.

Placing third were Laura Dawson, 100 backstroke and Becky McCosh, 100 breaststroke.

Squantum's Flaherty Receives First Alfred Jago Award

Dan Flaherty of North Quincy, junior commodore of Squantum Yacht Club, received the first Alfred F. Jago Memorial Award for the outstanding junior sailor overall performance at the annual club awards presentation.

The award was inaugurated this year in memory of the late Alfred F. Jago, a life member of the Squantum club and an avid boatsman.

Among Flaherty's achievements this year while sailing his N-10 class turnabout "Under the Rainbow" included the national N-10 junior championship, Squantum Yacht Club Commodore and Vice-commodore trophies, first place in the James Gerry Memorial series, Saturday series, summer mini-series, junior series, and tied for first place in the Labor Day weekend series.

He also received the Chic Graf Trophy for placing the highest of SYC boats in Quincy Bay Race Week's N-10 Blue Fleet for the second year in a row, second place in the club's twilight series and ladies auxiliary series, and third place in the New England N-10 championships and Lipton Cup Regatta.

Flaherty, a junior at Don Bosco Technical High School in Boston, is a member of its soccer, swimming and sailing teams and is also an avid skier.

Next year he will be moving up to the 420 Class.

Mite II Team Edged In Opener

Quincy's Mite II hockey team lost its Greater Boston League opener to South Boston, 4-3, but turned in an excellent all-around performance at South Boston's Murphy rink.

Dennis Allen, playing his first game ever in goal, played an outstanding game, robbing South Boston of many scoring goals. Kevin Regan scored all three goals, including one unassisted. Paul Markarian and Matt Flynn had assists.

Head coach Ron McGinn, who is assisted by Bill Griffin and Paul Flynn, credited the team's effort both offensively and defensively. "The team played well-disciplined, positional hockey and showed a lot of hustle," he said.

Basketball Registration At Blessed Sacrament Church

The Most Blessed Sacrament Church will hold registration for the YMCA girls' basketball league tonight (Thursday) from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. in the church hall.

A $15 registration fee will be required. Girls registering for the first time will need to bring a birth certificate with them. Girls from the ages 8 to 17 years of age are urged to join.

Team coaches and volunteers to referee games are needed. Call Hank Dondoro at 479-7507 for additional details.

passed to Matt Maroney for 12 yards and a touchdown. On a fake kick for the point, Gamere, the holder, passed to Maroney for the two points and Quincy's lead was cut to five points.

Quincy came right back and drove 71 yards with Noble hitting Grant for 47 yards to Brookline's 13. Noble climaxed the drive by sneaking over from the one. Quincy copied Brookline's point try and Norris faked the kick and Noble passed to O'Brien for the two points.

Quincy got a break on its final touchdown in the final quarter. Noble punted into the end zone but a penalty against Brookline gave the ball back to the Presidents. With fourth down and 18, Noble hit Grant with a fine pass up the middle and Grant went in from the five to score. Noble rushed for the game's final two points.

In the final minutes sophomore Mike Flavin was inserted at quarterback and junior Steve O'Donoghue carried three for good yardage for the Presidents. Quincy had the ball back as a result of Hanly recovering a fumble on Brookline's 42.

North Quincy 20, Revere 6

Raiders Unleash Bulldozer Named Craig

North Quincy fullback Ryan Craig had the best game of his career last Friday night as he ran for 239 yards and a touchdown as the Raiders defeated a stubborn, winless Revere team, 20-6, at Revere to even their record at 3-3.

North will be favored to get its fourth win Saturday afternoon when it meets winless Cambridge Rindge and Latin at 1:30 p.m. at Russell Field in Cambridge.

The Warriors have lost to Quincy, Arlington, Newton North, Waltham, Brookline and Brockton. North won last year, 28-14.

"It is hard to get the kids up when they play a team that hasn't won (Revere now has lost 17 games in a row)," said North coach Ken McPhee. "I hope they realize after getting a tough fight from Revere they can't take anything for granted and that they will be up for Cambridge."

Craig, despite missing one game, is back in top form and appears headed for a 1000-yard season as he has rushed for 680 yards with four games to go.

Revere surprised the Raiders by trailing by only one point at halftime. It wasn't until Sean McDonough intercepted a pass and returned it for a score with 1:34 left that North was home free.

North gained over 300 yards to just 130 for Revere and had 15 first downs to nine, but three times was stopped inside the Patriots' 10-yard line.

Kevin MacDougall was outstanding on defense as he knocked down two passes and had six unassisted tackles in addition to returning punts.

Also shining on defense were McDonough, Sean Glennon, Brian Tobin, Tim Baker, Dan Gilmartin, Keith Gott, Craig and Mike Ainsley. "Craig and Ainsley were again super as line backers," McPhee said.

The offensive line did a fine job with Ainsley, Baker, who caught a pass for his first touchdown, Brian Healy, Dave Joyce, Glennon, Brian Mahoney and Alex Malasi standing out.

"Bill MacDougall played another fine game at quarterback," said McPhee. "He completed four passes, one for a score, but four other strikes were dropped by the receivers. He ran the team well."

North scored first with 3:15 left in the opening quarter as MacDougall hit Baker for the touchdown, the play covering 42 yards. Dave Hutchings kicked the extra point.

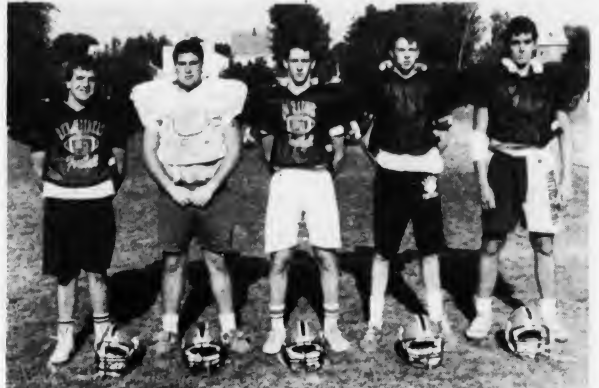

The drive covered 75 yards in six plays, with Craig picking up 25 yards on three carries.

Revere staged its only sustained drive in the second quarter, covering 52 yards in 12 plays. JoJo Giordano scored from the four, but a rush for the two go-ahead points was stopped by Joyce.

On the final play of the third quarter Craig raced 41 yards for a touchdown and Hutchings again kicked the point.

McDonough intercepted a screen pass and ran it back 21 yards for the final touchdown which clinched the victory.

Koch Club Basketball Starts 40th Season Nov. 3

The Koch Club youth basketball program will open its 40th season on Thursday, Nov. 3 at 6:30 p.m. at the Atlantic Middle School gym. The program will run until March 2.

Children ages 7-12 are invited to register. Those 7-9 will play Thursday evenings from 6:30 to 7:30; those 10-12 will play from 7:30 to 8:00.

Although teams will be formed each week, the program emphasizes enjoyment and good sportsmanship over competition. Everyone who registers plays, regardless of ability.

Registration fee is $2 per child, plus a $1 weekly fee to pay for the use of the gym.

The program is run by Simone Leary, assisted by Ed Leary, David Barnes, Mike Bowes, Tom Bowes and Robert Woods.

Additional coaches are needed and anyone wishing to help is asked to come on Nov. 3 or call Woods at 328-2104 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. or 770-1231 after 6 p.m.

North Freshmen Romp Over Weymouth N.

By PETE ZOIA

The North Quincy freshman football team kept rolling last week with an easy 38-6 victory over Weymouth North to improve its record to 5-1.

All four starting backs had a hand in the scoring for the young Raiders.

Mark Cocuzzo and Chris Murray each scored two touchdowns and Desmond Belott returned a punt 66 yards for a score.

Cocuzzo went 47 yards to start the scoring in the opening quarter and also rushed for the two-point conversion.

Weymouth North was unable to muster any kind of an attack due to the outstanding defense of Dave Raftery, Paul Havey, Mark Keliher, Chris McCallum, Brendan O'Connell and Chris Campbell.

Belott's long punt return and another rush for the extra points gave North a 16-0 lead after a quarter.

In the opening minutes of the second quarter a Weymouth fumble was recovered by Murray who, on the next play, weaved his way for 25 yards and his first touchdown. Sergi Wasseliev, the North quarterback, added the two-point conversion for his first points of the year.

In the third quarter Weymouth intercepted a pass on the Raiders' 48. After two short gains, North's O'Connell recovered another Weymouth fumble. Cocuzzo raced 37 yards to the 13. Belott added eight yards and Murray scored from the five. Wasseliev passed to Murray for the two points.

The strong North line blocked a Weymouth punt in the final quarter and Cocuzzo scored on a 28-yard run.

Weymouth then drove 62 yards for its only score in the closing minutes.

"Again we were able to get everyone into the game," said coach Kevin Kelly. Ed Shine and Cass Jae, who missed the game with injuries, will return to action Friday when North faces Cambridge Rindge and Latin.

DiTullio Team Leads St. John's

Art DiTullio's team leads St. John's Holy name Bowling League with a 14-4 record, followed by Tom Feltrup's team and John Grande's team at 10-8.

The rest of the standings: Bob Saluti, 8-10; Joe Matarazzo, 6-12; Lew MacLennan, 6-12.

Dan Dieso rolled the weekly high single of 118 and Grande bowled 116. Grande had the high three of 325 and Saluti had 322.

Grande's team had the high team single of 489 and Saluti had 461. Grande's team also had the high three of 1389.

The Top Ten: Grande, 102.67; Saluti, 102.11; Feltrup, 95.5; Charlie O'Brien, 95.3; Dieso, 95.3; Richie Warner, 93.56; MacLennan, 91.0; DiTullio, 89.4; Matarazzo, 89.2; Bud McAllister, 88.3.

North Girls Defeat Quincy

The North Quincy girls' volleyball team avenged an earlier defeat and defeated the Quincy girls, 20-0 (15-7, 15-11) Monday night before a packed house at the Vo-Tech gym.

Both teams are 14-2 and tied for the Suburban League lead with two matches to go. The two may meet again in the state tournament, which opens Nov. 4.

The North girls faced Brookline yesterday (Wednesday) and will complete the regular season with a home match Friday against Cambridge Rindge and Latin. Quincy met Waltham yesterday and winds up the regular season Friday at Newton South.

"Our girls were really up for this match," said North coach Jim Rendle. "They played extremely well and I don't think the Quincy girls played their best game. It was a fine match and both of our teams are looking forward to the state tournament."

The teams faced each other the past two years in the tournament. Last year the North girls, undefeated state champions, eliminated Quincy.

Deirdre Murphy and Karen Reister did some fine setting and serving for North and Holly Rendle was outstanding.

For Tom Henderson's Quincy team Christine Barrett did some excellent setting and serving and Amy Guidice again played well.

Last Friday the Raiderettes defeated Boston Latin, 2-0 (15-3, 15-9) with Reister, Kara

Sullivan and Rendle standing out.

Quincy defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 2-0 (15-4, 15-3) with Guidice, Barrett and Nancy Laitinen leading the way.

Earlier in the week Newton North upset North Quincy, 2-1 (15-12, 14-16, 15-11).

Quincy defeated Brookline, 2-0 (15-5, 15-3), sparked by the strong offensive and defensive play of Guidice and Laitinen.

North Girls Force Undeclared Waltham To Tie

The North Quincy girls' cross country team turned in an outstanding performance last week as it forced undefeated Waltham to come from behind to get a 28-28 tie in a Suburban League meet over the Pageant Field course.

Sherrin Quintiliani of North won the meet in 15:16. Waltham had the next two finishers, followed by North's Bridget Toland, fourth, and Karen Cashman, fifth. Joanne Moriarty was seventh and Adrienne Mercier 11th for the Raiderettes.

"Our young and inexperienced runners' early race toughness surprised Waltham as it had to come from behind in the late stages of the race to settle for a tie," said North coach Jeff Hennessy. "Let's just say they were lucky to get the tie."

Quintiliani improved her record to 3-1.

"Waltham saw the tie as an upset as it was expecting to win," said Hennessy. "The tie forced it to relinquish first place to Newton North. I felt our girls did very well against stacked odds. We've learned to win, now we need to learn how to race, and that comes from experience."

North is now 2-1-1 and Waltham stands at 4-0-1. The Raiderettes faced Quincy Tuesday and will travel to Cambridge Rindge and Latin Friday for their final dual meet.

Sailors Sink Apaches

By STEVE KAVANAGH

The Squantum Sailors turned the tables on the North Quincy Apaches, trouncing NQ 20-8. The Apaches had beaten the Sailors earlier this season by the same score.

The victory puts the Sailors a half-game behind the second-place Apaches in the Quincy Youth Football League standings. Each team has two games left to play in the regular season and all four teams have a chance at earning a bid to the championship game.

The Houghs Neck Manets have already clinched a spot, but the second berth could be filled by the Apaches, Sailors or the Quincy Point Panthers.

The Panthers will try to stay alive when they collide with the Sailors Sunday at 1 p.m. The Apaches will have their hands full when they meet the unbeaten Manets at 2:30 p.m. The varsity doubleheader will be played at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

North Quincy picked up where it left off against the Sailors, as Adam Fitzpatrick scored on an eight-yard run and quarterback Derek Thompson passed to end Jay Shaw for the two-point conversion. The Apaches led 8-0 in the first quarter but after that it was all Sailors.

Squantum's Tom Nutley scored on a 55-yard run in the second quarter cutting the lead to 8-6.

In the third quarter Dave

Reinhardt hauled in a 40-yard touchdown pass on a halfback option play to Nutley. The scoring strike gave the Sailors a 12-6 lead.

Squantum put the game out of reach in the fourth quarter when quarterback Greg Burke plunged into the end zone from two yards out. Nutley rushed for the two-point conversion to make the score 20-8.

The Sailor offensive line of Matt Levering, Matt Walsh, Rick McVinish, Joe Powers, and Wayne Weikel had a good day. Ends Mike Kates and Reinhardt also excelled.

On defense the Sailors were paced by Bill Degan, Nutley, Powers, Walsh, Sean Skahan and Phil Pacino.

The Apaches got good efforts from Pat Riley, Mark Sinclair, Nick Mastrogiacomo, Willie O'Connell, Fitzpatrick, Shaw, Josh Gott, Eric Kane, and Sean Halpin.

In junior varsity play, the Panthers knocked off the previously unbeaten West Quincy Elks, 16-8.

The Panthers went out in front 2-0 on the strength of a safety. On the ensuing free kick, Quincy Point's Mark Lomanno raced 45 yards for a touchdown. Quarterback Jason Simon added the two-point conversion on a bootleg and the Panthers suddenly led 10-0.

In the third quarter, Lomanno scored again on a 25-yard sweep.

The Panther defense held the Elk offense in check until the final play of the game. The Elks held the ball deep in their own territory when Joe Cirrello passed to Tom King who raced the length of the field for a touchdown. The Elks were successful on the two-point conversion.

The Panthers received fine defensive play from Mark Willis, Rob Willis, Tom Foley (fumble recovery), and Keith Martinson. Noel DiBona played well offensively.

The Elks got good efforts from Mike Elder, John Fraiser, Brendan Brack, Bill Morrissey, Mark Nutley, Tom Malvesti, Mark Thibeault and Jason Fennessey.

Colonial, Bersani Tied For Top

Colonial Federal and Bersani Brothers are tied for first place in the Pee Wee House League with 1-0-1 records.

Bersani tied Keohane's, 3-3 with Joe Koceniak scoring twice and Kevin Boylen once for Bersani. Jay Borden, David Pacino and Mike Dern had assists. Brian Wood had two goals and Joe McPhee one for Keohane's. Scott MacPherson and Andrew Vermette had assists.

Colonial Federal edged UCI, 5-4, as Brian Sullivan had a hat trick and Eric Kreuz and Marc Glennon a goal each. Mike Smith had two assists and Mike McKinnon, Danny Morrell, Glennon, Steve Miller and Derek Mullen one each. John Wettergreen, Leo Hughes, Billy Coughlin and Jeff Craig had the UCI goals and Hughes, Travis Greenwood, Joe Carinci and Coughlin had assists.

$1,000 Anonymous Donation Launches Point Panthers Drive

The Quincy Point Panther cheerleaders received their first donation towards their goal of the National Cheerleaders championship in Dallas, Tex.

A $1,000 anonymous donation was received to kick off their $10,000 fund-raising drive over the next six weeks. The deadline for entering the championships is Dec. 1.

The Panthers, who recently won the New England championship and will be the junior high-age representative in the nationals Dec. 27-30, also received the following contributions:

Beacon Sporting Goods, Derbes Brothers Construction, 3 n 1 Variety, Williams Roche family and North Quincy Apache fan.

A committee has been formed of coaches, parents and boosters to support the girls in this once-in-a-lifetime chance. As members of the Quincy Youth football League, the Panthers' team is independently operated and does not have any sponsors.

Therefore, the 14-member squad has hopes of obtaining contributions to defray the cost of their trip.

PANTHER cheerleader Christine Curran, a seventh grader at St. Joseph's School, accepts a donation from Anthony Damata, owner of 3 n 1 Variety Store on Palmer St. Damata operates the store with his wife Peggy.

Along with their two remaining regular-season games, the girls must juggle fund-raising and practices. Then a 2½-minute routine of national caliber just be mastered.

The girls were recently featured on WJDA Radio's Evening Program and will appear on Quincy Sun Channel 26 news.

Donations can be mailed to Quincy Point Panthers, 31 Temple Street, Suite 225, Quincy 02169.

Doran & Horrigan Holds Slim Lead

Doran & Horrigan holds a one-point lead in the Squirt House League following a 4-2 victory over Johnson Motor Parts.

Tom Moriarty had two goals and Dan Donahue and Jamie Murphy one each. Danny Stone and Murphy had assists. Brendan O'Brien scored both Johnson goals and Paul Princiotto and Eric Griffin had assists.

Burgin Platner topped the Quincy Sun, 4-1, as Mike Ryan scored twice and Robbie Pirelli and Robbie Callow once each. J.J.

Farrell, Chris Halpin, Tommy Sullivan, John Ryan and Mike Balducci had assists. Chris Grant scored for the Sun and Jenna Nolan and Eric Wood assisted.

In the league openers Doran & Horrigan tied the Sun, 4-4. Moriarty had two goals and Stone and Murphy one each. Bill Barron had two assists and Murphy, Bruce Stenberg and Stone one apiece. Chris McArdle, Tim Wood, Chris Geary and Eric Wood scored for the Sun and Eric Joyce had two assists and Eric Wood and McArdle one each.

Johnson topped Burgin Platner, 6-3, sparked by O'Brien's four goals. Robbie Winter and John Manning had one each. Jason Fennelly had two assists and Manning, Matt Logan, Griffin, Princiotto and Winter one each. Ryan had two goals and Farrell one for Burgin. Pirelli and Matt Radzevich had assists.

The standings: Doran & Horrigan, 1-0-1; Johnson, 1-1-0; Burgin Platner, 1-1-0; Quincy Sun, 0-1-1.

Martin Off To Good Start

Martin Plumbing took over first place in the Mite House League with a 1-0 victory over Newcomb Farms, its second win in a row.

Danny Murphy scored the goal and Jacob Fleming and Joey Ardagna had assists. Goalie Chris Carthas earned the shutout.

Lydon-Russell and Rogan

Hennessy tied, 4-4. Jason Smith, Jon Haddad, Matt Allen and Kevin Regan scored for Lydon and Matthew Hill, Regan, Robert spavento, Justing Doty, Robert Harvey, Smith and Chad Fitzpatrick had assists. Lenny Wallace, Chris Haidul, Brad Macauley and John Barron scored for Rogan and Brian Quinn, Billy Connolly, Mark Glynn and Tim Lewis had assists.

Balducci's edged the Paul Harold club, 2-1, on goals by Pat McGann and Chris DiMattia. DiMattia added an assist. Nick Pizziferri scored for Harold and Ryan Krueger assisted.

Jo Anne Hernon To Compete In Miss Massachusetts Pageant

Jo Anne Hernon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hernon of 176 Farrington St., Quincy, has been selected as an entrant in the 1989 Miss Massachusetts--USA Pageant.

The state pageant will be held at the Sheraton Lincoln Grand Ballroom in Worcester on Nov. 25-27. The pageant will select the Massachusetts representative to the Miss USA Pageant to be televised nationally by CBS in February.

The Miss USA Pageant will be staged by Miss Universe, Inc., a subsidiary of Paramount Pictures.

Miss Hernon, who was selected as an entrant-at-large, will compete with girls from all over the state for the title of Miss Massachusetts--USA.

A graduate of North Quincy High School, she is employed as a representative secretary at the State House.

One of the requirements of the Miss Massachusetts--USA Pageant is that each entrant wear a costume descriptive of the town or area that she represents. Jo Anne plans to wear an outfit which is representative of the "City of Presidents."

JO ANNE HERNON

The Miss Massachusetts--USA Pageant is the official preliminary to the Miss USA--Miss Universe Pageant.

Miss Hernon is being sponsored by the Winfield Tree Lot, her uncle, Julio Leone and family and friends.

Kevin Kelley Plays Bush In School Presidential Debate

Kevin Kelley, age 11, of Quincy, recently participated in a student "presidential debate" put on by fourth, fifth, and sixth grade students at the Thatcher Montessori School in Milton.

Kelley portrayed Vice President George Bush while Matthew Hamer, age 10, played his running mate, Senator Dan Quayle. The Democratic ticket was represented by Geoffrey Thompson, age 10, as Governor Michael Dukakis and Christopher Labbe, 10, as Senator Lloyd Bentsen.

Other classmates served as journalists to complete the authenticity of the earlier debate.

Candidates received a real feel for what it is like to be asked questions on the spot about the homeless. The deficit and drugs. If the candidates did not answer sufficiently enough the journalists then asked how the program would be implemented.

What was the most difficult aspect about answering questions from the journalists?

"Being asked so many times about being able to take over as president," said Chris Labbe (Bentsen).

N.Q. Seniors Plan Card Party

The North Quincy Senior Citizens Club will hold its monthly card party today (Thursday) at 1 p.m. at the Methodist Church, 40 Beale

Witches Mansion At Woodward School This Weekend

The Woodward Parents group is sponsoring a Witches Mansion--A House of Horrors for the children of Quincy and surrounding communities this weekend at the Woodward School of Girls, 1102 Hancock St., Quincy.

The mansion will be open Friday, from 6 to 10 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 29, noon to 10 p.m. and Sunday, Oct. 30 from 3 to 9 p.m.

Admission is $3 without coupon. For group rates or coupons, ($1 off admission price) call 773-5610.

As you enter you will see a tiny, innocent-looking witch with flashlight in hand beckon you to come. She guides you through the long, dark corridors and massive rooms of this almost 100-year old mansion.

This mansion, long-deserted, is now the abode of the strange, eerie creatures of the night. Beware!! Hideous experiments are being performed so stay close or the diabolical scientists may use you as his unwilling subject.

Your ears are filled with blood-curdling screams, sorrowful moans, dragging chains and the endless drone-drone of strange music.

Dracula, ghosts, goblins, witches, and the walking dead await you on your long trek through the dark and gloomy

WEEK OF: October 27.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Emotions run deep, you have a vivid imagination; you can be obstinate, and you are often passionate about a cause. Your sense of determination helps you achieve a career goal on target, likely in the first quarter of 1989. Family harmony and commitment to an important goal are the twin themes of the year.

AQUARIUS - January 21 - February 19

Aquarius is identified with bright blue. While "something blue" mightn't come your way, you can expect something borrowed to be returned -- at last -- by Monday or Tuesday.

PISCES - February 20 - March 20

Sea-green is the color of the sign of the fishes. This shade calls to mind reflection, but this week you accomplish significant things through positive action.

ARIES - March 21 - April 20

Your color is red and, appropriately, you should be paying special attention to warning signals -- especially in career environment. Week is generally favorable for travel and sports.

TAURUS - April 21 - May 22

Your color is pale blue -- like the sunny skies you may be enjoying in a week that highlights relaxation. Indeed, this is a prime time for recharging your batteries.

GEMINI - May 23 - June 21

Bright yellow is your color, but it's not the yellow of timidity. Indeed, this week sees you taking bold steps to improve your situation -- and sunny results are forthcoming.

CANCER - June 22 - July 22

Grey is your color, and this week may find you collecting silvery antiques or other old treasures of a time gone by. As for romance, it's essential that you look to the future.

LEO - July 23 - August 22

Gold and orange are the colors of your sign, and these bright shades indicate the brilliant idea that wins applause by Tuesday. Wednesday. Financial dealings must not be rushed.

VIRGO - August 23 - September 22

Your colors include browns. The week ahead highlights decorating and, suitably, the accent is on earthy shades. At work, it's important to dig deeply for the facts.

LIBRA - September 23 - October 22

Pale blue and pink are Libra's colors, and a gift in one of these shades may come your way. Partner is out to pamper you. Meanwhile, you're working long hours -- with impressive results.

SCORPIO - October 23 - November 21

Dark red is associated with your sign, but the light side of your personality is accentuated. You exude charm, winning an influential and generous supporter.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22 - December 22

Royal purple is the color of Sagittarius, and though the week may not find you mingling with royalty, you do meet an assortment of individuals from intriguing backgrounds.

CAPRICORN - December 23 - January 20

Dark grey and dark green are connected with Capricorn. This week accents green -- money -- and a small windfall may arrive after the weekend. Writing assignments are currently favored.

Donald McCarthy Joins Deware Funeral Home As Associate Director

Donald S. McCarthy of Houghs Neck has joined the Deware Funeral Home, 576 Hancock St., Wollaston, as an associate funeral director.

McCarthy worked as a funeral director in the South Boston area for more than 14 years before coming to Quincy several years ago.

"As we approach our 50th year serving the Quincy community, we look forward to the addition of a new member to the Deware Funeral Home family and the knowledge and experience that Donald brings with him," said Scott Deware, president.

A former resident of Jamaica Plain, he has lived in Quincy 22 years. He is a graduate of North Quincy High School and New England Institute of Anatomy. A certified technician for the New England Eye Bank in Boston in eye enucleation procedures, he attended Quincy City Hospital Emergency Medical Technician program.

He is also certified in CPR by the American Heart Association.

Active in many local organizations, McCarthy has served as master of ceremonies and on the Board of Trust at the Sons of Italy, and is a member of the Quincy South Shore Cultural Commission, Quincy Kiwanis Club, Quincy Lodge of Elks,

South Shore Bank Homeowner Credit Program Aids YMCA

The South Shore YMCA announces that South Shore Bank of Quincy will make a donation to the YMCA for each Homeowner Credit Line application the bank receives until Oct. 28.

In addition, any customer requesting a Homeowner Credit Line application is eligible to enter the South Shore Bank-South Shore YMCA Sweepstakes. Five $100 gift certificates and five $50 gift certificates good toward any South Shore Y program will be awarded in a drawing to be held on Oct. 31. No purchase is necessary to enter the sweepstakes. Ralph Yohe, General Executive Director of the South Shore YMCA said the money will be used to fund a number of areas, including expansion of the child care facilities and summer camp programs.

"People forget that we have other activities beside physical fitness," said Yohe, "and while physical fitness is an important part of our program, the YMCA feels its community service activities are just as significant. South Shore Bank's contribution will really help us expand these activities."

Forrest Cook, President of South Shore Bank, pointed out that the Y needs donations from private business sources to continue its diversified offerings to the community, and he hopes others follow the bank's lead.

"The South Shore Y is totally dependent on its fees and the United Way for its existence, so we are pleased that our involvement can have an impact," said Cook.

The promotion is running at all of South Shore's offices, but will concentrate in the areas served by both the bank and the South Shore YMCA, including Quincy, North Quincy, Weymouth, Braintree and Cohasset.

For further information on the program, customers can call South Shore Bank in Quincy at 847-3100.

Stained Glass Church Windows Free Prizes At Drawing Sunday

An opportunity to obtain authentic stained glass church windows at no cost is being offered by the Simon Companies of Braintree.

Windows at the former Atlantic United Methodist Church on East Squantum St., North Quincy, will be prizes at a free drawing Sunday Oct. 30.

The Simon Companies, a New England multi-family housing developer, is refurbishing the 1927-built granite Tudor Gothic church into one of the South Shore's most luxurious condominium complexes, Greystone, with 17 one and two bedroom town homes and garden style units.

The drawing is open to all who visit the condominium Sales Office at the site of East Squantum St., during Graystone's "pre-completion open house" between 12 noon and 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday (Oct. 29 and 30).

The drawing will be held Sunday at 5 p.m.

Time Management Seminar At Chamber Nov. 1

The South Shore Chamber of Commerce will hold a time management seminar at the chamber Nov. 1 from 9 a.m.

to 12 noon.

The speaker will be Gary Miller from New England Diversified Industries.

Cost is $20 for members and $45 for non-members. For more information and to make reservations, call 479-1111.

Conway Presents Achievement Awards

Achievement awards were recently presented to associates of the Jack Conway Company's Quincy offices.

During September, Norman LaRocque negotiated the most sales and Betty Hourin listed the most property through the Wollaston office.

In the Quincy Center office, sales associate Kathi Grant negotiated the most sales and Peter Bravo listed the most property during September.

The names of the achievement award winners are displayed on a plaque in their office.

David Pope Manager Raytheon Quincy Plant

Raytheon Company has named David F. Pope as manager of its Industrial Components Operation in Quincy, where he will be responsible for overseeing all operations at the plant which employs more than 800 people.

Pope was most recently manager of the Magnetics Operation within the Microwave and Power Tube Division, and has also held management positions at the Raytheon Service Company and Raytheon Equipment Division. He is a graduate of Babson Institute.

Here are some of the many things he's done to get tough on crime.

*He Got Tough on Murderers

Bob battled for a law to eliminate furloughs for first degree murderers.

As Chairman of the House Post Audit and Oversight Committee Bob subpoenaed the State Department of Correction's records and investigated their furlough program. As a result of his Committee's recommendation furloughs for first degree murderers were eliminated. The Lawrence Eagle Tribune won a Pulitzer Prize for reporting this story and it has since become a focus of the presidential campaign.

*He Got Tough on Vandals

Bob wrote a law that makes parents of children between the ages of 7 and 18 liable for any damage the children do to someone else's property.

*He Got Tough on Drug Pushers

Bob helped write the law that makes those convicted of pushing drugs go to prison.

*He Got Tough on Car Thieves

Bob fought to pass laws requiring mandatory prison sentences for those convicted of stealing cars and he fought to make convicted car thieves provide full financial restitution.

$150,000 Refurbishing

Historic Houghs Neck Carousel To Go Around Again

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

After 34 years of darkness, some of Houghs Neck's best kept secrets came into the daylight on Saturday.

Carried out from storage at 42 Fensmere Ave. were wood carved, several dozen dust-covered wooden horses.

A lion, a tiger, a grackle. An ostrich and a deer, each with wide red ribbons around their necks. They had both aired briefly, along with a painted white horse, during Christmas Parades in Quincy.

A dozen ornate mirrors, three chariots,

Miscellaneous posts and metal bars.

Machinery, and a heavy motor.

All were from the old Houghs Neck carousel of nearly 50 years ago, owned by the late Dominick DeAngelis, Sr.

Everything stored under the house and in the cellar at the Fensmere Ave. home is now on the way by truck to Mansfield, Ohio for limb replacement where necessary, repainting, refurbishing, reconditioning, readied for re-entry into the world of amusements. While all were in better shape than anticipated, just when this work will be completed is still a question -- along with the total cost, which may run from $150,000 to $175,000. When the refurbishing is completed the carousel will be worth an estimated $600,000 to $700,000.

"It's a dream come true!" said Ann DeCoste, youngest daughter of the merry-go-round proprietor DeAngelis.

"Several Family meetings were held before we all agreed," explained Clemmie Brill, oldest of the seven DeAngelis children. "After seeing Art Ritchie's work (his restorations are known nationally through

Kennedy To Seek Navy Contracts For Shipyard

By ROBERT BOSWORTH
and JANE ARENA

At a visit to The Quincy Sun office Tuesday, Senator Edward M. "Ted" Kennedy vowed he will help the former shipyard workers seeking to reopen a portion of the former General Dynamics shipyard in Quincy and acquire Navy shipbuilding contracts.

"I am going to do everything I possibly can to see what's going to be available for contracts from the Navy point of view," Kennedy said.

Kennedy, a member of the Senate's Armed Services Committee, said, "There's a good deal of Navy work that is generally available and I know they're going to be interested in repair work, both from the private sector as well as potentially from the government or contractors."

Kennedy, who is running for a sixth senatorial term, made the comment during an interview with three Quincy Sun panelists. His visit was part of a campaign swing through the Quincy-South Shore area Tuesday.

Panelists who interviewed Kennedy were Paul Gagnon of Radio Station WJDA and anchorman of The Quincy Sun Video News and Features Report; Robert Bosworth, assistant editor of The Quincy Sun; and Jane Arena, Sun staff writer.

Besides the shipyard, Kennedy also discussed the upcoming presidential election, his senatorial campaign, the competence of Vice Presidential Candidate Dan Quayle as well as negative campaign tactics and the election strategy of Gov. Michael Dukakis.

In addition to his pledge to help shipbuilders obtain contracts, Kennedy also commended the workers for their continued efforts as well as Congressman Brian Donnelly and Sen. Paul Harold for their leadership on the issue.

"The workers never lost faith. They were persevering, committed and they believed that this shipyard could produce the best ships at the lowest price. I admire their work," he said.

Last week, the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority gave the shipbuilders unanimous approval to lease 70 acres of the yard for streamlined ship repair and construction. One of the next steps is to bid on contracts.

Kennedy brought up the shipyard issue again in response to a question on whether he is still in touch with his constituency. His challenger, Republican Joseph Malone, has said Kennedy no longer under-

Record High 51,536 Registered Voters 78% Voter Turnout Predicted For Election

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

About 78 percent of Quincy's record-high registered voters are expected to turn out on election day next Tuesday, estimates City Clerk John Gillis.

Gillis called the 78 percent figure "normal," adding that it would probably be higher if there was a hotly contested U.S. Senate race.

"We don't have a great Senate fight," he said.

The election highlight is the presidential race between Vice President George Bush and Governor Michael Dukakis. The senatorial race features incumbent Democratic Sen. Edward Kennedy against first-time candidate Joseph Malone, a Republican.

In making his prediction, Gillis also announced that Quincy now has the largest number of registered voters in the city's 100-year history. A total of 51,536 residents are now registered.

The previous city high was 49,470 in 1960. That year also marked the highest voter turnout in Quincy history when 90 percent went to the polls to vote for either John Kennedy or Richard Nixon.

The new figure, which represents an increase of 5,189 voters since the Sept. 15 primary, is also a record. Seven weeks ago, there were 46,347 registered voters in Quincy.

Gillis attributed the historical jump to union workers and Question 2 on the ballot which concerns repealing the prevailing wage law.

"I think labor did their work this time. They put on a heavy voter registration drive and got people interested," he said.

Of the new 5,189 voters, 2,617 are Independent, 1,642 are Democrats and 930 are Republicans. The total breakdown by party is: 31,114 Democrats, 7,532 Republicans, and 12,890 undecided.

In 1984, 79.4 percent or 39,495 of the city's registered voters turned out. That year, President Ronald Reagan and running mate Vice President George Bush swept all six of Quincy's wards in their landslide victory over former vice president Walter Mondale and Geraldine Ferraro.

The Reagan-Bush ticket totaled 20,118 votes while the Mondale-Ferraro team amassed 18,962.

In the 1984 U.S. Senate race, Quincy voters gave Democrat John Kerry the nod over Republican challenger Raymond Shamie. The tally was 21,006 for Kerry and 17,918 for Shamie.

Gillis said he expects elections results will be known by 11:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Other contested races are: Incumbent Congressman Brian Donnelly, a Democrat, is being challenged by GOP candidate Michael Gilleran for U.S. Representative in the 11th District.

McGrath Calls For Structural Check Of School Buildings

Councillor-at-large Stephen McGrath has called on the Quincy Building Department to conduct a safety inspection of the city's school buildings to insure that no additional structural problems exist such as those discovered recently at the Central Middle School.

"It was fortunate that the roof problem was discovered before any further damage had occurred," McGrath said.

"I feel it would be wise at this time to conduct an inspection of all school buildings to insure that no other problems exist.

Apparently the problem at Central can be solved without long-term damage but before any further damage or bodily injury results, this should serve as warning to us to check now on the condition of all other school buildings, particularly the older ones," McGrath said.

McCauley Blasts Harris On City's Asian Efforts

Responding to a recent charge that Quincy has allowed racial hostility against Asians to fester, Mayor Francis McCauley Tuesday called such remarks presumptuous, adding the city has made great strides to ease tensions.

McCauley, like other local officials, were angered last week by comments made by David Harris Jr., chairman of the Randolph Fair Practices Committee, at an awards ceremony. Harris spoke at a ceremony honoring Alicia Coletti of Quincy, the newly appointed assistant director of Personnel for the Quincy Public Schools, who was named Citizen of the Year by the South Shore Coalition for Human Rights.

While at the ceremony held at the United First Parish Church in Quincy, Harris, a black, said Quincy leaders could have prevented recent incidents of violence and harassment against Asians by facing up years ago to racist incidents in the city.

In 1982, Harris made the infamous statement that Quincy "is probably the most racist city in America" at a ceremony honoring him as the coalition's citizen of the year.

"I think (Harris's) statements show that he is ill-informed on what the city has done," McCauley said, adding that it is presumptuous for any individual to come to Quincy and critique it without sufficient knowledge.

"It was completely irresponsible (Harris) really doesn't know what's going on here. He's never met with me

"We've made great strides. Why the South Shore Coalition of Human Rights brings him into this city is beyond me," the mayor said.

McCauley acknowledged that Quincy has had its share of racial problems but that it has made progress in promoting racial harmony within the city's different segments. In particular, the mayor noted the Gateways Program, which was initiated two years ago and has benefited the city's diverse population.

"We've had some problems but we have worked very hard to work out these problems. We've done a lot of good things," he said.

Last week, state and city officials met to begin a series of programs in the schools and the community to promote tolerance and racial harmony between Quincy's white and Asian communities.

One program, called an "Educational and Enforcement Plan," will establish a better understanding between the two cultures in the school system and also enforce rules against racial discrimination and civil right violations.

Quincy and state leaders met in an effort to resolve racial tensions after recent outbreaks of violence and disharmony between the city's Asian and white populations. Five white students were suspended for 10 days after a fight between white and Asian students at Quincy High School Oct. 18.

After the incident, McCauley mailed letters to 35,000 to 40,000 Quincy residences stating racial incidents "will not be tolerated." The letter was translated into Chinese and Vietnamese language. The letters were printed in last week's Quincy Sun.

Sgt. Thomas Casey, the Quincy Police Department Civil Rights Officer, and Hi Thai, an interpreter, have been going from house to house in the Asian community to offer information and assistance.

McCauley also said it was unfortunate that Harris turned what was supposed to be a very "positive" evening into a "negative occasion."

"It was a very positive occasion to honor Alicia Coletti who has long been active in many civic affairs. (Harris) turned it into a negative occasion."

"He demeans the hard work that many people do in this city. There's no foundation to his statements," McCauley said.

City Council Hearing On Downtown Plan

A public hearing on a proposed downtown revitalization plan was scheduled for last night (Wednesday), at 7 p.m. by the Quincy City Council in the City Council Chamber at City Hall.

The plan was introduced by Councillor Timothy Cahill, chairman of the Downtown Economic and Development Committee.

One of the main points of the plan is the proposed creation of a "central business district" or "downtown revitalization zone," Cahill said.

The district, with specific boundaries and a separate zoning plan, "will encourage a more vibrant and liveable Quincy Square," he said.

The new district consists of land presently zoned Business C beginning at the intersection of Washington St. and McGrath Highway and bounded as follows:

- Southeasterly by McGrath Highway.

- Southeasterly by Revere Rd.
- Easterly by Mechanic St.
- Southeasterly by Elm St.
- Southeasterly by School St.
- Northeasterly by the southeasterly lot line of land owned by the MBTA.
- Southwesterly by Granite St.
- Westerly by Hancock St.
- Northwesterly by Temple St.
- Northeasterly by Washington St. to McGrath Highway.

One of the plan's highlights is the creation of a special permit granting review authority. Cahill said this board would give the Council more control over the type of structure proposed by a developer.

Under Cahill's plan, height limitations would also increase but only in the special zone. The maximum height for commercial projects in the revitalization zone would go from 80 feet to 110 feet.

Residential projects in the zone would also have a maximum height of 110 feet, he said.

As for density, residential projects in the zone would go from a minimum of 2,500 square feet of unit density to 500 feet.

Commercial density would remain the same, Cahill said.

Cahill said he hoped these changes would encourage developers to come to Quincy and revitalize the downtown area.

"This will hopefully encourage developers to come to Quincy and build, thus revitalizing Quincy."

"If you want to build, downtown is the place to build, not in our neighborhoods, because that is where the benefits are," Cahill said.

OBSERVING A MOMENT OF SILENCE after laying the Presidential wreath on the crypt of John Adams on Sunday, the 253rd birthday of Adams, are Rev. Sheldon W. Bennett, minister, Mayor Francis McCauley; First Class Petty Officer, Kevin Lynch and Capt. Charles E. Long, U.S.N., both of the Naval Air Station, South Weymouth, and Sen. Paul Harold. The wreath was sent by President Ronald Reagan.

McGrath Wants Full Review Of Kinney System Performance

City Councillor Stephen McGrath has called for a full review of the Kinney Parking System performance prior to any contract being renewed with Kinney Systems whose current contract expires next April.

"In my view, Kinney has had a generally poor record of performance with the City of Quincy," said McGrath.

"I have frequently been critical of Kinney's performance in the areas of staffing and maintenance of the parking areas.

"In addition, I believe that it is high time that the City made a proper commitment to downtown to remove the jersey barrier system that currently exists in the parking areas served by Kinney.

The jersey barriers were originally intended to control the flow of traffic on a temporary basis since Kinney came into the City in 1984.

Clearly, the City must address the downtown parking issue by making these parking areas as attractive as possible.

I have requested that the Planning Department design a more attractive road system with proper aesthetic features of shrubbery and flowers.

Downtown Quincy is a vital resource to Quincy which is crying out for some care. The downtown business community is very concerned with the elimination of the jersey barriers as a first step toward that revitalization," said McGrath.

$44,748 Grant To Council On Aging

Senator Paul Harold announces that the Quincy Council on Aging has received a grant of $44,748 from the Executive Office of Elder Affairs for the continuation of critical services to the city's senior citizen population.

According to Harold, a portion of the funding will be used to continue two positions within the Council on Aging: social service technician and senior corps worker.

In addition, the grant will be used to defray some of the costs of the senior van, senior center and other administrative expenses, he said.

Cheney Asks Early Appropriation For Central School Repairs

City Councillor Michael Cheney announces he recently visited the Broad Meadows Middle School and learned that all of the children of the Central Middle School have received a very warm welcome from the Broad Meadows' student body and staff.

"The children attending Broad Meadows Middle School from Central Middle School have adapted very quickly to their temporary home," Cheney said. "I am particularly pleased to see the outstanding efforts on behalf of all parties to make this sudden change work for the better."

Cheney, however, stressed that it is extremely important that Central Middle School students return to their school at the earliest possible date.

"Every day that the children of Central are not attending classes in their own school setting is another day that they are missing out on the special activities conducted at Central Middle School."

Cheney said he hopes the bidding process will be completed in time for the mayor to submit an appropriate order to the City Council at the Nov. 7 City Council meeting. However, in the event that the process is delayed, Cheney said he will encourage Council President Patricia Toland to call for a special city council meeting to deal with this appropriation.

"Every day counts for the students and parents of these children," he said. "We must do all that we can to make sure that the repairs are made in a safe and speedy fashion. Therefore, I have requested that Council President, Patricia Toland, call a special meeting of the City Council if it becomes necessary to deal with just one agenda item — the appropriation of the necessary funds to make any and all repairs to the Central Middle School in order that the contractor may begin work at the very earliest possible date.

Cheney also thanked the Central Middle School parents for their patience and understanding during this very trying time."

Gates Locked To Keep Vehicles Out Of Parks

The Quincy Park and Police Departments have locked the military gates at both Pageant Field Recreation site in Merrymount Park and Faxon Park in South Quincy to eliminate vehicles from the two areas and protect the turf and ballfields.

Police have been provided keys and will conduct possible checks along with Park Department personnel.

Since the closing of the city dump two years ago, these two areas have been the target for illegal dumping as well as vehicles being driven into the park vandalized, torched and abandoned. Anyone wishing to utilize either of the parks may walk into the area and use any of the facilities that are open during the winter months.

It is estimated that over 15,000 persons of all ages utilize the two locations for field days and outings from early May through October. The two beautiful parks, Faxon and Merrymount containing Pageant Field, were left to the city through the generosity of the Faxon and Adams Families who donated the 50 and 80 acre parcels of open space respectively to the residents of Quincy in 1885 for recreation purposes.

If anyone sees any vehicles in the park, other than city vehicles, they are requested to notify the City of Quincy Park Department or Police Department immediately.

SHOPPING FOR HAZARD INSURANCE

When you buy a new home, your lender will require that you have a hazard insurance policy before you go to the settlement table. Your coverage must, as a minimum, pay for rebuilding your home should it be damaged or destroyed.

In assessing your insurance needs, remember that the cost of your home includes both the structure and the lot on which it was built, and you only need to cover the building itself. Whether or not your lender requires it, you should also purchase liability insurance that will cover you if someone is injured on your property as well as personal property coverage. Well in advance of the settlement date, contact your agent to discuss your individual situation so he or she can tailor coverage to your family's special needs. You'll have many options, especially in the areas of liability and personal property insurance, and with professional help you can be sure that you get the most from your insurance dollar.

LaRaia Ready For Mayoral Run

Joseph LaRaia is going to make another run for mayor.

And, insiders say he's going to get off to an early start. They expect him to announce as early as this month -- right after the Presidential and state elections are over.

LaRaia, they say, wants to make an early announcement to not only launch his campaign early but to get a jump on other potential candidates. And, maybe hopefully frighten one of the major ones off.

Incumbent Frank McCauley, who squeaked by LaRaia's challenge in 1987 by a mere 474 vote margin, says he has not yet decided whether he will seek an historic fifth term.

SHEETS

Ward 4 Councillor James Sheets has indicated he is going to run because he feels 1989 is "my time" to make the bid.

Councillor at-large Steve McGrath has made no bones about the fact he would like to be mayor and has set his sites on a 1989 run.

Question: If LaRaia jumps in this month or early December, will it keep McCauley, McGrath or Sheets out?

If all four ran, who would win the two nominations in next year's preliminary election?

With his traditional built-in voter base most observers would probably concede one of the two nominations to LaRaia.

If McCauley doesn't seek re-election and the preliminary election lineup is LaRaia, Sheets and McGrath who would get the two nominations then?

Again, many observers would give LaRaia one of the nominations. Sheets and McGrath, they figure, would split a lot of votes while LaRaia followers would be more apt to stay intact.

Incidentally, a mayoral preliminary election would be a bit of a novelty. Last one was back in 1979 when the candidates were Arthur Tobin, Abe Ikin and Michael Iovanovic. Tobin was the easy winner that year in both the preliminary and final elections with Ikin the other nominee.

LaRaia has run for mayor three times.

He was trounced by James McIntyre in 1965 by a 22,034 to 7,713 vote margin after long-time incumbent Amelio Della Chiesa retired.

In 1975 LaRaia challenged incumbent Walter Hannon in a bitter campaign. When the votes were counted election night Hannon was re-elected by a margin of 1,034 votes - 17,060 to 16,926.

Or, so it seemed. A recount held in December turned it around and gave the win to LaRaia by 483 votes -- 17,231 to 16,748.

That set the stage for one of the stormiest mayoral administrations in the city's history. Probably the stormiest.

In 1977, in another bitter campaign Arthur Tobin unseated LaRaia by 5,050 votes -- 19,096 to 14,046.

The experts were saying LaRaia was finished. Politically dead.

But just two years later, LaRaia made a comeback by winning a council-at-large seat by a 187-vote thread. If he had lost that one he would have been done.

In 1981 he was much alive and kicking, topping the City Council at-large field.

Last year, LaRaia took on former political ally McCauley and in one of the most dramatic election nights came within 474 votes of winning back the mayor's office.

And now, it looks like one more try.

TOM GIL MARTIN, former Ward 6 City Councillor and now an astute political observer has been watching the Michael Dukakis-George Bush campaign closely and is ready to crawl out on the limb with his predictions.

Bush will get about 375 electoral votes, Dukakis won't get 100.

Dukakis won't carry 10 states. He will take Massachusetts by a close 52 to 47 percent.

But, Bush will carry Quincy.

And, as Quincy goes, so goes the nation says Gil Martin.

SENATOR PAUL HAROLD has a bet on next week's Presidential election -- in England. It's quite legal to bet there on politics. In fact, they'll bet on anything.

Bush is favored over Dukakis over there. Dukakis is 6 to 1, English style and Bush 1 to 3.

Harold has five pounds on Dukakis. (About $8).

If Dukakis wins, Harold will win six times his five pounds -- 30 pounds or about $240.

At Bush's 1 to 3 odds, you have to put up say, three pounds to win one pound.

Harold placed the bet with David Campbell, Bannerman, a friend and grandson of a former English prime minister, who visited him in Quincy a couple of weeks ago.
